2022 Season In Review	59
------------------------------------	-----------

The 2022 season showed moments of brilliance but also faced plenty of challenges. The season began with optimism as WVU aimed to build upon the success of the previous year. However, the Mountaineers faced adversity early on, dropping their first two games. Despite the setbacks, West Virginia bounced .. back, winning three of its next four, including keeping the Black Diamond Trophy for the second straight year. Three conference losses in the middle of the season left the Mountaineers looking for answers in a hurry. When the season ended, it appeared they found few of them, but not enough, as bowl eligibility escaped them. However, WVU ended its season, winning won two of its final three games.

------------------------------------	-----------

Entering the 2023 season, the Mountaineer Football program was branded with the label "No. 14" – representing that they were picked to finish last in the Big 12 Conference preseason poll by the league media. However, the entire program used that number as the motivation needed to generate the best year of Mountaineer football since 2018, registering a 9-4 overall mark, a win in the Duke's Mayo Bowl, a 6-3 record in the league and a No. 25 final national ranking.

------------------------------------	-----------

The 2024 West Virginia football season was a rollercoaster of highs and lows, resulting in significant changes within the program. In the final season of the Neal Brown era, the Mountaineers finished with a 6-7 overall record and a 5-4 mark in the Big 12, including an appearance in the Scooter's Coffee Frisco Bowl, the 41st bowl appearance in school history. The season was a testament to the challenges and unpredictability that are found around the college football world. While the Mountaineers faced adversity, the lessons learned provided an opportunity for growth and resurgence in the seasons to come.

2020 Season Review

The 2020 Mountaineer football season was a journey marked by resilience, adaptation and growth. In a year unlike any other, coach Neal Brown and his program faced unprecedented challenges, on and off the field.

Brown's toughest season to date tested his ability, not only as a coach, but as a leader. He was forced to deal with the COVID-19 pandemic from mid-March until the conclusion of the season in December, which didn't allow for spring practice or offseason workouts and skill instruction, while social unrest was at a high level nationally during the summer.

Even though the program constantly was forced to deal with the effects and protocols of COVID-19 during the season, the Mountaineers stayed the course, finishing 6-4 and 4-4 in the Big 12. Brown made his first bowl appearance as the coach at West Virginia against Army in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl, winning the game, 24-21.

The early stages of the season saw the Mountaineers facing tough opponents and experiencing triumphs and setbacks. Standout performances from key players like quarterback Jarret Doege and running back Leddie Brown provided glimpses of the team's potential, while the defense showcased resilience and determination in the face of adversity.

Five players earned All-America honors, led by Darius Stills, who was the school's first Consensus All-American since 2006 and 12th in school history. Tony Fields II, Tykee Smith and Dante Stills were named to at least one All-America team, and freshmen Zach Frazier and Akheem Mesidor were named to Freshman All-America teams.

In April, Fields was drafted by the Cleveland Browns to extend WVU's string of consecutive years of having at least one player selected in the NFL Draft since 2008, while five players signed free-agent contracts.

Eight players were named to the All-Big 12 Conference postseason teams, led by first-team honorees Fields II, also defensive newcomer of the year, Darius Stills, also defensive lineman of the year, and Brown, a first-team running back.

For the first time since 2001, West Virginia finished No. 1 in the country in pass defense, allowing just 159.6 yards per game. This stat marked an 8.3-yard improvement from the 2019 season. Overall, West Virginia finished fourth in total defense, allowing just 291.4 yards per game - top among Power 5 football programs. WVU also finished in the Top 25 in scoring defense, giving up an average of 20.5 points per game (ninth among Power 5s), pass efficiency defense (121.52) and interceptions (11).

Individually, Brown became the first Mountaineer player since 2017 to rush for more than 1,000 yards in a season and only the 27th in school history. His 1,010 yards finished second to Iowa State All-American Breece Hall in the Big 12.

Senior defensive tackle Darius Stills became just West Virginia's 12th consensus All-American in 2020. He became only the third player from West Virginia to accomplish that feat. Sophomore safety Tykee Smith also had a breakout season, earning second team All-America recognition from The Sporting News and the Football Writers' Association of America, while also making the AP All-America third team.

Graduate transfer linebacker Fields led the Big 12 by averaging 9.8 tackles per game and participated in the 2020 Senior Bowl. The Mountaineers were one of five Big 12 teams to win their bowl game, concluding a perfect bowl season for the first time in conference history.

With all the protections in place due to the COVID-19 epidemic, the Mountaineers opened the season against FCS opponent Eastern Kentucky with few fans in the stands. West Virginia won its 18th straight game against FCS opponents, delivering a dominant 56-10 victory.

Offensively, Doege completed 19-of-25 throws for 228 yards and orchestrating three drives ending in passing touchdowns.

The Mountaineer ground game also found success, pounding out 329 rushing yards, with Brown and Alec Sinkfield each adding 123 yards and two touchdowns. Brown also had a receiving score, along with Sam James and Bryce Ford-Wheaton each with a touchdown.

Defensively, WVU stifled EKU, holding the visitors to 206 yards, including only 75 on the ground. Fields finished with a game-high 10 tackles and Alonzo Addae had seven and the lone interception of the game.

WVU's Big 12 Conference opener at Oklahoma State didn't go as planned, as the No. 15/18 Cowboys came away with a 27-13 victory. Oklahoma State scored on a 66-yard run and had a 56-yard fumble recovery for a score to build an advantage that the Mountaineers could not overcome. Mixed with 12 penalties for 106 yards, the recipe was not a winning one for the visitors.

Doege connected with receiver Winston Wright Jr. for a 70-yard scoring play, putting the Mountaineers on the board, cutting OSU's lead to 17-7 with 3:48 left before halftime.

The Cowboys added a 44-yard field goal, extending their lead to 20-7. The combined 27 points from both teams all occurred in the second quarter.

The Mountaineers certainly had their chances in the fourth quarter but could only score a 30-yard Evan Staley field goal. WVU moved the ball on OSU but could not finish drives with touchdowns. Staley's second successful kick in the game ended an 11-play, 57-yard drive.

For the second straight game, Brown went over the 100-yard rushing mark with 104 yards, and Doege finished with 285 yards passing and one score. Winston Wright Jr. led the WVU receivers with 127 receiving yards, and Addae and Fields II had nine tackles each.

The Mountaineers returned home and captured their first Big 12 Conference win of the season with a 27-21, double-overtime victory over Baylor. West Virginia's offense looked great on its opening drive, marching 70 yards in 15 plays for a 7-0 lead, capped by Doege's 1-yard run.

The problem for the Mountaineers was that they would not find the end zone again until late in the third quarter.

Until then, WVU had to fight off three turnovers in the first half, as the defense stopped Baylor on two of the three scoring opportunities off Mountaineer miscues. However, the Bears tied the game with 6:40 left in the first half on a 7-yard touchdown pass. The scoring drive was set up after Doege threw his second interception of the half, and the teams went into the locker room tied at 7-7.

The Mountaineers regained the lead at 14-7 behind Brown's 1-yard run to end a 72-yard drive. WVU used a goal-line stand in the fourth quarter to keep Baylor off the board, but the Bears tied the game with just 1:13 left to play on a 34-yard touchdown pass.

In overtime, the Mountaineers converted a key fourth-and-1 with a 10-yard pass to tight end Mike O'Laughlin, setting up Doege's 6-yard touchdown pass to Ford-Wheaton. Baylor tied the score on its first play to send the game into a second overtime.

The Bears went back to the air on its first play of the second overtime, but this time Smith stepped in front of the receiver and intercepted the pass, setting up the Mountaineer offense with a chance to win the game. West Virginia didn't need a field goal, as four plays into the drive, Brown scored his second rushing touchdown, securing the Mountaineer victory.

West Virginia overcame four turnovers and was led by Doege with 211 yards passing and Brown's 93 yards rushing. James hauled in eight passes, while Fields II recorded 10 tackles, two tackles for loss and had a sack.

Stills earned national defensive player of the week honors for his 2.5 sacks and 3.5 tackles for loss. WVU's defense was outstanding against the run, holding the Bears to just 27 yards rushing on 33 attempts.

Week four saw things open some as more fans were allowed to attend the games. Behind 195 yards rushing from Brown and 318 yards passing from Doege, the Mountaineers erased a 10-point first quarter deficit to record a 37-17 victory over Kansas for win No. 3 on the season.

The Jayhawks took advantage of an early Mountaineer fumble to grab a 3-0 lead on a 41-yard field goal and later extended their lead to 10-0 on a 43-yard touchdown reception.

However, by the end of the quarter, West Virginia had chipped away at the deficit as Doege connected with Ford-Wheaton for a 33-yard touchdown pass that brought WVU to within 10-7, heading into the second quarter.

Brown put the Mountaineers up 14-10 on his 6-yard reception, ending a 91-yard drive. With 16 seconds left before halftime, Staley booted a 33-yard field goal, giving West Virginia a 17-10 advantage.

Brown had a second touchdown, this time an 87-yard run, James caught an eight-yard touchdown and Sinkfield ran in a score from eight-yard out in the third and fourth quarters to push its lead to 38-10 with two minutes remaining.

The visitors closed the game with a 92-yard kickoff return for a touchdown, accounting for the final score.

While Brown and Doege led the offense, the defense had quite a day, recording five sacks (Akheem Mesidor 2, Jeffery Pooler Jr. 2, Jared Bartlett 1) and 11 tackles for loss. Josh Chandler-Semedo led the way with nine tackles, while Smith added eight. WVU's offense finished with 226 yards rush-ing and 318 passing for 544 total yards.

At Texas Tech, the Red Raiders capitalized on a fourth-quarter fumble, returning it for a touch-down, and held on for a 34-27 win at Jones AT&T Stadium. The Mountaineers never led in the game and were forced to play catch-up the entire way. A serious fourth-quarter threat by WVU to take the lead for the first time ended when James fumbled, and Tech's defender raced 56 yards for the win-ning score.

After an early quarterback touchdown for the Red Raiders, West Virginia answered on its next possession behind passing plays from Doege to James and O'Laughlin. The catches set up a 3-yard touchdown run from Brown. Tech led following quarter one after a 48-yard touchdown run.

Staley hit a season-long 45-yard field goal in the second quarter as time expired, cutting the Red Raider lead to 20-13.

WVU outscored Tech in the third quarter by a 14-7 count to even the game at 27-27. In the fourth, Texas Tech's fumble recovery and return were the difference. The Mountaineers had two possessions afterward but could not come away with the tying touchdown.

Wright Jr. turned in a big night with nine catches for 126 yards, with his long catch going for 38 yards. Doege finished with 347 yards passing and one touchdown, while Brown led the ground game with 77 yards. Chandler-Semedo topped all defensive efforts with 11 tackles. WVU finished with 438 yards of total offense, including 347 passing. Despite having 100 yards more in total offense, WVU lost the battle on the scoreboard.

West Virginia then played one of its strongest games of the season in upsetting No. 16/16 Kansas State, 37-10, at Milan Puskar Stadium. The second quarter saw the Mountaineers put together three straight touchdown drives and play their best football of the season.

K-State started the scoring early in the first quarter, when the Wildcats connected on a 21-yard field goal. The key for WVU was keeping Kansas State out of the end zone on three tries from the 2-yard line and the offense following that up with three points.

West Virginia then took command of the contest, outscoring Kansas State, 21-7, in the second quarter. A 58-yard pass completion from Doege to Ford-Wheaton set up a 5-yard scoring pass to Ali Jennings for a 10-7 Mountaineer advantage. Brown then added a 9-yard touchdown run on WVU's next drive to increase the margin to 14. West Virginia scored its third straight touchdown with 3:38 left as Doege connected with Wright Jr. for a 15-yard reception and a 24-3 advantage.

Third-quarter action saw WVU add 10 points to its total with three coming on a 25-yard field goal by backup kicker Casey Legg. The lone touchdown in the quarter came when redshirt senior line-backer Dylan Tonkery grabbed an 18-yard pick-six.

While the Mountaineer defense continued to dominate into the fourth, the offense closed the scoring with 10:35 remaining on Legg's 45-yard field goal.

Doege passed for more than 300 yards for the third straight game and finished with two touch-down passes. Brown turned in his fourth 100-yard rushing performance of the season, while Ford-Wheaton hauled in 104 yards receiving.

Fields II dominated and led all tacklers with 15 stops. West Virginia rushed for 184 yards and passed for 301 to total 485 yards of offense. Kansas State was held to just 41 yards rushing and 184 through the air for 225 total yards.

Texas won a defensive battle, 17-13, in Austin as WVU failed to convert on two late drives deep in Texas territory with the Longhorns holding on fourth down to secure the win.

A 54-yard run got the Texas offense started on the first play from scrimmage, leading to a 7-yard touchdown pass just seven plays into the game. However, the Mountaineers countered with a Brown 12-yard run to tie the game. The score was set up by a 38-yard pass to Wright Jr.

On the first possession of the second half, WVU tied the game on a 25-yard Legg field goal. The Longhorns regained the lead for good with the next possession ending in a 33-yard touchdown strike for a 17-10 lead.

On their final drive, the Mountaineers reached the Texas 8-yard line behind the strength of a 29-yard completion to receiver T.J. Simmons, but the Texas defense held for the second time as Doege's fourth-down attempt to Jennings was broken up at the goal line.

Doege passed for 317 yards, marking four straight games of more than 300 yards. Fields II led the defense with 12 tackles and one tackle for loss.

Three yards of total offense and four more points showed how close the game was as Texas tied the all-time series with WVU at 5-5.

Behind a strong effort in all three phases, WVU ran its home record to 5-0 with an impressive 24-6 win over TCU. The offense used big plays to score, the defense held the Horned Frogs without a touchdown, while WVU's special teams contained TCU's potent punt and kick return game.

WVU took the opening possession 99 yards for a 7-0 advantage, scoring on Doege's 1-yard sneak. The margin held until the beginning of the second quarter, when TCU converted on a 32-yard field goal. WVU answered on the next drive using a 30-yard run from Brown to set up a Doege connection to Simmons for a 26-yard touchdown and a 14-3 WVU advantage at the half.

The Mountaineers capitalized on a TCU muffed punt to add Doege's second touchdown pass to Simmons for 38 yards.

Brown finished with 156 yards on 24 carries, and Doege completed 19-of-26 passes for 212 yards and two touchdowns, while Simmons was the recipient of those scoring throws and finished with 90 yards receiving. Fields II and Exree Loe combined for 26 tackles to lead the winning defensive effort.

WVU ran into an Iowa State team that was playing its best football of the season as the Cyclones defeated the Mountaineers, 42-6, at Jack Trice Stadium. The Cyclones started early and never looked back. A first-quarter touchdown run and two more touchdowns in each of the second and third quarters gave ISU a commanding 35-0 lead. Tyler Sumpter sandwiched two field goals (32, 36) around another Cyclone touchdown to account for the final score.

The 2020 matchup between West Virginia and Oklahoma was postponed earlier and then canceled due to circumstances related to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Finishing with a 5-4 regular season record, the Mountaineers earned a trip to Memphis to face Army in the Liberty Bowl, marking the first bowl under Neal Brown. Austin Kendall came off the bench to throw two second-half touchdown passes to lead WVU to the come-from behind, 24-21 victory. He completed 8-of-17 passes for 121 yards and two touchdowns.

West Virginia took an early 3-0 lead on a 31-yard field goal by Sumpter, before Army's Tyhier Tyler scored three touchdowns during the second and third quarters to give Army a 21-10 lead with seven minutes to play in the third quarter.

WVU's only touchdown of the first half came on a 5-yard touchdown reception by Simmons, while Doege connected with receivers all the way down the field.

At halftime, Army's 14 points were the product of only 83 yards of total offense and West Virginia's numerous offensive miscues. Doege threw an interception, was plagued by dropped passes and a critical fumble late in the second quarter, as he was getting sacked, was recovered and later turned into Army's second touchdown with 1:14 left.

On the score to open the third quarter, the Black Knights drove 75 yards in 13 plays, all of it on the ground. Then, West Virginia turned to Kendall. He immediately ignited the offense with a 27-yard completion to Ford-Wheaton. Another Kendall pass, a lofting 31-yarder to Simmons, got the ball to the Army 11. Faced with a fourth and goal on the 2, Kendall found a wide-open O'Laughlin toward the corner of the end zone for West Virginia's second touchdown of the game.

Then, Kendall dropped back to throw a strike to Simmons running to the nearside pylon. The two-point conversion, a nifty reverse to Reese Smith, was successful to give WVU a 24-21 lead.

On the Black Knight's last-ditch effort, Chandler-Semedo's interception on fourth and 7 with 29 seconds left on the clock.

For the game, WVU's two quarterbacks combined for 280 yards and three touchdowns on 23 completions. West Virginia's ground game struggled against Army's nationally ranked run. However, Brown finished with 65 to eclipse the 1,000-yard mark for the season.

Simmons led West Virginia with four catches for 56 yards and two touchdowns and was named Liberty Bowl WVU Offensive MVP as well as the Liberty Bowl game MVP. Chandler-Semedo led the WVU defense with 10 solo tackles for the game, the seventh-most in Liberty Bowl history, to earn Liberty Bowl WVU defensive MVP honors.

West Virginia's second bowl victory since joining the Big 12 in 2012 continued the conference's unblemished record in bowl games.

In Neal Brown's second year as WVU's coach, the Mountaineers stuck to the plan to ensure the pandemic's effects would be felt as little as possible.

When the season ended in late December, the Mountaineers achieved their goal of being one of the most improved teams in the country, posting a 6-4 record, a 5-0 mark at home and a 4-4 in the Big 12 Conference.

2021 Season Review

The 2021 Mountaineers finished 6-7, marking the second straight year of bowl eligibility. Back under center for the Mountaineers was quarterback Jarret Doege, coming off a 2,587 passing yard season and Liberty Bowl victory. He threw 14 touchdowns and completed 64% of his passes in 2020. Doege improved in 2021, finishing with 3,048 yards and 19 touchdowns on 65% completion, good enough to finish top 30 in the nation.

Returning with him was running back Leddie Brown. He rushed for more than 1,000 yards for the second consecutive season improved from nine touchdowns in 2020 to 13 in 2021.

The leading receiver returning for WVU was junior Winston Wright Jr., coming off a 553 yards season in 2020, hauling in two touchdowns. In 2021, he hauled in 63 receptions for 688 yards and five touchdowns.

The offensive line continued to improve and led the way for a dominant rushing attack.

On the defensive end, the secondary returned red-shirt senior Alonzo Addae. He finished the 2020 season with 66 tackles and improved upon that in 2021 with 73 tackles. Senior linebacker Josh Chandler-Semedo also returned for the defense, jumping from 64 tackles in 2020 to 110 in 2021, good enough for No. 3 in the Big 12 and No. 36 nationally. Chandler-Semedo got in the backfield to account for 5.5 tackles for loss, including 1.5 sacks, forced two fumbles and reeled in two interceptions.

Kicker Casey Legg took over the field goal duties in 2021 and made a push for top in the nation. Legg was 19 of 23 on the year ranking No. 26 nationally.

Top recognition from the 2021 season was awarded to Second Team All-American center Zach Frazier (AFCA, Walter Camp). Joining Frazier as an All-American was fellow offensive lineman Wyatt Milum. Milum was named to The Athletic and On3 Freshman All-America Team.

Frazier also received All-Big 12 honors on the Second Team (PFF College) and Fourth Team (Phil Steele). Among other All-Big 12 selections were Leddie Brown (Fourth Team, Phil Steele), Josh Chandler-Semedo (Third Team, Phil Steele and Honorable Mention, PFF College), Bryce Ford-Wheaton (Fourth Team, Phil Steele), Jordan Jefferson (Third Team, PFF College), Casey Legg (Honorable Mention, PFF College), Sean Mahone (Third Team, Phil Steele), Akheem Mesidor (Third Team, Phil Steele), Doug Nester (Second Team, PFF College), Dante Stills (First Team, Coaches, AP and Phil Steele), Charles Woods (Honorable Mention, PFF College) and Winston Wright (KOR, First Team, PFF College and WR, Second Team, PFF College and Phil Steele).

A 30-24 loss against Maryland marked the first loss in a season opener in the Neal Brown era. The Terrapins turned four West Virginia turnovers into 10 points.

The No. 19 kickoff returner the country, Wright shined with 217 kickoff return yards, including 98-yard return that led to a 2-yard touchdown by Brown. On his five returns, Wright averaged 43.4 yards.

The first quarter finished as an offensive battle, with Maryland leading 17-14.

After a scoreless third, Taulia Tagovailoa eventually helped the Terrapins pull away in the final minutes with a 50-yard touchdown pass.

In week two, WVU welcomed FCS opponent, Long Island. West Virginia used a plethora of players and ran the ball 55 times for 198 yards and five touchdowns in a bounce-back effort.

The Mountaineers started fast and never looked back as Wright took the game's opening kickoff 90 yards to the house for a 7-0 lead just 11 seconds into the game. WVU scored two more times in the first quarter to take a 21-0 advantage into the second frame, with Brown scoring on touchdown runs of 1 and 2 yards.

Redshirt freshman quarterback Garrett Greene led all rushers with 98 yards, and he closed the third-quarter scoring with his second touchdown run. His 13-yard scamper gave West Virginia a 59-0 lead heading into the fourth quarter.

Chandler-Semedo controlled the defensive side of the ball with five tackles, while Addae added four tackles, one TFL and one breakup in the win.

The win helped put the Mountaineers back on track before reigniting the Battle for the Black Diamond Trophy.

Longtime rival Virginia Tech visited Morgantown for the first time since 2005, and WVU broke a three-game losing streak to the Hokies with a thrilling, 27-21 victory in a sold-out Milan Puskar Stadium.

West Virginia started fast as Brown broke loose for an 80-yard touchdown run on WVU's second play from scrimmage 18 seconds into the contest.

After a three-and-out by the Hokie offense, West Virginia struck again when Doege hit Bryce Ford-Wheaton for a 14-0 advantage.

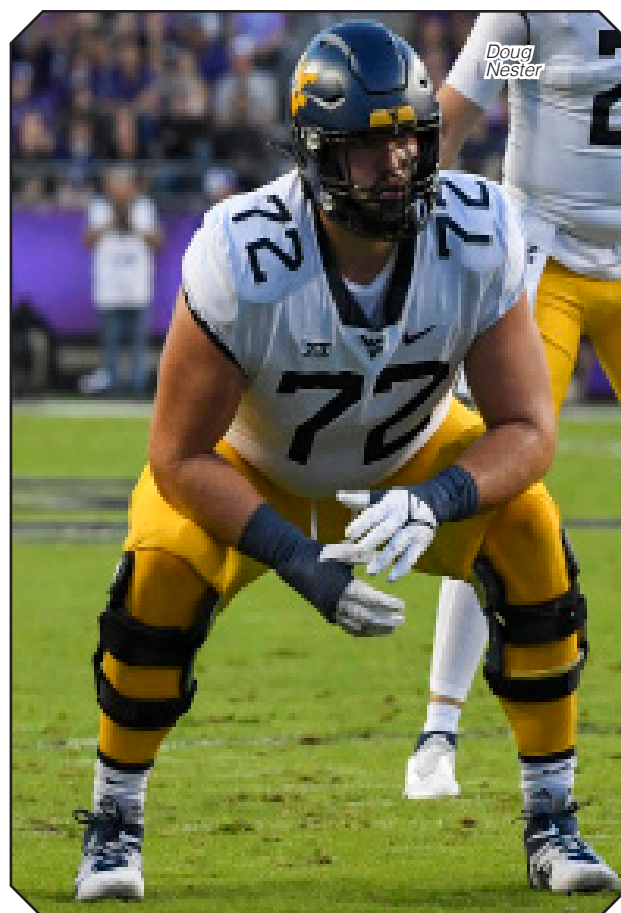

West Virginia controlled much of the second quarter, outscoring Tech 10-0. When the Hokies did get close, the Mountaineer defense stiffened to force an unsuccessful Tech field goal right before halftime.

With West Virginia's offense unable to move the ball, the Mountaineer defense kept turning Virginia Tech away, even after a WVU fumble in Mountaineer territory.

Trying to run out the final three minutes of the game, the WVU offense made a crucial mistake by throwing an interception, which was returned to the 17-yard line. Suddenly faced with possibly losing the game after leading for the previous 58 minutes, the Mountaineer defense came up with a game-saving stand.

After back-to-back wins, WVU had an ABC prime-time national audience as No. 4/3 Oklahoma used a last-second field goal to down the Mountaineers 16-13 to open up conference play at Gaylord Family – Oklahoma Memorial Stadium.

West Virginia started the game with perhaps its most impressive drive of the season. The Mountaineers controlled the clock for 9:07 and ran 17 plays in the 75-yard scoring drive. WVU converted three third-down attempts and one fourth down before Greene ran in from 2 yards out for a 7-0 lead.

Oklahoma tied the game on a 5-yard scoring toss from quarterback Spencer Rattler.

With each team scoring on its first possession, it looked like a high-scoring affair was in store, but both defenses took over, making it hard for either offense to put points on the board.

West Virginia controlled the ball for six minutes more than the Sooners, but Oklahoma converted just enough big plays down the stretch to secure the victory.

WVU's struggles continued as Texas Tech built a 17-point halftime lead and then used a last-minute field goal to defeat West Virginia 23-20 at Milan Puskar Stadium in front of a Homecoming crowd of 54,090.

Scoring the game's first 17 points, Tech accounted for 98 more yards than the Mountaineers, ran 17 more plays and kept the ball more than three minutes longer as the WVU defense could not get off the field.

With WVU unable to get in the end zone on its previous possession, Texas Tech's last drive proved to be the game winner. A 42-yard completion got the Red Raiders in field goal range, where the Red Raiders would split the uprights with 18 seconds left.

After two crushing last-second finishes, the Mountaineers looked for a bounce back as they headed to Waco, Texas to take on Baylor.

Baylor scored on the game's second play, forcing the Mountaineers to play catch-up 41 seconds into the game.

WVU had an answer on their first possession, as Doege hit Sam James for 53 yards, setting up a 12-yard touchdown pass to Sean Ryan.

But West Virginia's big plays were few and far between after that first drive as the rest of the day belonged to the Bears.

Second-half action did not turn in favor of West Virginia resulting in a 45-20 Baylor victory. The Bears outscored the Mountaineers 14-3 in the third quarter to finish off any hope of a WVU comeback.

The tide would soon turn for West Virginia as they broke a seven-game, regular-season, road losing streak with a 29-17 victory over TCU at Amon G. Carter Stadium. A balanced offensive attack coupled with an opportunistic defense that shut out the Horned Frogs in second-half action propelled the Mountaineers to the road win and kept their bowl chances alive for the 2021 season.

The game didn't exactly start out the way West Virginia had hoped as took the opening kick 100 yards for a TCU lead before most fans even found their seats.

To the Mountaineers' credit, they stayed composed, didn't panic and answered the kickoff return with a 27-yard Legg field goal. The score was set up by a 44-yard completion from Doege to Ryan.

The Mountaineers then neutralized the kick return by grabbing the lead with just seven seconds left in the first a Brown's 5-yard run to cap an impressive 94-yard drive.

Daryl Porter Jr.'s third-quarter interception and 43-yard return thwarted a TCU drive and resulted in a 49-yard field goal by Legg, giving the Mountaineers a 23-17 advantage going into the final quarter.

Charles Woods then collected WVU's second interception in the half and returned it 32 yards to set up the offense at the TCU 15. Three plays later, Brown tacked on rushing touchdown No. 3 with a 3-yard score.

Leading 29-17, the Mountaineer defense closed the fourth quarter with one more turnover on Woods' fumble recovery to secure the win. Brown finished with 111 yards rushing and the three scores to pace the Mountaineers.

After breaking a three-game losing streak, led by a WVU career-high 370-yards passing and three touchdown performance from Doege, West Virginia pulled off a 38-31 upset over No. 22/23 Iowa State at home.

It was a big day for the Mountaineer receivers as Ford-Wheaton and Wright each hit the century mark with touchdown receptions to go along with 109 yards rushing and two scores from Brown.

The Mountaineers ended a 28-point first quarter with another 75-yard drive and tied the game at 14-14, when Ford-Wheaton got open for a 20-yard reception. The defenses then settled in as each team could only muster field goals in the second quarter to put the half-time score at 17-17.

WVU took the lead with 9:20 left to play, highlighted by a 20-yard rush from Brown and a 45-yard catch by Ford-Wheaton. On the drive's sixth play, Brown rushed in from 2 yards, giving WVU its first lead of the game.

The good times were paused when Oklahoma State used a dominating and attacking defense to post a 24-3 victory at Milan Puskar Stadium in front of 50,109 fans.

West Virginia's afternoon started on the right track as the Mountaineers took the opening drive 64 yards for a 30-yard field goal from Legg.

The lead lasted until the 8:20 mark of the second quarter when the Cowboys took the lead for good on a 6-yard touchdown and extended their lead to 10-3 by halftime on a 34-yard field goal.

Oklahoma State closed the scoring with 13:10 left in the game on a 13-yard touchdown run from Jaylen Warren for a 24-3 lead.

Kansas State ended a five-game losing streak to West Virginia by defeating the Mountaineers 34-17 in front of 43,932 at Bill Snyder Family Stadium.

It didn't take long for the Wildcats to seize the momentum as Doege threw an interception on the game's second play from scrimmage. Six plays later, it turned into a 2-yard touchdown run put the Wildcats up, 7-0.

Kansas State increased its advantage to 14-0 with 3:46 left in the first quarter, when Ty Bowman blocked a Tyler Sumpter punt that teammate Marvin Martin recovered and returned 7 yards for a touchdown.

The Mountaineers got on the board with 33 seconds left before halftime as Legg converted a 39-yard field goal. The kick was set up by two Doege completions of 17 yards to Ford-Wheaton and Ryan.

The fourth quarter saw West Virginia pull within seven points as Doege hit Wright for a 3-yard score on fourth down, after completions of 32 and 20 yards put the Mountaineers in scoring position.

Despite what seemed like Kansas State dominance, it was still a winnable game for the Mountaineers until the Wildcats put the game away on the ensuing drive. After a WVU fumble, Kansas State closed the scoring on a 25-yard field goal with just 1:59 left.

The Mountaineers dropped to 4-6 and had to win their final two games of the season to become bowl eligible.

Behind 290 yards passing from Doege and 158 yards rushing from Brown, West Virginia downed Texas 31-23 before 48,755 fans at Milan Puskar Stadium. The Mountaineers controlled the game in every aspect, snapping a two-game losing streak to the Longhorns. West Virginia scored first and never trailed in the game. With the fifth win of the year, WVU's bowl hopes stayed alive.

The game's opening possession saw the Mountaineers drive 75 yards, and Doege threw the first of three touchdowns, as James caught a 20-yard strike for a 7-0 lead.

West Virginia advanced to a 14-0 lead on Doege's 14-yard scoring toss to Wright in the second.

Halftime statistics showed West Virginia's dominance. The Mountaineers outgained the Longhorns, 301-135, and controlled the football nearly 13 minutes longer.

In the fourth quarter, the Mountaineers embarked on a 14-play drive that took 5:22 off the clock and ended with a 45-yard field goal from Legg.

Leading, 31-23, a Sean Mahone interception ended the last real scoring threat.

The win improved West Virginia to 5-6, while Texas fell out of bowl eligibility at 4-7.

West Virginia rode the strength of two 100-yard rushers to defeat Kansas 34-28 at David Booth Kansas Memorial Stadium. Brown led the way with 156 yards rushing on 19 carries, while Tony Mathis Jr. logged 118 yards on 22 carries. The two running backs fueled a Mountaineer offensive attack that averaged 6.1 yards per play on the night.

After a Kansas field goal to start the game, WVU fumbled on its first drive, but no harm was done after a strong defensive stand.

On its second possession, the Mountaineers took the lead, when Doege connected on a 14-yard touchdown pass to Wright. The two connected later in the half, again for 14 yards, ending a 75-yard drive and upping WVU's advantage to 14-6.

Doege's third touchdown of the half went to James with 12 seconds left, giving WVU a 21-13 margin at the intermission.

Chandler-Semedo came up big collecting two interceptions in the end zone, while Legg added a 37-yard field goal between the two interceptions.

With time winding down, the Jayhawks added a 3-yard run to pull within six, but it wasn't enough as WVU grabbed its sixth victory of the season.

With the win, the Mountaineers qualified for their second straight bowl under Neal Brown.

The Mountaineers were bound for downtown Phoenix, where Minnesota would use a punishing ground game and stifling defense to defeat West Virginia 18-6 in the 2021 Guaranteed Rate Bowl game at Chase Field.

Doege, under siege most of the night, was sacked five times and managed only 140 yards through the air against a Minnesota pass defense giving up 184.7 yards per game.

Overall, the Mountaineers produced 206 yards and their longest play from scrimmage was Reece Smith's 15-yard reception in the second quarter.

WVU was without 1,000-yard rusher Leddie Brown, who opted out of the bowl game to get a head start on his NFL career and was forced into using backup offensive linemen and even defensive tackle Akheem Mesidor at tight end because of injuries and transfers.

The first half was dominated by the Golden Gophers, although they had just a 15-6 lead to show for it at intermission.

After an exchange of possessions to begin the third quarter, Minnesota extended its lead to 18-6 with a 49-yard field goal to cap the scoring for the night.

Mathis Jr. got his first career start at running back and ran 13 times for 56 yards. He also caught a team-best five passes for 24 yards.

West Virginia concluded its season with a 6-7 record under third-year coach Neal Brown.

2022 Season Review

The 2022 season was filled with highs, lows and everything in between. The Mountaineers showed moments of brilliance but also faced plenty of challenges.

The season began with optimism as WVU aimed to build upon the success of the previous year. With a solid corps of returning players and promising recruits, expectations were high throughout the offseason.

However, the Mountaineers faced adversity early on, dropping their first two games, the season opener to a familiar rival and then its home and conference opener.

Despite the setbacks, West Virginia bounced back, winning three of its next four, including keeping the Black Diamond Trophy for the second straight year with an impressive win at Virginia Tech and pulling out a last-minute win over Baylor.

Three conference losses in the middle of the season left the Mountaineers looking for answers in a hurry. When the season ended, it appeared they found few of them, but not enough, as bowl eligibility escaped them.

On a good note, WVU won two of its final three games to end of the season at 5-7.

The promising wins at the end of the season provided some optimism for the future as the Mountaineers defeated Oklahoma for the first time in Big 12 play and then ended Oklahoma State's 14-game home winning streak.

Sophomore center Zach Frazier, who led the offensive line, and fifth-year senior defensive lineman Dante Stills were honored with All-Big 12 Conference

First-Team honors, while making an All-Big 12 Second Team appearance was Bryce Ford-Wheaton. Junior safety Aubrey Burks earned second-team honors by the Big 12 AP writers.

On the field, West Virginia showcased its offensive firepower, led by standout performances from transfer quarterback JT Daniels. Daniels' passing and leadership propelled the Mountaineers to several wins.

He finished the season No. 3 in the Big 12 in completions per game and No. 6 in the Big 12 in completion percentage. Daniels was under center for West Virginia through the first 10 games before redshirt sophomore quarterback Garrett Greene took over the duties for the final games.

The top target in the wide receiver room for the Mountaineers was Ford-Wheaton, who led WVU in catches (62), receiving touchdowns (7) and was second in yards (645). Sophomore wide receiver Kaden Prather finished among the top 5 in the conference in receptions per game (52 catches, 501 yards, 3 TDs). Redshirt junior Sam James finished with 46 receptions for 745 yards and six touchdowns, good enough for No. 5 in the Big 12 in receptions per game.

Leading the ground game was sophomore running back Tony Mathis Jr., netting 562 yards and five touchdowns. Mathis' numbers carried him to finish top 10 in the conference in rush yards per carry and No. 7 in rush yards per game. Freshman running back CJ Donaldson emerged and made his mark, finishing with 526 yards, averaging 6.0 yards per carry and scoring a team-best eight touchdowns.

Topping the stat sheet for the Mountaineer defense was junior linebacker Lee Kpogba, collecting 92 tackles, including 5.5 tackles for loss. He finished No. 8 in the Big 12 at 7.7 tackles per game. Sophomore cornerback Malachi Ruffin led the secondary grabbing two interceptions on the year, and senior defensive back Jasir Cox scooped up two loose balls and tied for the conference lead in fumble recoveries.

Special teams were big for West Virginia as freshman punter Oliver Straw started his career strong averaging 42.5 yards per punt. That number ranked him No. 4 in the conference and top 50 nationally. Straw had a season-long punt of 63 yards, 24 of his punts were fair caught, while eight exceeded the 50-yard mark. Junior kicker Casey Legg ended his career with a near-perfect season, hitting 93% of his field goals, only missing one. That completion percentage ranked him No. 2 in the league and No. 8 in the country.

The season opened at rival Pitt in the 105th edition of the "Backyard Brawl." The Thursday night ESPN national audience was treated to another instant classic in the longest played WVU series as it was played before the largest crowd ever for a Pittsburgh sporting event (70,622).

The Panthers opened the scoring midway through the first on a 42-yard field goal. Daniels came alive in the second and connected with Ford-Wheaton for a 10-yard touchdown pass. The 75-yard scoring drive highlighted a 44-yard run from Donaldson.

The Mountaineers' 7-3 lead held until the 3:17 mark of the half when the Panthers' 4-yard run put them up 10-7. However, WVU made the most of the last possession of the half and used the final 3:17 to secure a 10-10 tie at halftime on a 24-yard Legg field goal.

The game lived up to its nickname as the two teams traded scoring punches throughout the second half. The Mountaineers took a 31-24 lead early in the fourth with Donaldson again setting up the scoring drive with a 39-yard scamper before Daniels powered in from 1-yard out.

WVU seemed to have the advantage but couldn't control the clock, watching the game sit in a 31-31 tie with 3:41 remaining.

Then, disaster struck with the Pitt grabbing the victory on the next possession when Daniels' pass went through the hands and off the helmet of Ford-Wheaton before Pitt returned the interception 56 yards to take the lead and provide the final outcome, 38-31.

In his collegiate debut, Donaldson finished with 125 rushing yards and a touchdown, and Mathis Jr., had 71 yards. Ford-Wheaton had 97 yards receiving and two touchdowns, and Daniels completed 23-of-40 passes for 214 yards and two touchdowns and ran for a score.

The conference portion of the schedule started early in game two when Kansas came to town for the home opener. Kansas overcame three 14-point deficits to win for the first time in Morgantown by a 55-42 margin in overtime.

West Virginia started fast as Daniels connected on a 59-yard touchdown pass to James four plays into the game. Then, the Mountaineers took a two-score advantage to end the first quarter on a 1-yard run from Donaldson.

The Jayhawks came to life in the second quarter, closing their deficit to 21-14 on a 6-yard scoring run.

With 3:11 left in the first half, WVU took its third 14-point advantage when Ford-Wheaton hauled in a 5-yard touchdown pass. However, Kansas made the most of the final drive before intermission with a 17-yard reception, putting the score at 28-21 in West Virginia's favor.

The Mountaineers, down by 11 points in the fourth, used a 64-yard drive to add a 28-yard field goal. The drive took 6:55 off the clock and gave Kansas the ball with 4:04 left.

Kansas was forced to punt on fourth-and-1 with 2:17 left, and Daniels took over from there, leading the Mountaineers on a 12-play drive capped by a 1-yard run from Donaldson. West Virginia's two-point conversion forced overtime.

Kansas connected for a 4-yard scoring toss after a roughing the passer penalty extended the drive, forcing WVU to score a touchdown. A Jayhawk interception on WVU's third-down pass was taken to the other end zone to put the final total at 13 points.

Daniels passed for 355 yards and three scores. Ford-Wheaton was equally as good with 152 yards receiving and two touchdowns.

WVU got its first win with a convincing, 65-7 victory over FCS-foe Towson at home. Nearly 80 players saw action in the contest as West Virginia was able to provide valuable experience to many players. The Mountaineers also never punted and placed two running backs in the 100-yard rushing category.

After WVU's first touchdown in the opening quarter, Towson tied the game with a 96-yard kickoff return. The Mountaineer defense had a bounce-back game, holding the Tigers to -3 first-half rushing yards and 59 passing, after two quarters of play.

Taking a 21-7 lead into the second quarter, the Mountaineer's 24 points in that stanza put the game away.

Greene's 11-yard touchdown run capped an 84-yard drive and were the only points scored in the third quarter, giving the Mountaineers a 51-7 advantage.

Quarterbacks Will Crowder and Nicco Marchiol took over in the fourth quarter. Crowder passed for 57 yards, while true freshman Marchiol accounted for 32 yards passing and a 26-yard touchdown throw to Preston Fox.

West Virginia's defense was equally as impressive in the second half, as the Tigers finished with 82 yards rushing and 98 passing. With many players able to step in, redshirt freshman linebacker Caden Biser led the Mountaineers with six tackles, followed by redshirt freshman safety Davis Mallinger with five tackles and a sack.

Mathis led all rushers with 104 yards and two scores, while Donaldson added 101 yards rushing and a game-best three touchdowns. The Mountaineers finished with 316 yards on the ground and 308 yards passing among their four quarterbacks to total 624 yards of offense.

Momentum carried into the second Thursday night ESPN national game as the Mountaineers won in their second rivalry game of the year, this time at Virginia Tech, 33-10. West Virginia used a balanced offensive attack, while holding the Hokies to just 35 yards rushing.

Virginia Tech took their first and only lead in the game early in the second quarter on a 28-yard touchdown reception for a 7-3 lead.

West Virginia got the ball back with 1:01 left in the half, and Daniels made the most of it as he led a 70-yard drive that ended with a 24-yard touchdown pass to James, giving WVU a 13-7 halftime lead.

It was a two-score game early in the fourth, as running back Justin Johnson Jr. scored from 6 yards out to up WVU's advantage to 23-10.

The Mountaineer defense closed the game's scoring, when defensive back Jacolby Spells returned an interception 27 yards to provide the final outcome, a 33-10 win.

Daniels was solid with 203 yards passing, and Donaldson impressed once again with 106 yards rushing. Kpogba led the defense with six tackles.

The Mountaineers would go on to split a pair of league games at Texas (lost 38-20) and then come back home to defeat Baylor 43-40.

Texas scored the game's first 28 points, scoring a touchdown on four straight first half possessions to take control of the game.

With West Virginia unable to score on its first two possessions, Texas finished its second drive with a 15-yard touchdown pass and a 7-0 Texas lead.

The Longhorns took advantage of the Mountaineer secondary for a good portion of the game, and that was the case on its second touchdown. A trick play resulted in a 33-yard touchdown pass to give Texas a 14-0 advantage heading to the second quarter.

WVU managed to get on the board just before halftime when Ford-Wheaton accounted for 40 yards on the drive, while James added a 21-yard reception. Daniels ended it with an 8-yard touchdown pass to Prather, putting the halftime score at 28-7 in favor of the Longhorns.

Texas scored on a 44-yard pass play in the third quarter and a 45-yard field goal in the fourth quarter to finish its scoring.

West Virginia scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter, a 1-yard run by Mathis Jr. and a 4-yard run by Johnson Jr.

Daniels finished with 253 yards passing, with 93 yards going to Ford-Wheaton on eight catches and 86 yards to James on seven receptions.

A good, old-fashioned Big 12 shootout saw West Virginia use a late field goal to defeat No. 23 Baylor 43-40 on a Thursday night in Milan Puskar Stadium.

The scoring got started on WVU's first possession with a 7-yard touchdown run by Mathis Jr. As good as the WVU offense looked on its first drive, it would take a backseat early as Baylor scored the next 17 points.

Fighting a 10-point deficit, West Virginia got back on the board at the 4:22 mark of the second quarter, when Legg converted on a 23-yard field goal. Then, the Mountaineer defense got in on the action as Cox scooped up a Baylor fumble and rambled 65 yards to tie the game at 17-17 with 2:41 left in the half. The Bears answered with a quick score before half, giving the Bears a 24-17 advantage going into the locker room.

In typical Big 12 fashion, the scoring was far from over, and the shootout was just getting started. The Mountaineers answered a Baylor touchdown on a 19-yard score by Johnson Jr. The score was set up by a 32-yard completion from Daniels to James.

With the game tied at 31-31 heading to the fourth, Cox recovered a Baylor fumble deep in WVU territory for another scoring opportunity. The fumble led to a 34-yard scoring run from Mathis and a 40-37 lead.

The Mountaineers were looking to run the time out, but Daniels' late interception set up a 44-yard field goal to tie the game with 1:33 left.

Daniels showed his resolve, directing WVU on its game-winning 61-yard drive, resulting in Legg's 22-yard field goal.

Mathis finished with 163 yards rushing, Prather added 109 yards receiving and Cox came up with two huge plays on defense.

The Mountaineers were hit with adversity, dropping three straight conference games at Texas Tech, home against national runner-up TCU and then at Iowa State.

Texas Tech started fast and never looked back, as they ran 103 plays, averaged 5.8 yards per play, held the ball nearly eight minutes more than West Virginia to win 48-10.

Starting with the game's first possession, the Red Raiders marched 75 yards in only 1:37 to take a 7-0 lead on a 19-yard run.

West Virginia hit a 38-yard field goal to cut into the Red Raider lead. However, Texas Tech matched that with a field goal of its own to hold a 17-3 halftime lead.

Tech outscored West Virginia 31-7 in the second half to complete the win. West Virginia would only connect for one score on a Ford-Wheaton for a 28-yard touchdown reception.

Ford-Wheaton topped the WVU receivers with 53 yards and one score. Burks and Mallinger collected 10 tackles each to pace the WVU defense.

TCU broke a four-game losing streak to West Virginia with a 41-31 win on Homecoming weekend in Morgantown. Both teams surpassed the 400 yards of total offense mark, and the shootout was eventually won by TCU. The Mountaineers held the ball nearly 13 minutes longer and ran 24 more plays, but it was not enough.

WVU scored the game's first points after Donaldson capped an 80-yard drive with a 1-yard rush. TCU tied the game in the quarter, scoring on a 71-yard pass play.

Donaldson scored his second touchdown of the game to put WVU up by a score before two TCU touchdowns changed the lead in favor of the visitors. Each team traded a touchdown to finish out the scoring in the first half as Johnson Jr. connected on a 5-yard pass play from Daniels before TCU rumbled in from 30 yards out, giving the Horned Frogs the 28-21 lead.

The Mountaineers cut into the Horned Frog lead with a Legg 33-yard field goal to account for the scoring in the third quarter.

Fourth-quarter action saw the Horned Frogs outscore the Mountaineers by six for the road victory. Two field goals put TCU up by 34-24 at the start of the fourth quarter. The Mountaineers pulled within three with 4:12 left in the game when Daniels hit Reese Smith for a 23-yard touchdown pass.

Trailing by three, a Ruffin interception gave WVU one last chance, but TCU held and added a late touchdown for the 10-point victory.

West Virginia got a strong day from Donaldson with 104 yards rushing and two scores. James finished with six catches for 95 yards and Daniels turned in 275 yards passing and two scores. Kpogba led the WVU defense with seven stops.

At Iowa State, the Cyclones used a balanced offensive attack, mixed with a stingy defense, to grab its first Big 12 Conference victory of the season with a 31-14 win over West Virginia. ISU ran 74 plays compared to West Virginia's 49 and wore down the Mountaineer defense.

Both offenses got off to a slow start, which enabled the defenses to control much of the first half.

A 30-yard field goal and 16-yard touchdown pass gave the Cyclones a 10-0 advantage midway through the second quarter. West Virginia cut the lead to 10-7 at the end of the first half when Daniels connected with Ford-Wheaton from 25-yards out.

Neither team scored in the third, but a West Virginia special teams miscue early in the fourth quarter eventually led to a 24-yard touchdown catch extending the Cyclone lead to 17-7.

Iowa State found the end zone two more times to provide the 31-14 final score. West Virginia added a late score when Greene came in and engineered 75-yard drive, ending in an 8-yard scoring toss to James.

The final three games showed the promise the program was looking for with wins over Oklahoma and Oklahoma State.

West Virginia defeated Oklahoma for the first time as a member of the Big 12 with a 23-20 victory at home. Greene sparked the win over the Sooners, delivering 119 yards rushing and two scores to go along with 138 yards passing and one touchdown.

After a slow start, the Mountaineers were left with one possession before halftime and got a 42-yard James kickoff return, followed by 33-yard run from Greene, setting up a 5-yard scoring rush from Greene. The fumbled point after attempt was returned for two points by Oklahoma, giving the Sooners a 12-6 lead at the break.

WVU used a 6:18 drive in the third quarter to take its first lead of the game when Greene connected with Ford-Wheaton on an 8-yard reception for the 13-12 advantage. However, the lead didn't last as Oklahoma scored on a 5-yard scamper.

The Mountaineers scored the next 10 points to pull off the upset victory, first with a Greene 11-yard touchdown run to tie the game and Legg's 25-yard field goal for the win, his second game-winner of the season.

West Virginia got 90 yards receiving from James and seven catches from Ford-Wheaton. Cox turned in a strong defensive effort with 12 tackles, including nine solos.

To conclude the home schedule for WVU, Kansas State scored 28 points in the first quarter and never looked back to win in Morgantown for the first time since 2014 and put an end to WVU's bowl hopes.

The Mountaineers added 19 points in the opening quarter for a combined 47, which marked the most in school history for one frame.

The Wildcats took the game's first possession and scored a touchdown in five plays. That lead stretched to 14-0 one minute later after an interception was taken 37 yards for a score.

To West Virginia's credit, the Mountaineers fought back with two straight scores. Greene connected with James for a 26-yard scoring toss before Ruffin picked off a pass and returned it 43 yards for a touchdown. The takeaway canceled out K-State's touchdown return, but WVU missed the extra point to trail 14-13 late in the first.

West Virginia closed the scoring in the quarter with a 71-yard touchdown pass from Greene to James to put the score at 28-19.

The final minutes of the first half ended with two Wildcat field goals, marking a 41-25 margin at the intermission.

Neither team scored in the third quarter, setting up the fourth, which saw K-State outscore WVU 7-6. The Wildcat offense hit many big plays in the game, and the 43-yard scoring reception gave K-State a 48-25 lead. West Virginia scored a late field goal on a 13-yard run by Greene.

Greene accounted for four touchdowns, and James hauled in three catches for an impressive 102 yards to go with his three scores.

West Virginia finished the season breaking not only OSU's 14-game home winning streak but also a seven-game losing streak to Oklahoma State, including the first win in Stillwater since 2014.

The game, won 24-19 by WVU, was played mostly in a heavy, cold downpour, but freshman running back Jaylen Anderson had a career day, running for 155 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Mountaineers to the win.

With the passing game out of order, Greene got the scoring started when he took off for a 36-yard touchdown run. Oklahoma State evened the score early in the second finding the endzone on a 4-yard rush. OSU followed that up that with a 22-yard field for a 10-7 halftime lead for the Cowboys.

The second half opened with a six-play, 80-yard drive, and Anderson never looked back. He collected a 54-yard touchdown run, immediately followed by a 57-yard touchdown run on the next drive making the score 21-10.

West Virginia would only add a field goal the rest of the game, and Marchiol would finish the game for an injured Greene.

The season saw many highs and lows, including having the streak of bowl games appearances snapped. However, there was still plenty of improvement over the course of the season and new leaders emerged to lead the Mountaineer program into the future.

2023 Season Review

Entering the 2023 season, the Mountaineer Football program was branded with the label “No. 14” – representing that they were picked to finish last in the Big 12 Conference preseason poll by the league media.

However, Neal Brown, his coaching staff and the entire program used that number as the motivation needed to generate the best year of Mountaineer football since 2018, registering a 9-4 overall mark, a win in the Duke’s Mayo Bowl and a 6-3 record in the league.

Brown, named Co-Big 12 Coach of the Year by Heartland College Sports, and his Mountaineers posted the team’s best record since winning 10 games in 2016, and the 6-3 conference mark finished in a tie for fourth place – 10 spots better than originally predicted.

After leading the nation in passes defended and pass breakups, was No. 2 in forced incompletions and was ranked among the top 20 in interceptions, cornerback Beanie Bishop Jr. was named WVU’s 13th consensus All-American in school history. Zach Frazier, one of the top centers in the nation, earned All-America honors for the second time during his career.

Bishop was a semifinalist for the Chuck Bednarik Award, signifying the best defensive player in the nation. Frazier was a finalist for the William V. Campbell Trophy, the academic Heisman, earned a spot on the National Football Foundation’s Scholar-Athlete Team and became the program’s 31st Academic All-American selection. He also was a semifinalist for the Wuerffel Trophy and the Jason Witten Man of the Year Award.

Running back Jahiem White was named a freshman All-American by several teams, quarterback Garrett Greene was named the bowl MVP of the Duke’s Mayo Bowl and running back CJ Donaldson Jr. was ranked among the Top 5 in the Big 12 in rushing touchdowns.

West Virginia placed four players on the all-conference team, Frazier and Bishop Jr. on first team and offensive tackle Wyatt Milum and tight end Kole Taylor on the second team.

The Mountaineers had one of the best offensive lines in the nation, producing the best rushing mark in Power 5 football, averaging 228.9 yards per game and scoring a league tying best 32 rushing touchdowns. WVU was the only school in the league to finish with more than 2,000 rushing yards in conference games (2,211). West Virginia currently leads the nation with 16 straight games of producing more than 140 rushing yards, three more than the next team on the list.

West Virginia gave up a league-low 10 sacks for the season, including only three in league games, ranking No. 1 in the Big 12 and No. 2 among Power 5 schools. Among Power 5 schools, the Mountaineers were No. 16 in total offense, producing 5,650 yards and tied for No. 19 nationally in first down offense. That included having more than 450 yards of total offense in seven games, including producing 500 or more yards five times. WVU scored 30 or more points in seven of its last eight games.

Greene finished the regular season in the top five of the Big 12 in total offense, passing for more than 2,000 yards, rushing for more than 700 yards and being responsible for 28 touchdowns. He led the Power 5 in big-time throw percentage, the highest since the metric was tracked in 2014 (10.4). He also leads the nation in rushing touchdowns by a quarterback, ranked No. 13 in rushing yards per carry and is No. 22 nationally in yards per pass attempt (15.6).

Greene finished the season in the top five of the Big 12 in total offense, passing for more than 2,400 yards, rushing for more than 750 yards and was responsible for 29 touchdowns. He was second in the nation in rushing touchdowns by a quarterback and among Power 5 players he was No. 2 nationally in passing yards per completion (16.4), and among Power 5 players, he was No. 4 in rushing yards per carry and No. 15 in yards per pass attempt (8.7).

West Virginia's defense was No. 1 in the Big 12 in sacks (33) and No. 2 in tackles for loss (84).

Kicker Michael Hayes was ranked No. 34 nationally in field goal percentage, hitting 17-of-21 attempts (.810), punt returner Preston Fox is No. 28, averaging 8.1 yards per return, and punter Oliver Straw led the punting unit that was ranked No. 5 nationally in punt return defense.

The Mountaineers opened the season renewing their series with Penn State for the first time since 1992 and 60th time between the two schools. The NBC national television audience watched as the No. 7/7-ranked Nittany Lions came away with a 38-15 victory in front of the fourth-largest crowd in Beaver Stadium history.

West Virginia made it tougher on the home team than a lot thought. After Penn State took a quick 7-0 lead, West Virginia tied the game in the second quarter with Donaldson Jr. finding the endzone on a 1-yard rush. The Lions finished the half missing two field goals but did grab a 14-7 lead at the break on a 2-yard run at the 4:59 mark.

Second-half action saw Penn State outscore West Virginia 24-8 to take the victory. The Mountaineers' lone scoring drive of the second half was an impressive 10-play, 75-yard drive engineered by Greene. He completed passes of 23 and 22 yards to Carter before finishing it himself with a 1-yard run with 3:34 left in the contest.

Greene rushed for 71 yards, while passing for 162 to total 233 yards of total offense. Donaldson Jr. finished with 81 yards, while Carter managed six catches for 90 yards in his Mountaineer debut. Linebacker Lee Kpogba was all over the field in leading the Mountaineer defense. The senior totaled 13 tackles and two TFLs in the effort.

West Virginia got its first win in its home opener with a 56-17 victory over Duquesne. The game was halted for 1:54 in the second quarter due to lightning in the area and heavy rains dominated the early part of the evening. When play was stopped, West Virginia held a 14-10 lead, but when it resumed, the Mountaineers outscored the Dukes 42-7 to secure the victory. The game featured the emergence of redshirt freshman receiver Hudson Clement, who lit up the Dukes for 177 yards receiving and three touchdowns on five catches. Greene and Clement hooked up for scores of 14, 70 and 46 yards in the first half. WVU then picked up where it left off as running back White added a 19-yard rushing score on his way to leading all rushers in the game with 110 yards on 12 carries.

The Mountaineers added fourth quarter scores behind backup quarterback Nicco Marchiol's 1-yard run and a 5-yard rush from DJ Oliver, putting the final victory margin at 39 points.

In the final non-conference game of the year, WVU captured a 17-6 victory in the 106th version of the "Backyard Brawl", as the Mountaineers welcomed Pitt to Morgantown for the first time since 2011.

One of college football's oldest and best rivalries was played before 61,106 fans and an ABC national television audience. Pitt marched down the field on its opening possession but had to settle for a 21-yard field goal as the WVU defense stiffened at the right time.

After Greene injured his ankle on the second drive and could not return, backup Marchiol took the reins and ended the Pitt lead at the 4:45 mark of the second quarter when an Aubrey Burks interception set up the Mountaineer offense at the Pitt 7-yard line.

One-play later, Marchiol connected with Taylor for a 7-yard touchdown and a lead WVU would never relinquish. Pitt was able to squeeze in a field goal to make it 7-6 at the break.

After holding the Panthers on the first drive of the third quarter, West Virginia then turned in its best drive of the night to take a 14-6 advantage with 4:59 left in the quarter. Pitt threw its second interception, ending any hopes of a comeback as Bishop Jr. returned the interception 40 yards to the Panther 30. Four plays later, Hayes connected on a 42-yard field goal, giving WVU a 17-6 lead heading to the fourth quarter.

Donaldson Jr. paced a conservative Mountaineer offense with 102 rushing yards, while Hayes made his first field goal as a Mountaineer. Trey Lathan led the defense with eight tackles.

Sporting a 2-1 mark heading into Big 12 Conference play, the Mountaineers defeated Texas Tech, 20-13, on a rainy and soggy afternoon in Morgantown. The defenses controlled the day and stood out for both teams as the win snapped a four-game skid in the series.

West Virginia led for most of the game and held on behind a great defensive stand to defeat the Red Raiders. The game turned out to be a battle of the backup quarterbacks. Greene was out with an ankle injury, and Marchiol got his first start for the Gold and Blue. Texas Tech's starting quarterback was injured in the first quarter and his backup finished the final three quarters for the Red Raiders.

WVU answered Tech's early score before the end of the first quarter as the Mountaineers took a 7-3 lead behind Donaldson's 2-yard run. West Virginia scored the only points in the second quarter on two Hayes field goals. WVU took a 13-3 lead at the half on Hayes' 46-yard field goal, which was set up by on a Mountaineer defensive stop on fourth down in WVU territory.

A scoreless third quarter set up a 17-point fourth. The Red Raiders closed the deficit to 13-10 early in the quarter off a 27-yard run from Tahj Brooks to set up a 6-yard touchdown catch. A 9-yard touchdown pass from Marchiol to Taylor secured the win.

The Mountaineers survived a fast start from TCU and used key special teams plays down the stretch to earn its first road victory of the 2023 season and push its overall record to 4-1 and 2-0 in the Big 12 with a 24-21 win.

Three rushing touchdowns, an impressive second-half defensive performance and two blocked field goals propelled the Mountaineers to the upset victory.

The Horned Frogs took a 7-0 lead in the first :51 seconds, before Greene's 35-yard run tied the score.

In the second quarter, West Virginia answered with a 1-yard run from Donaldson Jr., tying the game at 14-14 with 1:50 left in the half. TCU's 36-yard scoring strike with just 24 seconds left gave the Frogs a 21-14 advantage at the half.

West Virginia's defense allowed just 1 yard in the third quarter as the Mountaineers tied the game at 21-21 on Greene's 1-yard score, his second in the game.

The Horned Frogs then embarked on two straight drives in its attempt to either win the game or send it to overtime and both times, the Mountaineer defense came up big. The first play came from tackle Mike Lockhart, who blocked a 46-yard field goal attempt.

On the Horned Frogs' next possession, fellow defensive lineman Sean Martin reached up to block Kell's 55-yard, game-tying attempt with 32 seconds remaining to seal the upset victory for the visitors. Linebacker Lee Kpogba picked up the defense with 11 tackles, and Greene led the offense with 80 yards rushing and 142 passing.

WVU dropped its next two games, evening its conference record at 2-2, a heartbreaking 41-39 Hail Mary Touchdown pass on the game's last play at Houston and then Oklahoma State's bruising running game gave WVU its first home loss, 48-34.

At Houston, the Thursday night game saw the two teams combine for 42 points in the fourth quarter.

Halfway through the game, the Cougars closed the first-half scoring, when its quarterback rushed in from 2 yards out with 25 seconds left in the first half. Even though West Virginia outgained Houston 197-109 in total yards, the Cougars still led 14-10 at the half.

West Virginia's third quarter started off strong, converting a 35-yard flea flicker from Greene to receiver Traylon Ray four plays into the quarter. The scoring play gave the Mountaineers a 17-14 lead, which they held until the 5:09 mark of the third as Houston took a 21-17 advantage on a 15-yard touchdown pass.

Trailing 24-21, the Cougars then scored on its next two possessions to open a 35-24 advantage with 7:28 left. Greene would not let the Mountaineers go quietly as he led a 75-yard scoring drive capped by his 8-yard run. WVU's two-point conversion was successful, and the Mountaineers trailed 35-32 with 3:34 left in the game.

The Mountaineer defense gave the offense the ball back, and Greene took full advantage, completing passes of 17 and 21 yards before a 50-yard aerial strike to Clement gave WVU a 39-35 lead with 12 seconds remaining.

After a WVU penalty gave the Cougars the ball near midfield. Houston completed an 8-yard pass before heaving the 49-yard game winner into the end zone. Greene passed for a career-high 391 yards in the game with 116 of those yards going to receiver Devin Carter.

Against Oklahoma State, rain fell off and on during the contest, but that didn't slow running back Ollie Gordon as he finished with 282 rushing yards, and four touchdowns, including 49 rushing yards and three touchdowns in the fourth quarter alone.

It was obvious that West Virginia had no answer for him, but the Mountaineers still took a 24-20 lead into the fourth. OSU outscored WVU, 28-10, in the fourth. After a muffed punt set up a 16-yard scoring run by Gordon early in the quarter, West Virginia would not lead again.

Hayes converted his second field goal to tie the score at 27-27 with 9:39 left but missed tackles and the powerful running from Gordon ended any hopes of a WVU win. In the final 9:39, Oklahoma State added a 29-yard touchdown pass and long scoring runs of 46 and 53 yards by Gordon to capture the Big 12 road win.

WVU's lone touchdown in the fourth came at the 2:37 mark on Donaldson Jr.'s 3-yard rush, but it wasn't enough. Greene again proved to be a tough competitor as he finished with 249 yards passing and two scores, while rushing for an additional 117 yards to lead the Mountaineers.

West Virginia rebounded, earning a big road victory with a 41-28 decision at UCF. The Mountaineers took advantage of four UCF turnovers, including three interceptions and one fumble, and scored 21 points off those Knight miscues to propel them to victory.

Greene turned in yet another strong performance with three rushing touchdowns to lead the visitors. His final numbers showed 55 yards rushing and 156 yards passing to go along with those three scores.

The Mountaineers struck first on the opening drive of the game, marching 75 yards to take a 7-0 lead on Greene's 6-yard run. The advantage didn't last long as UCF answered on its first drive on a 34-yard scoring toss. By the end of the first, Hayes converted a 24-yard field goal making it 10-7.

Second quarter action saw West Virginia extend its lead to 17-7, when White scored on a 4-yard rush. The 64-yard scoring drive was set up by Bishop Jr.'s interception and subsequent 31-yard return.

UCF closed the first half scoring on an 8-yard run to put the score at 17-14 in favor of the visitors at the intermission. Greene and the Mountaineer offense took over after a Bishop Jr. interception on UCF's opening drive of the second half and drove the remaining 68 yards to take a 24-14 lead on Greene's 7-yard run. His 1-yard touchdown run at the start of the fourth quarter opened up a 31-21 advantage.

Donaldson Jr. got in on the scoring with a 6-yard touchdown, which was set up by Greene's 13-yard completion to EJ Horton on fourth-and-2. Hayes ended the scoring run with a 41-yard field goal, putting the score at 41-21 with 5:07 left to play. Aside from Greene's numbers, Donaldson added 121 yards rushing, and White chipped in 85 yards on the ground.

As they opened up the month of November, the Mountaineers turned in one of its most complete performances of the season with a convincing, 37-7 victory over BYU.

The Mountaineers got 100-yard rushing performances from White and Donaldson Jr. to lead a strong offensive attack as the home team scored the game's first 37 points. Defensively, West Virginia held the visitors to just 67 yards rushing as the Cougars could not light their side of the scoreboard until 6:24 left in the contest.

West Virginia was playing BYU for only the second time in its history, the first time in Morgantown and the first time as members of the Big 12 Conference.

The Mountaineers jumped on the Cougars early and never looked back as they took the game's opening drive 75 yards on 11 plays to grab a 7-0 lead on Donaldson's 2-yard run. Donaldson gave the Mountaineers a 14-0 advantage later in the quarter on his 1-yard plunge, ending a 52-yard scoring drive.

In the second quarter, West Virginia added three scores to up its lead to 27-0 at the half. West Virginia put the game out of reach with a 10-point third quarter. Hayes was again spot on with his kicking as his third field goal in the game was good from 23-yards out. Taylor's 43-yard touchdown reception with 1:09 left in the third was all the scoring that WVU would need.

The Cougars ended any chance of a WVU shutout as running back Aiden Robbins scampered in from 10 yards out with 6:24 left in the game. White finished the game for the Mountaineers with a career-high 146 yards rushing as he turned in the second 100-yard rushing performance of his freshman season. Meanwhile, Donaldson turned in his second straight 100-yard rushing game with 102 yards and two touchdowns. Aside from the rushing numbers from White and Donaldson, West Virginia got 205 yards passing from Greene and 56 yards on three catches from receiver Devin Carter. The Mountaineer defensive effort was led by linebacker Lee Kpogba with eight tackles. Final numbers showed West Virginia with 336 yards rushing and 231 passing to total 567 yards of offense. The 336 yards rushing was a team high for West Virginia in the Neal Brown era.

Playing for the last time as Big 12 conference members, No. 17/16 Oklahoma defended its home turf in a big way with a 59-20 victory over West Virginia. The game was total domination by the Sooners, finishing with 423 yards and five touchdowns. Quarterback Dillon Gabriel added three touchdowns rushing for eight total touchdowns in the contest.

The game started favorably for the visitors as the Mountaineers took the game's opening drive 75 yards for a 7-0 lead on Donaldson Jr.'s 13-yard run. That opening drive was the highlight of the night for the Mountaineers as Oklahoma took over and never looked back. The Sooners first started a string of 31 unanswered points by the home team that didn't end until seven seconds before halftime.

West Virginia stopped the onslaught with Greene's 3-yard touchdown completion to Taylor, ending a 75-yard drive before halftime with the score 31-14 in favor of the Sooners.

For WVU, Greene passed for 154 yards and two scores with Carter topping the passing game with 67 yards. Defensive back Anthony Wilson contributed 11 tackles in the effort.

The Mountaineers closed the home schedule with a convincing, 42-21, victory over Cincinnati. The game was marked by remembering the 2023 seniors and immortalizing legendary Hall of Fame Coach Don Nehlen.

WVU had strong offensive performances from White and Greene. White rushed for 210 yards on 21 carries, and a touchdown. He also turned in West Virginia's longest play from scrimmage on the year with his 75-yard touchdown reception in the second quarter. White's work for the day totaled 279 all-purpose yards. Greene rushed for 154 yards and three touchdowns. He also contributed 210 yards passing and one score to finish with 364 yards of total offense.

By the middle of the second quarter, the Mountaineers had a 21-0 lead behind Greene's 3-yard run, White's 75-yard touchdown reception and Donaldson Jr.'s 13-yard run.

Cincinnati got on the board with 1:32 left in the half on a 1-yard run. However, the Bearcats left WVU with too much time as Greene engineered a 75-yard scoring drive in 52 seconds, giving the home team a 28-7 advantage at the half.

Third-quarter scoring saw Greene use his legs again to inflict damage with an 18-yard run to end an 88-yard drive, while White continued to cause havoc on the ground with a 4-yard scoring run.

Aside from Greene and White, the Mountaineers got a 10-tackle performance from linebacker Lee Kpogba as the WVU defense held Cincinnati to just 173 total yards in three quarters of play before the Bearcats added 159 yards in the fourth quarter.

Final numbers showed that West Virginia turned in two of its highest offensive totals under Neal Brown. WVU rushed for a Brown-era high 424 yards and passed for 210 to total a Brown-era high of 634 yards of total offense.

West Virginia closed the regular season in exciting fashion with a 34-31, come-from-behind win at Baylor. The Mountaineers dominated the game for two quarters both on the field and statistically, but the Bears hung around, and not only took the lead, but came within a minute of recording the upset.

West Virginia started strong and used a 30-yard touchdown pass from Greene to Ray for a 7-0 lead in the first quarter. After Hayes extended the lead to 10-0, the Baylor comeback was on.

On the ensuing kickoff, Baylor got on the board with an untouched, 96-yard kickoff return, eating into the WVU lead. Greene answered the kick return with a 23-yard touchdown run to end an 82-yard drive. Leading 17-7 at the 10:28 mark of the second quarter, the Bears returned a kick and this time scampered 93 yards virtually untouched for his second touchdown return in the game.

West Virginia, however, regained its composure and closed the first half with two more scores for a 27-14 advantage. Baylor's comeback was fueled by controlling the third and fourth quarters. A 38-yard touchdown pass cut the WVU lead to 27-21 before a 2-yard run suddenly gave Baylor a 28-27 lead heading to the fourth.

The fourth quarter saw a late Baylor field goal extend the lead to 31-27. Greene was terrific in marching WVU 80 yards in six plays for the winning touchdown. He completed passes of 11 and 23 yards, before his runs of 8 and 9 yards set up the winning play. White was the recipient of a 29-yard touchdown strike from Greene with just 23 ticks left on the clock to secure the eighth win of the season for the Mountaineers. White finished with 133 yards rushing to go along with 103 from Greene, who also added 269 yards passing to account for 372 yards of offense and four touchdowns.

West Virginia earned its 40th bowl trip in school history to the Duke's Mayo Bowl and enjoyed a visit to one of the program's and fans' favorite destinations, Charlotte.

The Mountaineers scored on the game's opening play and never looked back in a 30-10 victory over North Carolina. The first possession started with game MVP Greene's 75-yard touchdown pass to Ray and then limited a backup-heavy Tar Heel offense to just one touchdown and no points in the second half.

The story was a WVU defense that sacked North Carolina quarterback Conner Harrell seven times and pitched a shutout in the second half. Bishop Jr. gave the Mountaineers a brief 11-point lead when he took a punt 78 yards for a touchdown late in the second quarter.

After the lone North Carolina first half touchdown, WVU needed just 27 seconds to travel 63 yards to get Hayes in position to end the half with his field goal. Another potential UNC score was thwarted in the first quarter when Harrell overshot his tight end and Aubrey Burks picked off the pass in the end zone.

Harrell's second interception took place in the third quarter, a great one-handed grab by defensive end Tyrin Bradley, also hurt the Tar Heels. Greene began the last touchdown drive for the Mountaineers with a 48-yard run to the Tar Heel 30. Then, he flipped a 24-yard pass to Taylor, who jumped over the defender down to the WVU 6.

White scored on an 11-yard run to extend the lead by 17 points, 27-10. The Tar Heels stopped WVU at the 21, but holder Leighton Bechdel took Austin Brinkman's snap on a fake and ran the ball to the UNC 4. Hayes' 29-yarder to concluded the WVU scoring.

The victory was the Mountaineers' 17th in 40 all-time bowl appearances and their second in this bowl game against North Carolina. The lifted WVU a 9-4 record to conclude the season and gave the Mountaineers a lot of momentum heading into the offseason with several key offensive players returning in 2024.

2024 Season Review

The 2024 West Virginia football season was a rollercoaster of highs and lows, resulting in significant changes within the program. In the final season of the Neal Brown era, the Mountaineers finished with a 6-7 overall record and a 5-4 mark in the Big 12, including an appearance in the Scooter's Coffee Frisco Bowl, the 41st bowl appearance in school history.

The Mountaineers entered the season with optimism, looking to build on a 9-4 record and bowl victory from 2023. The offense returned a wealth of experience, including senior quarterback Garrett Greene, a veteran offensive line and a deep running back corps.

The season began on a challenging note against long-time foe, Penn State. The defense struggled to contain the Nittany Lions' offense, highlighting early concerns. Despite the rocky start, West Virginia demonstrated resilience, securing key victories in conference play. The offense showed flashes of brilliance, particularly in the running game. The defense, bolstered by offseason transfers, made strides but was inconsistent.

By midseason, the schedule was marked by a mix of wins and losses. A notable victory against UCF secured bowl eligibility. The regular season ended at Texas Tech, giving the program a 6-6 record and the subsequent ending of the Neal Brown era.

Even though the program didn't finish the season how it wanted – there were bright spots.

Offensive lineman Wyatt Milum became the school's 14th Consensus All-American, including the fourth WVU offensive linemen to earn that distinction. He was named to the Big 12 All-Conference First Team and was honored as its Offensive Lineman of the Year. He earned first-team honors on four of the five All-America teams that make up the Consensus team honors (Walter Camp, AFCA, FWAA and The Sporting News) and was a second-team selection by the Associated Press.

Other Big 12 honorees consisted of redshirt freshman linebacker Josiah Trotter, WVU's first Big 12 Conference Defensive Freshman of the Year, who played in 12 games and started 11. He was the nation's leading freshman tackler with 92, including 36 unassisted tackles, assisted on a sack, four tackles for loss, five quarterback hurries, two pass breakups, an interception and was one of the three finalists for the Shawn Alexander Freshman All-American of the Year.

Senior transfer defensive lineman TJ Jackson II also earned all-conference first-team honors by the league coaches. Jackson played in all 13 games, starting 10, and finished the season with 40 tackles, including 21 solo stops, 6.5 sacks, 14 tackles for loss and a fumble recovery. He finished the season ranked No. 5 in the Big 12 in sacks.

Greene made his mark, earning national recognition when he was named to the Allstate AFCA Good Works Team for excellence in the community. Long snapper Austin Brinkman was named to the Phil Steele's All-America third team, first-team All-Big 12 and was a semifinalist for the national snapper of the year award. Jackson received a fourth-team All-America nod by Phil Steele. Milum and Jackson joined Brinkman on Phil Steele's All-Big 12 First Team, while offensive lineman Tomas Rimac was on the second team and offensive lineman Nick Malone and Trotter were on fourth team.

The return of No. 8/9 Penn State to Morgantown for the first time in 32 years was one of WVU's most anticipated home openers in years. It saw a FOX national broadcast, including its Big Noon Kickoff Show in town to entertain a sellout crowd of 62,084. After being treated to a competitive first half, a two hour and 19-minute weather delay that began in the third quarter dampened the festivities. After a scoreless first quarter, Penn State started the scoring at the 14:53 mark of the second, and led 13-0 at the 9:46 mark. West Virginia got on the scoreboard later in the second quarter, when kicker Michael Hayes II scored on a 38-yard field goal. Hayes II lit the scoreboard again with just 37 seconds left before halftime as his 39-yard field goal closed the home team's deficit to 13-6. In the final 32 seconds of the second quarter, the Nittany Lions marched 73 yards in three plays for a 20-6 edge at the break.

Penn State essentially put the game away on its first drive of the second half as it drove 78 yards in nine plays for a 27-6 advantage for the only score in the quarter. West Virginia's lone score in the second half came at the 12:49 mark of the fourth, when running back CJ Donaldson Jr., scored from 1-yard out. When WVU's two-point conversion failed, the visitors led 27-12. Penn State put an insurance score on the board with 9:00 left in the game to make a final of 34-12.

West Virginia secured its first victory of the season with a convincing 49-14 home win over UAlbany. A strong ground game paced the Mountaineer offense, which turned in two 100-yard rushers, Donaldson Jr. leading with 125 yards and a touchdown and teammate Jahiem White with 100 yards and a score. White got the scoring started in the opening quarter with a 14-yard run. The margin was extended when Greene connected with receiver Justin Robinson for a 12-yard scoring play. Greene's second touchdown pass came early in the second quarter on a 39-yard connection to tight end Kole Taylor. Trailing 21-0, UAlbany quickly closed the gap to 21-14 with two straight scores at the end of the first half. However, Greene scored right before intermission on a 40 yard scamper for the 14-point lead. UAlbany got the ball out of the half and drove 84 yards to the WVU 1-yard line, but the Mountaineer defense held on four plays to change the complexion of the game. The Mountaineers went on to score twice in the quarter and once more in the fourth for 21 second half points and 28 unanswered. Greene finished with 236 yards passing and accounted for four scores. West Virginia finished with 305 rushing yards and 248 passing for 553 offensive yards. UAlbany had 68 yards on the ground and 306 through the air for 374 total yards.

The 107th episode of the "Backyard Brawl" saw Pitt erased a 10-point deficit in the final 4:54 to defeat West Virginia, 38-34. The game lived up to its reputation as one of college football's best rivalries as 66,087 fans at Acrisure Stadium were entertained in the back-and-forth affair. The Mountaineers struck first on its second possession as Donaldson Jr., took a swing pass from Greene 10 yards for a 7-0 lead. Before the end of the first quarter, Pitt had a 10-7 lead. The Mountaineers opened the second quarter with a 75-yard drive and regained the lead on White's 5-yard run. Later in the second quarter, Pitt took a 17-14 lead. Just before halftime, the Mountaineers got a 44-yard field goal from Hayes II to tie the contest at 17-17.

Not only was the game tied, but the first half saw four lead changes, and the Panthers held a 222-194 advantage in total offense. Pitt grabbed the momentum at the 8:27 mark of the third quarter by blocking an Oliver Straw punt and returning it 24 yards for a touchdown and a 24-17 advantage.

However, West Virginia quickly answered with an 81-yard drive that saw Donaldson Jr. rush in from 4-yards out after a 44-yard completion from Greene to receiver Jaden Bray. The two rivals again were tied after three quarters, but West Virginia scored the first 10 points of the fourth for a 34-24 lead with only 4:54 remaining. Hayes II kicked his second field goal of the game, a 23-yarder, and the Mountaineers marched 68 yards before Greene finished the drive with a 28-yard touchdown pass to Robinson. However, a 40-yard touchdown closed the deficit to three and after holding the Mountaineers to three plays, the Panthers marched 77 yards to score the winning points.

Greene finished with 49 yards rushing and 210 passing while throwing for two scores. Donaldson was strong with 79 yards rushing and scored a rushing and receiving touchdown. Final numbers showed how even the game was with WVU coming in at 398 total yards to Pitt's 379.

Game four saw West Virginia erase an 11-point deficit in the final 5:39 to rally and defeat Kansas, 32-28, at Milan Puskar Stadium. Greene finished with 87 yards rushing and 295 passing, while accounting for three touchdowns. West Virginia's first scoring drive saw Greene connect with receiver Hudson Clement for receptions of 38 and 39 yards, setting up White's 1-yard run for a 7-0 lead. The Jayhawks tied the game in the second quarter, but the Mountaineers regained the lead when Greene rushed in from 5 yards out for a 14-7 advantage. Kansas went on a 14-3 run to start the third quarter and took a 21-17 advantage into the fourth. The Mountaineers countered with a 40-yard field goal from Hayes II. After a one hour and 58-minute lightning delay, Kansas continued its second-half domination in the fourth, outscoring the Mountaineers, 21-3, in the second half before Greene stepped in to take control.

Using a two-minute offense, Greene marched the Mountaineers 75 yards in 2:12, hitting Taylor for an 8-yard touchdown reception. In the scoring drive, Greene completed passes of 16 and 26 yards, and after a successful two-point conversion, WVU trailed 28-25 with 3:23 remaining. The Mountaineers forced a punt with 2:22 left, before a Greene 10-yard run and a 13-yard run to go along with an 11-yard pass completion set up a 15-yard touchdown pass to Rodney Gallagher III for his first career touchdown. The West Virginia defense forced a fumble in the final seconds to secure WVU's first Big 12 victory of the season. Tyrin Bradley Jr.'s seven tackles, a sack, an interception, a forced fumble and subsequent recovery earned him Big 12 Defensive Player of the Week honors. WVU collected 148 yards rushing and 295 passing. Kansas rushed for 247 and passed for 184.

West Virginia used an explosive first half and a dominant rushing attack to upset Oklahoma State on the road in Stillwater by a 38-14 count. It marked the second straight victory for Neal Brown's team at Boone Pickens Stadium. The Mountaineers rushed for 259 yards in the first half and exploded for 31 points, including 21 in the second quarter. White led the ground game with 158 yards on 19 carries and a touchdown. West Virginia took the game's opening possession 55 yards and got a 39-yard field goal from Hayes II. On the next drive, filling in on the play for the injured Garrett Greene, backup quarterback Nicco Marchiol converted with Traylon Ray for a 10-yard scoring strike in the final minute for a 10-0 advantage. Greene returned in the second quarter and led his offense to three scoring drives. The first came on White's 10-yard rush. The WVU quarterback then called his own number and scampered to a 15-yard touchdown run to cap an 87-yard drive. Oklahoma State ended the 24-point WVU run at the 1:54 mark of the second quarter. However, Greene marched the Mountaineers 75 yards in 1:26 and got a 15-yard touchdown run by Donaldson Jr., for a 31-7 WVU advantage. OSU was held to 115 yards of total offense in the first half, while the visitors racked up 345 total yards. The Mountaineers were in no hurry on offense in the second half and mainly focused on controlling the clock. West Virginia busted through for its only points in the second half with 9:01 remaining when Donaldson scored his second touchdown on the day. The Cowboys added a score at the 8:30 mark of the fourth quarter to put the final score at 38-14.

Adding to White's impressive rushing numbers for WVU, Greene played through injury to total 86 yards on the ground and 159 passing, while Donaldson added 77 yards rushing to go with his two touchdowns. Final numbers saw West Virginia with a stout 389 yards rushing and 169 passing for 558 yards of offense in the dominating performance. Oklahoma State finished with 36 yards rushing and 191 passing for 227 total yards.

The No. 11/13 Iowa State Cyclones stormed into Milan Puskar Stadium and earned a 28-16 victory over West Virginia in front of 55,202 fans and a FOX national audience. Home fans wore black to match the debut of the Coal Rush uniforms, but it was the white-clad uniforms of the visitors who left town with the victory. Things started well for West Virginia as the Mountaineers took the game's first possession 75 yards in 14 plays with White's 8-yard run giving the home team a 7-0 lead. Iowa State eventually tied the game on a 60-yard touchdown pass, and the Cyclones broke the tie on its next possession.

Just before halftime, the Mountaineers closed the deficit when Hayes II atoned for his earlier miss with a 43-yard field goal, putting the score at 14-10 in favor of the visitors. Third-quarter action proved to be a defensive battle as neither team could score. Iowa State took advantage of a WVU interception, leading its offense on a 65-yard drive, which ended with a 3-yard run for a 21-10 ISU advantage. A second interception gave the ball back to the Cyclones, who capitalized for a 28-10 lead with 4:35 left to play. Greene was not done though and connected on passes of 18, 21, 10 and 8 yards. His 10-yard throw to White gave the Mountaineers their second touchdown in the game. After a failed two-point conversion, WVU trailed 28-16 and when its onside kick attempt failed, the Cyclones finished the game by running out the clock and capturing the road victory.

Final numbers showed West Virginia with 148 yards rushing and 206 passing for 354 yards of total offense. Iowa State came in at 129 yards on the ground and 265 from the arm of Becht for 394 total yards. Aside from honoring the coal miners of the state, WVU officially inducted former tight end great and All-Big East performer Anthony Becht into the WVU Sports Hall of Fame at the end of the first quarter.

Kansas State used a 28-point second half to blow open a close game and win 45-18, at Milan Puskar Stadium in front of 54,327 fans and a FOX national television audience. Midway through the first quarter, the two teams traded 44-yard field goals, and just before the end of the quarter, Kansas State grabbed a lead it would never relinquish.

The Mountaineers answered with a 13-play, 70-yard drive that put new life into the stadium crowd. Greene's 7-yard pass to Clement pulled the Mountaineers to 17-10 with 6:38 left in the first half. West Virginia had one more chance to tie the game, but its 89-yard drive ended on downs at the K-State 3-yard line, putting the Wildcats up 17-10 at halftime. Kansas State took the opening third-quarter drive 74 yards, while using 5:17 off the clock for a 24-10 advantage.

The Mountaineers were without three starters on offense to begin the third quarter as Greene, Milum and White all were ruled out with injuries. West Virginia would only muster 16 offensive yards in the quarter, while the Wildcats offense continued to dominate.

Kansas State's string of unanswered points reached 21 in the fourth quarter before Marchiol stopped the scoring binge by completing a 12-yard scoring pass to Ray with 8:20 left. However, a successful two-point conversion after the score would be the last points on the night for WVU, while Kansas State added one more touchdown with 5:46 remaining in the game, putting the final number at 45-18. Kansas State rushed for 114 and passed for 298 to give them 412 yards on the night.

West Virginia built an 18-point fourth-quarter lead and held off a furious Arizona comeback to defeat the Wildcats 31-26 at Arizona Stadium. Greene and Milum were missing, but Marchiol engineered an efficient offensive attack, managed the game and kept the Mountaineers away from turnovers to key the victory. Hayes II connected on a 45-yard field goal on the game's opening possession and extended its advantage to 10-0 on trickery from its field goal unit just before the end of the first quarter. Holder Leighton Bechdel took the snap and motored 14 yards. With 7:34 left in the first half, Arizona got on the board. However, WVU would take a 17-7 lead into the locker room at halftime, when Marchiol found Clement in the back of the endzone on fourth down for a 3-yard score.

After holding Arizona on downs in the third quarter's first possession, West Virginia started the second half with a 20-yard touchdown run from Donaldson Jr. The Wildcats got on the board again with 1:18 left in the third. After the ensuing PAT was missed, the Mountaineers led 24-13 into the fourth quarter. The visitors thought they put the game away at the 13:31 mark as Marchiol connected with Ray on a 54-yard scoring reception and a 31-13 advantage. The Wildcats marched 75 yards to cut their deficit to 31-19 after a failed two-point conversion attempt.

The Mountaineers punted the ball back to the Wildcats and six plays later West Virginia found themselves clinging to a 31-26 lead. The WVU offense converted two key third downs to move the chains and keep the clock running enabling WVU to hold on to the important road victory. Marchiol completed 18-of-22 passes for 198 yards and two scores, while White rushed for 92 yards to lead WVU. Final numbers showed West Virginia with 203 yards rushing and 198 passing to total 401 yards of offense. Arizona came in at 78 yards on the ground and 308 through the air for 386 total yards.

For the second straight game, West Virginia built a big second-half lead on the road and held on to claim a Big 12 victory with a 31-24 win at Cincinnati's historic Nippert Stadium. The Bearcats struck first before West Virginia got on the board in the second quarter to tie the game when defensive back Anthony Wilson Jr. returned an interception 79 yards for a touchdown. The Mountaineers went on to score the half's next 10 points to grab a 17-7 lead at the intermission.

A 24-yard Hayes II field goal at the 8:40 mark gave the Mountaineers their first lead of the game and one they would not relinquish. The field goal was set up by a WVU fumble recovery by KK Tarnue, which was forced by linebacker Reid Carrico. A 29-yard punt return by Preston Fox set up the offense in Bearcat territory, and three plays later Marchiol hit Robinson for a 10-yard score.

The Mountaineers scored their 24th straight point with 8:29 left in the third quarter on Marchiol's 8-yard run. Cincinnati closed the lead to 24-14 heading to the fourth quarter and had the momentum, using a long drive on a tired defense to pull within 24-21. After a WVU three-and-out, linebacker Trey Lathan sacked Sorsby for a 13-yard loss while forcing a fumble that was recovered by Bradley Jr. and returned 14 yards for WVU's second defensive score of the contest. The momentum changed as West Virginia took a 31-21 advantage with 3:30 left. The Bearcats added a 29-yard field goal with 35 seconds left, but the Mountaineers secured the ensuing onside kick to ensure the win. WVU ran for 92 yards and passed for 156 for 248 yards of offense. The Bearcats finished with 157 yards on the ground and a strong 279 yards passing for 436 total yards, while running 79 plays to WVU's 43.

Baylor won for the first time in seven tries at Milan Puskar Stadium with a 49-35 victory. The game was an offensive showdown in three of the four quarters, but it was Baylor who completed key offensive plays down the stretch, while coming up with the big stops on defense. Greene set the tone, returning from a two-game injury absence, rushing in from 3 yards out for a 7-0 Mountaineer advantage. The lead didn't last long as Baylor turned in the next two scores to take a 14-7 lead after one quarter of play.

Second-quarter action saw the two teams combine for six touchdowns. The Mountaineers tied the game at 14-14 when Greene connected with Ray for a 9-yard scoring toss. The score remained tied until the 4:22 mark when the Bears took a 21-14 advantage and then five touchdowns in the final 4:00 of the half put the game at 35-28 at halftime. With 47 seconds left, Greene took his team 75 yards, highlighted by a 44-yard completion to receiver Hudson Clement and Greene's 20-yard run. As time expired, the quarterback got into the end zone on a 1-yard rush, completing an exciting first half with the visitors holding a 35-28 margin.

After a 63-point first half, neither team scored in the third quarter. Baylor took control of the game for good at the 8:07 mark of the fourth with a 49-28 advantage. The Mountaineers managed a late score when Greene connected with Taylor for an 11-yard scoring reception, putting the final total at 49-35. Greene accounted for 366 yards of total offense and four touchdowns. Final numbers in the offensive showdown showed Baylor with 512 total yards to WVU's 499.

West Virginia became bowl eligible with a 31-21 home victory over UCF. The Mountaineers started fast and took a 14-0 lead in the first quarter. Greene led a 68-yard drive that ended with a Donaldson Jr., 1-yard touchdown run. Before the end of the quarter, White got in on the scoring action with a 3-yard run. However, UCF also had a strong running game and got the Knights on the board at the 8:30 mark to cut the UCF's deficit to 14-7. Just before the end of the half, WVU embarked on a 71-yard drive that saw Greene hit Gallagher III for a 12-yard scoring toss. The Mountaineers then made the most of its first third-quarter drive with a 56-yard score.

Donaldson Jr. scored his second touchdown on the day with a 1-yard run, giving WVU a 28-7 lead. The two teams headed to the fourth with a 28-14 score. West Virginia added a 35-yard insurance field goal by Hayes II with 12:15 left to play. The Knights cut the lead to 10 with 5:19 to play, but West Virginia's offense never gave the ball back and ran out the clock with two fourth-down conversions. The day belonged to the WVU seniors, especially Greene who finished with 167 yards of total offense. Final numbers showed West Virginia with 200 yards rushing and 118 passing for 318 yards of total offense. The Knights countered with 176 yards rushing and 172 passing for 348 total yards.

West Virginia closed the regular season in disappointing fashion by dropping a 52-15 decision at Texas Tech. After a competitive first quarter that saw just a three-point deficit for the Mountaineers, the Red Raiders reeled off 29 second-quarter points. Texas Tech went to work with a 41-yard drive that resulted on a 32-yard field goal. The one first-half bright spot for West Virginia was that it was able to answer the field goal with Hayes II making a career-long 52-yard attempt. Just before the end of the quarter, Texas Tech regained the lead for good on a 23-yard field goal. Leading 6-3 going to the second quarter, the Red Raiders proceeded to break the game open and led 35-3 at the half.

It didn't help WVU's chances of a comeback when Texas Tech took the opening drive of the third quarter 75 yards and grabbed a 42-3 advantage. West Virginia finally broke the 39 unanswered point run by Tech with 2:04 remaining in the third quarter when Greene took the offense 91 yards and found Gallagher III for a 15-yard pass reception. When the two-point conversion failed, WVU went to the fourth quarter trailing 42-9. The Red Raider offense added 10 fourth-quarter points for the final score.

For West Virginia, White finished his strong day with a 21-yard scamper, closing the scoring for the visitors. West Virginia was led by Greene with 265 yards passing, while White rushed for 124 yards. West Virginia totaled 158 yards rushing and 265 passing for 423 total yards. Texas Tech countered with 210 yards on the ground and 359 through the air for 569 total yards. The loss ended West Virginia's regular season at 6-6.

Led by interim head coach Chad Scott, West Virginia came up on the short end of a 42-37 decision to No. 25/23 Memphis in the Scooter's Coffee Frisco Bowl. Trailing 17-0 in the second quarter, West Virginia turned a potential bowl nightmare into one of the more entertaining games of the postseason by scoring 37 points in the last three quarters. Greene closed his Mountaineer career by passing for 328 yards and two scores, while accounting for 95 yards rushing and another touchdown on the ground. The Tigers started quickly and led 17-0 with 10:26 left in the half.

West Virginia's offense got on track led by Greene and Clement. The duo hooked up for a 33-yard scoring toss to put the Mountaineers on the board at the 7:28 mark. The final 2:30 of the first half saw the two teams put up 21 combined points, starting with a 42-yard Vanderberg field goal. Greene then used his legs for a 56-yard touchdown run. The Mountaineer defense could not stop the Tigers from going 75 yards in less than a minute to take a 28-14 advantage. However, as time expired, Hayes II converted on a 46-yard field goal, putting the score at 28-17 in favor of Memphis at the half.

The Tigers took the opening possession of the third quarter 75 yards to extend the lead to 35-17. West Virginia's only points came at the 7:15 mark when Greene connected with Clement for a 10-yard touchdown toss that pulled West Virginia to 35-23 heading to the fourth. The Mountaineers closed their deficit to five points with 12:02 left in the game when Donaldson Jr. scored from a yard out to end an impressive 90-yard drive. Just when it seemed as if the Mountaineers had all the momentum, an 89-yard pass play set up a 1-yard score. In just two plays, the Tigers upped their lead to 42-30. Greene put the offense on his back and engineered a 12-play, 75-yard drive that ended with a second 1-yard run from Donaldson, which closed the game to 42-37 with 4:17 remaining.

Memphis missed a field goal, giving the Mountaineers one last possession, but an interception in the final seconds secured the victory for the Tigers.

Final numbers showed how entertaining the game was. West Virginia rushed for 206 yards and passed for 328 to total an impressive 534 yards of offense. Memphis countered with 180 yards rushing and 294 passing for 474 total yards. The Mountaineers finished the 2024 season with a final record of 6-7.

The 2024 season was a testament to the challenges and unpredictability that are found around the college football world. While the Mountaineers faced adversity, the lessons learned provided an opportunity for growth and resurgence in the seasons to come.
