West Virginia Continues Road Swing at Kansas State

- West Virginia has played the eighth toughest strength of schedule to date in the latest NCAA rankings.
- The Mountaineers are in a stretch with four out of five and five of seven games on the road.
- On Jan. 22 at Texas Tech, Bob Huggins coached his 1,300th career game. He has coached the sixth-most games in college basketball history behind Mike Krzyzewski, Jim Boeheim, Jim Phelan, Cliff Ellis and Jim Calhoun.
- Huggins coached his 500th game at West Virginia against Oklahoma on Jan. 26.
- It was announced on Dec. 20 that Bob Huggins is eligible for the 2022 class of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.
- With the win against Clemson on Nov. 21, Bob Huggins moved past Roy Williams for fourth place on the NCAA all-time Division I winningest coaches list. Huggins' record now stands at 914-392 in his 40th season as a head coach. He needs six more wins to tie Jim Calhoun for third place all-time.
- Huggins is the third-winningest active coach behind Mike Krzyzewski and Jim Boeheim.
- On Jan. 4, 2021 at Oklahoma State, Bob Huggins recorded his 300th career victory at his alma mater. Only Gale Catlett (1979-2002) has won more games at WVU with 439. Huggins now has 324 victories at West Virginia.
- Huggins became just the second coach to win at least 300 games at two different Division I schools (WVU - 324 and Cincinnati - 399), joining Roy Williams (Kansas - 418 and North Carolina - 485).
- In his 40th season as a head coach, Huggins became the 18th Division I head coach all-time to coach 40 or more years.
- WVU is 238-69 in its last 307 games against unranked teams, including winners of 128 of its last 151 at home.
- Huggins has posted 55 conference road victories in 15 seasons at WVU, including six in 2020-21, two in 2019-20, four in 2017-18, five Big 12 road wins in 2016-17, six Big 12 road wins in 2015-16 and four Big 12 road wins in 2014-15.
- WVU is 74-61 in the Big 12 regular season in the last eight seasons.
- West Virginia is 143-119 under Bob Huggins in conference regular season games (Big 12 and Big East).
- Bob Huggins is 99-89 in Big 12 Conference games. He is 89-83 at WVU, and was 10-6 at Kansas State in 2006-07.
- Taz Sherman is one of four Big 12 players to be named Big 12 Player of the Week at least twice this season.
- Sean McNeil earned Big 12 Player of the Week honors on Dec. 27, the second honor in his career.
- In Big 12 games only, WVU leads the league in blocked shots (5.0) and free throw percentage (79.4).
- In league games only, Jalen Bridges (93.8) and Malik Curry (90.0) rank first and third in free throw%. Isaiah Cottrell is fourth in blocked shots (1.0), Bridges is fifth in offensive rbs. (2.6) and McNeil is first in minutes played (36.4).
- This season, WVU has seven seniors, including five who are in their fifth year of eligibility due to COVID-19.
- West Virginia has allowed its opponent to shoot 50 percent or better 91 times under Bob Huggins (506 games).
- West Virginia has made at least one 3-point field goal in 753 consecutive games.
- Last season, Gabe Osabuohien led WVU with 171 deflections and 21 charges taken.
- Osabuohien leads WVU with 163 deflections, followed by Kedrian Johnson with 131 and Jalen Bridges 109.
- Osabuohien has taken 20 charges taken this season, including three against Kansas State on Jan. 8.
- WVU is forcing its opponents to turn it over on 23.1% of their possessions, the 19th-best percentage in the country.
- Sean McNeil hit his 100th career 3-point field goal against Oakland. Taz Sherman hit his 100th against Kansas State.
- The Mountaineers have won 123 of their last 136 games when holding opponents to 69 points or less.
- WVU has won 134 of its last 148 and 190 of its last 214 games when holding opponents to less than 69 points.
- WVU is 245-42 under Huggins when holding opponents to 69 points or less.
- West Virginia is 81-6 under Bob Huggins when shooting 50 percent or better from the field.
- West Virginia is 254-54 under Bob Huggins when leading at halftime.
- West Virginia is 260-31 under Bob Huggins when leading by 10 or more points in a game.
- West Virginia is 223-17 under Bob Huggins when posting a higher shooting percentage than its opponent.
- The Mountaineers are 239-61 under Bob Huggins when scoring 70 or more points in a game.
- West Virginia is 239-68 under Bob Huggins when outrebounding its opponent.
- West Virginia is 174-90 (.675) since the start of the 2014-15 season.
- In 2020-21, it was WVU's 10th NCAA appearance in 14 years and 12th appearance in the last 17 seasons.
- WVU has made 16 postseason appearances in the last 18 years, including the NCAA Final Four in 2010.
- Huggins has wins over 55 AP-ranked teams at WVU, including 22 wins over Top 10 teams and three over No. 1.
- Huggins has 100 wins over ranked teams as a head coach in his career.
- The Mountaineers are 20-11 in games played on Feb. 14. WVU is 538-413 in the month of February.

- The Mountaineers are 4-5 against K-State in Bramlage Coliseum, winning in four of its last seven visits.
- Bob Huggins is 14-8 against his former team (14-7 at WVU). His Akron team fell to the Wildcats, 70-68, on Dec. 10, 1988.
- Bob Huggins led K-State to a 21-12 record in 2006-07, the Wildcats' most wins in 19 years. K-State broke an eight-season postseason drought when Huggins led the Wildcats to the NIT Second Round. The Wildcats also collected 10 Big 12 wins for the first time since the league's inception in 1997.

WVU Basketball Tradition

- This is the 113th season and 119th year overall for West Virginia basketball, which began in 1903.
- The Mountaineers own a 1,825-1,129 all-time record in intercollegiate basketball competition, ranking the Mountaineers 20th in wins among all Division I schools.
- WVU has earned 30 NCAA berths, 16 NIT trips and one CBI bid since 1941, and has finished in the Top 25 24 times, including an amazing nine straight years from 1955-63.
- In 1958, the Mountaineers finished the regular season ranked No. 1 in both polls and in 1959, West Virginia, led by All-America guard Jerry West, lost in the NCAA finals to California.
- West Virginia has had 13 first team All-Americans, headlined by West, who went on to become one of basketball's all-time greats with the NBA's Los Angeles Lakers.
- Under Huggins, Derek Culver was named to the Lute Olson All-American team in 2021. Jevon Carter was named to the John Wooden, Lute Olson and Senior CLASS All-America teams in 2018. Juwan Staten was named to the Lute Olson All-America team in 2015. Da'Sean Butler earned All-America first team honors in 2010 by John Wooden & Basketball Times and Kevin Jones earned All-America honors in 2012 by John Wooden.
- Besides West, some of basketball's biggest names have been affiliated with the Old Gold & Blue, including former Lakers coach and general manager Fred Schaus, former NBA President of Basketball Operations and NBA Hall of Famer Rod Thorn and former Utah Jazz broadcaster and NBA Hall of Famer "Hot Rod" Hundley.
- West Virginia has played in four different home venues: the ROTC Armory (1903-15), The Ark (1916-27), Stansbury Hall (1928-69) and the WVU Coliseum (1970-present). When the WVU Coliseum was closed due to asbestos removal during the 1999-2000 season, WVU played home games in Charleston, Wheeling and Fairmont.

Recap

Taz Sherman's 18 points led West Virginia to a 60-53 season-opening victory over Oakland at the WVU Coliseum.

The Mountaineers, playing the 2021-22 season without Deuce McBride and Derek Culver, had the look of a team trying to discover its identity against a Golden Grizzlies team that threw a variety of zone defenses against them.

Bob Huggins won his 901st career game and is now just one shy of tying Bob Knight for fifth place on the NCAA all-time Division I wins list.

Two more wins will move him into a tie with Roy Williams for fourth place.

WVU (1-0) had difficulty finding much offensive rhythm in the first half and trailed for a good portion of the half before going on a 15-5 run to take a 27-23 lead into the locker room at the break.

Gabe Osabuohien came off the bench to ignite the rally by drawing charges, deflecting passes, grabbing an occasional rebound and finding open shooters along the wings.

Osabuohien remained on the floor at the beginning of the second half to help the Mountaineers build their biggest lead of the game at 17, 50-33, with 11:01 remaining.

Oakland (0-1) fought back to reduce West Virginia's advantage to six, 53-47, on Micha Parrish's 3 with 6:29 left. A Sherman jumper and a Kedrian Johnson transition dunk built the lead back to 10 with 4:41 to go.

The lead was also 10 with 1:48 remaining on two Malik Curry free throws.

Sherman's game-high 18 came on just 7 of 18 from the floor, including 1 of 7 from 3. Sherman was struggling with calf cramps for a good portion of the second half.

Sean McNeil was the only other Mountaineer player to reach double digits with 11 points on 4 of 9 shooting.

Osabuohien's stat line included 6 points, nine rebounds, three assists, two blocked shots, a steal and several drawn charges that led to Osei Price and Jamal Cain fouling out of the game, and point guard Jalen Moore finishing with four fouls.

Moore, who is considered one of the top point guards in mid-major basketball, had a tough night against a wave of West Virginia defenders. He finished with only 4 points on 2 of 16 shooting with 13 turnovers.

Neither team shot the ball well from 3, Oakland missing 20 of its 23 attempts and West Virginia making just 4 of 21. Oakland also committed 25 turnovers and shot 35.5% from the floor.

West Virginia, too, struggled shooting the ball making only 39.7% of its 58 field goal attempts. The Mountaineers were only 55.8% from the free throw line and the most alarming statistic was Oakland's 48 to 33 advantage on the glass.

Eleven different players got into the game for West Virginia and nine ended up getting into the scoring column.

Recap

West Virginia took advantage of Pitt's backcourt issues by forcing 32 turnovers in a 74-59 victory over the Panthers at a sold-out WVU Coliseum.

It was coach Bob Huggins' 902 career victory, tying him with Bob Knight for fifth on the NCAA's all-time Division I wins list. His next victory will move him into a tie with Roy Williams for fourth all-time, with just Jim Calhoun, Jim Boeheim and Mike Krzyzewski ahead of him.

The 14,100 who showed up for the game watched Huggins' Mountaineers consume Pitt's ballhandlers, just as they did in the opener when they forced Oakland to turn the ball over 25 times.

It's the most turnovers by a West Virginia opponent since 2016 during its "Press Virginia" days when the Mountaineers forced Western Carolina to turn it over 34 times.

Those 32 turnovers were responsible for 34 points, which covered up for some of the other areas where West Virginia is still lacking - namely rebounding and free throw shooting.

Once again, WVU was beaten 36 to 20 on the glass and made just 5 of its 11 free throw attempts.

West Virginia was able to get off 19 more shots than Pitt, connecting on 50.8% of its field goal attempts.

Jalen Bridges led everybody with 18 points, those coming on 6 of 9 shooting, including 4 of 6 from 3. Each time Pitt tried to make a run, particularly in the second half, Bridges knocked down a 3 to stop it.

Senior guard Taz Sherman contributed 17, although he goaled on just 6 of his 20 shot attempts. Guard Sean McNeil scored 11 and Malik Curry came off the bench to contribute 10 on 5 of 5 shooting.

West Virginia (2-0) was 9-of-22 from behind the arc, and outscored the Panthers 21 to 11 in fast break points. Seventeen of Pitt's 32 turnovers were the result of West Virginia steals.

WVU's defense also blocked 11 Panther shots - five of those coming from Bridges.

The Mountaineers used a 9-0 run during a two-minute stretch late in the first half to take a 34-19 lead following a Bridges 3 with 3:38 left.

The lead swelled to 21 at the 10-minute mark of the second half and got there once again with 5:10 remaining. Ten different players saw the floor for West Virginia and eight of them scored.

The Panthers (0-2) shot 57.5% overall, connecting on 23 of its 40 field goal attempts.

The victory was West Virginia's 100th all-time in the Pitt series, to Pitt's 88, and is the fifth straight dating back to 2012 when the two schools were still members of the Big East Conference. Since the resumption of the series in 2017, the Mountaineers have won all four meetings.

The 14,100 attendance was the most ever for a November basketball game at the WVU Coliseum, exceeding the 11,044 that attended the Nov. 26, 2006 game against LSU. That was also the day West Virginia officially retired Jerry West's No. 44.

Recap

Marquette used some torrid second-half shooting to overcome a double-digit halftime deficit and down West Virginia 82-71 in the second semifinal game of the Shriners Children's Charleston Classic at TD Arena in Charleston, South Carolina.

It was a tale of two halves for West Virginia.

The Mountaineers took advantage of Kur Kuath's early foul trouble to build a 10-point halftime lead. When Kuath drew his second foul and went to the bench with 14:48 remaining, the Golden Eagles were leading the Mountaineers 14-8.

West Virginia then used a 17-2 run to take a 25-16 lead, and it got to 10 with 4:58 left on Malik Curry's jumper. A Sean McNeil basket pushed the lead to 11 and another McNeil jumper with 42 seconds left pushed the advantage to 14.

The Mountaineers shot 58% in the first half, limited Marquette to 42.2% and more than held their own on the glass 18 to 15.

In the second half, it was a complete reversal. Everything West Virginia did well in the first half Marquette did well in the second half.

The Golden Eagles shot 64% after intermission, including 8 of 13 from 3, outrebounded West Virginia 22 to 14, and the turnovers the Mountaineers were generating during their first three wins against Oakland, Pitt and Elon were non-existent in the second half.

Huggins said the defensive intensity his team played with in the first half did not continue when the team returned to the floor after intermission.

"They were all penetrate and pitch shots," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said of Marquette's 47-point second half explosion. "Whoever touched the ball straight-lined it and we stood around. In the first half they didn't. How many times did they drive it to the goal and one of our guys moved to stop him and the rest of our guys stood and looked?"

Marquette's 13-0 run early in the second half flipped the game, and the Golden Eagles never trailed after Kam Jones' 3 gave Marquette a 63-60 lead with 9:25 left.

Tyler Kolek scored a team-high 18 while all 12 of Jones' points were scored in the second half. Darryl Morsell also scored 11 for the Golden Eagles.

Kuath made all four of his shot attempts for 8 points, grabbed five rebounds and blocked three shots.

West Virginia missed its last three shots, six of its last seven and went scoreless for the remaining 3:39. WVU's top two scorers, Taz Sherman and Sean McNeil, went a combined 3 for 19 in the second half and overall the Mountaineers connected on just 9 of their 33 second-half field goal tries.

For the game, Sherman led everyone with 21 points on 7 of 16 shooting. McNeil added 12 on 4 of 13 shooting while Jalen Bridges tallied 11. The sophomore forward was 4 of 6 from the floor.

Recap

West Virginia rallied from 10 points down in the second half to defeat Clemson 66-59 in the third-place game of the Shriners Children's Charleston Classic at TD Arena in Charleston, South Carolina.

The Mountaineers (4-1) were trailing 49-39 with 14 minutes remaining, and it appeared to be a repeat of the loss to Marquette when West Virginia was overrun by the Golden Eagles in the second half.

But WVU tightened its defense and got some critical baskets from Sean McNeil, who finished with a team-high 15 points.

"That was the Mountaineer team right there," said West Virginia coach Bob Huggins, who got career victory No. 904 moving him past Roy Williams into sole possession of fourth place on the NCAA's all-time Division I wins list.

A Dimon Carrigan layup began a 17-7 Mountaineer run to tie the game at 56 on McNeil's jumper. McNeil, who went scoreless in the first half, scored 15 of West Virginia's final 23 points, including four important free throws inside of a minute to play.

WVU's defense held Clemson without a field goal over the game's final 5:50. With 17 seconds left in the game, Clemson was assessed a technical foul for having six players on the floor when West Virginia was attempting to inbound the basketball. Two free throws were awarded to West Virginia, which McNeil made, and the Mountaineers also got the ball back with a seven-point lead.

Clemson (4-2) wasn't able to sustain the two offensive spurts it had to begin the game and early in the second half, the Tigers also led 17-9 at the game's outset.

Al-Amir Dawes scored a game-high 18 points on 6-of-9 shooting, with 12 of those coming in the first five minutes of the game before West Virginia adjusted its defense.

The Mountaineers fought back to tie the game at 20 and took its first lead, 24-23, on Kedrian Johnson's jumper with 6:12 left. WVU had a 35-32 lead and the ball with 30 seconds left in the half. But Malik Curry missed a short jumper with eight seconds remaining, which allowed P.J. Hall enough time to score ahead of the first half horn.

Clemson began the second half by scoring 15 of the next 19 points with WVU's lone field goals coming from Taz Sherman and Isaiah Cottrell.

Clemson turnovers and missed free throws were a key factor in West Virginia's comeback. The Tigers finished the game turning the ball over 20 times, with 10 of those coming in the second half, while connecting on just 10 of their 18 free throw attempts.

Recap

A strong second half propelled West Virginia to a 74-55 victory over Bellarmine at the WVU Coliseum.

Bellarmine, making its first-ever appearance at the Coliseum, has made the rounds of some of the best teams in college basketball. The Atlantic Sun Conference members had already played games at No. 2 Purdue, No. 3 Gonzaga and No. 5 UCLA.

The Knights hung with West Virginia in the first half, leading 12-11 at one point, but the Mountaineers' bench and constant ball pressure eventually wore them down.

"They're hard guard," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said afterward. "They do a great job of passing, cutting and ball faking and defensively they play some semblance of a Pack Line, which is hard to get easy shots off of."

"We started off slow and kind of struggled and then got better and better as the game went on until we unloaded the bench," added Huggins, now at 906-383 in his 40th season of coaching.

Taz Sherman led West Virginia with 18 points on an economical 7 of 12 shooting. Sean McNeil, who was enrolled briefly at Bellarmine before transferring to Sindair Community College, contributed 14 on 6 of 14 shooting while forward Jalen Bridges came close to getting a double-double with 8 points and nine rebounds.

The Mountaineers used a 12-2 run to flip a one-point deficit to a nine-point lead in the first half, and then used a 22-9 run over the first 10 minutes of the second half to blow the game open.

Huggins said ball movement was the key to West Virginia's big run. West Virginia's biggest lead was 29 with 2:40 to go when Huggins emptied his bench.

Bellarmine (2-6) scored the game's remaining 10 points.

Thirteen different West Virginia players got into the game and 11 scored as the Mountaineers' bench outscored Bellarmine's 28 to 7.

For the first time this year, WVU had a sizable advantage on the glass by outrebounding the Knights 41 to 31. Eighteen of those came on the offensive glass with Dimon Carrigan grabbing six boards in eight minutes and guard Kedrian Johnson pulling down five.

"We're getting a little better but we still stand behind and watch too much," Huggins said. "When the ball is in the air that's when you really ought to get inside and get good position and we still ball watch too much."

Bellarmine shot 40.4% overall, and just 2-of-17 from 3 and also turned the ball over 14 times.

Guard Dylan Penn reached his season's scoring average of 16 points, but 12 of those came in the second half once the outcome was already decided.

Curt Hopf contributed 12, while Justin Betz and C.J. Fleming scored 10 each for Bellarmine.

Recap

West Virginia continued its winning ways with a 67-51 victory over Radford at the WVU Coliseum.

The Highlanders, coached by former West Virginia player Darris Nichols, trailed by 18 at halftime and by 27 early in the second half.

Once the lead swelled to more than 20, West Virginia (7-1) substituted freely in the second half and the game soon turned sloppy. Radford actually outscored West Virginia 27 to 25 over the final 15 minutes of the game.

"We got very selfish at the end," remarked an unimpressed West Virginia coach Bob Huggins afterward. "I've tried to explain to them there is a thing called the NET where scores matter and we hurt ourselves today."

Everybody available to play saw court time, including true freshmen James Okonkwo, who scored his first collegiate points on a two-handed slam on a pass from Gabe Osabuohien.

"He wants to play and my concern was it being in his best interests," Huggins said. "And as you can see, he's got ability. We need to start working with him because he can rebound it and I think he can score it dose."

Huggins also complimented the development of 6-foot-10 sophomore forward Seny N'diaye, who also got some seven minutes of action today and grabbed four rebounds.

"Seny has gotten significantly better because he puts the time in," Huggins said.

Guard Taz Sherman scored 21 points in the first half and finished with a game-high 27, one point shy of his career high. He was the only Mountaineer to reach double figures.

"We took horrible shots," Huggins said. "We forced shots and we didn't run offense."

Starting guard Sean McNeil was a late scratch with a lower back injury and watched the game from the bench in street clothes. Freshman Kobe Johnson replaced McNeil in the starting lineup.

Nichols is the only second Mountaineer alum to coach an opposing team in the Coliseum. Fred Schaus was the first in 1975 when he coached at Purdue.

History was also made when Amy Bonner became the first female to officiate a men's game in the history of the Mountaineer basketball.

The Highlanders shot 40% of the game and committed 20 turnovers, which turned into 31 points for the Mountaineers.

West Virginia held a 33 to 31 edge in rebounding, the second straight game the Mountaineers out-boarded their opponent.

Recap

An undermanned West Virginia team dropped its Big 12 opener at 17th-ranked Texas 74-59 at the Frank Erwin Center in Austin, Texas, on New Year's Day.

The Mountaineers were without 20.9-points-per-game scorer Taz Sherman, top defender Gabe Osabuohien and freshman guard Kobe Johnson for the game due to COVID-19 health and safety protocols, and the Longhorns took advantage of it, particularly in the first half when they built a commanding 39-20 lead.

Texas' biggest margin was 55-27 with 13:03 left, but West Virginia continued to play and eventually got its deficit down to 15 at the conclusion of the game.

WVU did outscore Texas 39-35 in the second half.

"Taz Sherman makes a huge difference," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said "In my mind he's the best player in the league. You lose the best player in the league and it's going to have an impact, particularly when you're playing a team that has the best players from a lot of different leagues from the portal.

"The other two guys have been really solid for us so, yeah, it hurts," Huggins said. "But there is nothing you can do about it. Our guys have done everything humanly possible not to let this COVID thing affect us and in spite of that, you lose three key players."

Minnesota transfer Marcus Carr tallied a season-high 20 points to lead three Longhorn double digit scorers. Courtney Ramey had 15 and Andrew Jones added 14 as Texas shot 42.4% overall while connecting on 9 of 24 from 3-point range. Jones and Ramey had three 3s each for Texas, now 11-2, 1-0.

Jalen Bridges matched his season high with 18 points on 7-of-11 shooting. He also grabbed six rebounds, made three steals and blocked a shot.

Guard Malik Curry came off the bench to score 14 and Sean McNeil added 12.

Dimon Carrigan grabbed a team-best nine rebounds. "I thought D.C. did the best job of guarding the rim," Huggins said. After a cold start, West Virginia finished the game shooting 42.3% (22 of 52), including 6 of 12 from 3-point distance.

WVU also held its own on the glass, 33-33, while converting nine of their 11 free throw attempts. A couple of other positive numbers for WVU: bench points were in favor of the Mountaineers 19-11 and fast break points were also an advantage at 17-7.

Turnovers were a big issue as West Virginia committed 20, leading to 14 Longhorn points.

"Twenty turnovers is 20 times more they have to score and it's generally on an open floor," Huggins said. "You're not going against five guys, you are going against whoever gets back - if anybody does get back."

The loss drops WVU's record to 6-4 in Big 12 openers.

Recap

Sean McNeil's career-high-tying 26 points helped West Virginia down Kansas State 71-68 in a Big 12 Conference game at the WVU Coliseum.

The Wildcats (8-6, 0-3) were without head coach Bruce Weber, assistant coaches Chris Lowery and Shane Southwell, and bigs Kaosi Ezeagu and Logan Landers for the game because of COVID-19 issues, but they came out firing in the first half.

K-State scored 23 of the game's first 29 points behind the 3-point shooting Nijel Pack, Mark Smith and Ismael Massoud. Kansas State was 9-of-19 from behind the arc to build a 40-27 halftime lead.

"We've got over half new guys and the new guys have got to understand how hard this league is that anybody who comes in here can beat you," said West Virginia coach Bob Huggins, who earned career win No. 912. "I think more importantly than that, how hard we have to play here - and we do play hard.

"We don't have the McDonald's All-Americans," he continued. "We have the guys who come in here and really want to play, want to win and lay it out there. We kind of got away from that during that week off and I think it's better when we're playing every two or three days."

Early in the second half, West Virginia (12-2, 1-1) finally woke up after Massoud's dunk, McNeil starting an 8-0 run with a jumper to reduce the Wildcats' lead to 42-27. A McNeil 3 from about 25 feet made it a two-point game, and his follow-up of Kedrian Johnson's missed layup tied the game at 50.

Another McNeil 3, a pair of Taz Sherman triples and a McNeil jumper from the elbow gave West Virginia its biggest lead of the game at eight points with 5:49 to go. The WVU run during this 3:47 stretch was 15-3.

But then a couple of empty possessions opened the door for Kansas State to battle back. The Mountaineer advantage was down to 62-60 with 3:53 left when McNeil hit another bomb.

Pack answered with his sixth triple and from here it turned into a free throw shooting game for the Mountaineers.

McNeil got a pair to go down with 1:24 left, Kedrian Johnson made his two with 15 seconds remaining and Jalen Bridges converted two big ones with four seconds showing on the clock after Massoud banked in a 3 from the corner.

Jermaine Henderson, serving as Kansas State's head coach for the game, called timeout after Bridges made his first free throw to try and ice him. He made it and Markquis Nowell's running 3-point shot attempt from beyond the top of the key to try and tie the game grazed the front of the rim and fell to the ground.

Overall, West Virginia was 12 of 17 from the free throw line.

McNeil scored 19 of his game-high 26 points after intermission while connecting on 9-of-15 from the floor. Sherman, back in the starting lineup after missing the Texas game because of COVID-19 protocols, contributed 14 points on 5-of-13 shooting.

Kedrian Johnson added 11. Gabe Osabuohien was also out for the Texas loss, had a career-high-tying 12 rebounds.

Recap

Torrid second-half shooting led No. 9 Kansas to an 85-59 victory over West Virginia before another capacity crowd of 16,300 at Allen Fieldhouse.

Leading just 33-31 at halftime, the Jayhawks (14-2, 3-1) scored the first nine points of the second half to force WVU to call a 30-second timeout. Gabe Osabuohien briefly stopped the bleeding with a layup, but KU center David McCormack answered with a dunk and the Jayhawk lead soon swelled to 15 on a Christian Braun layup.

The advantage was 20 on Jalen Wilson's 3 with 9:43 and then a McCormack fast break dunk gave Kansas a 77-55 lead with 3:40 to go.

Kansas' biggest lead was 27 when both teams had their reserves on the floor.

This game was very similar to the last one at Allen Fieldhouse when the Mountaineers were in it at halftime before Kansas stepped on the gas pedal after intermission.

Kansas shot 51% from the floor (36 of 70) and got a game-high 23 points from 6.6-points-per-game scorer Jalen Wilson - 16 of those coming during KU's 52-point second half. KU outscored WVU 52-28 after the break.

"We missed a bunch of shots and then got our heads down, and you don't want to get your heads down against these guys," Huggins said.

McCormack grabbed 15 rebounds against an overmatched Mountaineer front line. Ten of those rebounds came on the offensive glass.

Kansas' 54-to-20 advantage in paint scoring was the telling stat of the day.

Also, a matchup of the Big 12's top two scorers Ochai Agbaji and Taz Sherman never materialized. Agbaji hit his season average with 20, but Sherman had his roughest game of the season by making just 1 of 9 from the floor and scoring a season-low 5 points.

"To be fair, Taz is not 100% back from the COVID," Huggins said. "He's not near what he was. He's not as bouncy. He's certainly doesn't have the ability to play long periods of time. We played him too long because we depend on him so much."

WVU's other top scorer, Sean McNeil, tallied 10 on 4 of 11 shooting. McNeil scored 24 in last year's loss in Lawrence.

Jalen Bridges tallied 12 and hit two of West Virginia's four 3-pointers for the afternoon. He also grabbed 11 rebounds.

Senior guard Malik Curry made up some of scoring deficiencies by tallying a season-high 23 points coming off the bench. He was 6 of 13 from the floor and made all 11 of his free throw attempts.

Twenty-one of West Virginia's 59 points came from the foul line as WVU connected on only 17 of its 63 shot attempts for 27%.

Recap

This game came down to two things - 3-point field goals and layups. No. 5 Baylor made its 3s, West Virginia couldn't make its layups and the Bears pulled out a 77-68 victory over the Mountaineers at the WVU Coliseum.

Baylor (16-2, 4-2) shot a combined 16 of 52 from 3-point distance in its last two losses to Texas Tech and Oklahoma State. In this game, the Bears connected on 12 of 27, including 6 of 11 in the second half with two coming from Matthew Mayer and Adam Flagler during a key 33-second stretch with six minutes to go.

Those two triples turned a one-point lead into a seven-point advantage and the Bears never looked back.

West Virginia (13-4, 2-3) used a 14-0 run to overcome an early 16-point first half deficit, and actually led 54-53 with 8:37 remaining. But missed layups - nine during a critical six-minute stretch - proved to be the Mountaineers' undoing.

Recap

The Groves brothers Tanner and Jacob combined to score 33 points and grab 10 rebounds to lead Oklahoma to a 72-62 victory over West Virginia at the WVU Coliseum.

Tanner Groves made 9 of his 11 field goal attempts while Jacob was 4 of 6, including a couple of big buzzer-beating 3s. His first one came from mid to midcourt ahead of the first half horn to give Oklahoma a 30-22 halftime lead.

His second one was from a little bit closer with the shot clock winding down to give OU a 59-46 advantage with 7:24 left. The Sooners' biggest lead was 17, 63-46, with 6:28 left.

OU had a six-plus-minute field goal drought in the second half but managed to maintain its double-digit lead at the free throw line. The Sooners made 19 of 20 from the charity stripe and finished the game connecting on 21 of 22.

Oklahoma also shot 51.1% from the field, including hitting 10 of its 18 second half field goal tries.

"Their first eight baskets were lay ins," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins. "We started talking to them about when you turn your head they are going to back cut. They really pass the ball. Porter Moser has done a great job of getting guys who pass the ball."

Meanwhile, West Virginia's offensive woes continued. WVU's two big guns, Taz Sherman and Sean McNeil, shot just 5 of 18 for a combined 18 points.

Consequently, that required 4.4-points-per-game scorer Gabe Osabuohien to try and become more assertive offensively. He tallied a career-high 17, including making 7 of 10 from the free throw line.

Sophomore forward Jalen Bridges contributed 12.
I went back and looked at a lot of the stuff we did and why it worked, so we put a few things in, but we just don't run offense," Huggins said. "We missed 11 one-footers the last time we lost, and I think we got a little better at that, but passing is a hard thing if you've never really done it and you've not worked hard at it."

Oklahoma exceeded its season turnover average with 17, but West Virginia was not able to capitalize on enough of them. OU actually had a 20-17 scoring advantage on the Mountaineers' 15 turnovers.

The Sooners had a 32-26 edge on the glass and a 34-30 margin in paint scoring.

West Virginia led for just 2:06 and its last lead was 6-4 after two early 3s from Sherman and Cottrell.

"It eats me up and I promise I will do everything in my power to try and fix this," Huggins said. "I told our guys this was a crucial game for us. If you look at Joe Lunardi and all of the people talking about the NCAA Tournament we were a 10-seed coming into this. We're probably out of the tournament right now, but we can get back in if we can win enough games."

Recap

Au'Diese Toney was one of four double-figure scorers in leading Arkansas to a 77-68 victory over West Virginia in a Big 12/SEC Challenge game at Bud Walton Arena in Fayetteville, Arkansas.

Toney, a Pitt transfer, scored a game-high 19 points by making 6 of his 8 field goal attempts and 7 of 8 from the free throw line. Arkansas (16-5) converted 28 of its 34 free throws and completely dominated the glass by out-rebounding the Mountaineers 44-29.

Forward Jaylin Williams pulled down a game-high 15 rebounds while Stanley Umude contributed eight boards.

Umude and Williams scored 12 points each.

Osabuohien scored 7 points and grabbed three rebounds before fouling out with 4:57 remaining.

Huggins complimented the second-half effort put forth by senior forward Dimon Carrigan, who grabbed three rebounds and blocked three shots in 22 minutes of action.

Arkansas' leading scorer, JD Notae, who came into today's game leading the SEC with an 18.9 points per game average, spent a good portion of the first half on the bench in early foul trouble and finished with 15.

"We started out the game the way we've been playing and then we decided we were going to compete," Huggins said.

Arkansas never trailed and led by nine points at halftime, and then by 19 with 16 minutes left in the game. But here, West Virginia went on a 16-2 run over a four-minute stretch to reduce the Razorback lead to five, 54-49. Guard Kedrian Johnson keyed the run with a couple of 3s and a pair of free throws.

"Being down 19 is not a good feeling and we didn't want to go out like that, so we tried our best to come back, but things happen and things don't always go your way," Johnson said.

West Virginia had multiple opportunities to get closer but couldn't get its shots to go down, missing eight of its next 10 field goal tries. In the meantime, Arkansas built its lead back to 13 and the margin never got closer than six afterward.

Johnson tallied a career-high 18 points on 5 of 9 shooting and tripled his 3-point field goal total for the season with four. He came into this afternoon making just 2 of 19 from behind the arc.

Taz Sherman scored 15 and Malik Curry came off the bench to contribute 11.

West Virginia (13-7) was better from the floor in the second half, connecting on 43% of its shot attempts to finish the game at 38.3%.

The Mountaineers forced 15 Razorback turnovers and cashed in on seven of those for 14 points.

Arkansas extended its winning streak to six games. The announced attendance was 19,200.

Recap

West Virginia was without its leading scorer Taz Sherman and it showed in the 60-53 loss to 14th-ranked Texas Tech.

The Mountaineers made just 11 field goals and shot 24.2% from the floor - their worst shooting performance since connecting on 23.1% of their shots in a 31-point loss at Texas Tech in 2019.

West Virginia (13-9, 2-7) converted four field goals in the second half - the first a 3 coming from Sean McNeil with 13:43 remaining. Malik Curry layup came four minutes later. Gabe Osabuohien got his layup to go down with 7:46 left and Kedrian Johnson hit the last field goal from in front of the foul line with 1:06 left.

"We were 4 of 32 in the second half," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said. "You can't win if you can't score. We had opportunities and we just didn't make them. We've got one-footers we didn't make and we didn't finish plays."

Despite its poor shooting, West Virginia was still in the game with three minutes to go trailing by three after a pair of Osabuohien free throws.

The Mountaineers had three different chances to make it a one-point game, but Osabuohien missed dose to the basket twice and Curry couldn't get his contested layup try to drop. A Bryson Williams steal led to his two free throws with 1:46 remaining, and Daniel Batcho's breakaway dunk 20 seconds later put the Red Raiders up by seven.

Osabuohien made one of two from the line and Johnson's jumper got the deficit down to four, but Texas Tech answered with two Batcho free throws with 51 seconds left. That made it a six-point game.

West Virginia led 32-26 at halftime behind Jalen Bridges' team-high 16 points, with four of his field goals coming from behind the arc. However, Bridges was only able to get off three shot attempts in the second half and failed to score.

McNeil, who contributed 15, also had a difficult time getting loose against Texas Tech's perimeter defense. He was 4 of 16 shooting, including 2 of 9 from behind the arc.

The Mountaineers were 9 of 38 from 2-point distance and were outscored 34-10 in the paint for the game.

Texas Tech (18-5, 7-3) did nearly all its damage near the basket today with 6-foot-8, 240-pound forward Bryson Williams leading the way with 15 points.

Davion Warren scored 11 and Kevin McCullar added 10. The Red Raiders were 4 of 21 from 3 and finished the game shooting just 37.3%.

Sherman, the Big 12's second-leading scorer averaging 18.9 points per game, remains in concussion protocol after getting struck in the face by Jeremy Sochan with 3:47 left at Baylor and sat on the bench in street clothes.

Recap

Taz Sherman's return, the 3-ball and some good Roy Williams mojo helped West Virginia to a 79-63 victory over Iowa State at the WVU Coliseum.

Williams was here after calling up West Virginia coach Bob Huggins and telling him he's never been to the WVU Coliseum and would like to see the game with his wife Wanda.

"It feels great, it's been a long-time (since our last victory) seemingly," Huggins said afterward. "Getting Taz back was a huge shot in the arm for everybody."

Sherman, who missed the 60-53 loss to Texas Tech while in concussion protocol, gave West Virginia a big boost with perhaps his best all-around game of the season. The senior scored a team-high 16 points, grabbed eight rebounds and handed out six assists, both career highs.

The Mountaineers also connected on 10 of their 20 3-point field goal tries.

Huggins juggled his starting lineup with Sherman, Sean McNeil and freshman Kobe Johnson starting in the backcourt with Paully Paulicap joining Jalen Bridges up front.

Bridges and Johnson began the game with 3s and West Virginia built an early 13-point lead. Freshman guard Seth Wilson also gave WVU an early lift with a season-high 7 points in about a two-minute stretch coming off the bench.

"We made shots," Huggins said. "We ran pretty good offense and we kept them spread, which is what we wanted to do. And then we got some transition baskets, which always helps."

The Mountaineers' 11-point halftime advantage was reduced by two at the start of the second half when forward Gabe Osabuohien was issued a technical foul arguing a blocking call as the teams were leaving the floor to go into the locker room.

Isaiah Brockington made both free throws to begin the second half, but the Mountaineers quickly made up for it with some free throws from Bridges and Sherman, and then Kedrian Johnson's breakaway dunk.

The lead swelled to 19 on a Sherman 3 with 11:02 left, but a five-minute field goal drought allowed the Cyclones to reduce West Virginia's lead to 10, 58-48, on Jaden Walker's layup.

Bridges and McNeil made back-to-back 3s in a span of 29 seconds to put West Virginia ahead by 15.

Overall, West Virginia was 25 of 29 from the charity stripe and shot 50% from the floor (22 of 44). WVU also had a sizable 37 to 28 advantage on the glass and turned Iowa State's 14 turnovers into 23 points.

Bridges and Malik Curry contributed 14 points each, while McNeil finished with 13.

Tyrese Hunter led Iowa State with 22.
