HARRINGTON FIELD – HOME OF WWU SOCCER

WWU officially moved into its new home at Harrington Field on the south part of WWU's campus at the start of the 2014 season, and the home field advantage has been a big part of the program ever since.

The formal dedication of Harrington Field on the south campus of Western Washington University was held on Sept. 27, 2014, between games involving the Viking men's and women's soccer teams.

The project was made possible in part because of a $1 million gift from WWU alumnus Scott Harrington and his family. Harrington graduated in 1998 from Western's accounting program and played soccer for the Vikings.

The field is formally known as the Robert S. Harrington Field in honor of Scott's father, the late Robert Harrington, in recognition of the family's gift.

Among those participating in the dedication were WWU Director of Athletics Steve Card, WWU President Bruce Shepard, WWU Associated Student Body President Annika Wolters, and Scott Harrington.

WWU soccer scarves were handed out to 500 students at the Wade King Recreation Center Flag Plaza. From there the students along with cheerleaders and the WWU Viking band participated in a "March to the Match" for the field dedication and games.

The facility has an all-weather FieldTurf surface, bleacher seating for 500, and lighting for night use. It has allowed WWU to play soccer games on campus for the first time since 2000.

Through the end of the 2019 season, the Vikings own a 29-17-8 all-time record at Harrington Field for a .611 winning percentage. Combining with the women's program, WWU Soccer is 87-19-9 (.796) all-time at Harrington Field.
