West Virginia Opens Big 12 Home Schedule Against K-State

- It was announced on Dec. 20 that Bob Huggins is eligible for the 2022 class of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.
- WVU has held six of its last seven opponents to 59 points or less.
- West Virginia has held nine of its 13 opponents to 59 points or less this season.
- WVU is 235-66 in its last 301 games against unranked teams, including winners of 125 of its last 147 at home.
- WVU is 583-169 (.778) all-time at the WVU Coliseum and 224-55 at the WVU Coliseum in the last 18 seasons.
- West Virginia is 174-49 at the WVU Coliseum under Bob Huggins, including an 85-41 mark in league games.
- The Mountaineers have won 99 of their last 144 conference games at the WVU Coliseum.
- WVU is 71-54 in the Big 12 regular season in the last eight seasons.
- West Virginia is 140-112 under Bob Huggins in conference regular season games (Big 12 and Big East).
- Bob Huggins is 96-82 in Big 12 Conference games. He is 86-76 at WVU, and was 10-6 at Kansas State in 2006-07.
- With the win against Clemson on Nov. 21, Bob Huggins moved past Roy Williams for fourth place on the NCAA all-time Division I winningest coaches list. Huggins' record now stands at 911-384 in his 40th season as a head coach. He needs nine more wins to tie Jim Calhoun for third place all-time.
- Huggins is the third-winningest active coach behind Mike Krzyzewski and Jim Boeheim.
- On Jan. 4, 2021 at Oklahoma State, Bob Huggins recorded his 300th career victory at his alma mater. Only Gale Catlett (1979-2002) has won more games at WVU with 439. Huggins now has 321 victories at West Virginia.
- Huggins became just the second coach to win at least 300 games at two different Division I schools (WVU - 321 and Cincinnati - 399), joining Roy Williams (Kansas - 418 and North Carolina - 485).
- In his 40th season as a head coach, Huggins became the 18th Division I head coach all-time to coach 40 or more years.
- At 1,295 career games coached, Huggins has coached the sixth-most games in college basketball history behind Krzyzewski, Boeheim, Jim Phelan, Cliff Ellis and Jim Calhoun.
- Taz Sherman is the only Big 12 player to be named Big 12 Player of the Week twice this season.
- Sean McNeil earned Big 12 Player of the Week honors on Dec. 27, the second honor is his career.
- Sherman is one of 23 players nationally to average more than 20 points per game. He currently ranks 12th in scoring.
- The Mountaineers rank 16th in turnover margin (5.5) in the latest NCAA statistics.
- This season, WVU has seven seniors, including five who are in their fifth year of eligibility due to COVID-19.
- West Virginia has allowed its opponent to shoot 50 percent or better 89 times under Bob Huggins (494 games).
- West Virginia has made at least one 3-point field goal in 742 consecutive games.
- Last season, Gabe Osabuohien led WVU with 171 deflections and 23 charges taken.
- Osabuohien leads WVU with 82 deflections, followed by Kedrian Johnson with 80 and Jalen Bridges 65.
- WVU is forcing its opponents to turn it over on 26.6% of their possessions, the seventh-best percentage in the country.
- Sean McNeil hit his 100th career 3-point field goal against Oakland.
- The Mountaineers have won 120 of their last 132 games when holding opponents to 69 points or less.
- WVU has won 131 of its last 144 and 187 of its last 210 games when holding opponents to less than 69 points.
- WVU is 242-41 under Huggins when holding opponents to 69 points or less.
- West Virginia is 80-5 under Bob Huggins when shooting 50 percent or better from the field.
- West Virginia is 252-52 under Bob Huggins when leading at halftime.
- West Virginia is 258-30 under Bob Huggins when leading by 10 or more points in a game.

- Bob Huggins is 13-8 against his former team (13-7 at WVU). His Akron team fell to the Wildcats, 70-68, on Dec. 10, 1988.
- Bob Huggins led K-State to a 21-12 record in 2006-07, the Wildcats' most wins in 19 years. K-State broke an eight-season postseason drought when Huggins led the Wildcats to the NIT Second Round. The Wildcats also collected 10 Big 12 wins for the first time since the league's inception in 1997.

WVU Basketball Tradition

- This is the 113th season and 119th year overall for West Virginia basketball, which began in 1903.
- The Mountaineers own a 1,822-1,121 all-time record in intercollegiate basketball competition, ranking the Mountaineers 20th in wins among all Division I schools.
- WVU has earned 30 NCAA berths, 16 NIT trips and one CBI bid since 1941, and has finished in the Top 25 24 times, including an amazing nine straight years from 1955-63.
- In 1958, the Mountaineers finished the regular season ranked No. 1 in both polls and in 1959, West Virginia, led by All-America guard Jerry West, lost in the NCAA finals to California.
- West Virginia has had 13 first team All-Americans, headlined by West, who went on to become one of basketball's all-time greats with the NBA's Los Angeles Lakers.
- Under Huggins, Derek Culver was named to the Lute Olson All-American team in 2021, Jevon Carter was named to the John Wooden, Lute Olson and Senior CLASS All-America teams in 2018. Juwan Staten was named to the Lute Olson All-America team in 2015, Da'Sean Butler earned All-America first team honors in 2010 by John Wooden & Basketball Times and Kevin Jones earned All-America honors in 2012 by John Wooden.
- Besides West, some of basketball's biggest names have been affiliated with the Old Gold & Blue, including former Lakers coach and general manager Fred Schaus, former NBA President of Basketball Operations and NBA Hall of Famer Rod Thorn and former Utah Jazz broadcaster and NBA Hall of Famer "Hot Rod" Hundley.
- West Virginia has played in four different home venues: the ROTC Armory (1903-15), The Ark (1916-27), Stansbury Hall (1928-69) and the WVU Coliseum (1970-present). When the WVU Coliseum was closed due to asbestos removal during the 1999-2000 season, WVU played home games in Charleston, Wheeling and Fairmont.

Recap

Taz Sherman's 18 points led West Virginia to a 60-53 season-opening victory over Oakland at the WVU Coliseum.

The Mountaineers, playing the 2021-22 season without Deuce McBride and Derek Culver, had the look of a team trying to discover its identity against a Golden Grizzlies team that threw a variety of zone defenses against them.

Bob Huggins won his 901st career game and is now just one shy of tying Bob Knight for fifth place on the NCAA all-time Division I wins list.

Two more wins will move him into a tie with Roy Williams for fourth place.

WVU (1-0) had difficulty finding much offensive rhythm in the first half and trailed for a good portion of the half before going on a 15-5 run to take a 27-23 lead into the locker room at the break.

Gabe Osabuohien came off the bench to ignite the rally by drawing charges, deflecting passes, grabbing an occasional rebound and finding open shooters along the wings.

Osabuohien remained on the floor at the beginning of the second half to help the Mountaineers build their biggest lead of the game at 17, 50-33, with 11:01 remaining.

Oakland (0-1) fought back to reduce West Virginia's advantage to six, 53-47, on Micah Parrish's 3 with 6:29 left. A Sherman jumper and a Kedrian Johnson transition dunk built the lead back to 10 with 4:41 to go.

The lead was also 10 with 1:48 remaining on two Malik Curry free throws.

Sherman's game-high 18 came on just 7 of 18 from the floor, including 1 of 7 from 3. Sherman was struggling with calf cramps for a good portion of the second half.

Sean McNeil was the only other Mountaineer player to reach double digits with 11 points on 4 of 9 shooting.

Osabuohien's stat line included 6 points, nine rebounds, three assists, two blocked shots, a steal and several drawn charges that led to Osei Price and Jamal Cain fouling out of the game, and point guard Jalen Moore finishing with four fouls.

Moore, who is considered one of the top point guards in mid-major basketball, had a tough night against a wave of West Virginia defenders. He finished with only 4 points on 2 of 16 shooting with 13 turnovers.

Neither team shot the ball well from 3, Oakland missing 20 of its 23 attempts and West Virginia making just 4 of 21. Oakland also committed 25 turnovers and shot 35.5% from the floor.

West Virginia, too, struggled shooting the ball making only 39.7% of its 58 field goal attempts. The Mountaineers were only 55.8% from the free throw line and the most alarming statistic was Oakland's 48 to 33 advantage on the glass.

Eleven different players got into the game for West Virginia and nine ended up getting into the scoring column.

Recap

West Virginia took advantage of Pitt's backcourt issues by forcing 32 turnovers in a 74-59 victory over the Panthers at a sold-out WVU Coliseum.

It was coach Bob Huggins' 902 career victory, tying him with Bob Knight for fifth on the NCAA's all-time Division I wins list. His next victory will move him into a tie with Roy Williams for fourth all-time, with just Jim Calhoun, Jim Boeheim and Mike Krzyzewski ahead of him.

The 14,100 who showed up for the game watched Huggins' Mountaineers consume Pitt's ballhandlers, just as they did in the opener when they forced Oakland to turn the ball over 25 times.

It's the most turnovers by a West Virginia opponent since 2016 during its "Press Virginia" days when the Mountaineers forced Western Carolina to turn it over 34 times.

Those 32 turnovers were responsible for 34 points, which covered up for some of the other areas where West Virginia is still lacking – namely rebounding and free throw shooting.

Once again, WVU was beaten 36 to 20 on the glass and made just 5 of its 11 free throw attempts.

West Virginia was able to get off 19 more shots than Pitt, connecting on 50.8% of its field goal attempts.

Jalen Bridges led everybody with 18 points, those coming on 6 of 9 shooting, including 4 of 6 from 3. Each time Pitt tried to make a run, particularly in the second half, Bridges knocked down a 3 to stop it.

Senior guard Taz Sherman contributed 17, although he goaled on just 6 of his 20 shot attempts. Guard Sean McNeil scored 11 and Malik Curry came off the bench to contribute 10 on 5-of-5 shooting.

West Virginia (2-0) was 9-of-22 from behind the arc, and outscored the Panthers 21 to 11 in fast break points. Seventeen of Pitt's 32 turnovers were the result of West Virginia steals.

WVU's defense also blocked 11 Panther shots – five of those coming from Bridges.

The Mountaineers used a 9-0 run during a two-minute stretch late in the first half to take a 34-19 lead following a Bridges 3 with 3:38 left.

The lead swelled to 21 at the 10-minute mark of the second half and got there once again with 5:10 remaining. Ten different players saw the floor for West Virginia and eight of them scored.

The Panthers (0-2) shot 57.5% overall, connecting on 23 of its 40 field goal attempts.

The victory was West Virginia's 100th all-time in the Pitt series, to Pitt's 88, and is the fifth straight dating back to 2012 when the two schools were still members of the Big East Conference. Since the resumption of the series in 2017, the Mountaineers have won all four meetings.

The 14,100 attendance was the most ever for a November basketball game at the WVU Coliseum, exceeding the 11,044 that attended the Nov. 26, 2006 game against LSU. That was also the day West Virginia officially retired Jerry West's No. 44.

Recap

West Virginia advanced to the semifinals of the Shriners Children's Charleston Classic with an 87-68 victory over Elon at TD Arena in Charleston, South Carolina.

Guard Taz Sherman scored a career-high 27 points, and backcourt mate Sean McNeil contributed 16.

Sherman's individual line was 9 of 17 shooting, 8 of 9 from the free throw line and five assists.

The Mountaineers shot 51.7% from the floor, making 30 of 58. The victory was coach Bob Huggins' 903rd, tying him with Roy Williams for the fourth on the NCAA all-time Division I wins list.

"I like the fact that we finished the game," Huggins said. "That's about all I can come up with."

Two areas where West Virginia struggled in its first two games against Oakland and Pitt – rebounding and free throw shooting – were much, much better.

For the first, WVU had a rebounding advantage by out-boarding the Phoenix 39 to 33. Pauly Paulicap did a lot of the good board work by grabbing six in just eight minutes of action.

West Virginia also made 21 of its 28 free throw attempts for 75% after connecting on just 52% of its charities in the first two games.

Elon (2-2) got 15 points from Torrence Watson and 13 from Hunter McIntosh. Elon shot just 32% in the second half to finish the game connecting at a 36.4% clip. That can be attributed to West Virginia's full-court pressure and Huggins substituting liberally with 14 different guys getting into the game.

Freshman Isaiah Cottrell had a nice all-around game for WVU, the Las Vegas resident scoring 9 points, grabbing five rebounds and blocking a game-high three shots. The Mountaineers rejected seven shots overall and forced 17 Elon turnovers.

Some of the notable specialty stats for West Virginia included 36 points in the paint, 26 points off of turnovers and 41 scores on 69 possessions. Sherman (+28) and Cottrell (+24) were West Virginia's two most efficient players.

Recap

Marquette used some torrid second-half shooting to overcome a double-digit halftime deficit and down West Virginia 82-71 in the second semifinal game of the Shriners Children's Charleston Classic at TD Arena in Charleston, South Carolina.

It was a tale of two halves for West Virginia.

The Mountaineers took advantage of Kur Kuath's early foul trouble to build a 12-point halftime lead. When Kuath drew his second foul and went to the bench with 14:48 remaining, the Golden Eagles were leading the Mountaineers 14-8.

West Virginia then used a 17-2 run to take a 25-16 lead, and it got to 10 with 4:58 left on Malik Curry's jumper. A Sean McNeil basket pushed the lead to 11 and another McNeil jumper with 42 seconds left pushed the advantage to 14.

The Mountaineers shot 58% in the first half, limited Marquette to 42.2% and morre than held their own on the glass 18 to 15.

In the second half, it was a compete reversal. Everything West Virginia did well in the first half Marquette did well in the second half.

The Golden Eagles shot 64% after intermission, including 8 of 13 from 3, outrebounded West Virginia 22 to 14, and the turnovers the Mountaineers were generating during their first three wins against Oakland, Pitt and Elon were non-existent in the second half.

Huggins said the defensive intensity his team played with in the first half did not continue when the team returned to the floor after intermission.

"They were all penetrate and pitch shots," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said of Marquette's 47-point second half explosion. "Whoever touched the ball straight-lined it and we stood around. In the first half they didn't. How many times did they drive it to the goal and one of our guys moved to stop him and the rest of our guys stood and looked?"

Marquette's 13-0 run early in the second half flipped the game, and the Golden Eagles never trailed after Kam Jones' 3 gave Marquette a 63-60 lead with 9:25 left.

Tyler Kolek scored a team-high 18 while all 12 of Jones' points were scored in the second half. Darryl Morsell also scored 11 for the Golden Eagles.

Kuath made all four of his shot attempts for 8 points, grabbed five rebounds and blocked three shots.

West Virginia missed its last five shots, six of its last seven and went scoreless for the remaining 3:39. WVU's top two scorers, Taz Sherman and Sean McNeil, went a combined 3 for 19 in the second half and overall the Mountaineers connected on just 9 of their 33 second-half field goal tries.

For the game, Sherman led everyone with 21 points on 7 of 16 shooting. McNeil added 12 on 4 of 13 shooting while Jalen Bridges tallied 11. The sophomore forward was 4 of 6 from the floor.

Recap

West Virginia rallied from 10 points down in the second half to defeat Clemson 66-59 in the third-place game of the Shriners Children's Charleston Classic at TD Arena in Charleston, South Carolina.

The Mountaineers (4-1) were trailing 49-39 with 14 minutes remaining, and it appeared to be a repeat of the loss to Marquette when West Virginia was overrun by the Golden Eagles in the second half.

But WVU tightened its defense and got some critical baskets from Sean McNeil, who finished with a team-high 15 points.

"That was the Mountaineer team right there," said West Virginia coach Bob Huggins, who got career victory No. 904 moving him past Roy Williams into sole possession of fourth place on the NCAA's all-time Division I wins list.

A Dimon Carrigan layup began a 17-7 Mountaineer run to tie the game at 56 on McNeil's jumper. McNeil, who went scoreless in the first half, scored 15 of West Virginia's final 23 points, including four important free throws inside of a minute to play.

WVU's defense held Clemson without a field goal over the game's final 5:50. With 17 seconds left in the game, Clemson was assessed a technical foul for having six players on the floor when West Virginia was attempting to inbound the basketball. Two free throws were awarded to West Virginia, which McNeil made, and the Mountaineers also got the ball back with a seven-point lead.

Clemson (4-2) wasn't able to sustain the two offensive spurts it had to begin the game and early in the second half; the Tigers also led 17-9 at the game's outset.

Al-Amir Dawes scored a game-high 18 points on 6-of-9 shooting, with 12 of those coming in the first five minutes of the game before West Virginia adjusted its defense.

The Mountaineers fought back to tie the game at 20 and took its first lead, 24-23, on Kedrian Johnson's jumper with 6:12 left. WVU had a 35-32 lead and the ball with 30 seconds left in the half. But Malik Curry missed a short jumper with eight seconds remaining, which allowed P.J. Hall enough time to score ahead of the first half horn.

Clemson began the second half by scoring 15 of the next 19 points with WVU's lone field goals coming from Taz Sherman and Isaiah Cottrell.

Clemson turnovers and missed free throws were a key factor in West Virginia's comeback. The Tigers finished the game turning the ball over 20 times, with 10 of those coming in the second half, while connecting on just 10 of their 18 free throw attempts.

West Virginia, which shot just 42.6% for the game, managed to get off 13 more shots than Clemson in the second half, making 12.

WVU had a four-rebound advantage on the glass and outscored the Tigers 12 to 2 in second-chance points. Another area Huggins thought benefitted his team was bench scoring with the Mountaineers showing an 18 to 8 edge there. Curry produced half of those on 4 of 7 shooting.

Clemson shot 55% for the game, making 22 of its 40 attempts.

Recap

Give this one to the old ball coach with 905 career victories. Bob Huggins, the fourth winningest Division I coach in NCAA history, used everything in his bag of tricks to pull out an 80-77 victory over upset-minded Eastern Kentucky at the WVU Coliseum.

West Virginia, trailing for more than 33 minutes of the game, came up with the winning plays down the stretch to escape with a closer-than-expected three-point victory.

Huggins warned everyone beforehand that Eastern Kentucky (5-2) was capable of pulling off an upset, and A.W. Hamilton's scrappy ballclub nearly did it.

"They're talented, and A.W. does a great job of coaching them, and they really were the aggressor," Huggins said. "We weren't the aggressor until the end."

EKU got 3s from Curt Lewis, Jannson Williams and Michael Moreno to begin the game, and led by as many as 12 (30-18) with 10:16 left in the first half.

Six different Colonels made 3s as they shot 14 of 29 from 3, led by Williams' 5 of 8, and EKU also held its own on the glass against the Mountaineers. WVU had a slim 34 to 33 edge there.

Despite this, West Virginia was able to turn up the defensive pressure in the second half, while Huggins used all three of his timeouts over the remaining 2:36 once the Mountaineers were finally able to wrestle away the lead.

The game tipped in WVU's balance with 3:26 to go on Taz Sherman's baseline basket. He was fouled on the play by Williams and missed the free throw, but a hustling Gabe Osabuohien came up with a big offensive rebound. The ball eventually got into Malik Curry's hands at the top of the key and he got to the rim for a layup to give the Mountaineers a 75-71 lead.

Another Curry basket with 1:55 left got the lead to five, and a third layup kept the lead at five with 36 seconds to go. Huggins used his final timeout to set his defense and remind his bigs to rebound missed shots, which Osabuohien did when Braxton Beverly missed with 14 seconds left.

Osabuohien quickly got the ball to Sherman, who dribbled the dock down to 10 seconds left before being fouled by Robb Cooper. Sherman made one of two and Russhard Cruickshank hit the game's final basket, a 3 just ahead of the buzzer.

Sherman scored a career-high 28 on 8 of 15 shooting, including 4 of 7 from 3. The rest of the team was just 1 of 16 from behind the arc.

Curry finished with 16 coming off the bench, while Osabuohien had another solid all-around night with 8 points, seven rebounds, a blocked shot and a steal.

Eastern Kentucky shot 49.1% from the floor to West Virginia's 46.7%, but the Mountaineers were 14 of 24 from the floor in the second half for 58.3%.

WVU outscored EKU 38 to 22 in the paint and 35 to 25 from its bench.

Recap

A strong second half propelled West Virginia to a 74-55 victory over Bellarmine at the WVU Coliseum.

Bellarmine, making its first-ever appearance at the Coliseum, has made the rounds of some of the best teams in college basketball. The Atlantic Sun Conference members had already played games at No. 2 Purdue, No. 3 Gonzaga and No. 5 UCLA.

The Knights hung with West Virginia in the first half, leading 12-11 at one point, but the Mountaineers' bench and constant ball pressure eventually wore them down.

"They're hard guard," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said afterward. "They do a great job of passing, cutting and ball faking and defensively they play some semblance of a Pack Line, which is hard to get easy shots off of.

"We started off slow and kind of struggled and then got better and better as the game went on until we unloaded the bench," added Huggins, now at 906-383 in his 40th season of coaching.

Taz Sherman led West Virginia with 18 points on an economical 7 of 12 shooting. Sean McNeil, who was enrolled briefly at Bellarmine before transferring to Sindair Community College, contributed 14 on 6 of 14 shooting while forward Jalen Bridges came close to getting a double-double with 8 points and nine rebounds.

The Mountaineers used a 12-2 run to flip a one-point deficit to a nine-point lead in the first half, and then used a 22-9 run over the first 10 minutes of the second half to blow the game open.

Huggins said ball movement was the key to West Virginia's big run.

West Virginia's biggest lead was 29 with 2:40 to go when Huggins emptied his bench.

Bellarmine (2-6) scored the game's remaining 10 points.

Thirteen different West Virginia players got into the game and 11 scored as the Mountaineers' bench outscored Bellarmine's 28 to 7.

For the first time this year, WVU had a sizable advantage on the glass by outrebounding the Knights 41 to 31. Eighteen of those came on the offensive glass with Dimon Carrigan grabbing six boards in eight minutes and guard Kedrian Johnson pulling down five.

"We're getting a little better but we still stand behind and watch too much," Huggins said. "When the ball is in the air that's when you really ought to get inside and get good position and we still ball watch too much."

Bellarmine shot 40.4% overall, and just 2-of-17 from 3 and also turned the ball over 14 times.

Guard Dylan Penn reached his season's scoring average of 16 points, but 12 of those came in the second half once the outcome was already decided.

Curt Hopf contributed 12, while Juston Betz and C.J. Fleming scored 10 each for Bellarmine.

Recap

West Virginia continued its winning ways with a 67-51 victory over Radford at the WVU Coliseum.

The Highlanders, coached by former West Virginia player Darris Nichols, trailed by 18 at halftime and by 27 early in the second half.

Once the lead swelled to more than 20, West Virginia (7-1) substituted freely in the second half and the game soon turned sloppy. Radford actually outscored West Virginia 27 to 25 over the final 15 minutes of the game.

"We got very selfish at the end," remarked an unimpressed West Virginia coach Bob Huggins afterward. "I've tried to explain to them there is a thing called the NET where scores matter and we hurt ourselves today."

Everybody available to play saw court time, including true freshmen James Okonkwo, who scored his first collegiate points on a two-handed slam on a pass from Gabe Osabuohien.

"He wants to play and my concern was it being in his best interests," Huggins said. "And as you can see, he's got ability. We need to start working with him because he can rebound it and I think he can score it close."

Huggins also complimented the development of 6-foot-10 sophomore forward Seny N'diaye, who also got some seven minutes of action today and grabbed four rebounds.

"Seny has gotten significantly better because he puts the time in," Huggins said.

Guard Taz Sherman scored 21 points in the first half and finished with a game-high 27, one point shy of his career high. He was the only Mountaineer to reach double figures.

"We took horrible shots," Huggins said. "We forced shots and we didn't run offense."

Starting guard Sean McNeil was a late scratch with a lower back injury and watched the game from the bench in street clothes. Freshman Kobe Johnson replaced McNeil in the starting lineup.

Nichols is only the second Mountaineer alum to coach an opposing team in the Coliseum. Fred Schaus was the first in 1975 when he coached at Purdue.

History was also made when Amy Bonner became the first female to officiate a men's game in the history of the Mountaineer basketball.

The Highlanders shot 40% for the game and committed 20 turnovers, which turned into 31 points for the Mountaineers.

West Virginia held a 33 to 31 edge in rebounding, the second straight game the Mountaineers out-boarded their opponent.

Recap

Bob Huggins dipped into his old bag of tricks to pull out a hard-earned 56-53 victory over 15th-ranked Connecticut before a raucous crowd of 12,045 at the WVU Coliseum in the Big East-Big 12 Battle.

The veteran coach went to John Beilein's old 1-3-1 defense with two minutes remaining and his team leading 52-51, and what came of it was the Huskies missing seven of their final eight shots. UConn's only basket was Isaiah Whaley's tip-in with seven seconds left, which reduced the Mountaineers' lead to 55-53.

"That was old-school John Beilein 1-3-1, although it wasn't John Beilein because I can't do all of the stuff he did, but we lined up in the 1-3-1 and really tried to pressure the ball," Huggins said afterward.

Following a Connecticut timeout, WVU inbounded the ball to Sean McNeil, who got one of his two free throw attempts to drop. On the other end, Connecticut's R.J. Cole tried an unsuccessful 3 with two seconds to go that was rebounded by Dimon Carrigan as time expired.

Connecticut was 3 of 21 from behind the arc and shot just 30.3% (22 of 56) overall for the game.

What kept West Virginia from winning by more comfortable margin was its putrid performance from the free throw line. The Mountaineers connected on just 12 of 27, and they needed every single one of the seven they made in the second half.

Forward Pauly Paulicap's free throw with 3:06 left gave West Virginia a 52-51 lead, and McNeil finally got a pair to drop with 17 seconds remaining to put the Mountaineers ahead 55-51.

The Mountaineers made up for it on the defensive end of the floor where they held the Huskies to 32 points below their season average.

Connecticut were trailing 34-29 early in the second half before going on a 10-0 run. Cole keyed the spurt with a pair of transition 3s, followed by layups by Tyler Polley and Jalen Gaffney.

West Virginia's six-minute scoreless drought finally ended when Bridges got a 3 to go down from the corner. Paulicap's put-back basket eventually tied the game at 47 with 6:47 to go.

Two Jordan Hawkins free throws with 4:01 remaining put Connecticut back ahead 51-48, but a Johnson free throw and a Sherman basket after Johnson's free throw miss tied the game at 51.

Another offensive rebound off a missed free throw by Osabuohien enabled McNeil to give West Virginia its four-point lead with 17 seconds left.

Sherman poured in a game-high 23 points on 8 of 17 shooting. He was also 3 of 6 from behind the arc. McNeil contributed 16 on 5 of 12 shooting.

Huggins earned his 100th career victory over a ranked team, including his 55th at WVU.

The Mountaineers boosted their record to 2-1 in Big East-Big 12 Battle games having won their last two over Connecticut and Georgetown after falling on a last-second shot at St. John's in 2019.

Recap

West Virginia got 27 points from Taz Sherman and 19 from Sean McNeil to down pesky Kent State 63-50 at the WVU Coliseum.

"Taz was Taz," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said. "He made big shots for us."

The Mountaineers used a 14-0 run during a four-minute stretch in the second half to turn a three-point lead into a 17-point advantage. During the run, Kent State coach Rob Senderoff saw his afternoon come to an abrupt conclusion when he was whistled for two technical fouls after Gabe Osabuohien took the ball away from Justyn Hamilton. Sean McNeil made all four free throws.

The Mountaineers turned the ball over 16 times.

West Virginia continues to show improvement on the glass, out-rebounding the Golden Flashes 38 to 31 with forward Jalen Bridges pulling down a team-best six.

Pauly Paulicap didn't score, but when he came into the game in the second half he once again gave the team great energy with a couple of blocks and five rebounds.

"I thought the blocks he made in the second half really turned the game around," Huggins said.

The Mountaineers limited Kent State (5-4) to just 19 of 55 shooting for 34.5%, including 4 of 18 from 3 for 22.2%.

"We've put more emphasis on individual defense," Huggins said. "We're doing individual defense 20, 25 minutes a practice trying to make sure we're staying in front of people and other fundamental things so hopefully that has helped and made a difference.

"I guess we're going to have to do the same thing with passing because, man, we passed it bad today," Huggins added.

West Virginia had a 25-22 lead at halftime.

Sherman was 9 of 14 from the floor and also handed out three assists. Nine of West Virginia's 10 assists for the game came in the second half.

"We didn't run any offense in the first half," Huggins said. "Whoever got it either got stuck with it or had to get bailed out by a teammate to get rid of the ball. How many times did we go to the end of the shot clock? We just didn't pass the ball."

McNeil's stat line included 6 of 11 from the floor, 2 of 4 from 3 and he was 5 of 7 from the free throw line. The rest of the team contributed just 17 points.

Sincere Carry, a Duquesne transfer, led the Golden Flashes with 18 points on 7 of 15 shooting. Hamilton was the only other Kent State player to reach double figures with 10.

"They're good," Huggins said of the Golden Flashes. "They're going to be toward the top or at the top of the MAC when the season is over. I couldn't convince our guys they are for real."

Recap

West Virginia overcame a nine-point second half deficit to defeat UAB 65-59 at Legacy Arena at the Birmingham-Jefferson Convention Complex in downtown Birmingham, Alabama.

The Mountaineers used a 23-8 run over the remaining 8:02 after Tony Toney's layup gave the Blazers a 51-42 lead.

A Gabe Osabuohien basket and three Kedrian Johnson free throws reduced UAB's lead to three, 52-49, and back-to-back Sean McNeil buckets made it a one-point game with 3:35 left.

Two missed Justin Brown free throws put West Virginia in position to take its first lead of the second half. McNeil was fouled by Michael Ertel with 2:38 left, he made both, and Johnson rebounded Quan Jackson's missed jumper with 2:17 to go.

Following a West Virginia timeout, Taz Sherman hit a 3 from well beyond the 3-point arc to give WVU a 58-54 lead. Two Johnson free throws with 31 seconds left got the margin to six, and he hit two more with 14 seconds remaining.

The Mountaineers (10-1) missed nine of their first 17 free throws before connecting on nine of their remaining 10 to go 17 of 27 overall from the line.

"We've won a bunch that we probably shouldn't have won, just by grit and gutting it out," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said afterward. "We made plays."

Sherman, facing constant double teaming throughout the game, overcame a slow start to finish with a game-high 17 points on 5 of 14 shooting. He did hit both of West Virginia's 3-point field goals.

McNeil contributed 12, including a difficult running bank shot going away from the basket with 3:25 to go to reduce UAB's lead to one.

Johnson was 7 of 8 from the charity stripe and finished with 9. Johnson was just a 47% free throw shooter coming into today's game.

"Kedrian has been in the gym," Huggins said. "There is a direct correlation with those who have been in the gym and those who have not and he wants to be a good player and he wants to win.

Walker led the Blazers with 13 points.

UAB (9-3) shot 40% for the game, 24 of 60, and was just 4 of 21 from 3 for 19%. West Virginia, too, struggled from behind the arc connecting on only 2 of 13 for 15.4%.

West Virginia out-rebounded UAB 39 to 36 and forced 15 Blazer turnovers. UAB also hurt itself at the free throw line by going just 7 of 13 for the game.

The Blazers' biggest lead was 10, 14-4, early in the first half.

Former Huggins assistant Andy Kennedy is now 0-3 against his mentor. WVU also evened the all-time series against UAB at 2-2.

Recap

West Virginia got a season-high 23 points from Sean McNeil to defeat Youngstown State 82-52 at the WVU Coliseum.

All 23 of McNeil's points came in the second half as the Mountaineers outscored the Penguins 58-29 after intermission.

The Mountaineers made just 7 of their first 30 field goal attempts and trailed for most of the first half. WVU got its first lead 15 minutes into the game and Pauly Paulicap's put-back basket with five seconds left gave the Mountaineers a 24-23 halftime lead.

"We didn't bring a whole lot of enthusiasm to start the game and they did bring enthusiasm and, of course, they were extremely well prepared," said West Virginia coach Bob Huggins, who earned win No. 321 at West Virginia and No. 911 all-time. "It took us a half to kind of get going and start to play with a little bit of enthusiasm."

In the second half, it was all McNeil and Taz Sherman, who added 16 points on 4 of 12 shooting. Sherman's back-to-back 3s got West Virginia's lead to eight, 31-23, and from there McNeil took over. All 23 of his points came over the final 17:21 on 8-of-8 shooting to help the Mountaineers' to their largest margin of victory for the season.

WVU (11-1) also managed to hold its opponent below 60 points for a sixth straight game, the most since the 2010 Final Four team did it the same number of times during the Big East and NCAA tournaments.

"I really didn't want to full-court press but we had to full-court press just to get moving because we were very stagnant," Huggins said. "The whole idea of playing full-court pressure is you have to play harder."

That pressure led to 20 Youngstown State turnovers, resulting in 29 West Virginia points. The Mountaineers also cashed in the free throw line where they made 25 of 34 compared to the Penguins' 9 of 13.

For the game, West Virginia shot 45.5% (28 of 55) and limited Youngstown State to 33.3% (19 of 57) from the floor.

The Penguins (7-4) got 13 points off the bench from guard Chris Shelton and 10 from forward Michael Akuchie.

Malik Curry came off the bench to contribute 12 points for WVU, while sophomore forward Jalen Bridges nearly missed a double-double scoring 9 points and grabbing a team-best eight rebounds.

"(Bridges) was our best player tonight," Huggins said. "He did a lot of things. He rebounded the ball, defensively he made plays, made steals, scored dose and finally made the 3. Hopefully this will get him going."

However, board work continues to be an issue for West Virginia as the Mountaineers were out-rebounded 39 to 32.

The victory was the eighth in a row for West Virginia and snaps Youngstown State's five-game winning streak.

West Virginia has won all seven meetings in series play against Youngstown State.

Recap

An undermanned West Virginia team dropped its Big 12 opener at 17th-ranked Texas 74-59 at the Frank Erwin Center in Austin, Texas, on New Year's Day.

The Mountaineers were without 20.9-points-per-game scorer Taz Sherman, top defender Gabe Osabuohien and freshman guard Kobe Johnson for the game due to COVID-19 health and safety protocols, and the Longhorns took advantage of it, particularly in the first half when they built a commanding 39-20 lead.

Texas' biggest margin was 55-27 with 13:03 left, but West Virginia continued to play and eventually got its deficit down to 15 at the conclusion of the game.

WVU did outscore Texas 39-35 in the second half.

"Taz Sherman makes a huge difference," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said "In my mind he's the best player in the league. You lose the best player in the league and it's going to have an impact, particularly when you're playing a team that has the best players from a lot of different leagues from the portal.

"The other two guys have been really solid for us so, yeah, it hurts," Huggins said. "But there is nothing you can do about it. Our guys have done everything humanly possible not to let this COVID thing affect us and in spite of that, you lose three key players."

Minnesota transfer Marcus Carr tallied a season-high 20 points to lead three Longhorn double digit scorers. Courtney Ramey had 15 and Andrew Jones added 14 as Texas shot 42.4% overall while connecting on 9 of 24 from 3-point range. Jones and Ramey had three 3s each for Texas, now 11-2, 1-0.

Jalen Bridges matched his season high with 18 points on 7-of-11 shooting. He also grabbed six rebounds, made three steals and blocked a shot.

Guard Malik Curry came off the bench to score 14 and Sean McNeil added 12.

Dimon Carrigan grabbed a team-best nine rebounds.

"I thought D.C. did the best job of guarding the rim," Huggins said.

After a cold start, West Virginia finished the game shooting 42.3% (22 of 52), including 6 of 12 from 3-point distance.

The Mountaineers also held their own on the glass, 33-33, while converting nine of their 11 free throw attempts. A couple of other positive numbers for WVU: bench points were in favor of the Mountaineers 19-11 and fast break points were also an advantage at 17-7.

Turnovers were a big issue as West Virginia committed 20, leading to 14 Longhorn points.

"Twenty turnovers is 20 times more they have to score and it's generally on an open floor," Huggins said. "You're not going against five guys, you are going against whoever gets back - if anybody does get back."

The loss drops WVU's record to 6-4 in Big 12 openers.
