ENTRANCE

CURRENT RENOVATIONS

The University of Wyoming is currently in the midst of a $30-million renovation to the Arena-Auditorium. Centered around the student-athletes, the project will help transform the Double A into a premier facility for Cowboy and Cowgirl basketball. Phase one was completed in the summer of 2014, while phase two will begin in the spring of 2015.

Phase 1 - $10 million: The first phase will be an interior renovation of UW's practice and competition facilities. Enhancements will be made to give basketball two state-of-the-art locker rooms, a cutting edge sports medicine area, an expanded weight training area and rooms for film and meetings. The playing floor will also be reconfigured to accommodate two simultaneous practice sessions. The improvements will also benefit the fan experience with new seats closer to the floor, new HD video and ribbon boards and a new donor area with priority seating.

Phase 2 - $20 million: The second phase of the Arena-Auditorium renovation will focus on the exterior of the building. The project will make improvements to the concourse area and build a Hall of Fame, while the exterior will receive a facelift as well.

THE COWBOY SPORTS NETWORK

Kevin McKinney and Dave Walsh

All Wyoming Cowboy basketball games can be heard live on the 26 affiliate radio stations of the Cowboy Sports Network throughout the states of Wyoming, Colorado and South Dakota. The flagship station for the network is KFBC 1240 AM in Cheyenne, Wyo. Each game is also broadcast through the official University of Wyoming athletics website: GoWYO.com.

Dave Walsh will be serving as the "Voice of the Cowboys" for his 32nd season in 2014-15. He will be joined by longtime Cowboy color analyst Kevin McKinney, who will be adding color commentary on Wyoming Football games for the 17th consecutive season.

A native of San Diego, Calif., Walsh received his degree in radio and television in 1975 from San Diego State. He was the sports director at KVOC Radio in Casper, Wyo., prior to joining the Cowboys. He is a nine-time Wyoming Sportscaster of the Year as selected by his peers of the National Association of Sportswriters and Sportscasters.

McKinney, a Cheyenne native and University of Wyoming graduate, has also been honored during his distinguished career as a Wyoming Sportscaster of the Year. McKinney serves as the Senior Associate Athletics Director for External Affairs at UW.

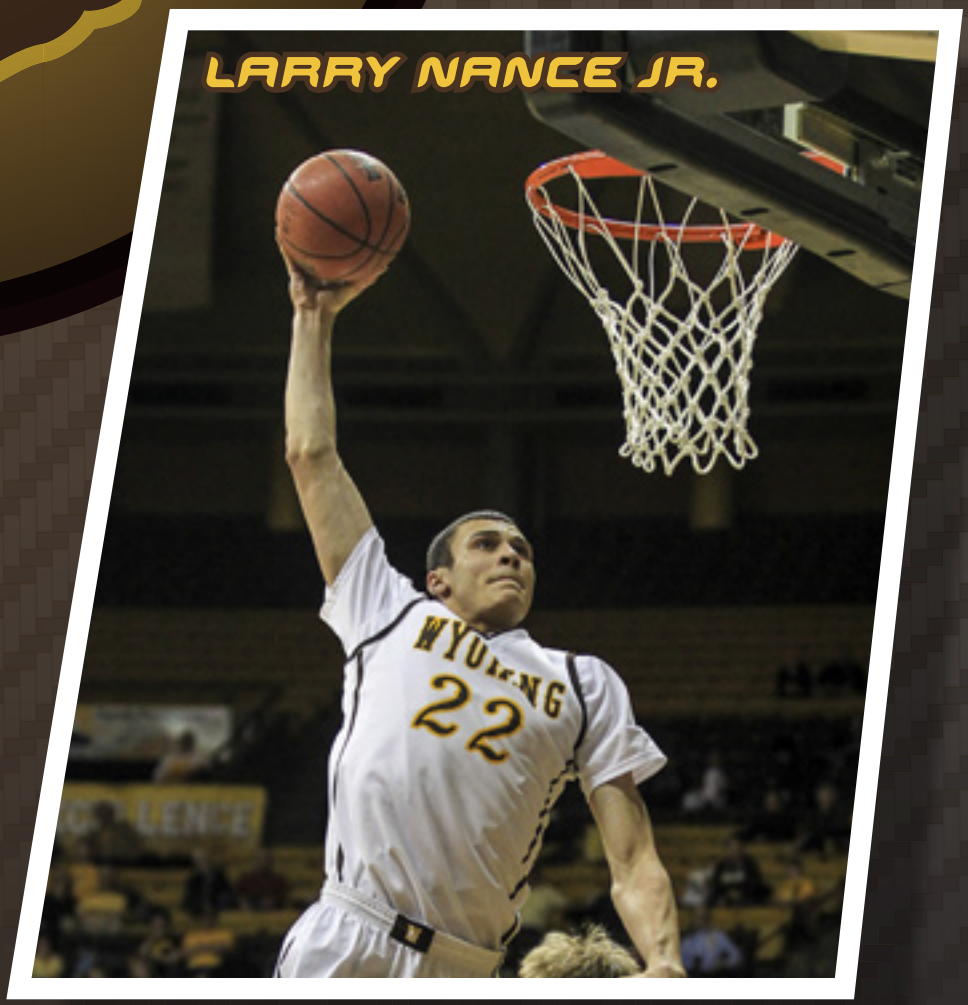
THIS IS COWBOY BASKETBALL

2014 - 2015



The 1943 NCAA Champion Wyoming Cowboys.

WINNING TRADITION

Cowboy Basketball tradition is a rich one, including an NCAA National Championship team, a former coach who is a member of the Basketball Hall of Fame, an All-American who is credited with one of the greatest innovations in the history of the game and one of the most memorable players in NCAA history.

In 1943, the University of Wyoming was led to the NCAA Championship by legendary coach Everett Shelton. Shelton's 1943 Cowboy squad defeated Georgetown in the NCAA Championship game in Madison Square Garden. Two nights later, also in Madison Square Garden, the Cowboys earned the right to call themselves undisputed National Champions as they defeated that year's NIT Champion, St. John's University, in a game benefitting the Red Cross.

In 1982, Coach Shelton's memory was immortalized with the highest honor in basketball — induction into the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

The '43 Cowboys featured All-American Kenny Sailors, who dazzled fans with an innovation that would change the way basketball would be played forever — the jump shot.

Another Wyoming great that college basketball fans across the country still remember is Fennis Dembo. Dembo led the Pokes to the Sweet 16 of the 1987 NCAA Tournament and the next season graced the cover of Sports Illustrated magazine's College Basketball Preview issue.

Most recently, fans watched another former Cowboy make a name for himself as one of the most exciting players in the NBA — Theo Ratliff. Ratliff, who played for the Cowboys from 1992 through 1995, still ranks as one of the greatest shot-blockers in NCAA history. Ratliff was inducted into the University of Wyoming Intercollegiate Athletics Hall of Fame in the fall of 2005, and was named to the Wyoming All-Century team.

Cowboy basketball enters its 16th season as a member of one of the nation's finest collegiate basketball leagues, the Mountain West. In addition to the Pokes, Air Force, Boise State, Colorado State, Fresno State, Nevada, New Mexico, San Diego State, San Jose State, UNLV and Utah State are members of the MW in basketball.

Fennis Dembo was featured on the cover of the 1987-88 Sports Illustrated College Basketball Preview Issue.

Former Wyoming head coach Everett Shelton was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1982.

POSTSEASON PLAY

The Wyoming Cowboy basketball program is no stranger to postseason play. In fact, the Cowboys have played in the postseason 26 times. They have played in the NCAA Tournament 14 times, the National Invitation Tournament eight times and the College Basketball Invitational four times.

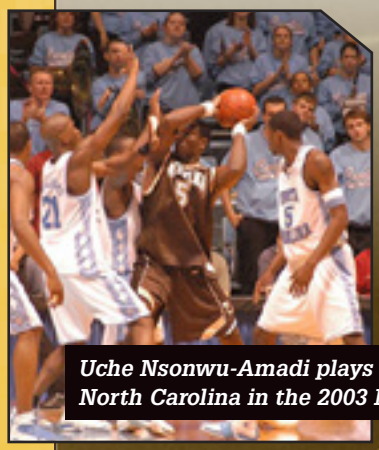
The Cowboy basketball team has captured one NCAA Championship, during 1942-43. That year, the Pokes were led by head coach Everett Shelton and star players Kenny Sailors and Milo Komenich.

The 1986-87 season was another special postseason for the Cowboys. Led by the tandem of Fennis Dembo and Eric Leckner, the Cowboys advanced all the way to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. In UW's second round game, the Cowboys beat UCLA and, their star at the time, Reggie Miller. Dembo led all scorers in the game with 41 points.

Most recently, the Cowboys advanced to the Second Round of the 2002 NCAA Tournament. In the first round, the 11th seeded Cowboys met Gonzaga, who was ranked sixth in the country at the time. The Cowboys upset the Bulldogs 73-66.

Of Wyoming's eight appearances in the NIT, the Cowboys have advanced to at least the second round four times. Their best NIT run came at the end of the 1985-86 season when the Cowboys advanced to the championship game, which was played at Madison Square Garden.

The 2013-14 season marked the Pokes' fourth appearance in the CBI.



Uche Nsonwu-Amadi plays at North Carolina in the 2003 NIT.

Ugo Udezue shoots a jump shot against USC in the 1999 NIT. The Cowboys won the game 81-77.

CHAMPIONSHIP COWBOYS

The Cowboys have won two Mountain West titles, in 2000-01 and 2001-02, during the 14 previous seasons of MW basketball.

The 2001-02 championship marked the 16th regular-season title for the Cowboys in their hoop history. Including two Western Athletic Conference Tournament titles in 1987 and 1988, Wyoming has won 18 conference basketball championships.

The 2001-02 season ranked number two in school history in attendance. The Cowboys averaged 10,026 fans per outing during their 14 home dates, racing to a 13-1 record in the Double A. For conference games, that average jumped to 11,969. The capper was the final game of the regular season when a school-record 16,089 saw the Cowboys win the league championship over Utah.

Basketball Hall of Fame Coach Everett Shelton won the most conference titles for the Cowboys. Shelton captured eight league titles in his 19 seasons as head coach from the1939-40 season through the 1958-59 campaign. Shelton also guided Wyoming to its one National Championship in 1943. Jim Brandenburg ranks next among Wyoming coaches with four conference titles in the 1980's. Bill Strannigan (1967 and 1969) and Steve McClain (2000 and 2001) won two titles. Benny Dees (1988) and Willard Witte (1932) each won one title.

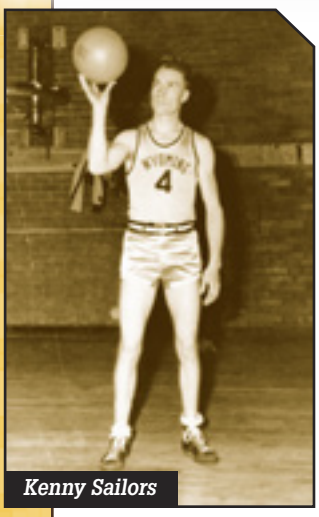
ALL-AMERICANS



Kenny Sailors

1934 — Ed McGinty, Art Haman, John Kimball, Haskell Leuty and Les Witte all were honored by being placed on the AAU All-America team following the national tournament in which Wyoming reached the finals at Kansas City before being defeated by the Diamond X Oilers of Tulsa, Okla. McGinty and Haman were selected to the first team by officials and sportswriters of the tournament.

1941-1942-1943 — Bill Strannigan, an all-time Wyoming great and former Cowboy coach, was a Chuck Taylor first-team selection at Wyoming in 1941, and was twice selected AAU All-American on the Denver Legion and Denver Nuggets quintets of 1942 and '43.

1943 — Kenny Sailors, Milo Komenich and Jim Weir, all members of Wyoming's NCAA and mythical world championship college team, were named to All-America first teams on various selections. Sailors was a unanimous choice and won the Chuck Taylor award presented to the outstanding college player in the nation. Sailors was also a first-team AAU All-American.

Milo Komenich

Joe Capua

1946 — Kenny Sailors was again chosen first team All-American both as a collegiate player and AAU star. Helms Foundation named him player of the year in college competition.

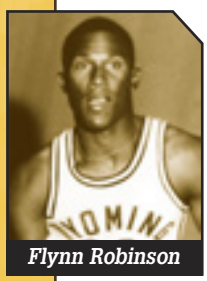
1952 — Moe Radovich, Wyoming scoring leader for two seasons and former Cowboy coach, was named to the Helms All-America team.

1956 — Joe Capua was Wyoming's all-time single-game scoring leader. He also set Skyline Conference season individual marks and both school and conference single-game records when he tallied 51 points against Montana in Memorial Fieldhouse in 1956. He was named to the United Press first-team little man's All-America team, to Helms All-America team, and many second and third choices elsewhere. He was player of the year in the Rocky Mountains and Ev Shelton's best small player since Kenny Sailors.

Tony Windis

1959 — Tony Windis, whose 1,465 points in three years places him 12th on UW career scoring list, made many second and third team All-America selections as well as being named "Player of the Year" in the Rockies for two years running, 1958 and 1959. He was all-conference for three years.

1965 — Flynn Robinson is the second greatest scorer in the history of basketball at Wyoming with 2,049 points. Robinson was Helms Foundation All-American three years, Chuck Taylor All-American 1965, Look-U.S. Basketball Writers All-District team three years, and All-Western Athletic Conference first team three years.

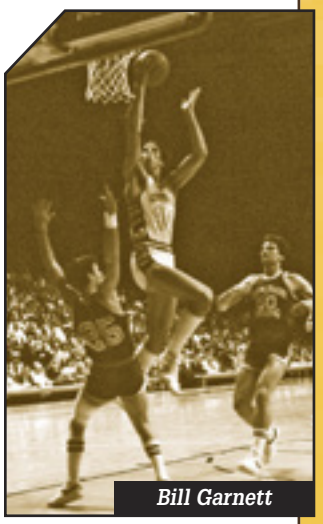


Flynn Robinson

1982 — Bill Garnett, Wyoming's All-American is sixth on the all-time rebounding list with 840 rebounds. Garnett was U.S. Basketball Writers Association All-American and Sporting News second-team All-American in 1982. He was named the 1982 Western Athletic Conference player of the year, and was a member of the all-WAC first team. After the 1982 season, Garnett was selected in the first round of the NBA draft by the Dallas Mavericks.

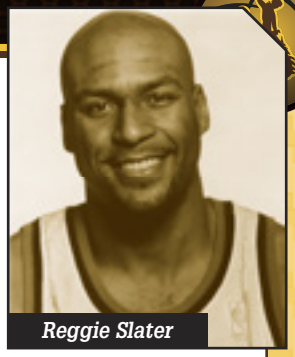
Josh Davis

2002 — Josh Davis was named an Associated Press Honorable Mention All-American for the 2001-02 season. He ended his Wyoming career ranked No. 13 in school history in scoring (1,439 points), No. 2 in career rebounding (956 rebounds), No. 2 in career blocked shots (173) and No. 4 in career steals (140). Davis was a three-time All-Conference selection, was twice selected First Team All-District 13 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) and was twice named All-District 8 by the United States Basketball Writers Association (USBWA).



Bill Garnett

POKES IN THE NBA



Reggie Slater

The University of Wyoming has had many outstanding basketball players in its history that went on to careers in professional basketball, including a total of 24 student-athletes that have continued their career on the NBA level. A total of 27 Cowboys have been taken in the NBA draft, including nine in the first four rounds.

The most famous former Cowboy to play in the NBA is Theo Ratliff. Ratliff was drafted in the first round in 1995 and excelled as a shot blocker in the NBA until his retirement in December of 2011. He led the league in blocks per game during three seasons and ranks in the top 20 all-time in blocked shots.

Most recently, Josh Davis spent time with the Memphis Grizzlies in the 2011 season. Davis was a three-time All-Conference selection and was UW's last Poke to earn All-America honors in 2002.

The Cowboys could play as many as 28 games on national and regional television in 2014-15.

WYOMING AND THE NATIONAL SPOTLIGHT

Wyoming Cowboy basketball is no stranger to the national media spotlight. In addition to playing numerous games on television each season, the Cowboys routinely do interviews with writers and broadcasters from numerous local and national media outlets.

In 2014-15, all 31 of Wyoming's regular-season games will be available on television or live video online. As a part of the Mountain West's television package, the Cowboys routinely play on national and regional networks. The MW has a partnership with several television networks including ESPN, CBS, NBC College Sports and CBS College Sports.

MOUNTAIN WEST AND THE NATIONAL SPOTLIGHT

The Mountain West had another outstanding campaign during the 2013-14 season, proving that the league is one of the top in the country.

After having several teams ranked in the top 25 in the nation during the regular season, the MW sent two teams to the NCAA tournament. New Mexico was a No. 7 seed and San Diego State was a No. 4 seed. The Aztecs advanced to the Sweet 16, the fifth Sweet 16 appearance overall by an MW squad since the formation of the conference in 1999-2000.

The 2013-14 campaign marked the 13th straight year, and 14th overall, the Mountain West had at least one at-large qualifier on Selection Sunday. The only year in which the MW has had a lone representative in the Big Dance was in 2000-01. In 15 years, the Mountain West has received 40 NCAA bids, including 26 at-large berths.

During the 2011 NBA draft, two Mountain West student-athletes were choosen in the first round in BYU's Jimmer Fredette and San Diego State's Kawhi Leonard. The MW was one of four conferences with multiple players taken in the top 15 of the draft. Fredette was chosen as the No. 10 pick by the Milwaukee Bucks, while Leonard was the 15th overall selection, going to the Indiana Pacers.

Larry Shyatt celebrates a win over George Mason in the Final Four during the Gators' 2006 run to the NCAA title.

The University of Wyoming men's basketball coaching staff has one of the top pedigrees in the nation. The foursome of Larry Shyatt, Scott Duncan, Allen Edwards and Jeremy Shyatt have won numerous championships at the conference and national level. The group has established a proven formula for winning, that they now bring to the Cowboys.

During his 41 years as a collegiate coach, Larry Shyatt has won two NCAA national championships, while advancing to two Final Fours, three Elite Eights and four Sweets 16's. Overall, he has made 10 NCAA tournament appearances as a coach. He also earned 12 National Invitation Tournament berths, including a runner-up finish. Shyatt has led squads to three NIT semifinal and six quarterfinal appearances. Shyatt and the Gators are the only team to ever win back-to-back NCAA championships with the same starting line-up.

Larry Shyatt earned two national championship rings (above) and five conference championship rings while at Florida.

HIP-CALIBER COACHES

Scott Duncan (right) and the Bruins celebrate after winning the 2008 Pac-10 tournament.

Allen Edwards goes in for a layup during his playing career at Kentucky.

Larry's assistants are well-versed in winning as well.

Associate head coach Scott Duncan has been coaching for 36 years, while helping a Division I program advance to postseason play in 21 of the last 27 seasons.

During his time at UCLA, the Bruins earned three trips to the NCAA tournament, reaching the Final Four in 2008, the second round in 2009 and the third round in 2011. The 2007-08 Bruins won the Pac-10 regular-season championship, as well as the league's postseason tournament.

Assistant coach Allen Edwards has tremendous college basketball experience as a player and a coach. He played in three Final Fours at Kentucky and has reached the NCAA tournament seven times as either a player or coach.

Edwards played from 1995-98 for the Wildcats, under Rick Pitino and Tubby Smith. The Wildcats advanced to three-straight Final Fours during Edwards' sophomore, junior and senior seasons. They won the national championship in both 1996 and 1998. During his freshman season, Kentucky advanced to the Elite Eight.

Al Horford (left) is a two-time NBA All-Star with the Atlanta Hawks, David Lee (middle) was a 2010 NBA All-Star with the New York Knicks and Joakim Noah (right) currently stars with the Chicago Bulls. All three played in the 2011 NBA Playoffs, after being drafted in the first round. The trio was coached by Larry Shyatt Florida.

TO THE LEAGUE

With more than 80 years of experience in collegiate coaching, the group of Larry Shyatt, Scott Duncan, Allen Edwards and Jeremy Shyatt have coached more than 60 student-athletes on to careers in the National Basketball Association.

A vast majority of players coached by the members of the Wyoming coaching staff were drafted, including several lottery picks. They have gone on to earn numerous all-star accolades and even NBA championships. Prominent players coached by Larry Shyatt are featured on this page, while Duncan's and Edward's top pupils are on the opposite page.

The numbers have shown the Wyoming coaching staff has the knowledge to craft collegiate athletes into NBA-ready players.

Marreese Speights (left) of the Philadelphia 76ers, Corey Brewer (middle) of the Dallas Mavericks and Luc Longley (right) of the Chicago Bulls were also tutored by Shyatt. Brewer won the 2011 NBA championship with Dallas, while Longley captured three titles during his time with the Bulls.

Russell Westbrook (left) and Kevin Love (right), both 2011 NBA All-Stars, were coached by Scott Duncan during his time at UCLA. Both were top-10 picks in the NBA Draft, by Oklahoma City and Minnesota, respectively.

Eric Maynor (left) and Larry Sanders (right) were coached by Allen Edwards and Jeremy Shyatt during their time at Virginia Commonwealth University. Maynor was selected 20th overall by the Utah Jazz, while Sanders went 15th overall to the Milwaukee Bucks in the 2009 NBA draft.

WYOMING HEAD COACH LARRY SHYATT...

WHAT PEO

Joakim Noah, Played at Florida, Current Star of the NBA's Chicago Bulls

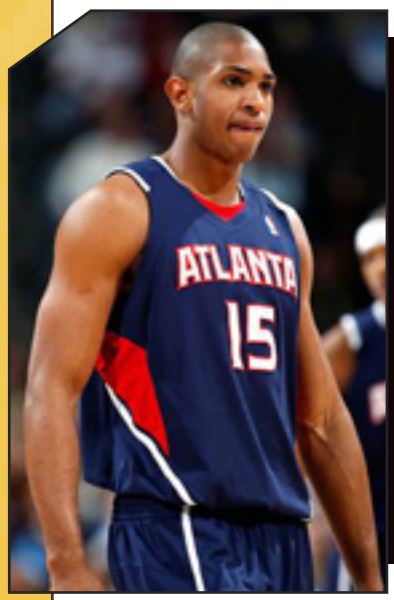
"I think that Coach Shyatt is someone who is going to give you everything he has as a coach. He is great with X's and O's, has a good understanding of defensive schemes and always has his teams ready to play. But when I think of coach Shyatt, I mostly think of someone would always be there for me if I ever needed him in a tough time.

"His nickname was Papa Shy...that is what we used to call him. I still call him that. I call him that for a reason, he was a real father figure. A little story…when I had mononucleosis my freshman year and I wasn't doing very well, Papa Shy came to get me at three o'clock in the morning and took me to the hospital and brought me back home. That just shows what kind of guy he was. This was way before the championships, way before all of that. I was just a freshman who was away from my family, and he took the time to do that instead of sending someone else. He took the time to really take care of me, and that is why we call him Papa Shy.

"He is a tough coach and someone who is very demanding, but at the same time he is someone who will be there when you need it. Without Papa, I don't think we win the two championships or have the success we did at Florida. He had a lot to do with that."

Rick Barnes, Head Coach, University of Texas

"From my conversations with Larry, he feels that he never completed the job that he started at Wyoming the first time he was there. He is as excited now about this opportunity as he's ever been, and I know Larry wants to elevate the Wyoming Basketball program to where it should be. At a time when I was a very young head coach, his experience gave me confidence. He's been a true friend for a long time, and he's as loyal a person as I've ever known."



Al Horford, Played at Florida, Current Star of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks

"Coach Shyatt is very passionate about the game. He places a lot of emphasis on the little things and making sure that everyone is on the same page defensively. He really helped me out as far as my fundamentals with the game--all of the little things like passing the ball and ball handling. He is really adamant about that and I feel those things have really made a difference in my career.

"Off of the floor, Coach Shyatt was great. Coach demands a lot from you when you are on the floor, but off of the court he was the kind of guy that you want to hang out with and be around. It is so nice to have a coach like him that you can have a good relationship with. He and his wife Pam were great, and every time I get to see them and spend time with them it is special. They are a great family and are passionate about the game and do things the right way.

"I am excited for Coach and I know he will bring a lot of success to the Wyoming basketball program."

PLE ARE SAYING

Gregg Sawyer,
Former Wyoming Cowboy Basketball Player

"I couldn't be happier that Coach (Shyatt) is coming back to Wyoming. I know what he brings to the table. I'm super excited as someone who played for him and as a fan.

"I've always prided myself on being a hard worker, but when Coach Shyatt and his staff showed up they showed me how much further I could push myself. He always emphasized to us that it wasn't his team, it was our team. You felt like you had a lot of ownership in the program.

"He and his staff made us want to do whatever it took to be successful. He had an uncanny knack of getting the most out of people."

Rick Pitino, Head Coach, University of Louisville

"Larry (Shyatt) is the most organized college basketball coach in the country. He's meticulous in bringing every facet of a program to its highest level. He loves Wyoming and I know he will bring the program to prominence."

Dick Vitale, ESPN College Basketball Analyst

"Larry Shyatt is a great coach and a great human being. I love him dearly. He combines all the elements you want in a head coach. It was a great, great choice by Wyoming to bring him back. I think he will have super success for the Cowboys."

Digger Phelps, ESPN College Basketball Analyst

"Larry Shyatt is a class act. When Billy Donovan brought Larry onto his staff, Florida ranked 11th in the SEC in team defense. When Larry started teaching team defense, they moved to second in the conference in defense and won back-to-back NCAA Championships. He is one of the best defensive coaches in the country. Larry is a great guy, and for Wyoming to hire him is a real coup."

ARENA-AUDITORIUM

The showcase of the Wyoming Basketball Tradition is the beautiful Arena-Auditorium. Opened at the end of the 1982 season, the Double A is one of the most beautiful basketball arenas in the country. It seats 15,000 fans and has seen Wyoming win 73.8 percent of its home games during its existence.

The 2014-15 season will mark the 33rd full season that the Arena-Auditorium has been home to Wyoming men's basketball. Whether you call it the Arena-Auditorium, the Double A or "The Dome of Doom," Wyoming fans have created an atmosphere that has helped the Cowboys win 73.8 percent of its home games.

The Cowboys record in the Double A breaks down as follows:

Overall Arena-Auditorium Record:	356-126 (.738)

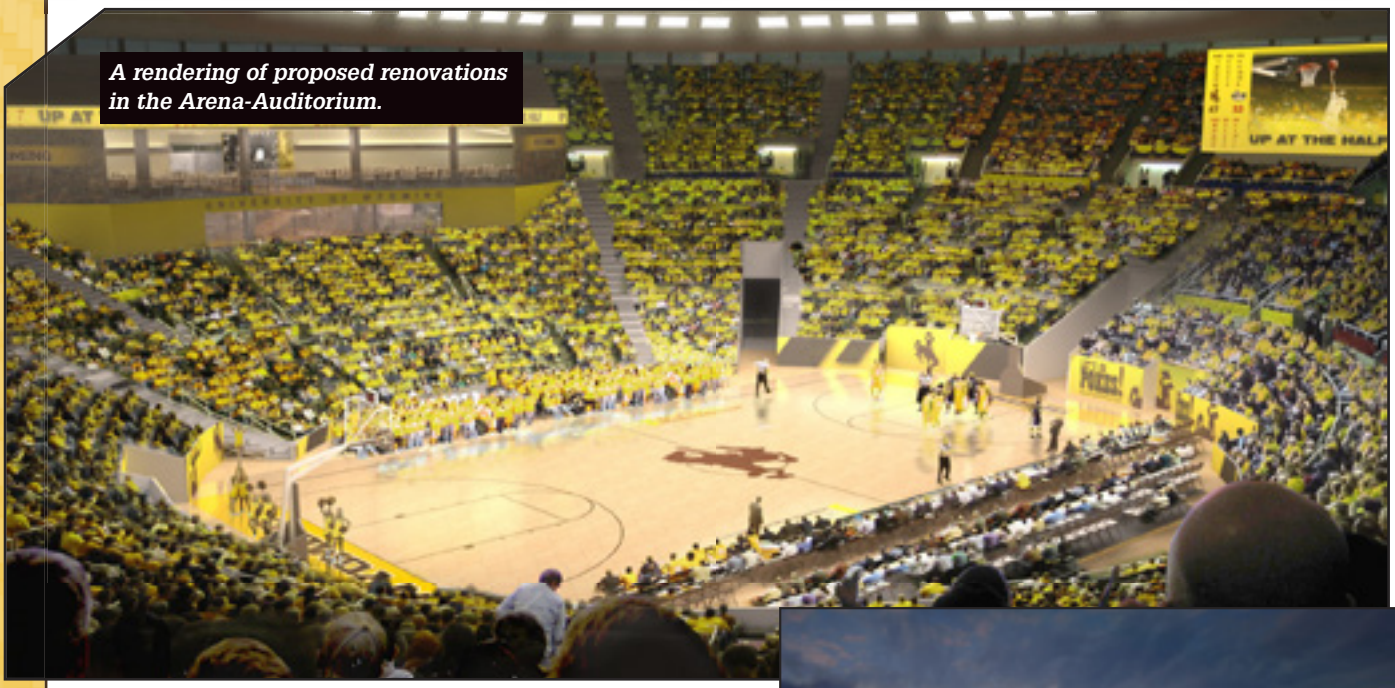
HOME OF THE COWBOYS



A rendering of proposed renovations in the Arena-Auditorium.

CURRENT RENOVATIONS

The University of Wyoming is currently in the midst of a $30-million renovation to the Arena-Auditorium. Centered around the student-athletes, the project will help transform the Double A into a premier facility for Cowboy and Cowgirl basketball. Phase one was completed in the summer of 2014, while phase two will begin in the spring of 2015

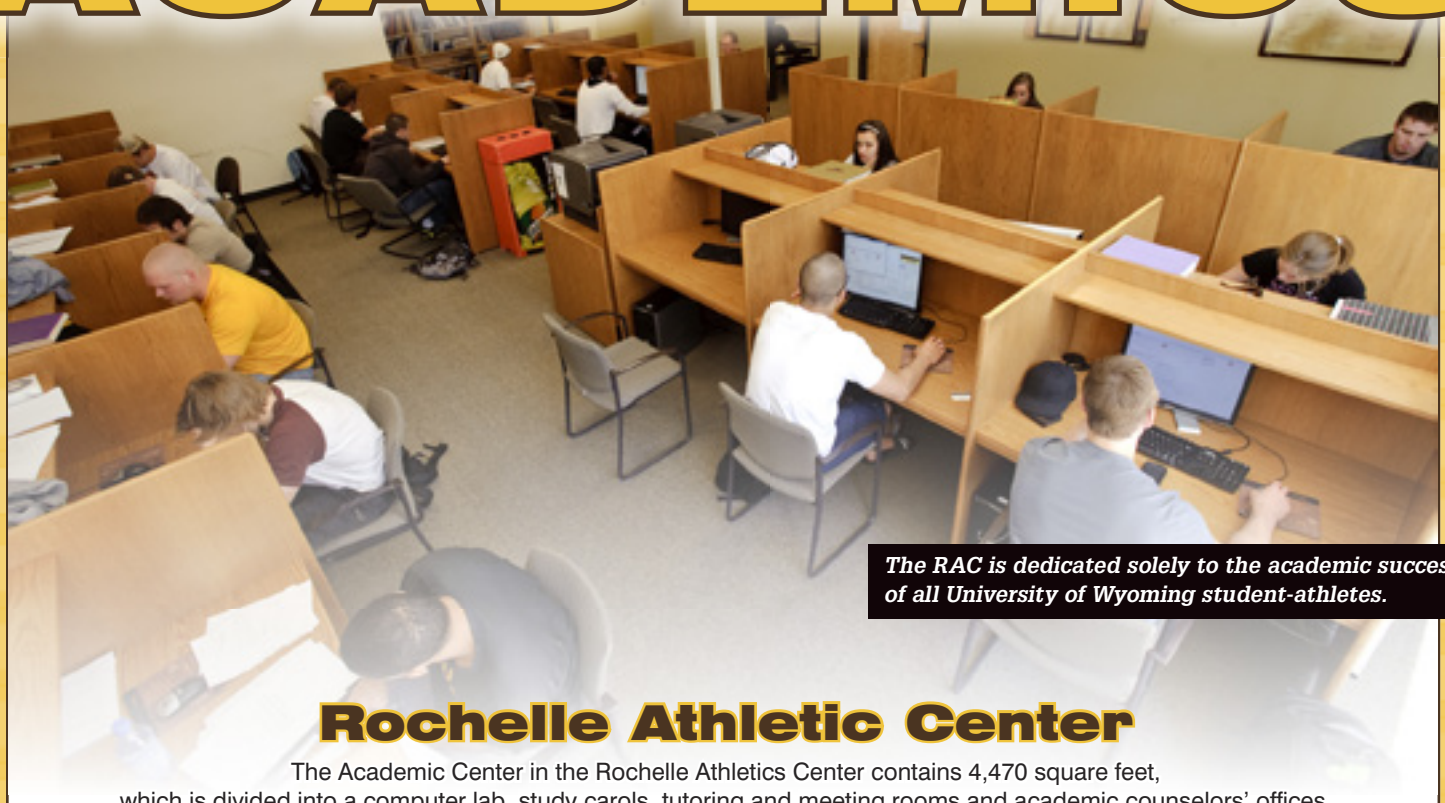
Phase 1 - $10 million (Completed)

The first phase will be an interior renovation of UW's practice and competition facilities. Enhancements will be made to give basketball two state-of-the-art locker rooms, a cutting edge sports medicine area, an expanded weight training area and rooms for film and meetings. The playing floor will also be reconfigured to accommodate two simultaneous practice sessions. The improvements will also benefit the fan experience with new seats closer to the floor, new HD video and ribbon boards and a new donor area with priority seating.

Phase 2 - $20 million

The second phase of the Arena-Auditorium renovation will focus on the exterior of the building. The project will make improvements to the concourse area and build a Hall of Fame, while the exterior will receive a facelift as well.

ACADEMICS



The RAC is dedicated solely to the academic success of all University of Wyoming student-athletes.

Rochelle Athletic Center

The Academic Center in the Rochelle Athletics Center contains 4,470 square feet, which is divided into a computer lab, study carols, tutoring and meeting rooms and academic counselors' offices.

THE RAC

The University of Wyoming has experienced remarkable success nationally through the years on the field and in the classroom. The Curtis and Marian Rochelle Athletics Center (RAC) ensures a continuation of that success, as well as enhancing the Cowboys' reputation across the country. The Rochelle Athletics Center has allowed UW to continue its tradition of providing quality academic programs side-by-side with a quality athletics program.

Thanks to a $4.2 million gift from the Rochelles, the largest in school history at the time, the facility began construction in May of 2000. It was completed in August of 2001 at a total cost of $9.4 million.

Located just north of War Memorial Stadium, the RAC occupies 46,140 square feet. It includes a state-of-the-art sports medicine and treatment center, a strength and conditioning center, an academic and counseling area and large meeting rooms. It houses the Intercollegiate Athletics Hall of Fame, which displays the proud athletic legacy of UW.

The expanded academic support area provides a full range of services for student-athletes. Included are networked computer stations, a student counseling area and study tables.

A broader scope and greater availability of sports medicine services includes space for treatment, practice preparation, examination/diagnosis and hydrotherapy. The strength and conditioning center allows improved weight and agility training for the Cowboys.

"We wanted our gift to help create a lasting athletic legacy for the University and for the State of Wyoming," Rochelle said after presenting the gift. "The University of Wyoming has had a major influence in our lives. We are proud to be a part of the tradition of academic and athletic excellence at the University of Wyoming."

Born in Lusk, Wyo., Rochelle received a B.S. degree in animal science from UW in 1941. While a student, he was president of his senior class.

Rochelle served as a UW Trustee from 1983 through 1989, and received a UW Trustee Award of Merit. In 1994, he was awarded the UW Medallion Service Award recognizing his outstanding service and dedication to the University. Marian, a native of Denver, is a graduate of Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., and Colorado College in Colorado Springs.

Curtis Rochelle passed away in the spring of 2005.

The Cowboys and the APR:

The Cowboy basketball program has raised its multi-year Academic Progress Rate (APR) in the last seven seasons, including setting its highest mark ever in 2013-14 with a 941. Below is a breakdown of Wyoming's APR for men's basketball over the past eight seasons.

Each academic year every Division I team calculates its APR. A team's APR is based on eligibility, retention and graduation of each student-athlete on scholarship.

STUDENT-ATHLETE HEALTH

The physicians of Premier Bone & Joint Centers are the team orthopedic doctors for UW Athletics. Premier Bone & Joint Centers offer nine surgeons who are on call for Wyoming sports injury management. Should injuries occur, the staff at Premier also is able to provide expertise in treatment and rehabilitation through their main clinic located in Laramie, Wyo.

PREMIER Bone & Joint Centers

In addition to the nine physicians, the main clinic in Laramie contains over 33,000 square feet and employs a staff of over 120 administrative and clinical personnel.

The clinic was founded in 1973 by Dr. David A. Kieffer. In 1976, Dr. Robert J. Curnow joined Kieffer in the practice, which they renamed "Gem City Bone & Joint." Kieffer and Curnow served as the team physicians for University of Wyoming athletics teams for many years. Following Kieffer's and Curnow's retirements as senior team physicians, Dr. Jay Carson and Dr. Ryan Aukerman assumed those duties in August 2008. Carson stepped down as a team physician in 2011. Aukerman now serves as the Head Team Physician. He is joined by Dr. Mark McKenna and Dr. Mark Ryzewicz in treating University of Wyoming student-athletes.

Premier Bone & Joint Centers serves patients throughout the state of Wyoming, western Nebraska, western South Dakota and northeastern Colorado through 11 locations in: Laramie, Casper, Cheyenne, Douglas, Gillette, Green River, Rawlins, Riverton, Rock Springs, Torrington and Wheatland.

Premier's staff of orthopedic physicians specialize in treatment of virtually every area of the body, including: elbow; foot and ankle; hand; wrist; knee; shoulder; neck; and spine.

As a demonstration of its support of UW Athletics, Premier Bone & Joint Centers made a major commitment of support to the Rochelle Athletics Center (RAC) at the University of Wyoming for a medical treatment facility. In recognition of that support, the medical area of the RAC is named the "Premier Bone & Joint Sports Medicine and Rehabilitation Center." The financial arrangement with Premier benefitted UW Athletics in the amount of $750,000.

For the 2014-15 season, the Cowboys will travel on charter flights for seven of their 10 road trips that require air travel. Wyoming will travel on the jet pictured to California, Montana State, San Jose State, Fresno State, Utah State, UNLV and New Mexico. The Cowboys will travel on commercial flights to SMU, San Diego State and Nevada.

CHARTER FLIGHTS

San Jose & Berkeley, California

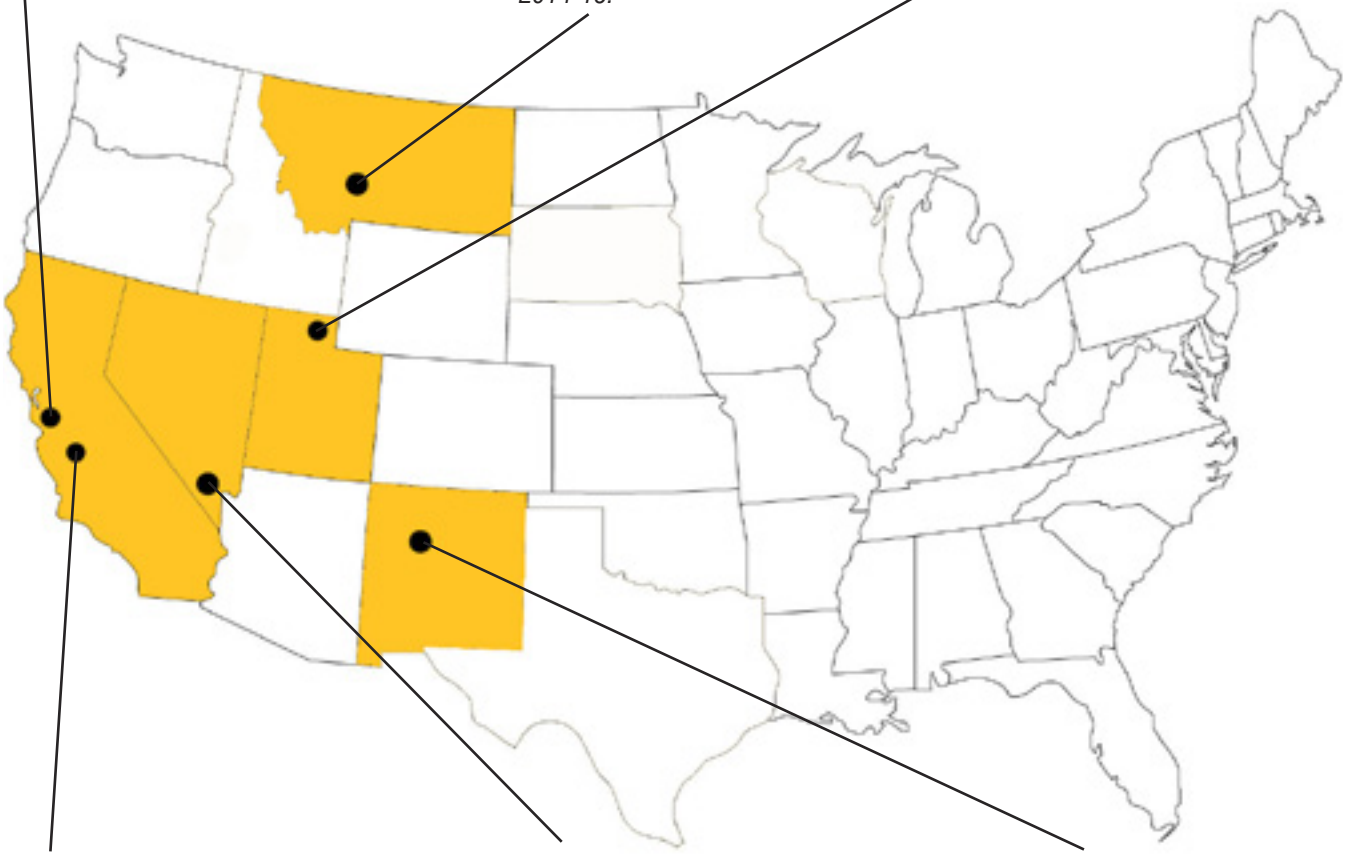
The Pokes visit the Golden State for games against San Jose State and California. The Pokes play at the Bears in December and at the Spartans in January.

Bozeman, Montana

Wyoming plays at Montana State on Dec. 23 in its final game of the 2014 calendar year. The Pokes also play the Bobcats at home in 2014-15.

Logan, Utah

UW squares off with former WAC foe Utah State on January 27. The Pokes lost in Logan last season.



Fresno, California

UW returns to Fresno on Jan. 17. The Bulldogs have come out on top in the last two meetings between the programs in Fresno.

Las Vegas, Nevada

The Cowboys and Rebels will square off on Feb. 28 in Sin City. Wyoming took UNLV to the wire in both road contests in 2013-14.

Albuquerque, New Mexico

Wyoming visits the infamous "Pit" on March 7 in the regular-season finale for both squads. The game went to overtime last season.

RAGTIME COWBOY JOE

The familiar fight song of the University of Wyoming athletics teams is Ragtime Cowboy Joe. This song is performed by the band as UW teams enter the playing surface, following a score or big play, and to fire up the fans. The Cowboy and Cowgirl student-athletes traditionally sing this following each Wyoming victory.

RAGTIME COWBOY JOE

"He always sings raggy music to the cattle as he swings back and forward in the saddle, on a horse - a pretty good horse! He's got a syncopated gaiter, and you ought to hear the meter to the roar of his repeater; how they run - yes run! - when they hear that he's 'a-comin', cause the western folks all know, he's a high-falootin', rootin, tootin', son of a gun from ol' Wyoming, Ragtime Cowboy, Talk about your Cowboy, Ragtime Cowboy Joe."

WILD BUNCH

The Wild Bunch is the official athletics fan club for University of Wyoming students. The Wild Bunch is one BIG fan club for all 17 NCAA Division I sports at the University of Wyoming. The Wild Bunch leads Wyoming fans in spirit, tradition and passion for Wyoming Athletics. Members of the Wild Bunch receive multiple benefits, and as a student at UW, The Wild Bunch is the best way to become involved in Wyoming Athletics.

COWBOY NICKNAME

The nickname "Cowboys" was applied to Wyoming athletic teams as early as 1891 - two years before the first official football game. The story is that the Wyoming pick-up football team appealed to a 220 pound cowpuncher, Fred Bush, for help in a game against the Cheyenne Soldiers. Bush signed up for a course or two and came out for the team. When he trotted onto the field decked out in a checkered shirt and Cowboy hat, someone yelled, "Hey, look at the Cowboy!" Since many of the members of the team were also ex-cowboys, the name stuck. When women's sports were added at UW, the nickname of Cowgirls was applied to those squads.

COWBOY JOE PONY

Cowboy Joe IV, a fourth generation Wyoming mascot, trots around War Memorial Stadium after each Cowboy touchdown, a tradition which started in 1950 when the Farthing Family of Cheyenne made a generous donation of a young pony to become Wyoming's mascot. Cowboy Joe also represents UW in parades around the region, appears in Tailgate Park on football game days and leads the band and team in the pre-game Cowboy Walk. This beautiful little pony is very popular with Cowboy & Cowgirl fans of all ages.

SPIRIT SQUADS

The primary purpose of Wyoming's Spirit Squads is to support the Cowboys and Cowgirls, and to serve as public relations ambassadors for the University of Wyoming. The UW cheer and pom squads work hard to get the crowd involved, lead cheers, entertain, and to boost the level of fan excitement and support to new extremes. In addition to their game-day involvement at UW Athletics' contests, Wyoming Spirit Squad members also make numerous appearances at university activities, functions, programs, charitable and public events. Cowboy and Cowgirl sports are flying high and the Wyoming Spirit Squads are leading the way.

PISTOL PETE

Pistol Pete is a UW student mascot who works alongside the Wyoming Spirit Squads, encouraging the crowd and getting fans involved in the game.

WESTERN THUNDER MARCHING BAND

The University of Wyoming Marching Band - "Western Thunder" - features musicians from nearly every major on campus, who perform for thousands of football fans each year at home and road Cowboy football games. The Wyoming Pep Band plays at numerous other UW sporting events.

UW'S LOGO - STEAMBOAT

One of the nation's best, and most distinctive logos, the image on Wyoming's uniforms depicts a cowboy riding a bucking horse. This symbol has been a part of the University of Wyoming Athletics Department since the early 1920's, when UW Equipment Manger Deane Hunton obtained a photograph of a cowboy, Guy Holt, riding the world famous bucking horse Steamboat. Hunton had the photo made into a logo, which was then utilized by UW athletic teams. While there are differing opinions on exactly which horse and rider is depicted on all of UW's athletic uniforms today, it is the symbol that is important. The bucking horse and rider represents the toughness, and the never-say-die spirit that is Wyoming. A statue honoring the symbol called 'Fanning a Twister', was erected at the north entrance of UW's athletics facilities in 1991.

BROWN AND GOLD COLORS

The story behind the colors of the University of Wyoming dates back to 1895. In the spring of that year, the first ever UW Alumni Banquet was held. Decorations for the banquet included Brown-Eyed Susans, a flower native of Southeastern Wyoming. The Alumni were so impressed with the colors (brown and yellow) and the beauty of the flowers that they decided to select these colors as the official school colors at UW. Currently, the colors are described as brown and gold.

Spend some time here and you'll agree that much of UW's character is shaped by this great "home on the range." Laramie, the location of the main campus, is a safe, friendly community of 30,000 people. Nestled between the Laramie and Snowy Range mountains in southeastern Wyoming, it's a beautiful, unspoiled place with a special life-style.

The campus extends over 785 tree-shaded acres. There's an attractive mix of modern and traditional structures; many were built with native Wyoming sandstone. It's a place where the sun shines 320 days each year. It's hard to be gloomy here. When you view it from 7,200 feet, you see things more clearly. But it's not just a pretty place; it's also a place that works.

Up-to-date facilities support the learning and research mission that makes UW special. There are classrooms with state-of-the art computer technology, laboratories with the latest equipment, excellent libraries, computer systems with universal Internet access, and a long list of premier research facilities both on campus and in the surrounding area.

WYOMING

...THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE IT

They say it's beauty is like no other, and you fall in love with its people.

Wyoming, it is like no place on earth. Within it's boundaries is America's first and largest national park, Yellowstone. The unbounding beauty there includes "Old Faithful" geyser and Yellowstone Lake, the world's largest high-mountain lake. There is Yellowstone Falls, so awe-inspiring, it'll take your breath away. There are over 260 different species of animals and birds located there.

Wyoming's wonders seem to be unending. There is Grand Teton National Park, whose centerpiece is the spectacular Teton Mountain Range. There is Devil's Tower, America's first national monument. There is the world's largest mineral hot springs located in Thermopolis. There is the beauty of Ten Sleep Canyon and a hundred other places.

For breathtaking beauty, Wyoming is unmatched. Its reputation brings millions of visitors to its borders each year. Plus, some of the best skiing in America can be found in Wyoming. Tourists and sportsmen can't wait to get here to enjoy the clean mountain air and limitless outdoor attractions.

The history of the great American West can be heard whistling through the trees of Wyoming. Wyoming had an historic place in the taming of the West in the late 1800's. Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid were two of Wyoming's most famous citizens during the era of lawlessness. There remain plenty of reminders of an age that will live forever in American lore.

People are Wyoming's strongest resource. These folks are down to earth, friendly and helpful. And, oh how proud they are of their Cowboys and Cowgirls. Wyoming has some of the best fans in America. As their only four-year university, Wyoming folks are tremendously supportive of their teams.

Yet, as down to earth as they are, many Wyomingites are on the cutting edge of politics, entertainment and business. Among some of the most famous are: former Vice President of the United States Dick Cheney; Dr. Jerry Buss, owner of the Los Angeles Lakers; Dean Conger, former chief photographer of the National Geographic Society; Curt Gowdy, the most decorated national sportscaster in history; Alan Simpson, former United States Senator; Gerry Spence, attorney and television personality; and General Pete Schoomaker, former U.S. Army Chief of Staff.

For great people, great scenery and a great education, there is no place quite like Wyoming.

One of the best things about Laramie is its location between two beautiful mountain ranges. It's a place of blue skies and clean air. Much of the area surrounding Laramie is public National Forest land. That means great access! You can head for the nearby mountains and find yourself on a hiking, biking or skiing trail within 15 minutes. There's also nearby rock climbing at the impressive Vedauwoo formations. You can be downhill skiing in the Snowy Range within 45 minutes. Laramie is convenient to the world-class skiing offered in Steamboat Springs and other Colorado resorts.

For a different kind of fun, you can be in Denver within two and a half hours. There is an amazing array of culture throughout the area, plus the tremendous sports heritage of the Rockies, Broncos, Nuggets and Avalanche.

With its colorful Western heritage, cultural activities and outstanding outdoor recreation, the Laramie area offers a unique flavor that delights visitors from all over the world.

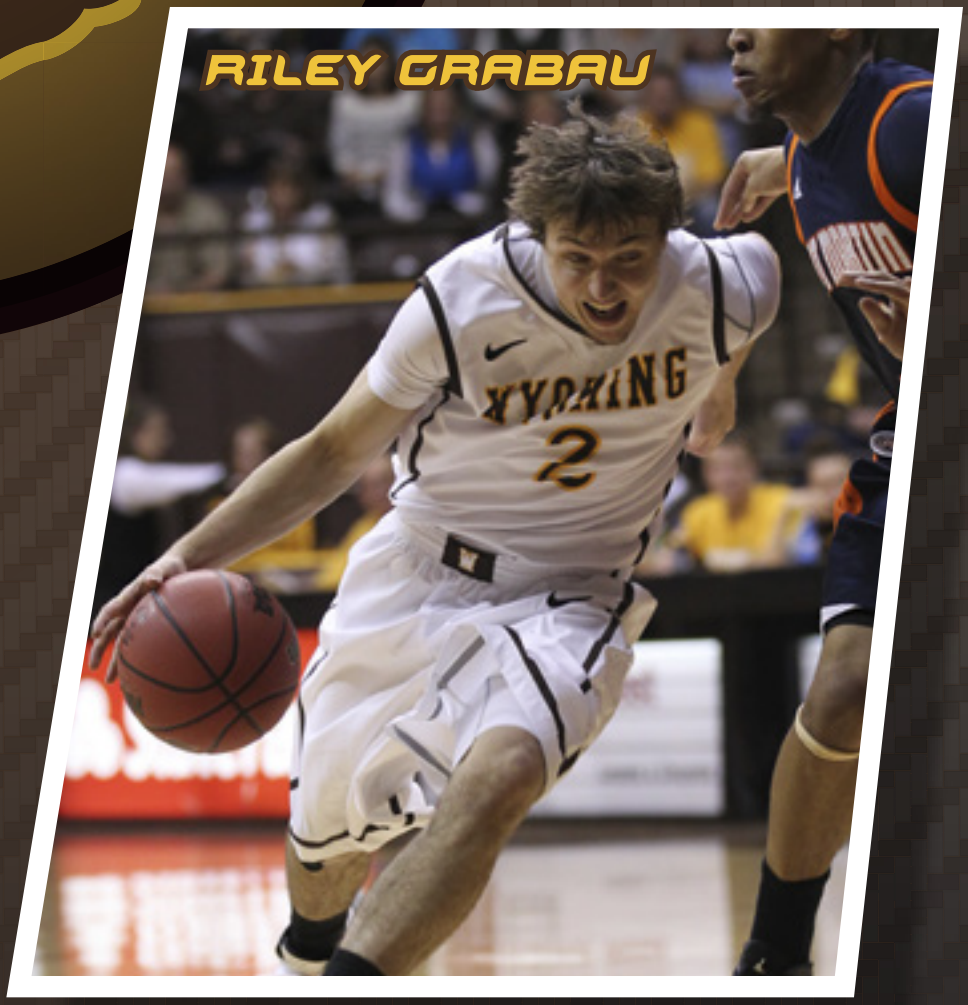
SEASON OUTLOOK

2014 - 2015



WYOMING POISED FOR BREAKOUT SEASON IN 2014-15

Head coach Larry Shyatt has guided the University of Wyoming men's basketball team to the cusp of greatness several times since his return. Two seasons ago the Cowboys started the year 13-0. Last year the Pokes toppled No. 5 San Diego State at home. But both campaigns ended with disappointment. Shyatt and the Cowboys have a feeling that 2014-15 will break that trend.

"The NCAA rule changes the last couple of summers have given every coach the opportunity to work with their team in the summer for longer than they have in the past," UW head coach Larry Shyatt said. "Because of that I can say the attitude, spirit and unselfishness has been there for us all of June, July and this fall. That is an important stepping stone with the dynamics this team has with six seniors and five freshmen."

LAST YEAR'S SUCCESS

Shyatt and the Cowboys notched an 18-15 overall record in 2013-14, including 9-9 in the Mountain West, to qualify for the postseason for a third-consecutive season, a feat accomplished just four previous times in program history. UW's .500 mark in conference placed it fifth in the MW standings, the program's best finish since 2002-03, while the nine MW wins were the most since 11 in 2001-02. The Pokes seem poised for another return to the postseason in 2014-15, as Shyatt welcomes back four starters and nine letterwinners. Wyoming's returners accounted for 74 percent of its points, 78 percent of its rebounds, 73 percent of its steals and 75 percent of its assists last season.

"We had a misstep last season when we suffered an injury to one of our top players and that hurt us for the short term, but hopefully that will help us in the long run because there is a realization that everyone is important and how we play together is equally important," Shyatt said. "So when we approach practice I think there is a maybe a small chip with our team that we can be better and we need to be better. We have beat some nationally ranked teams and climbed to a level of competitiveness with the best teams in our conference, but we still need to have that desire to go further."

A REASON TO BELIEVE

Returning starters Larry Nance Jr., Riley Grabau, Josh Adams and Derek Cooke Jr. have a lot to do with Wyoming's optimism. Nance, who was named MW Preseason Player of the Year in mid-October, earned All-MW First Team and All-Defensive Team honors last year despite suffering a season-ending injury Feb. 18. At the time of his injury, he ranked 10th in the MW at 15.4 points per game, fifth with 8.6 rebounds, second at 54 percent from the field, sixth with 1.4 steals and fourth at 2.1 blocks. Grabau was just as impressive from his guard position, as he produced one of the best shooting seasons in Cowboy history. He connected on 42 percent from the field, 42 percent beyond the arc and 89 percent at the free-throw line. He led the nation in three-point percentage

Larry Nance Jr.

at several points throughout the season, while his 68 treys ranked seventh in UW single-season history.

Adams continued to show big-play capability as a guard and blossomed after Nance's injury. He scored in double figures in seven of UW's last eight games, including four-straight contests with 20 or more points to become the first Cowboy to accomplish the feat since 2010. Cooke, a forward, showed marked improvement as well in just his second season in the program. His 62.9 percent from the field put him third in Wyoming single-season history, as he ranked second on the squad in rebounds and blocks. Nance, Grabau and Cooke are seniors this season, while Adams is a junior.

BEST OF THE REST

Senior guard Charles Hankerson Jr. could step into Wyoming's other starting spot, after being the first Cowboy guard off the bench last season. Sophomore Trey Washington III should see extended minutes after showing promise last season at the guard positions. Guard Jason McManamen and forward Alan Herndon are wildcards for the Pokes after redshirting last season. McManamen could see time at the three spot, while Herndon could prove to be a valuable reserve on the inside. Forward Matt Sellers and guard Jack Bentz round out UW's returning lettermen and the six-man senior class. Both will play valuable minutes off the bench for the Cowboys this year.

Shyatt also welcomes one of his most talented recruiting classes since returning to Wyoming with five true freshmen. Jonathan Barnes and Tyrell Williams are two big men that could see game action right away in 2014-15, while Alexander Aka Gorski could challenge for time at the three-guard position. Jeremy Lieberman is a tall, quick guard to run the point for the Pokes in the future and rounds out a UW class that, on paper, is the best the Cowboys have landed in some time.

ANOTHER TOUGH MW

After being regarded as the toughest conference in the nation last season, the Mountain West looks to be another battle for the Pokes in 2014-15. San Diego State is the early favorite to repeat as regular-season champions, while the second through seventh teams could be a toss up. Wyoming, Boise State, UNLV, New Mexico and Colorado State could all be in that mix.

The Cowboys open the regular season, and a newly-renovated Arena-Auditorium, on Nov. 16 against Northern Colorado. The 2014-15 campaign features 19 home games, while postseason play begins at the MW Championships on March 11 in Las Vegas

THE PLAYERS ACCORDING TO SHYATT

The following is Coach Shyatt's player-by-player analysis of the 2014-15 lineup:

SENIORS

Jack Bentz • Guard

"Jack is one of the most pleasant surprises that any of us could have envisioned. He's not only won some games for us on the floor, but he is winner in the game of life."

Derek Cooke Jr. • Forward

"DC worked as hard as anyone in the offseason on both conditioning and becoming a better leader."

Riley Grabau • Guard

"Riley has been a big part of this program's turn around in terms of culture. He, Jack and Larry have rebuilt this program."

Charles Hankerson Jr. • Guard

"Junior continues to grow both mentally and physically and is on track for an excellent senior season."

Larry Nance Jr. • Forward

"Larry has shown great maturity throughout the past six months and we all hope that he ends his career with as much brillance as he has shown over the last three seasons."

Matt Sellers • Center

"I'm not sure anyone that I have coached has worked more diligently to recreate this physical presence than Matt. I am very proud of Matt's dedication."

JUNIORS

Josh Adams • Guard

"Josh continues to improve and can seemingly can be a top threat at both ends of the floor. He is a tireless worker."

SOPHOMORES

Jason McManamen • Guard

"Jason has continued to improve and be a versatile player that is capable of playing multiple positions."

Trey Washington III • Guard

"Trey possesses the spurtability, quickness and toughness that we need at different times at both ends of the floor."

FRESHMEN

Alexander Aka Gorski • Guard

"Alex has shown a very mature workmanship attitude. Although he came in a little late from Sweden, he has caught up significantly."

Jonathan Barnes • Center

"Jonathan is as geniune worker on and off the floor as I have ever been around. He continues to impress everyone that comes into contact with him."

Alan Herndon • Forward

"Alan has really taken advantage of his redshirt year and shown significant improvement in every possible area."

Jeremy Lieberman • Guard

"Jeremy comes very prepared as a dedicated basketball player and has an excellend opportunity to learn from one of the better point guards in the West in Grabau."

Tyrell Williams • Forward

"Tyrell has been a pleasant surprise in terms of his work ethic. He is beginning to believe in the process that will take place during his four years here."

COWBOY COACHES

2014 - 2015

Head Coach Larry Shyatt

A proven winner at the highest level of college basketball, Larry Shyatt begins his fifth season as head coach of the Wyoming Cowboys in 2014-15. He has guided UW to postseason berths in each of his first four seasons at the helm, after a NIT appearance in 1998 and CBI appearances in 2012 through 2014. Shyatt came to Wyoming after seven seasons as an assistant at Florida and was announced as the 21st head coach of the Cowboys by Athletics Director Tom Burman on March 31, 2011. Entering 2014-15, Shyatt has a 148-134 overall record in his nine seasons as a head coach, including 78-50 in four seasons at Wyoming.

The Cowboys earned an 18-15 overall record in 2013-14 to claim their third-straight postseason berth, a feat accomplished just four previous times in Wyoming's 109 years of basketball. The Pokes finished 9-9 in the Mountain West for their first .500 or better record in conference play since going 7-7 in 2004-05, while their fifth-place finish in the standings was their best since third in 2002-03. Wyoming's nine MW wins were its most since winning the conference with 11 in 2001-02. The Cowboys were picked to finish seventh in the preseason poll. The Cowboys clearly showed they were more competitive than that, though, with 20 games decided by single digits, including eight by a single basket. Wyoming finished 19th in the NCAA in scoring defense, allowing 61.8 points per game, and 22nd in field goal percentage, shooting 47.8 percent from the field.

Shyatt guided the Pokes to a 20-14 overall record in 2012-13 for back-to-back 20-win seasons for just the 11th time in program history and the first time in a decade. UW also earned a postseason berth for the second-straight season with an appearance in the CBI, just the 12th time in program history to accomplish the feat. The Cowboys started the season with a program-record 13-0 mark, surpassing a 12-0 start to the 1950-51 season, to work their way into the national top-25 rankings for the first time since 1991. UW also earned two wins over ranked foes during the season, its most since 1997-98, and finished 24th in the NCAA in scoring defense, allowing just 59.1 points per game to opponents.

Shyatt led Wyoming to a 21-12 overall record in 2011-12 for the program's first 20-win season since 2002-03, while the team's plus 11-game turnaround ranked 13th in the nation. UW's berth in the CBI was its first postseason appearance since 2009 and its first-round win over North Dakota State was the Cowboys first postseason victory since 2003. Wyoming finished sixth in the NCAA in scoring defense, allowing just 56.2 points per game, and was the last team in the nation to allow an opponent more than 60 points. UW earned its first win over a ranked opponent since 2002 with a 68-66 upset of No. 11/13 UNLV on Feb. 4, 2012, in the Arena-Auditorium. Three Cowboys earned All-Mountain West honors at season's end, including MW Defensive Player of the Year JayDee Luster.

Shyatt returned to Wyoming after being a part of the Florida coaching staff for the previous seven seasons, joining the Gators' staff on May 10, 2004. During his time at Florida, the Gators won the 2006 and 2007 NCAA National Championships, won Southeastern Conference (SEC) tournament championships in 2005, 2006 and 2007 and won SEC regular-season titles in 2007 and 2011. In 2011, the Gators advanced to the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament. When Florida won back-to-back NCAA titles in 2006 and 2007, it became only the seventh men's basketball program in college basketball history to win back-to-back NCAA Championships. Over Shyatt's seven seasons in Gainesville, the Gators posted a record of 191-63 (.752), which was the best record in the SEC during that span of time, and they averaged 27 wins per season.

In his one season guiding the Wyoming basketball program in 1997-98, Shyatt took over a team that was 12-16 the year prior to his arrival and guided the Cowboys to a 19-9 (.678) record and an appearance in the 1998 National Invitation Tournament (NIT). Also during the 1997-98 campaign, Shyatt's Cowboys defeated eventual NCAA National Runner-up Utah by a score of 62-56 in Laramie. The Cowboys, who had been picked fifth out of eight teams in the Mountain Division of the Western Athletic Conference preseason poll, finished the season in third place behind Utah and New Mexico, posting a 9-5 conference mark. Wyoming also defeated the Lobos in Laramie that season. Shyatt was named the WAC Mountain Division Coach of the Year in 1998, and was selected by his peers as the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) District 13 Coach of Year. His `97-'98 Cowboys posted a 13-2 (.867) home record and were 6-1 (.857) in conference home games.

Known as one of the outstanding basketball minds in the country, Shyatt was named by Basketball Times as the top assistant coach in the nation four different times. The respect he has among his college coaching peers resulted in him being the first assistant coach to be named to the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) Board of Directors from 1987-90. Shyatt also has an outstanding reputation as a recruiter. During his time at Wyoming, the student-athletes he and his Wyoming staff brought to Laramie included: Anthony

Blakes (NABC Second Team All-District, Second Team All-WAC), Josh Davis (Associated Press Honorable Mention All-American, NABC First Team All-District, First Team All-WAC), LeDarion Jones (First Team Academic All-District VII), Brett McFall (UW Career Top 10 in 3-Point FGs and Assists), Chris McMillian (UW Career Top 10 in Assists and Steals) and Ugo Udezue (Second Team All-WAC). He also coached two players at Wyoming who earned individual honors in Jeron Roberts (NABC Second Team All-District, First Team All-WAC) and Gregg Sawyer (Second Team All-WAC).

During his 40 years as a college coach, Shyatt has been a part of 25 teams that earned postseason bids. Of those 25 postseason teams, 10 made NCAA Tournament appearances, with four advancing to the "Sweet 16", three to the "Elite Eight" and two to the "Final Four". He coached 12 teams to National Invitation Tournament (NIT) appearances. Three of those NIT teams advanced to the semifinals at Madison Square Garden in New York City, and one played in the NIT Championship Game.

Between his time at Wyoming and Florida, Shyatt was the head coach at Clemson University for five seasons from 1998-2003. His first season as head coach of the Tigers, Shyatt led them to a 20-win season (20-15). The Tigers advanced to the 1999 NIT Championship Game before losing by one point, 60-61, to California. With his 20 wins that season, Shyatt became only the fourth first-year coach in Atlantic Coast Conference (ACC) history to guide his team to a 20-win season. Also during his time as head coach at Clemson, the 2000-01 team set a school record for three-point field goals in a season and recorded one of the biggest wins in school history with a 75-65 win over No. 1 ranked North Carolina on Feb. 18, 2001, breaking an 18-game losing streak to the Tar Heels. His record at Clemson was 70-84.

Shyatt served as the Associate Head Coach at Clemson for three seasons from 1994-1997 under now University of Texas head coach Rick Barnes. His final season at Clemson, he helped the Tigers advance to the "Sweet 16" of the NCAA Tournament, before losing in the NCAA Regional Semifinals to Minnesota, 84-90, in double overtime. Clemson also earned a bid to the NCAA Tournament the year prior (1995-96). During those three seasons, the Tigers posted a record of 56-34.

Before moving to Clemson, Shyatt was an assistant on Barnes' staff at Providence College for six seasons from 1988-1994. Providence advanced to postseason play five of those six seasons, including three NCAA and two NIT bids. The 1992-93 squad earned its way to the NIT Semifinals in New York City. The 1993-94 Friars captured the Big East Conference Tournament Championship, on way to a 20-10 record and an NCAA Tournament berth. Providence's record during that six-year period was 108-76.

Shyatt also brings with him experience coaching in the West. In addition to serving as head coach at Wyoming, Shyatt was an assistant coach at Utah (1975-76) and associate head coach at New Mexico (1982-1988). The Utes posted a 19-8 (.704) record in `75-'76 and tied for second in the WAC. The Lobos won 20 games three times during the six-year span Shyatt coached in Albuquerque, and appeared in five consecutive NITs from 1984-88. Between his time at Utah and New Mexico, Shyatt returned to his hometown of Cleveland, Ohio, serving as an assistant coach at Cleveland State for six seasons (1976-1982). Over his final three seasons at Cleveland State, he helped the Vikings win 17, 18 and 17 games, respectively.

After playing college basketball at The College of Wooster for two years (1971 and 72), Shyatt had already made up his mind that coaching was the career he wanted to pursue. He became a student assistant coach at Wooster, and upon receiving his bachelor's degree in physical education, he was hired as a graduate assistant coach at the University of Akron. He served as a graduate assistant coach at Akron for two seasons (1973-74 and 1974-75) while completing his master's degree in secondary education. The next year he earned his first full-time coaching position at Utah.

Shyatt (April 8, 1951) will be 63 years old when the 2014-15 season begins. He and his wife, the former Pam Moore, have three sons -- Jeremy (May 15, 1981), Geoffrey (Jan. 5, 1984) and Philip (May 11, 1986). Jeremy serves as an assistant coach at Wyoming.

Associate Head Coach Scott Duncan

ASSISTANT COACH

Scott Duncan starts his fifth season with the Wyoming basketball program in 2014-15. He served as an assistant coach under Larry Shyatt in 1997-98 and returned with him as associate head coach in 2011. With more than 34 years of experience as a college basketball assistant coach, Duncan has been associated with Division I programs that have advanced to postseason play in 21 of the last 27 seasons. He helped UW finish 18-15 in 2013-14 to earn its third-consecutive postseason berth.

"Scott has tremendous experience in college basketball and is synonymous with working toward the best interests of the team," Shyatt said at the time of Duncan's hiring. "He is not only a lifelong friend, he is a terrific decision maker and is someone I have relied on many times over my career."

Duncan came to Wyoming from UCLA, where he served as an assistant coach for the Bruins for the previous four seasons. During his time at UCLA, the Bruins went a combined 98-42 overall and 50-22 in Pac-10 Conference play. The Bruins advanced to three NCAA Tournaments--reaching the Final Four in 2008, the Second Round in 2009 and the Sweet 16 in 2011. The 2007-08 Bruins won the Pac-10 regular-season championship, as well as the league's postseason tournament.

Duncan continued to prove himself as a top national recruiter while at UCLA. The 2010 UCLA recruiting class was ranked No. 15 nationally by ESPN.com and the 2009 Bruins' class was ranked No. 4 by Scout.com.

Prior to making the move to UCLA, Duncan was an assistant coach at Oregon for seven years (2000-07). During his time in Eugene, the Ducks won three Pac-10 titles (the 2002 regular-season championship and the 2003 and 2007 tournament championships). Oregon also reached the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament twice (2002 and 2007).

Duncan proved himself as a terrific recruiter at Oregon, highlighted by the Ducks' 2004 recruiting class that featured all four freshmen who were ranked among the nation's top-75 players in the country.

Duncan has been honored numerous times as one of the top assistant coaches and recruiters in the country. He was recently named the eighth-best assistant in the country by Hoop Scoop and one of the nation's top-25 recruiters by Rivals.com. In 2001, he was selected as both one of the hardest-working assistant coaches and best recruiters in the nation in a pair of surveys compiled by Rivals.com's Dave Telep. In his coaching career, Duncan has helped attract recruiting classes that have been recognized among the top 25 in the country in 10 of the last 13 years.

In 2002-03, he served as an assistant on the USA Basketball Junior National Team trials camp staff.

Prior to taking the job at Oregon, Duncan spent three seasons as an assistant to Shyatt. He was with Shyatt for two seasons at Clemson (1998-00) and the one season at Wyoming. After leading the Cowboys to a 19-9 record and the NIT in 1997-98, he helped lead Clemson to a 20-15 record in 1998-99, coached the ACC's leading scorer in Terrell McIntyre and helped the school sign four of the nation's top-100 recruits.

Other coaching stops for Duncan include Washington State (1995-97), Northern Illinois (1991-95), Fresno State (1991), New Mexico (1980-90) and Cleveland State (1978-80).

Duncan was born on Sept. 18, 1955 in Cleveland, Ohio. He graduated from the College of Wooster (Wooster, Ohio) in 1978 with a degree in physical education and economics. He was a two-year letterman in basketball for the Fighting Scots.

"Thirteen years ago, we had a great year here at Wyoming," Duncan said. "We were fortunate enough to win 19 games, make the NIT, have a few big crowds and bring in some great young men who ended up winning a couple Mountain West Conference Championships. What I am most looking forward to this time around is the challenge of duplicating that success.

"There are two reasons I decided to come back to Wyoming. The first is the relationship I have with Larry--we are best friends. It is also exciting to be able to coach with Jeremy, as I have known him since he was born. The second reason would be our relationship with Tom Burman. He was one of our best friends when we were here the first time, and to have him as our athletics director makes it a special time to come back. At this stage in my career, it is all about relationships and I am thrilled to be working with the people I am."

Assistant Coach Allen Edwards

Allen Edwards enters his fourth season as an assistant coach for the Cowboy basketball program in 2014-15, after helping Wyoming to an 18-15 overall record and third-consecutive postseason berth after the 2013-14 campaign. Hired at UW on April 18, 2011, Edwards has found success on the basketball floor during his playing career at Kentucky and as an assistant coach the past 11 seasons. He has reached the NCAA Tournament seven times as either a player or a coach.

"I couldn't be more excited to add Allen and his family to our staff at Wyoming," UW head coach Larry Shyatt said at the time of Edward's hiring. "Allen represents everything that is good about the game of basketball. He is also synonymous with winning. As far as I know, he is the only player since John Wooden's teams at UCLA to play for three national titles and win two.

"I have known Allen for a long time, as he worked with my dear friend Anthony Grant at Virginia Commonwealth University. At VCU, Allen was instrumental in guiding some tremendous defensive teams.

"Allen will provide great leadership and will be a solid role model for our players. Most of all, he will help in every phase of the program as we work to restore the glory at Wyoming."

Edwards came to Wyoming from Western Kentucky University, where he spent the 2010-11 season as an assistant coach. The Hilltoppers finished 16-16 overall and 8-8 in the Sun Belt Conference. They won a pair of conference tournament games before losing to North Texas in the semifinals. He coached a pair of First Team All-Sun Belt performers in Sergio Kerusch and Steffphon Pettigrew. Each player was also recognized by the National Association of Basketball Coaches as members of the All-District 24 team. Pettigrew was named the Sun Belt Conference Player of the Year by CollegeInsider.com.

Edwards enjoyed a tremendous playing career at Kentucky (1995-98), where he played three seasons under Rick Pitino and one under Tubby Smith. The Wildcats advanced to three straight Final Fours during Edwards' sophomore, junior and senior seasons. They won the national championship in both 1996 and 1998. During his freshman season, Kentucky advanced to the Elite Eight.

In his time in Lexington, Kent., the Wildcats compiled a record of 132-16 and won three Southeastern Conference titles. Edwards averaged 9.2 points, 3.3 assists and 3.3 rebounds a game as a senior and 8.6 points as a junior.

Following his career at Kentucky, Edwards played in both the CBA and the IBL. He returned to Kentucky for the 2002-03 season and completed his degree in sociology while serving as a special assistant to head coach Tubby Smith. The Wildcats finished 16-0 in the SEC that season and advanced to the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament.

Edwards took his first full-time assistant coaching position at Moorehead State prior to the 2003-04 season. He spent three seasons there working under head coach Kyle Macy.

He joined the staff at VCU for the 2006-07 season. In three years at VCU, he helped guide the Rams to a 76-25 overall record and a 45-9 mark in the Colonial Athletic Association. The Rams advanced to the postseason each year, playing in the NCAA Tournament twice and the NIT once. In 2007, VCU upset Duke in the first round of the NCAA Tournament. In 2007, the Rams led the nation in three-point field goal percentage defense and ranked in the top 10 in field goal percentage defense. In 2008-09, the Rams led the CAA in field goal percentage defense.

During his time at VCU, Edwards worked with fellow Wyoming Assistant Coach Jeremy Shyatt. Shyatt served as VCU's Director of Basketball Operations from 2007-09.

Prior to taking the job at WKU, Edwards spent the 2009-10 season as an assistant coach at Towson University under head coach Pat Kennedy.

Edwards is a native of Miami, Fla., and was Florida's Mr. Basketball during his senior season at Miami Senior High School.

Edwards and his wife LaTanya have two daughters, Mai'a and Landry, and a son, Jaxson.

"I am excited about the opportunity to come to the University of Wyoming," Edwards said. "I have known Coach Shyatt for some time, dating back to when I worked with Jeremy at VCU. I have always respected him and what he has accomplished in his career. To be able to join this staff at Wyoming and help the Cowboys get back to where they need to be is very exciting."

Assistant Coach Jeremy Shyatt

Jeremy Shyatt begins his fourth season as an assistant coach for Wyoming during 2014-15. The oldest son of head coach Larry Shyatt, Jeremy helped guide the Cowboys to an 18-15 overall record during the 2013-14 campaign and their third-consecutive postseason tournament berth. Shyatt was at North Florida for two seasons prior to coming to UW.

"Jeremy has been able to learn a great deal over the past eight years working with coaches Dave Odom, Ricky Stokes and Matthew Driscoll," Shyatt said at the time of Jeremy's hiring. "On a personal and professional level, I couldn't be prouder to have Jeremy on our staff as we work to rebuild a tradition of success at Wyoming."

At North Florida, Shyatt assisted head coach Matthew Driscoll, who was an assistant at Wyoming during the 1997-98 season under Larry. During his time with the Ospreys, Shyatt helped build a resurgence of the basketball program. North Florida won 28 games in the two years, after having won just 22 total games in the four years prior to that.

In 2010-11, UNF finished 15-19 overall and 10-10 in the Atlantic Sun Conference. The 15 wins matched the most in school history and the 10 conference wins also set a school record. The Ospreys fell one game short of the NCAA Tournament, losing to Belmont in the Atlantic Sun Championship game. It marked the first time that North Florida had played in a conference championship game. In addition, North Florida won the Mayan Division of the 2010 Cancun Challenge. Prior to their trip to Cancun, the Ospreys traveled to Wyoming and beat the Cowboys in the Arena-Auditorium.

At UNF, Shyatt was involved in many facets of the program including on-court coaching, recruiting, opponent scouting, team academic progress, housing, camps, skill development and was the team's video coordinator. He helped design the team's basketball locker room, and oversaw their Nike account and student-managers.

Prior to taking the job at UNF, Shyatt spent two seasons at Virginia Commonwealth University as the team's Director of Basketball Operations. During his stint at VCU, the Rams won two regular-season conference championships, advanced to the NCAA Tournament in 2009 and earned an NIT berth in 2008. He helped coach Eric Maynor, the 20th overall selection in the 2009 NBA draft and Larry Sanders, the 15th overall selection in the 2010 NBA draft.

Shyatt held the same Director of Basketball Operations title at East Carolina University from 2005-07.

From 2003-05, Shyatt was a volunteer assistant coach at the University of South Carolina. There, he earned a master's degree in integrated communication and advertising.

From 2002-05, Shyatt served as director of the Boys and Girls Summer Day Camps with the NBA's Cleveland Cavaliers. Through this camp, Shyatt was able to meet Cavaliers' star, Carlos Boozer, who presently plays for the Chicago Bulls. In 2004, Shyatt and Boozer hosted a camp together in Boozer's hometown of Juneau, Alaska. Shyatt also worked for the Five-Star Basketball Camp in Coraopolis, Pa., during the summers of 2003 and 2004 as camp commissioner and counselor.

Shyatt went to college at Clemson, where he was heavily involved in the Tigers' basketball program. As a freshman in 1999-00, he earned a varsity letter as a member of the team. He then became a student assistant coach for the next three seasons. In 2000, he was named to the All-ACC Honor Roll. He earned his bachelor's degree in marketing from Clemson in 2003.

Shyatt played high school basketball in both Laramie and Clemson, earning three letter awards. He played his junior season at Laramie High School and his sophomore and senior years at D.W. Daniel High School. As a senior, he was named all-area by Easley Progress and Anderson Independent Mail. He was also named Academic All-State by the High School Sports Report.

Shyatt was born on May 15, 1981 in Cleveland, Ohio. He is the oldest of three children to Pam and Larry. He has two younger brothers, Geoffrey and Philip.

"I am absolutely thrilled to be back in Laramie at a place where we have called home," Jeremy Shyatt said. "It is not very often in the coaching business that you get to go back to place like this. My family and I had some great experiences here and I am looking forward to building more.

"I am excited to work with my Dad and coach Duncan. While I have obviously known them as both coaches and people for a long time, I have never coached with them and I am really looking forward to doing so. I have worked with some great people like Dave Odom, Anthony Grant and Matthew Driscoll and I hope the experiences I gained from them help me in this chapter."

Director of Player Development/ Strength & Conditioning Rob Watsabaugh

Rob Watsabaugh (pronounced wat-SAW-baugh) is in his third season with the Wyoming program in 2014-15, including his first season at Director of Player Development/Strength & Conditioning. He was a graduate assistant for the 2012-13 and 2013-14 campaigns after spending the previous three seasons as a member of the squad. He helped guide the Pokes to a third-consecutive postseason bid in 2013-14.

Watsabaugh was a valuable reserve for Wyoming off the bench in 2011-12. He played in 31 of UW's 33 games and averaged 1.0 points and 1.3 rebounds in seven minutes of action per game. His best performance of the season was six points, three rebounds and two steals against Maryland Eastern Shore on Nov. 26. He also posted a career-high five rebounds twice during the season, while shooting 61.9 percent from the floor. Watsabaugh played a career-high 21 minutes against Northern Colorado on Nov. 15, while making his first career start on Senior Night against TCU on Feb. 28.

Watsabaugh used his redshirt year during the 2010-11 season. He was able to practice with the team and participate in most team activities during his redshirt year of 2010-11.

In his first year at Wyoming, Watsabaugh played in nine games. His best game came against Adams State, as he scored a career high six points. Those six points were six of Wyoming's final eight points and helped set the all-time school record for points in a game with 123. He scored the final basket of the game with 13 seconds remaining to seal the record.

Watsabaugh enjoyed a two-year junior college career at West Hills College in Coalinga, Calif. At West Hills, Watsabaugh was a 2008-09 Central Valley All-Conference performer and was named to the Central Valley All-Defensive Team. He also received West Hills team awards including; Best Defense, Chairman of the Boards and their Falcon Award.

Watsabaugh graduated from Jackson Hole High School in 2007. He was a 3A West All-Conference basketball player and a two-year letterman on the hardwood. He also lettered in football as a junior. He excelled academically and was on the honor roll all four years of high school.

Watsabaugh was born on August 16, 1989 in Jackson, Wyo. He is the son of Nancy and Willy, and has a brother Tom. He also has two step brothers, Justin and Brad, and a step sister, Beth. Rob graduated from UW with his Bachelor's degree in kinesiology and health promotions in May of 2012 and earned his Master's in the same field.

Assistant Director of Player Development Matt Wise

Matt Wise enters his second season with Wyoming as the Assistant Director of Player Development in 2014-15. During the 2013-14 season, he helped the Cowboys post an 18-15 overall record and advance to their third-consecutive postseason appearance.

Wise joined Shyatt's staff after serving as a graduate assistant at the University of Florida the previous two years. Wise helped head coach Billy Donovan and the Gators advance to the NCAA tournament's Elite Eight both seasons, while earning his master's degree in sport management. His responsibilities with the Gators included conducting advanced statistical research, assisting with on-court workouts, helping with video editing, promoting and marketing summer camps and assisting UF's Director of Operations with daily tasks for the program.

Prior to Florida, Wise played four seasons as a forward for Transylvania University in Lexington, Ky., where he helped the Pioneers win a conference title and advance to the NCAA DIII tournament as a sophomore. He graduated with his bachelor's degree in business administration in 2011. Matt is the son of Mark Wise, a college basketball broadcaster, and Mary Wise, Florida's head volleyball coach. He comes to Laramie with his fiancé, Katie Williams.

"I'm eager to join the Wyoming coaching staff because I have looked at coach Shyatt as a role model for a number of years now," Wise said. "He embodies what I want to become as a coach someday. He has an unbelievable level of passion and enthusiasm for what he does and you can see the impact that has on his team and staff. Coming to Laramie is a tremendous opportunity for me. I'm thankful to have been given this chance to work with some of the best people that college athletics has to offer. With the recent success of the Cowboys, I'm thrilled to be a part of what can be a very special team for a long time to come."

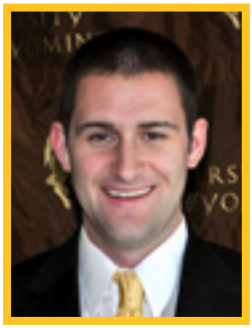
Associate Athletic Trainer Lance Schuemann

Lance Schuemann joined the University of Wyoming Sports Medicine staff in August 2013 as the athletic trainer for the Cowboy Basketball program. Prior to joining the Cowboys, Lance served in the same capacity with the men's basketball program at Charleston Southern University.

Lance holds a Masters in Sports Administration from Valparaiso University. While at Valparaiso, Lance was the assistant athletic trainer for the football and baseball teams. In 2007, he graduated from the University of Florida with a Bachelor of Science in Athletic Training, where he was an athletic training student for the 2007 National Championship men's basketball program.

Lance is a native of Palm Beach Gardens, Florida and a member of the National Athletic Trainer's Association. In his spare time, he enjoys time with friends and family, playing golf, and watching all sports, especially his beloved Chicago Cubs.

Graduate Assistant Coach Bobby Horodyski



Bobby Horodyski is in his second season as a graduate assistant for Wyoming during the 2014-15 season. During the 2013-14 campaign, he helped the Cowboys post an 18-15 overall record and advance to their third-consecutive postseason appearance.

Horodyski came to Laramie from Central Florida, where he was a member of the basketball team for two seasons. As a senior in 2012-13, he played in 10 games and made one start, while helping the Knights to a 20-11 record. During his junior campaign, he appeared in six games, as the Knights posted a 22-11 mark and played in the NIT. Prior to UCF, Horodyski played at Marshall during the 2009-10 season.

A native of Gainesville, Fla., Horodyski graduated from UCF in May, 2013 with a bachelor's degree in finance and is currently pursuing his master's in communications at UW.

Graduate Assistant Coach Jerron Granberry

Jerron Granberry is in his first season as a graduate assistant for Wyoming during the 2014-15 season, after playing for the Pokes last season.

In 2013-14, Granberry was the first big off the bench for the majority of the season, before starting the last seven games of the season due to a teammate's injury. He averaged 6.1 points, 2.1 rebounds and 1.2 assists in 25.2 minutes per game. Granberry scored in double figures in seven contests, including his top performance of 18 points in 38 minutes at UNLV on March 13. He shot 44 percent from the field, 39 percent from deep and 85 percent at the free throw line. He ranked fifth on the team in points and third in three-point percentage. He was one of four Cowboys to play in all 33 games during the 2013-14 campaign.

Granberry came to Wyoming after four seasons at North Florida. During his career, he was named to the Atlantic Sun All-Conference Preseason Team before the 2012-13 campaign and to the conference's All-Tournament Team in 2010-11. He finished his career at UNF with 1,071 points, the sixth player in school history and first in the NCAA Division I era to reach the 1,000-point mark.

A native of Miami, Fla., Granberry earned his bachelor's degree in communications at Norther Florida in the spring of 2013. He is currently pursuing a master's degree in communications at UW.

Office Intern Kasey Lara

Kasey Lara is in her fourth season as an office intern for the Wyoming basketball team during the 2014-15 season. She handles the day-to-day operations of the basketball office, as well as assisting with Cowboy basketball camps in the summer.

A native of Jackson, Wyo., Lara is currently majoring in communications at Wyoming.

University of Wyoming President Richard McGinity

Education

D.B.A., Harvard Business School
M.B.A., Harvard Business School
B.A., Princeton University

The University of Wyoming Board of Trustees on Jan. 16 appointed Dick McGinity as the university's 25th president.

UW Trustees appointed Dick McGinity as the University of Wyoming's interim president on December 6, 2013. Prior to this appointment, Dr. McGinity fulfilled the duties of the president following the resignation of former UW President Bob Sternberg on November 14. He did this in his capacity as Interim Vice President for Academic Affairs and pursuant to University Regulation 1-1. The Board made this appointment with the support of the university's Faculty Senate and the deans of the academic colleges.

Dr. McGinity and his administrative team are working with Wyoming Governor Matt Mead and lawmakers to prepare for the Legislature's 2014 budget session. The governor has recommended funding for a number of the university's top priorities, including a pay raise to retain and recruit top UW employees; programmatic and capital facilities improvements for the College of Engineering and Applied Science; enhancement of information technology and classrooms for students; and partnerships with Wyoming community colleges. Dr. McGinity is also leading the development of the university's strategic plan for 2015-2020, a process that involves all UW units and aims to establish priorities and lay out concrete steps to reach new levels of excellence in specific areas of teaching, research and service.

Dr. McGinity was appointed Interim Vice President for Academic Affairs in September 2013, and in this role he was responsible for the academic operations and employees of the University. Dr. McGinity joined the UW faculty in 2007 as the Bill Daniels Chair of Business Ethics.

In addition to serving as a UW faculty member in the College of Business, his public service includes over seven years as a director of the Wyoming Business Council, including Co-Chair in 2004-2005; three years as member of the finance committee of the Town of Wellesley, Massachusetts; and five years as a naval aviator during which he served in Viet Nam, earning two air medals.

Dr. McGinity served on the research faculty of Harvard Business School where he wrote numerous case studies, co-authored (with Ray A. Goldberg) a book about economic development and agribusiness, and wrote his doctoral dissertation on competition in the meat packing industry from 1945 to 1960.

Richard McGinity

After earning his undergraduate degree from Princeton and graduate degrees (MBA, DBA) from Harvard, Dr. McGinity pursued a career in venture capital and private equity: first as a partner in a Boston-based venture capital fund and then as founder of a boutique investment banking firm which served owners of private firms seeking to build enterprise value through growth, acquisitions, and equity transactions.

Dr. McGinity has served on the boards of numerous privately-owned and publicly traded companies, most recently Canada Southern Petroleum Ltd., where as Chairman he led that company's successful defense against a hostile takeover attempt by Petro-Canada.

Dr. McGinity maintains a residence in Crowheart, Wyoming. He loves being in the wilderness on horseback and is a licensed professional guide.

University of Wyoming Director of Athletics Tom Burman

From the time Tom Burman was named Athletics Director at the University of Wyoming on Oct. 9, 2006, to today, Wyoming Athletics has enjoyed some of its most memorable moments in school history. Also during Burman's past seven-plus years as athletics director, he has hired some of the most accomplished head coaches in University of Wyoming history and fundraising efforts during Burman's time as A.D. have been unmatched.

The memorable moments include: the Wyoming Cowgirl Basketball Team capturing the WNIT National Championship in 2007; the Wyoming Football Team's dramatic, double-overtime victory in the 2009 New Mexico Bowl and appearance in the 2011 New Mexico Bowl; Wyoming men's basketball team defeating No. 5 ranked San Diego State in 2014; and the Cowboy wrestling team's success in multiple NCAA Tournaments during Burman's tenure.

Among the nationally-successful head coaches that Burman has hired is his most recent hire of head football coach Craig Bohl in December of 2013. Bohl led North Dakota State to three consecutive FCS national championships in 2011, '12 and '13, was named National Coach of the Year in 2012 and '13 and was part of two FBS national championships as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Nebraska, in 1995 and '97.

The other nationally-successful coaches that Burman has hired includes head men's basketball coach Larry Shyatt, who was part of two national championships in 2006 and '07 as associate head coach at Florida. Burman hired head wrestling coach Mark Branch, who was part of four NCAA Championships as associate head coach at his alma mater, Oklahoma State, and won two individual NCAA titles as a competitor at OSU in 1994 and '97. Current track and field coach Bryan Berryhill is a fourth UW head coach who has achieved a national title and was hired by Burman. Berryhill captured individual NCAA national championships in the indoor 1-mile run and outdoor 1,500-meter run in 2001 at Colorado State.

Fundraising and season-ticket sales have reached record levels in Burman's seven-plus years directing the UW Athletics department. Numerous facility projects have also been completed under Burman's direction.

Academically, Cowboy and Cowgirl student-athletes are achieving at exceptional levels.

"I care deeply about this University, the success of UW Athletics and the well-being of our student-athletes," Burman said upon his hiring. "We will build a program that wins championships, is a source of great pride to our alumni and generates enthusiasm across the state. The future starts now."

Specific accomplishments that have been achieved during Burman's tenure as Director of Athletics at the University of Wyoming include:

Student Services

- Resources dedicated toward academic success and student-athlete welfare since 2006 have increased nearly 100 percent, including the adoption of a new program that puts an iPad for academic support in the hands of every scholarship student-athlete.
- Under Burman, three additional positions have been added within the Office of Academic Support including the creation of an Eligibility Coordinator for Athletics.
- University of Wyoming student-athletes continue to set records in the Academic Progress Rate (APR) with Burman at the helm. At the conclusion of the 2013-2014 academic year, four sport programs (including football and men's basketball) saw all-time high APR scores.
- During the 2013-14 academic year, a total of 108 UW student-athletes earned Academic All-Mountain West Conference honors. In addition, 48 student-athletes earned Mountain West Conference Scholar-Athlete honors.
- At the conclusion of the 2012-2013 season, the University of Wyoming swept the Mountain West Conference Male and Female Scholar-Athlete of the Year awards as Luke Ruff of Cowboy Football and Chaundra Sewell of Cowgirl Basketball were named the recipients. It marked only the second time in the history of the Mountain West Conference that both Female and Male Scholar-Athlete Awards went to individuals from the same university.
- At the conclusion of the 2013-2014 academic year 12 out of UW's 17 athletic teams earned a cumulative team grade-point-average of 3.00 or higher.

Revenue Generation/Facilities

- Cowboy Joe Club revenue grew from $2.1 million in 2006 to $4.5 million as of the end of the 2013 fiscal year.
- Ticket revenue has dramatically grown, including a 63 percent growth in football season ticket revenue since 2007.
- In the summer of 2011, season-ticket sales for Wyoming Football surpassed the 10,000 season-ticket mark for the first time in school history.
- The overall UW Athletics Department budget has grown from $21 million to over $29 million for the 2014-15 budget year.
- Burman has spearheaded over $50 million in facilities projects in five years, including: construction of a new $11 million Indoor Practice Facility; construction of the Wildcatter Stadium Club & Suites addition to War Memorial Stadium; extensive renovations to the east side of War Memorial Stadium; significant upgrades to the UniWyo Sports Complex for volleyball and wrestling; and completion of a new $3 million Indoor Tennis Facility that opened in the spring of 2011.
- In 2012-13, Wyoming Athletics began the third phase of its Athletics Facility Master Plan. As a part of that third phase, fundraising and construction began for a $30 million Arena-Auditorium renovation project. The first phase of the AA renovation will be completed in the fall of 2014. Also in 2014, a new $1.2 million golf practice facility was completed, and also included in the third phase is the goal of building a new natatorium for the men's and women's swimming programs. Planning for the natatorium began in the 2013-14 academic year.
- The Wildcatter Stadium Club & Suites opened for the start of the 2010 football season, and features 12 luxury suites and 256 club seats.
- In the spring of 2010, UW Athletics completed a $38 million athletics facility campaign under Burman's direction as athletics director.
- Renovations and expansions to facilities such as War Memorial Stadium and the Arena-Auditorium have focused on: both modernizing areas of facilities that benefit fans, specifically new and improved concession areas, restrooms and seating; and providing the best in training and competition facilities to benefit UW student-athletes.

Tom Burman

Competitive Excellence

- In the spring of 2011, Burman lured Larry Shyatt away from his position as associate head coach at the University of Florida to return to Laramie and take over as head coach of Cowboy Basketball. Shyatt had been part of two National Championships with the Gators and had previously served as Wyoming's head coach in the 1997-98 season. Burman's hiring of Shyatt received numerous positive reviews, including an "A" rating from ESPN.com. Of the 19 coaching hires that ESPN.com rated, Wyoming received one of only five "A" ratings. In Shyatt's first season back at the helm of Cowboy Basketball, the Pokes posted their first 20-win season (21-12) since the 2002-03 season and earned a postseason bid to the College Basketball Invitational. The Cowboys reached the Top 25 of the USA Today Coaches' Poll during the 2012-13 season and defeated No. 5 ranked San Diego State in the 2013-14 season.
- Burman hired Mark Branch as Wyoming's new wrestling coach prior to the 2008-09 season. The former two-time national champion at Oklahoma State University, Branch led Cowboy Wrestling to a 19th-place finish at the 2012 NCAA Championships. That was the best finish for the Cowboys since 1996. He has been named the Western Wrestling Conference Coach of the Year three times at Wyoming.
- The 2011-12 season was a very successful one for UW Athletics. The Cowgirl Soccer team earned its first-ever appearance in the Mountain West Tournament Championship match.
- The swimming and diving programs had another successful season, with head coach Tom Johnson winning his fourth conference Coach of the Year award in 2012.
- Cowgirl Tennis achieved its highest national ranking in the history of the program in 2012, reaching a high ranking of No. 56 out of over 300 women's tennis programs in the nation.
- Cowgirl Basketball achieved unprecedented success under the direction of head coach Joe Legerski. Wyoming won the Women's National Invitation Tournament (WNIT) National Championship in the 2006-07 season, defeating Wisconsin, 72-56, in the championship game in Laramie. In 2007-08, the Cowgirls earned the program's first-ever NCAA Tournament berth. In both the 2009-10 and 2010-11 seasons, Wyoming again received bids to the WNIT where it advanced to the third round both seasons. The 2012-13 Cowgirl squad also earned a bid to the WNIT's first round.

Scheduling

- Burman scheduled the most-anticipated event in the history of War Memorial Stadium when the No. 9 ranked Nebraska Cornhuskers came to Laramie on Sept. 24, 2011, for the first time. It marked only the second time that a Big Ten football team had appeared in Laramie.
- Burman also negotiated the 2009 appearance of the No. 2 ranked Texas Longhorns in War Memorial Stadium. The Longhorns made their first-ever appearance in Wyoming and went on to play for the 2009 National Championship, finishing as the national runner-up.
- In addition to Texas (2009) and Nebraska (2011), Burman has also negotiated future football contracts to bring the following teams to War Memorial Stadium: Oregon (2017), Washington State (2018), Missouri (2019) and Texas Tech (2022).

Before becoming A.D. at Wyoming, Burman had previously served as an Associate Athletics Director at UW from 1995-2000. His first position at his alma mater was as Associate Athletics Director for Development, serving as Executive Director of the Cowboy Joe Club from 1995-97. From 1997-2000, Burman was Wyoming's Associate Athletics Director for External Affairs. During that time period, he was instrumental in raising funds for the $9.4 million Rochelle Athletics Center. He served as Athletics Director at Portland State University from September 2000 through March 2006. Burman returned to UW in March 2006 as Associate Vice President for Institutional Advancement with the UW Foundation, before being tabbed by President Tom Buchanan as the eighth athletics director in UW history.

He began his intercollegiate athletics career as Director of Marketing and Promotions (1993-95) at the University of Idaho in Moscow, Idaho. Before entering a career in college athletics, Burman worked as a project manager for the sports management company DeWilber & Associates in McLean, Va., from 1990-92.

Burman earned a bachelor of science degree from Wyoming in 1988 and an M.B.A. from Robert Morris University in Coraopolis, Pa., in 1991.

Burman is 48 years old, born Jan. 4, 1966. He and his wife, Kathy, have two sons, Drew and Nathan.

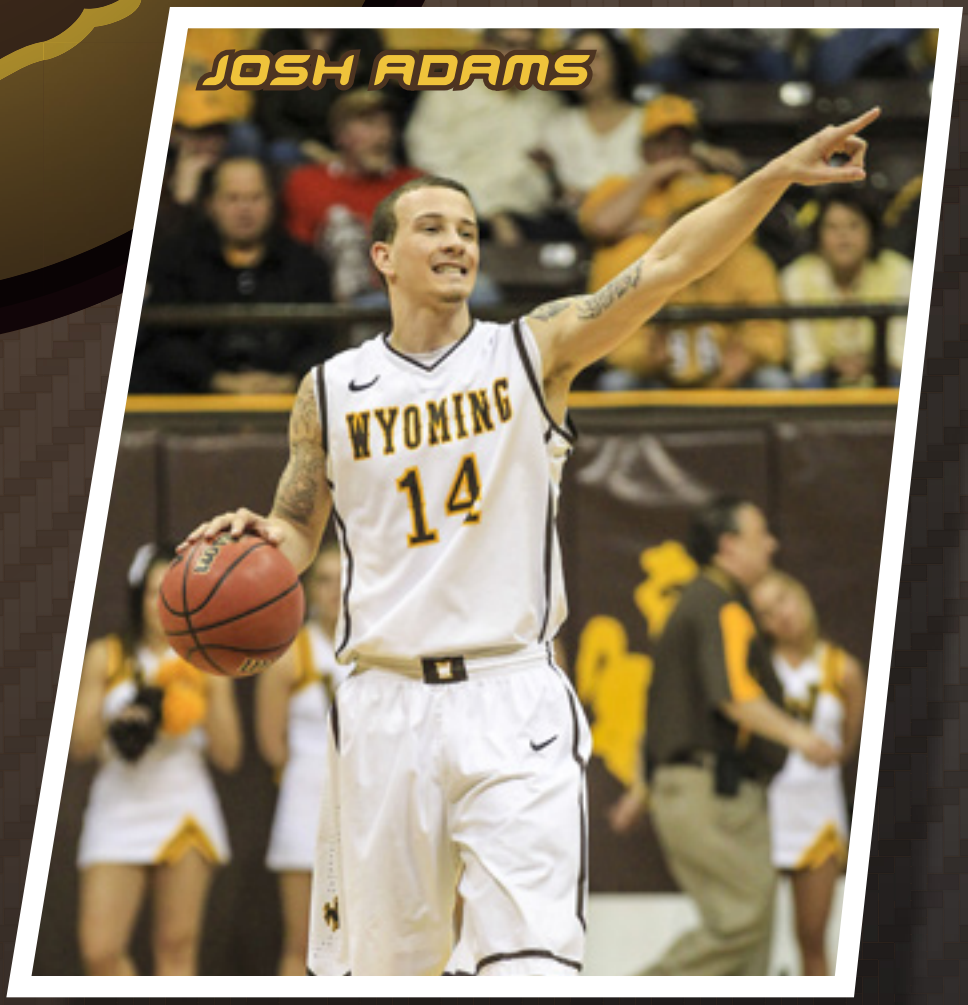
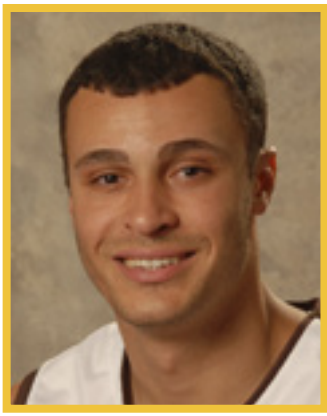
2014 - 2015





LARRY NANCE JR.

Forward
6-8 • 235 • Senior
Akron, Ohio
(Revere High School)

2013-14: One of the top big men in the Mountain West, Larry Nance Jr. started 26 games for Wyoming before suffering a season-ending torn ACL in his right knee against Fresno State on Feb. 18. Despite the shortened season, Nance was named to the All-MW First Team, Wyoming's first since 2008-09, and the All-Defensive Team. He was also named to the NABC All-District 17 First Team. At the time of his injury, he ranked 10th in the MW at 15.4 points per game, fifth with 8.6 rebounds, second at 54 percent from the field, sixth with 1.4 steals and fourth at 2.1 blocks. He led the Cowboys in each of those categories and was the only player in the conference to rank in the top 10 in steals, blocks and defensive rebounds. He ranked second in the MW and eighth in the NCAA with 7.3 defensive rebounds per game. His 55 blocks ranked seventh on Wyoming's single-season charts, while he moved up to sixth in UW's career charts with 98. He also sits four steals away from UW's career top 10 with 104 in three years. Nance scored in double figures in a team-high 21 games, including five games with at least 20 points. He notched nine games with double-figure rebounds and eight double-doubles. His top performance was a career-high 38 points, 12 rebounds and two steals in 40 minutes at Denver on Dec. 15. His 38 points were the most by a Cowboy since Jay Straight notched 41 at Colorado State on Feb. 26, 2005. Nance connected on a career-high 15-of-21 field goal attempts to set the Magness Arena record for points and field goals. His 15 made field goals tied the MW junior class single-game record, joining Colorado State's Marcus Walker against Tennessee State on Nov. 17, 2007. He earned MW Player of the Week for the performance, while also earning the distinction on Jan. 27 after hitting the game-winning shot against Nevada earlier in the week. He also hit game-winning shots at South Dakota and at Boise State with less than five seconds left on the clock in each contest.

2012-13: Nance started 33 games for Wyoming in 2012-13, missing just one contest with a wrist injury. Nance averaged 10.7 points, 6.9 rebounds, 1.3 steals, 1.2 assists and 0.7 blocks per game, while shooting a team-high 53 percent from the field. He ranked third on the team in points and second in rebounds and blocks. He posted 17 games in double-figure points and two with more than 20, including a career-high 21 against Denver on Dec. 18 thanks to a perfect 11-of-11 at the free throw line. His 17 games in double figures ranked third on the team. He also notched five double-figure rebounding efforts and three double-doubles. Nance ranked in the top 10 of six Mountain West statistical categories, including sixth in defensive rebounds at 5.0 per game. His top performance was 17 points and 15 rebounds at CSU Bakersfield on Feb. 6, during which he sufffered the wrist injury. He also posted double-doubles against Southern on Nov. 16 (12 points and 12 rebounds) and versus San Diego State on Jan. 19 (11 points and 12 rebounds). Nance posted career highs in assists (four), blocks (three), steals (five) and minutes (42) during the season. Nance's 10.7 points and 6.9 rebounds during 2012-13 were nearly identical to what his father, Larry Nance Sr., averaged during his sophomore season (11.1 points and 7.2 rebounds in 1978-79) at Clemson.

2011-12: Nance enjoyed a productive first season in the Wyoming program, during which he worked his way into the sixth-man role. He played in all 33 games and averaged 4.1 points, 4.0 rebounds and 0.6 blocks in 18 minutes of action a game. He led the Cowboys in free throw percentage at 81.4, ranked second in rebounds and third in field goal percentage at 46.2. His top performance of the season was nine points, four rebounds and a block at No. 24/25 San Diego State on Feb. 22 in a season-high 31 minutes. His top rebounding performance was grabbing nine against Louisiana Tech on Nov. 27 and he also added a season-high four steals. He had three games with two blocks during the season. Nance was featured as the No. 1 play on ESPN SportsCenter's Top 10 on Jan. 24 for his dunk against No. 12/13 San Diego State at the end of the first half. The dunk was also a finalist for ESPN2's Dunk of the Year.

Before Wyoming: During his senior year in 2010-11, Nance averaged 18.2 points, 9.5 rebounds, 3.0 blocks, 2.6 steals and 2.3 assists per game. He helped lead Revere High School to a 21-2 overall record this past season, its best record in school history. The Minutemen won their second-straight Suburban League Championship and were 13-0 in league games. Following his senior season, Nance received numerous postseason honors. He was named Second Team All-Ohio, First Team All-Suburban League and First Team All-District. He was Revere's team MVP and left as the school's all-time leader in blocked shots for a career, season and game. Nance played in numerous all-star games, including the North/South game, the Summit County/Stark County game and earned MVP honors following the Greater Akron Basketball Coaches Association all-star game. Over his final two seasons, the Revere Minutemen compiled a record of 40-6 overall and were 28-0 in league games. They advanced to the Division I district final in each of his last two seasons. The two league championships were the first for Revere High School since 1976. Nance and UW teammate Jack Bentz played on the same AAU team in Ohio.

Personal: Nance was born on Jan. 1, 1993 in Akron, Ohio, to Larry Sr. and Jaynee Nance. He has an older sister, Casey, who played basketball at the University of Dayton and a younger brother, Pete. Larry Sr. enjoyed a 13-year career in the NBA (1981-94). After playing college basketball at Clemson, he played for the Cleveland Cavaliers and the Phoenix Suns. He was a three-time All-Star and was named to the NBA's All-Defensive First Team in 1989. He is also known for winning the NBA's first-ever dunk contest in 1984. Larry Jr. is majoring in criminal justice and was also recruited by Michigan, Michigan State, Central Michigan and Ohio.

RETURNING STARTERS

2013-14: Riley Grabau (pronounced GRAY-bo) was one of two players to start all 33 games for Wyoming in 2013-14, as he produced one of the best shooting seasons in Cowboy history. He averaged 10.1 points, 2.5 rebounds and 2.2 assists in 35.3 minutes per game, while shooting 42 percent from the field, 42 percent beyond the arc and 89 percent at the free throw line. He led the nation in three-point percentage at several points throughout the season, while finishing fourth in the Mountain West in the category. His 2.2 threes per game were seventh in the conference, as he hit 68 during the season to rank seventh in UW single-season history. He had eight games in 2013-14 with at least four threes. He has 110 in his career and sits just six away from Wyoming's career top 10. Grabau's 89 percent (83-of-93) at the free throw line ranked first in UW single-season history, while leading the MW and finishing 11th in the NCAA. He was third on the team in points and second in assists, while leading the Pokes and ranking fourth in the MW in minutes. He had 17 double-figure scoring games, including two games with at least 20. Grabau's top performance was 24 points, including four threes, and six rebounds against New Mexico on Jan. 8. He was also named the MW Player of the Week on Feb. 17 after helping Wyoming upset No. 5 San Diego State and notch a historic win at San Jose State earlier in the week.

2012-13: Grabau started 30 games for Wyoming in 2012-13 and appeared in 32 games, despite being slowed by a knee injury during the non-conference season. He averaged 6.0 points and 1.0 rebound per game, while his 2.5 assists per game ranked second on the team. He scored in double figures eight times, including a career-high 14 points at New Mexico on March 2. Six of his eight double-figure games came in Mountain West play. Grabau posted a career-high six assists against South Dakota on Nov. 15. He had 16 games with three or more assists during the season and 10 with four or more, while adding 10 games with no turnovers. He played into UW's fifth game (more than 158 minutes) of the season before committing a turnover and had the best assist-turnover ratio on the team at plus 2.14.

2011-12: Grabau played in 21 of UW's 33 games during the 2011-12 campaign. He averaged 0.9 points, 0.4 rebounds and 0.8 assists a game. Grabau's top performance of the season was eight points at Boise State on Jan. 28 on 2-of-2 from deep and 2-of-2 at the free throw line. He also scored six points and grabbed five rebounds against Western State on Nov. 12. He played a season-high 31 minutes of action against Idaho State on Jan. 9. He dished out a season-high three assists on two occasions during the season.

Before Wyoming: A 6'2" guard, Grabau averaged 20.8 points, 4.6 assists, 2.1 steals and 2.8 rebounds a game during the 2010-11 season. He shot nearly 50 percent from the field and over 40 percent from three-point range. As a senior, Grabau led the Boulder Panthers to a record of 25-3 and the Colorado 5A state championship game. He was exceptional in the state tournament and was named the tournament's MVP. In the "Sweet 16," he scored 30 points against Mountain Vista. In the "Great Eight," he scored 28 points in a win over Denver East. In the "Final Four," he scored 30 points in a come-from-behind win over Highlands Ranch. In the championship game, he scored 26 points in a loss to Regis-Jesuit. As a junior in 2009-10, Grabau was named Second Team All-State by The Denver Post. Grabau began his high school career at Faith Christian High School, where he led his team to the Colorado 3A State Championship as both a freshman and sophomore. He was named First Team All-State in Class 3A by The Denver Post as a sophomore. He transferred to Boulder High for his junior and senior seasons. He was coached by Alan Schulz at Boulder High and Andrew Hasz at Faith Christian.

Personal: Grabau was born on Nov. 30, 1992 in Boulder, Colo., to Craig Grabau and Jody Miller. Riley is majoring in criminal justice at Wyoming. He has one brother, Chase, who was a senior on the Idaho State basketball team during the 2011-12 season. Riley was also recruited by Western Kentucky.

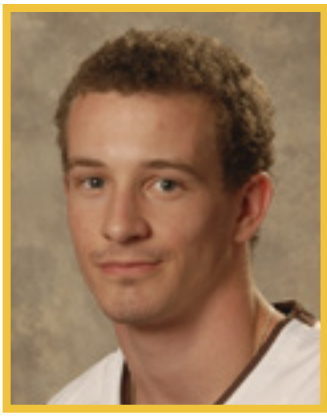
RETURNING STARTERS



JOSH ADAMS

Guard
6-2 • 185 • Junior
Parker, Colo.
(Chaparral High School)

14

2013-14: Josh Adams had a breakout season in 2013-14 for Wyoming, as he started 32 games for the Cowboys. He averaged 12.7 points, 3.1 rebounds and 2.9 assists in 32.4 minutes per game on 48 percent from the field and 31 percent from deep. He paced the Pokes in assists, while ranking second in points and third in minutes and field goal percentage. His 25 total steals on the season were second on the team. Adams scored in double figures in seven of Wyoming's last eight games, including four-straight games with 20 or more points to become the first Cowboy to accomplish the feat since December of 2010. Two of his dunks in UW's last three games were also featured on ESPN's SportsCenter Top 10. On the season he scored in double figures in 20 contests. His top performance was 24 points, seven rebounds, three assists and two blocks at UNLV on March 13. He notched a career-high 29 points against Boise State on March 1 and also posted a career-high eight assists against Utah State on Feb. 1. He played more than 30 minutes in all but eight contests during the season.

2012-13: After beginning the season as the sixth man, Adams started the last 26 games of the 2012-13 season for Wyoming. He scored in double figures in 10 games, including three of the last four contests to average 6.6 points, 1.4 rebounds and 1.6 assists per game. He notched a career-high 15 points and four assists in his first career start against Illinois State on Dec. 4 and added four assists in two more games during the season. On the defensive end, Adams had 27 steals and eight blocks for fourth on the team in each category. He notched a career-high two blocks against Boise State on Jan. 9 and added a career-high four steals at Boise State on Feb. 9. Known for making big plays at key moments, Adams was featured on ESPN's SportsCenter Top 10 twice during the season. His block against Boise State on Jan. 9 was featured as the No. 9 play, while his assists on Nathan Sobey's game-winning three against Lehigh on March 19 was the No. 2 play. Adams' 26 starts in 2012-13 were the most by a true freshman at UW since Brandon Ewing started 32 in 2005-06. He was also one of only three Pokes to play in all 34 games during the season. He ended the season with a career-high 41 minutes of action against Western Michigan on March 25. In the classroom, he was named to the MW Academic-All Conference team.

Before Wyoming: One of the top point guards in the state of Colorado, Adams used his physical skills and aggressive play to lead Class 5A Chaparral High School under coach Rob Johnson. During his senior season in 2011-12, Adams helped guide the Wolverines to a 25-3 overall record and state championship, including making the game-winning shot in the title game. He averaged 18.0 points, 3.7 rebounds, 1.9 assists and 1.5 steals per game to earn First-Team All-Conference and All-State honors. He was also named to the Denver Post's All-Colorado team. Adams shot 47 percent from the field during the season, including 32 percent from deep. During his junior campaign, Adams posted 16.1 points, 4.4 rebounds and 2.6 assists per game to pace the Wolverines to a 15-11 record and appearance in the "Sweet 16" of the state tournament. He shot 44 percent from the field, including 34 percent behind the arc, while collecting 1.3 steals per contest. For his efforts, he was named First-Team All-Conference and Second-Team All-State honors. As a sophomore, Adams was the sixth man at Chaparral, as the team went 19-5 to advance to the second round of the state tournament. He averaged 5.8 points, 2.7 rebounds and 1.2 assists per game during the season. Adams was an AAU teammate of fellow UW player Austin Haldorson with the Next Level under-17 Elite Team and was coached by former Duke player Marty Clark.

Personal: The son of Phillip and Stephanie Adams, Josh was born on Nov. 16, 1993, in Phoenix, Ariz. He has a younger sister, Jaylen, and an older brother, Jordan, who was a junior on the Western State basketball team in 2012-13. Josh is majoring in criminal justice at Wyoming. He was also recruited by Northern Colorado, Portland, Boston College, Hawai'i and South Dakota.

Forward
6-9 • 220 • Senior
Washington, D.C.
(Cloud County CC, Kan.)

2013-14: Derek Cooke Jr. (pronounced Cook) started 32 of Wyoming's 33 games in 2013-14. He averaged 6.1 points, 5.8 rebounds, 1.0 assists and 0.9 blocks in 22.6 minutes per game, while shooting a team-high 63 percent from the field. His 62.9 percent (83-of-132) was third in Wyoming single-season history. During 2013-14, he ranked second on the team in rebounds and blocks and fifth in points. Cooke had five games in double-figure points and six games in double-figure rebounds with one double-double. His top performance was 12 points, 11 rebounds and a block against South Dakota on Nov. 22 for his third-straight game with at least 10 boards. Cooke also grabbed a career-high 14 rebounds against South Dakota on Dec. 7 and notched a career-high four blocks against Fresno State on Feb. 18. His one-handed dunk on an alley-oop from Larry Nance Jr. against No. 5 San Diego State on Feb. 11 was featured that night as ESPN SportsCenter's No. 1 play.

2012-13: Cooke served as Wyoming's first big man off the bench during the 2012-13 season, as he was one of three Cowboys to play in all 34 games. He played double-figure minutes in 13 of the last 15 games, including making his first career start at San Diego State on Feb. 19. Cooke scored in double figures in three games and grabbed double-figure rebounds in two contests, including his first career double-double with 12 points and 13 rebounds at CSU Bakersfield on Feb. 6. He also added two steals and two assists. Cooke notched a career-high 15 points versus UNLV on Feb. 23 in a career-high 28 minutes of action. He posted 12 points against Northern Colorado on Nov. 21 and notched 11 rebounds at Colorado State on Feb. 2. Cooke averaged 3.1 points per game, while his 3.8 rebounds were third on the team. He also added 10 blocks and seven steals. He played more than 10 minutes in 22 games during the season.

Before Wyoming: Cooke spent two seasons at Cloud County Community College in Concordia, Kan., before transferring to Wyoming in the summer of 2012. He will have three years of eligibility with the Cowboys. Cooke redshirted the 2010-11 season at Cloud County under head coach Chad Eshbaugh, before excelling in 2011-12. He helped the Thunderbirds to a 25-8 overall record during the season. Cloud County went 11-5 in the Kansas Jayhawk Community College Conference and advanced to the semifinals of the NJCAA Division I Region VI Tournament. Cooke notched team highs of 8.4 rebounds, 1.7 blocks and 55 percent from the floor to go with 6.0 points and nearly one steal per game. Cooke attended Friendly High School in Washington, D.C., where he was a 6-2 wide receiver on the football team and did not play basketball. An NCAA qualifier after graduating, he decided to take a year off from school and hit a growth spurt, before enrolling at Cloud County to play his first organized basketball.

Personal: The son of Derek Sr. and stepson of Tyrone and Debbie Slade, Derek Jr. was born on Aug. 23, 1991, in Washington, D.C. He is majoring in sociology at Wyoming and was also recruited by Missouri State, Evansville and UNC-Greensboro.

RETURNING STARTERS

CHARLES HANKERSON JR.

Guard
6-4 • 230 • Senior
Miami, Fla.
(University of Alabama)

1

RETURNING LETTERMEN

2013-14: Charles Hankerson Jr. was the first guard off the bench in Wyoming's first 27 games of 2013-14, including making a start at New Mexico on Feb. 5, before being suspended for the remainder of the season. He averaged 5.1 points, 1.3 rebounds and 1.3 assists in 17.2 minutes per game, while shooting 43 percent from the field and 40 percent beyond the arc. Hankerson's top performance was 10 points, six assists and three rebounds in a career-high 36 minutes against the Lobos on Feb. 5. His other double-figure scoring game was 14 points against UT Martin in the season opener on Nov. 8. He grabbed a career-high six rebounds against Jackson State on Nov. 18. Hankerson's 40 percent beyond the arc ranked second on the team. He played more than 20 minutes in nine contests.

2012-13: Hankerson sat out the 2012-13 season to fulfill NCAA rules, after transferring to Wyoming from Alabama in the summer of 2012. He helped the team during the 2012-13 season by serving on the scout team.

Before Wyoming: Hankerson came to the Cowboys after playing two seasons at Alabama under head coach Anthony Grant. Hankerson helped the Crimson Tide advance to the postseason in 2011 and 2012. He averaged 3.6 points and 1.5 rebounds while playing over 11 minutes per game in 30 appearances during the 2011-12 campaign. He scored in double digits three times during the season, including a career-high 16 points against Alabama A&M, and led UA in three-pointers four times. Hankerson made a three-pointer in nine of 13 SEC games he appeared in and scored in all but two SEC games. The Tide finished the season at 21-12 after losing to Creighton in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

As a freshman in 2010-11, Hankerson made five starts and 26 appearances while averaging 2.3 points and 1.2 rebounds per game. He played in eight SEC contests during the season and one tournament game. He played 14 minutes per contest during Alabama's run to the NIT title game, as the Tide finished with a 25-12 record.

Hankerson had a standout prep career for Coral Reef High School in Miami, Fla. As a senior, he averaged 31.0 points and 11.3 rebounds per game to earn a four-star rating from Scout.com and was ranked the No. 26 shooting guard prospect in the nation. He was named the Miami Herald 6A-5A Player of the Year as a junior after averaging 21.6 points and 6.0 rebounds, while leading Coral Reef to its first-ever state title. Hankerson was recruited by UW head coach Larry Shyatt while he was at Florida and UW assistants Allen Edwards and Jeremy Shyatt while they were at Virginia Commonwealth University.

Personal: The son of Charles Sr. and Cheryl Hankerson, Charles Jr. was born on April 10, 1992. His father played basketball at Hampton University and is second all-time in school history with 551 assists from 1979-83. Charles Jr. is majoring in communications at Wyoming.

JACK BENTZ

Guard
6-1 • 180 • Senior
Chagrin Falls, Ohio
(University School, Ohio)

2013-14: Jack Bentz (pronounced Bents) continued to serve as a valuable reserve guard for Wyoming during 2013-14, while also helping with the scout team. He played in 18 games during the season, including four games with 10 or more minutes of action. His top performance was against Colorado State on March 8, as he posted two points and tied a career high with four assists in a career-high 22 minutes. Bentz finished the season with eight points, 15 assists, 11 rebounds and four steals, as he averaged six minutes per game. He shot 43 percent from the field on the season. In the classroom, he was named to the NABC Honors Court and the MW Academic All-Conference team.

2012-13: Bentz played in a career-high 21 games for Wyoming during the 2012-13 season, including 11 of UW's 16 Mountain West games and each of the last 10 during the regular season. He notched his first career points against UC Santa Barbara on Nov. 28, going 3-of-4 at the free throw line, and followed with a career-high four assists against Oklahoma Panhandle State on Dec. 8. He tied his career high with three points against Nevada on Feb. 13 and played a career-high 13 minutes against Colorado State on March 6. He finished the season with 19 points, 13 rebounds, nine assists and two steals while playing more than 10 minutes in four games. He also served on the scout team during the season. In the classroom, he was named to the MW Academic All-Conference team.

2011-12: Bentz played in 10 games during the 2011-12 season, averaging two minutes of action. He earned one assist and one steal. Bentz played a season-high four minutes against Western State on Nov. 12.

Before Wyoming: Bentz was a four-time letterwinner for Coach Terry Lipford at University School in Cleveland, Ohio. During his senior season in 2010-11, he averaged more than 17 points, six assists and four rebounds per game to pace the team to a 17-6 record. For his efforts, he earned All-Conference and All-District honors, while also being named team MVP and team captain. Bentz helped guide his team to conference titles his final two seasons, and an appearance in the district and regional tournaments as a sophomore. Bentz and fellow freshman Larry Nance Jr. played on the same AAU team in Ohio. In the classroom, he was on the honor roll all four years, while serving as a School Prefect as a junior and senior. He was awarded the school's Aurelian Award as a senior.

Personal: Bentz was born on Feb. 3, 1993 in Cleveland, Ohio. He is the son of Chad and Jennifer Bentz and has one older sister, Martha, and one younger brother, Sam. He is majoring in marketing at Wyoming.

MATT SELLERS

Forward
6-10 • 240 • Senior
Champlin, Minn.
(Western Wyoming CC, Wyo.)

41

2013-14: Matt Sellers appeared in 12 games for Wyoming in the 2013-14 campaign, including making the first start of his career against Air Force on Feb. 25. He scored 14 points and grabbed 11 rebounds on the season in seven minutes of action per game, as he appeared in the final seven contests of 2013-14. Sellers' top performance was four points, two rebounds, a block and a steal in a career-high 19 minutes at Texas A&M on March 19. Sellers connected on six of his eight free throws during the season.

2012-13: Sellers played in 11 games for Wyoming during the 2012-13 season, before tearing the meniscus in his right knee late in the season. He underwent surgery and rejoined the Cowboys for summer workouts. Sellers' top performance of the season was a career-high 10 points at San Diego State on Feb. 19. He also added one rebound and one assist in nine minutes of action. He played a career-high 10 minutes against Colorado State on March 6, while finishing the season with 10 rebounds, three assists and three blocks.

Before Wyoming: A 6'10" forward, Sellers played one season for coach Trace Bevell at Western Wyoming Community College in Rock Springs, Wyo., before transferring to the University of Wyoming in December of 2011. He attended classes at UW and practiced with the team during the 2012 spring semester.

Sellers averaged 6.3 points and 3.5 rebounds in 2010-11 for the Mustangs, while shooting over 57 percent from the field. Western Wyoming won the Region IX title and qualified for the National Junior College Athletic Association National Tournament for the first time in school history. WWCC finished seventh at the event, after losing a close first game and winning its next three. In the classroom, he was named Academic All-Conference.

Sellers played his AAU ball with Big Game Sports, Minnesota Magic and Minnesota Fury Elite. He also trained with Jim Petersen, a former Houston Rocket and assistant coach of the 2011 WNBA champion Minnesota Lynx.

In the summer of 2011, Sellers was selected to play in the Mullen's Top 100 JUCO Showcase in St. Louis and also in the All-American JUCO Showcase All-Star game in Las Vegas.

A native of Champlin, Minn., Sellers did not play basketball in high school.

Personal: The son of Danny and Shelly Sellers, Matt was born on Aug. 19, 1991, in St. Cloud, Minn. He has one brother, Jason. Matt is majoring in math at Wyoming. He was also recruited by Texas-San Antonio, Iona and Cal Poly.

RETURNING LETTERMEN

JASON McMANAMEN

Guard
6-5 • 195 • Redshirt Sophomore
Torrington, Wyo.
(Torrington High School)

23

2013-14: Jason McManamen redshirted the 2013-14 season and did not play in a game, but did help the Cowboys by serving on the scout team.

2012-13: McManamen made 19 appearances for Wyoming during the 2012-13 season, including making his first career start at Boise State on Feb. 9. His top performance was a career-high 10 points at CSU Bakersfield on Feb. 6, as he went 3-of-3 from the field in a career-high 22 minutes of action. McManamen played in double-figure minutes in six games during the season, including 10 against South Dakota on Nov. 15 when he scored his first career points. He finished the season with 30 points, 10 rebounds, four assists and three steals. In the classroom, he was named to the MW Academic-All Conference team.

Before Wyoming: An in-state product of Torrington, McManamen was the top 2012-13 basketball prospect in Wyoming after a standout prep career for coach Adrian Gross at Class 3A Torrington High School. McManamen earned All-State and All-Conference honors his last three seasons, while helping guide the Trailblazers to two state titles and a third-place finish during that stretch.

During his senior season in 2011-12, McManamen was named the Gatorade Player of the Year for Wyoming and the Panhandle Prep Player of the Year after averaging 19.3 points, 9.5 rebounds, 2.3 assists and 1.4 steals. He shot 49 percent from the floor, including 34 percent from deep, as Torrington won the state title at 23-5 overall.

As a junior, McManamen averaged a team-high 16.5 points to go with 3.1 rebounds and 1.0 assists per game in leading the Trailblazers to an overall record of 25-5 and third-place finish in the state. He shot 49 percent from the floor during the season.

During his sophomore campaign, McManamen led the squad with 19.1 points and 7.4 rebounds per contest en route to a state title and 20-8 overall record. He also collected 2.0 assists per game, while shooting 50 percent. For his efforts, he was named the Scottsbluff Star Herald Player of the Year.

With his AAU team, McManamen was named to the Top of the Rockies All-Tournament team the summer after his sophomore and junior seasons. In the classroom, McManamen was on the Honor Roll all four years and was a member of National Honor Society.

Personal: The son of Mike and Amy McManamen, Jason was born on May 8, 1994, in Powell, Wyo. He has one sister, Daniel, and one brother, Ryan. Jason is majoring in business administration at Wyoming. He was also recruited by Montana, Montana State and Northern Colorado.

TREY WASHINGTON III

Guard
5-11 • 185 • Sophomore
Dallas, Texas
(Woodrow Wilson High School)

5

2013-14: Trey Washington III served as Wyoming's backup point guard during 2013-14 and played in 29 of 33 games during the season. He averaged 3.0 points, 0.9 rebounds and 0.7 assists in 9.7 minutes per game, as he saw double-digit minutes in 13 contests. He shot 39 percent from the field and 33 percent beyond the arc for the season. His top performance was 24 points, five rebounds and three assists in 22 minutes against Western State on Jan. 1. His other double-figure scoring game was 14 points in 23 minutes during the season-opener against UT Martin on Nov. 8, as he became the first true freshman Cowboy to score in double figures in his career debut since Aaron Abrams had 12 points against Northwestern State in 1999-00.

Before Wyoming: A 5'11", 180-pound guard, Washington excelled under the leadership of coach Patrick Washington at Woodrow Wilson High School in Dallas, Texas. During his senior campaign in 2012-13, Washington averaged a team-high 17.4 points and 2.4 steals to go with 3.6 assists and 2.5 rebounds. He shot 51 percent from the field, including making a team-high 54 threes. Washington scored in double figures in 29 of 34 games during the season, including 11 games with more than 20 points. He posted a season-high 34 points against Lincoln on Feb. 13. The Wildcats posted a 26-8 overall record, including 13-2 in district play, and advanced to the regional quarterfinals of the Class 4A state tournament. After the season he was named First Team All-District, including Offensive Player of the Year, and Third Team All-State. Washington also played in the West Coast All-Star Classic after the season. He graduated with a team-high 3.8 grade-point average. As a junior, Washington averaged 14.5 points, three assists and 2.1 steals per game while pacing the Wildcats to a 27-4 overall record.

Personal: The son of Thomas and Janet Washington, Trey was born on June 6, 1995, in Dallas, Texas. He is named after his father and grandfather. He has one brother, Aaron, and one sister, Jadyn. Trey is majoring in criminal justice at Wyoming. He was also recruited by Central Michigan, Santa Clara and SMU.

ALAN HERNDON

Forward
6-9 • 205 • Redshirt Freshman
Colorado Springs, Colo.
(Widefield High School)

32

2013-14: Alan Herndon redshirted his first season in the Wyoming program, but helped the Cowboys by serving on the scout team.

Before Wyoming: A 6'9", 200-pound forward, Herndon was the fifth Colorado native that UW head coach Larry Shyatt had signed since returning to the Cowboys in March of 2011. Herndon played his prep career under coach Brent Garretson at Widefield High School in Colorado Springs, Colo.

As a senior in 2012-13, Herndon averaged team highs of 13.4 points, 9.1 rebounds and 3.1 blocks, while adding 1.5 steals and 1.2 assists per game. He shot 50 percent from the field with a team-high 130 made baskets, as Widefield went 18-7 on the season to advance to the second round of the Class 4A state tournament. Herndon scored in double figures in 16 games, including eight double-doubles. He posted a season-high 27 points against Harrison on Jan. 31 to go with 11 rebounds, as he earned Honorable Mention All-State from the Denver Post.

During his junior campaign, Herndon averaged 9.9 points, 7.4 rebounds and 2.3 blocks per game, as the Gladiators went 11-14. He notched three double-doubles, including a season-high 14 points and 11 rebounds against Harrison and added 11 points and 12 rebounds against Falcon. In a game against Cheyenne Mountain, he had 14 blocked shots. Herndon earned Honorable Mention All-Metro honors from the Colorado Springs Gazette and was Honorable Mention Academic All-State. As a sophomore, Herndon averaged 4.5 points and 3.2 rebounds per game.

Personal: The son of Michael and Chenell Herndon, Alan was born on Nov. 10, 1994, in Colorado Springs, Colo. Herndon's father Mike was a standout for VMI from 1982-85. He is still fourth in school history with 103 blocks and ninth in field goal percentage at 51.6 percent. Alan has one sister, Kim. Alan is majoring in psychology at Wyoming. He was also recruited by Colorado, Denver and Air Force.

ALEXANDER AKA GORSKI

Guard
6-5 • 210 • Freshman
Lund, Sweden
(Sunrise Christian Academy)

3

Before Wyoming: Alexander Aka Gorski (pronounced AAH-ka GORE-ski) signed with Wyoming in May of 2014. The 6-5, 210-pound shooting guard spent the 2013-14 season on the prep team at Sunrise Christian Academy in Wichita, Kan., under the guidance of coach Luke Barnwell.

From the point, he averaged more than 14 points, four assists and four rebounds per game, while shooting 44 percent from beyond the arc. Aka Gorski and the Buffaloes tallied a 22-7 record against junior colleges and other prep schools and ended the season on a 15-game winning streak. Sunrise Christian Academy, which includes high school varsity and junior varsity teams, has had a total of seven other students sign NLIs with NCAA Division I programs in 2014, including Michigan State, Arizona, Wichita State, Ole Miss and Colorado State.

A native of Sweden, Aka Gorski was born and raised in Lund and played for the Uppsala club team. He also played in more than 45 games for the Swedish national team at several levels. During the summer of 2013, he competed for the Swedish under-20 team at the European National Championships, while playing for the under-18 team in the summer of 2012 at the same event. With the U18 team, he was the leading scorer, averaging more than 15 points, five rebounds and two assists per game.

Personal: Alex is the son of Shadia Aka and Piotr Gorski. He was born Dec. 5, 1994. He has one older brother, Sabastian, and two younger brothers, Adrian and Oliver. He also visited St. Joseph's and Loyola Marymount on recruiting trips. He has not declared a major at Wyoming.

JONATHAN BARNES

Forward
6-10 • 240 • Freshman
Parker, Colo.
(Ponderosa High School)

21

Before Wyoming: Jonathan Barnes signed with Wyoming in November of 2013. Barnes excelled for Ponderosa High School under coach Mike Gibbs. Rivals.com ranked the 6-10, 250-pound Barnes as the ninth-best recruit in Colorado.

As a senior in 2013-14, Barnes averaged a double-double of 12.6 points and 10.8 rebounds per game, while adding 3.3 blocks. He shot 56 percent from the field. Against Cheyenne Mountain he posted a career-high 28 points to go with 10 rebounds and three blocks. As a junior in 2012-13, Barnes averaged 14.9 points and 9.5 rebounds, while shooting more than 65 percent from the field. He recorded career-highs with 25 points, 12 rebounds and nine blocks against Pueblo Central in early December and ended the season with six double-doubles. Barnes played his AAU basketball with the Colorado Hawks, but played just three years of organized basketball prior to joining the Cowboys.

Personal: Barnes was also recruited by Pepperdine, Utah, Washington State and LaSalle. He has not declared a major at Wyoming.

JEREMY LIEBERMAN

Guard
6-1 • 175 • Freshman
Calabasas, Calif.
(Calabasas High School)

0

Before Wyoming: Jeremy Lieberman signed with Wyoming in November of 2013. A 6-1, 175-pound point guard, Lieberman was ranked as the 32nd-best recruit in California by ESPN.com and was given three stars by Scout.com.

Lieberman played his prep career under coach Jon Palarz at Calabasas High School. As a senior in 2013-14, Lieberman helped the team finish 28-6 overall and 13-1 in league play to advance to the state tournament. As a junior in 2012-13, Lieberman and the Coyotes went 23-6 overall to advance to the quarterfinals of the section championship. He averaged 18.1 points, six assists and four rebounds per game and had 11 games scoring more than 20 points. During his sophomore campaign in 2011-12, Lieberman helped Calabasas win its first section championship in school history with a 28-4 overall record and 13-1 in league play. He was named the Marmonte League MVP.

Personal: Lieberman was also recruited by Gonzaga, St. Mary's, San Diego and UC Davis. He is majoring in business administration at Wyoming.

TYRELL WILLIAMS

Forward
6-8 • 225 • Freshman
Miami, Fla.
(Norland High School)

44

Before Wyoming: Tyrell Williams signed with Wyoming in April of 2014. A 6-8, 225-pound power forward, Williams completed his prep career in the spring of 2014 by helping Norland High School take its place among Miami-Dade County's all-time best programs.

Under the direction of coach Lawton Williams, the Vikings notched a 27-5 overall record to capture their third-straight Class 6A state championship. Williams averaged 7.2 points, 7.6 rebounds and 2.5 blocks per game as a senior, while shooting 59 percent from the field. He tallied five double-doubles during the season, including 11 points, 16 rebounds and five blocks in the state title game. A three-year starter, Williams posted 595 points, 568 rebounds and 207 blocks in his varsity career.

Personal: Tyrell is the son of LaShante Gay. He was born Dec. 27, 1994 and has one little sister, Tyana Williams. Tyrell was the third Miami native to sign with the Cowboys under Shyatt, joining Jerron Granberry and Charles Hankerson Jr. Williams was also recruited by Stephen F. Austin and Florida Atlantic. He has not declared a major at Wyoming.

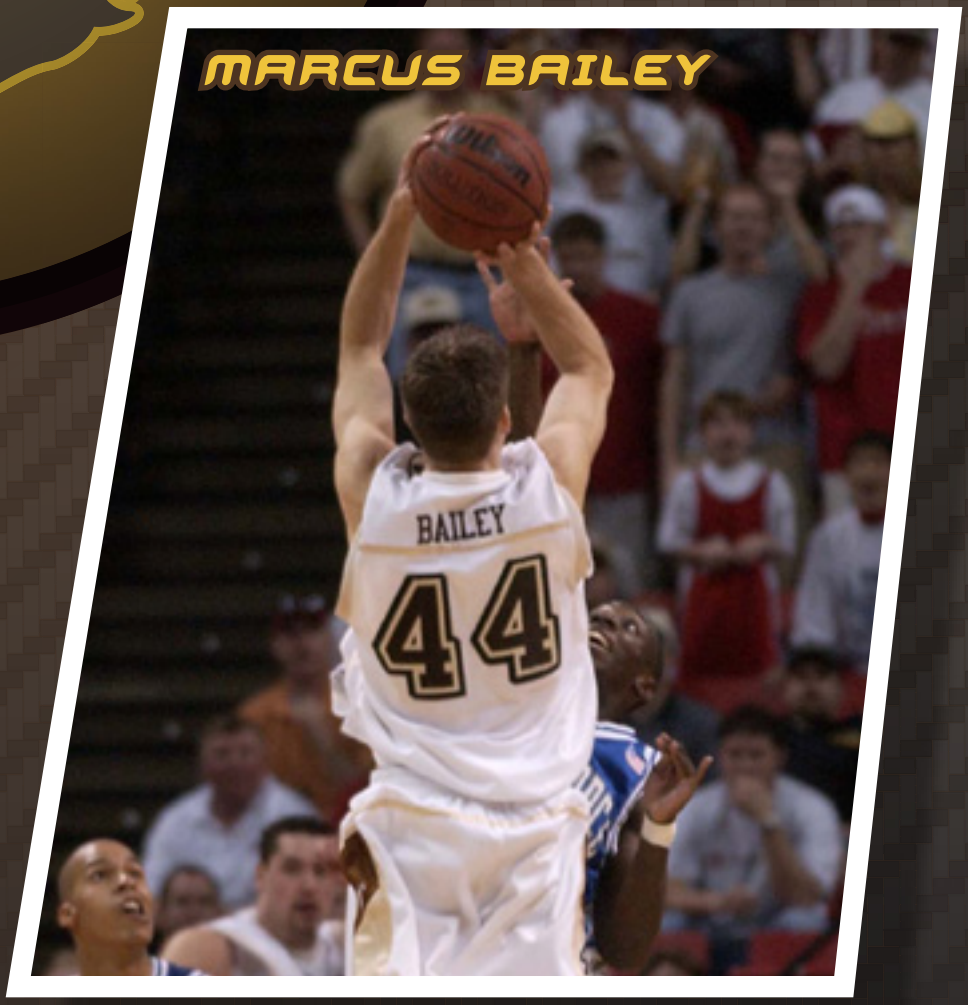
HISTORY & RECORDS

2014 - 2015



OVER A CENTURY OF UW BASK

The fabric of Wyoming's 109-year basketball tapestry is woven with many significant and magnificent contributions to the game, not to mention a multitude of memories to stir the emotions of every Cowboy fan.

There's that 1943 National Championship, the crown jewel of this century. And before that, the 1934 national title, selected by the Helms Foundation.

There's Les Witte, Wyoming's very first All-American, who was so dominating in his time that he was picked as one of the five best players in the nation in 1932 — legendary John Wooden was also one of the five — as well as in 1934.

There's the great All-American Kenny Sailors and his many contributions to the game including the jump shot which changed the game forevermore.

There's Flynn, and his fabulous behind the ear jumper; Tub and his leadership; Fennis and his swagger, and Marcus and his charisma.

There's 16 total All-Americans, 27 professional draft picks; 14 NCAA and 8 NIT postseason apperances.

There are four historic facilities which have housed the Pokes, each in its own right, becoming as hostile and unique as any homecourt in the land, while hosting nearly 900 Cowboy victories during the century.

There are the millions of fans who have loyally, and with a fierce pride, shared the great times, and the not-so-great times, with their beloved Cowboys.

Kenny Sailors steals the ball from St. John's University in the Red Cross game at Madison Square Garden in 1943.

It all began in a small red-brick structure, located near what is now the Arts and Sciences Building, known as the "Little Red Gym". The State Legislature appropriated $15,000 to construct the gymnasium with a capacity of 1,000. While the first game there was played in March of 1905, it was the summer of 1904, when a team representing the university was challenged by a city outfit known as the "Laramie Town Team". UW won the game 17-5, the first ever basketball victory for the brown and gold. It was the lone contest the team would play that year, forever stamping 1904 as the only undefeated campaign in Wyoming hoop history.

The Cowboys finished 52-40 in the Little Red Gym.

It would be five coaches and a decade later before UW would fashion another winning season. John Corbett, a Hall of Famer who would mean so much to Wyoming Athletics through his career, reversed the losing trend in 1915, by directing the Pokes to a 3-2 record. During his nine seasons at the helm, he would coach three winning seasons, stepping down as head coach after the 1923-24 season.

Cowboy basketball would begin to transform from a pastime to a passion during the next six seasons. Under the direction of Stewart Clark and George McLaren, the Cowboys would begin the winning tradition as we know it today. From 1925 through 1930, those two would produce a record of 71-34, and pave the way for the era's "glory years".

It was during Clark's watch that the Cowboys moved into the Half Acre Gym. Construction of the Cowboys' next home began in 1923, at a cost of $150,000. Considered a massive facility, the gym was just about one-half acre in size, and one of the nation's largest and most modern facilities. It had a capacity of just over 4,000. It's official dedication came on January 23, 1925, with Wyoming defeating Utah 31-29 in overtime. Known as "Hell's Half Acre" because of the difficulty for opponents to win there, Wyoming played eight perfect home seasons in the gym in 26 seasons. From January of 1925 through March of 1951, the Cowboys were 222-44 in that building.

For the next 28 seasons following the Clark-McLaren era, a pair of coaches, known for their fierce competitiveness would elevate Wyoming basketball to a national level with successes that never were duplicated during Wyoming's first 100 years of basketball.

The first of those two coaches was a reserved and shy gentleman by the name of Willard "Dutch" Witte who replaced McLaren in 1931. A Lincoln, Neb., native who coached as many as four sports while at Wyoming during the 30's, Witte would coach nine of those 28 landmark seasons. Compiling 134 wins in 185 games, Witte coached the Cowboys to five Rocky Mountain Conference Eastern Division titles and two outright league crowns.

But his most brilliant year came in 1934, when his Cowboys reeled off 20 straight wins—an accomplishment that has not been repeated—and finished the season with a conference championship, a 26-3 record and Wyoming's first national title. The Cowboys were selected as the 1934 National Champions by the Helms Athletic Foundation, the only collegiate voting poll of the era.

That season, Witte's starting five—Ed McGinty, Art Haman, John Kimball, Haskell Leuty and his brother Les — all were named to one All-America team or another. Two seasons earlier Les became Wyoming's first All-American, selected by both the Helms Foundation and the Converse Yearbook.

Under "Dutch", the Cowboys would win 52 consecutive Rocky Mountain Conference games in the Half Acre Gym.

KETBALL

He also coached football for six seasons, and after stepping down from coaching, served as Director of Wyoming Athletics for many years, and was a member of the National Basketball Association Rules Committee.

Witte's outstanding success was only exceeded by his successor, the legendary Everett Shelton.

It was Shelton who transformed Wyoming into a national name, a national power. For 19 seasons, and in two basketball palaces, he stalked the sidelines while directing Wyoming to 328 victories, and winning over 60 percent of his games. He remains the school's all-time winningest coach. In 1982, his life's work earned him basketball's highest honor, induction into the Basketball Hall of Fame.

Ironically, Shelton's first season at Wyoming was a dismal one. After winning his first three games as head coach, he would manage just three more wins the remainder of the year, and finished 6-10. His teams would win 20 or more games seven times following that season.

During his 19 campaigns, Shelton would coach Wyoming to eight conference championships, eight NCAA tournament appearances, and of course, the most famous season of them all, the 1943 National Championship.

The first basketball team from the Rocky Mountains to win an NCAA Basketball Championship, the 1942-43 Cowboys posted a 31-2 record, despite playing just nine home games all season. After losing at Duquesne (43-33) in the year's fourth game, the Cowboys did not lose a game to another collegiate team the remainder of the season. Their only other loss was to the Denver Legion team. The Cowboys outscored their opponents by an average of 20 points per game, and became the first UW squad to reach the century mark by beating Regis, 101-45.

Willard "Dutch" Witte compiled a 135-52 (.722) record from 1931-39

Wyoming opened the NCAA Tournament beating the University of Oklahoma, 53-50, in the first round. They then beat the University of Texas, 58-54, in the semifinals, to advance to the national championship game against Georgetown University. The Cowboys defeated Georgetown, 46-34, to claim the NCAA title.

Two days after winning the NCAA Championship, the Cowboys were asked to take on the winner of the National Invitational Tournament (NIT), St. John's, in a Red Cross benefit game. The idea of the game was to raise money for the country's war effort. It took an overtime period, but Wyoming beat St. John's 52-47, in New York's Madison Square Garden, to earn the title of World Champions of 1943.

While Shelton did a brilliant job of coaching that team, the stars were Kenny Sailors and Milo Komenich. While Sailors was scoring from the outside, Komenich was doing the damage on the inside.

A native of Hillsdale, Wyo., Sailors was a three-time All-American. He earned the honor in 1942 and 1943, and amazingly in 1946, after being away for two years serving in World War II. He was the unanimous selection for College Basketball Player of the Year in 1943, and was named the Most Valuable Player of the 1943 NCAA tournament. After the war, he was again named Player of the Year in '46. In an effort to shoot over his brother on their backyard court at home, he began toying with an offensive move in which he jumped, then shot. He turned it into an art, and is credited in most basketball circles with inventing the modern-day jump shot that revolutionized the game.

There was no basketball at Wyoming in 1943-44, due to World War II, and when it resumed in 1944-45, the Cowboys posted a losing record. But when Sailors and his teammates returned from the war, things were back on track for Wyoming basketball. The Pokes were 22-4 in 1945-46, and won the league. Shelton had great years in 1946-47 (22-6, conference champion and NCAA appearance); 1947-48 (18-9, conference title and NCAA appearance); 1948-49 (25-10, conference title and NCAA appearance); 1949-50 (25-11); 1950-51 (26-11); 1951-52 (28-7, conference title, and NCAA appearance); 1952-53 (20-10, conference title and NCAA appearance); and 1957-58 (conference title and NCAA appearance).

While his teams raised havoc in "Hell's Half Acre", Shelton was an instrumental fundraiser for War Memorial Stadium and Fieldhouse, where he coached for eight seasons, once the Cowboys moved out of the Half Acre.

Construction of War Memorial Fieldhouse began in August of 1949, and had a price tag of an estimated $1,000,000. The Fieldhouse dedication was December 14-15, 1951, against St. Mary's (Calif.) and Indiana. Wyoming beat the Gaels and lost to the Hoosiers. At the time it was built, the Fieldhouse was the biggest structure in Wyoming at 69,680 square feet. It was a War Memorial to all Wyoming World War II veterans. In 31 seasons, the Cowboys played 381 games there.

While much of Wyoming's hoop tradition came in the 1940's under Shelton, he coached many outstanding players through the 1950's as well. Maybe the most notable was a young guy considered to be Shelton's best small player since Sailors. His name was Joe Capua, and he would become Wyoming's all-time single-season scoring leader. A tremendous sparkplug for the Cowboys from 1954 through 1956, the wiry guard from Gary, Ind., was an All-Skyline Conference selection for two seasons. In 1956 he led Wyoming in scoring at 24.5 points per game on his way to Skyline Player of the Year. That season he set a single-game scoring mark that still stands to this day. In a victory over Montana, he scored 51 points on 16 field goals and 19 of 26 free throws. Two nights later, in a win over Utah, he scored 32 points, capping the greatest individual scoring effort in back-to-back games in school history.

Another Shelton star during the late '50's was Tony Windis. A native of Long Island, N.Y., Windis was considered one of the finest shooters ever to play at Wyoming. During his senior year of 1958-59, he averaged 24.4 points per game, the fifth-best scoring season in history. The Hall of Famer was ever-so-close to breaking Capua's record on a January night in 1958 against New Mexico. While the Cowboys were romping to a 101-61 victory in the Fieldhouse, Windis was 19 of 30 from the field and 12 of 14 from the foul line for 50 points, one shy of Capua's record. Of his 50 points that night, 33 came in the second half.

Shelton's Wyoming finale was the 1958-59 season, and, ironically, it was his worst. The Pokes finished 4-22 that year. He would be replaced by one of his most outstanding former players, Bill Strannigan. A native of Rock Springs, the "Silver Fox", as he would be later known, was once considered one of the greatest athletes ever produced in the state of Wyoming. He was an outstanding football and baseball player, but hoops was his game.

OVER A CENTURY OF UW BASK

Strannigan came to Wyoming after coaching at Iowa State where his claim to fame was upsetting Kansas and its great center Wilt Chamberlain. While his career record with the Cowboys was below .500, the popular Strannigan brought exciting teams and players to the Fieldhouse. His most significant season came in 1966-67, when Wyoming earned a spot in the NCAA Tournament. To earn that right, they upset Brigham Young in a playoff at Salt Lake City after the two tied for the Western Athletic Conference Championship.

That team was nothing short of amazing. In mid-February, Wyoming had an overall record of 8-12, and going nowhere. All of a sudden, the Pokes caught fire and won their final six games of the regular season, including WAC road wins at Arizona, Arizona State and New Mexico, and home wins over BYU and Utah. That run forced the playoff game with the Cougars for the league's automatic berth in the NCAA Tournament. The Pokes won that game and drew UCLA and Lew Alcindor in the NCAA's first round. They lost that one, and then a consolation game to Texas-El Paso in the tournament. Strannigan also coached the Cowboys to a pair of NIT appearances in 1968-69 and 1969-70.

During his era, Strannigan brought some of the greatest players in school history to the Wyoming campus including Flynn Robinson, Leon Clark, Tom Asbury, Dick Sherman, Mike Eberle, Stan Dodds, Carl Ashley and Harry Hall.

The best of the best was Robinson. Considered the greatest pure shooter in Wyoming history, Fabulous Flynn could hit his patented one-hand jumper from behind his right ear from any place on the floor. Playing from 1963 through 1965, he remains third on Wyoming's career scoring list with 2,049 points. That total was the career record for 20 seasons. Ironically Robinson and Strannigan were inducted into the University of Wyoming Athletics Hall of Fame in the same class of 1994.

During his 14 seasons as head coach, Strannigan posted six winning records, and six of his teams scored over 2,000 points in a season. His 1965-66 team is still seventh on the single-season team scoring list with 2,366 points in 26 games. That team scored over 100 points 10 times, including 120 against Nevada, the third-highest mark in school history. Strannigan teams were offensive minded.

When he stepped down in 1972-73, Strannigan was replaced by his assistant coach, close friend George "Moe" Radovich. A great player for the Cowboys and another great Cowboy Hall of Famer, Moe's Cowboys struggled during his three seasons at the helm. In 1976 he was replaced by Don DeVoe. The tall, slender DeVoe came to Wyoming after a highly-successful stint at Virginia Tech. Although he stayed just two seasons (he moved on to Tennessee), he brought to Laramie a couple of players who would return Cowboy basketball to greatness, Charles "Tub" Bradley and Kenneth Ollie.

After DeVoe's departure following the 1977-78 season, the Cowboys struggled hiring a head coach, but finally settled on a guy who had produced outstanding success at the University of Montana. His name was Jim Brandenburg, and he would bring Wyoming basketball back to national prominence.

Flynn Robinson, with his behind the ear jump shot, thrilled Cowboy fans from 1963-65.

The first thing he did was to convince Bradley and Ollie to stay at Wyoming. Cowboy fans would be glad he did. By the time those two were seniors, the Cowboys were one of the nation's elite teams. Under Brandenburg's guidance, the Cowboys showed steady improvement. They were 15-12 in 1978-79, 18-10 in 1979-80, and bell-ringers in 1980-81, at 24-6. That team would advance to the NCAA Tournament, beating Howard University in the opening round (78-43), but narrowly losing to Illinois (67-65). It was Bradley and Ollie who keyed the season.

No Wyoming fan will ever forget the final home weekend of the '80-81 season, when the Cowboys hosted Brigham Young and Utah in the Fieldhouse. All three teams were involved in a three-way battle for the league title. The BYU game was played first on Thursday, February 26, and it was an epic. The game went two overtimes before the Cowboys came away with an 86-84 win over the Danny Ainge-led Cougars. One of the important figures in the game was a sophomore guard by the name of Mike Jackson who hit two long jumpers in the final minute-and-a-half of regulation to send the game to OT. But it was Bradley who was something to see. He finished with 31 points, including six of eight from the free throw line in the second overtime. It was an unforgettable night in the Fieldhouse.

KETBALL

The Cowboys were not done. The second-half of the weekend doubleheader brought seventh-ranked Utah to town. Even though the Utes had clinched the crown with a victory at CSU two nights before, the Wyoming-Utah game would be a classic in its own right. This one took on a different complexion, a physical, defensive struggle. With Ollie's 19 points leading the way, the Cowboys beat the Utes, 53-50 to finish with a perfect 14-0 record at home, the first time that had happened since 1946. The two weekend games also concluded the last full season in War Memorial Fieldhouse.

The Cowboys returned to the NCAA Tournament the next season of 1981-82 with Jackson and Bill Garnett leading the way. Wyoming finished 23-7, defeated Southern Cal in the tourney's first round, then lost a tough one to Patrick Ewing and Georgetown. That certainly was not the end of postseason play during the Brandenburg Era.

Without question it was Brandenburg, Bradley and Ollie who ignited the state of Wyoming, and brought Cowboy basketball back. Because of them a new basketball palace was planned and constructed. Sadly, Bradley and Ollie had already graduated before they could play in the new building. But the Arena-Auditorium was very definitely their legacy. Both Bradley and Brandenburg have since been inducted into the UW Intercollegiate Athletics Hall of Fame.

The final game in the Fieldhouse, one of the greatest home buildings the country had ever seen, came on February 13, 1982. Don Haskins and UTEP received the honor of playing the last game, and saddened every Cowboy fan by winning the game, 45-37 in a typical pre-shot-clock Haskins game.

The Arena-Auditorium opened seven days later, on Feb. 20, 1982, the final game of that season. A record crowd of 15,004 jammed into the new place to watch the Cowboys romp over Air Force, 59-29. It would have been difficult to beat the Cowboys on that energy-filled night. It was the final home game for the Pokes' Hall of Famer Bill Garnett, and he went out in style with 16 points and 12 rebounds.

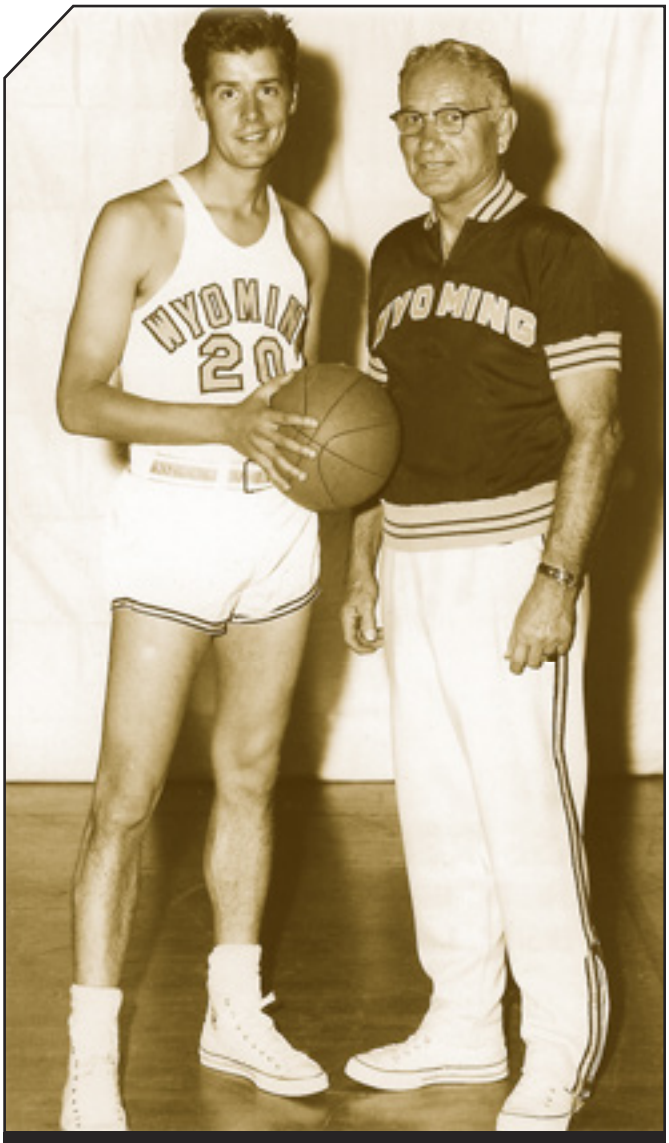
Built at a cost of $15,668,200, construction began in November of 1979. At over 200,000 square feet, the Double A has the largest seating capacity in the state. Over its 31-year history it has attracted 73 crowds of over 10,000, and has been sold out 15 times. Wyoming has more than 340 victories in the building.

After that "Dome of Doom" opening, Brandenburg's real fireworks, however, were yet to come. After three consecutive "quiet" seasons, Brandenburg and his Cowboys made some big noise in 1985-86, thanks to a player who signed at Wyoming after few had recruited him. He would become known as the "Electric Man", and would finish his career as the greatest player in Cowboy history.

Fennis Dembo was a sophomore in 1985, when the Cowboys embarked on one of the most exciting seasons in 40 years. The team actually lost five of its first nine games that season. But from late December through late March, no team in the country played better. The Cowboys won 18 of their last 23 games of the season, to finish 24-12. Down the stretch, each game became more historic than the last.

The first big one came in the final regular-season game at Brigham Young. The winner of the game would host the Western Athletic Conference Tournament. With Dembo playing at his electric best, the Cowboys upset BYU, 65-62. The WAC was coming to Laramie. The Double A never looked better as the Cowboys hosted the first eight-team WAC Tournament. Things did not look so great when UTEP beat the Pokes in the tournament final, 65-64, to earn the automatic NCAA bid. It would be a blessing in disguise, however.

Although they lost in that WAC finale, the Cowboys were selected to host an NIT game with Texas A&M as the opponent, March 13, 1985. They won that game. The crowd and the way they played earned them a second home game. This one came against Loyola Marymount. The Pokes won that game as well in front of an even bigger and more enthusiastic throng. Because of that the Pokes were surprisingly awarded a third home game. The opponent was Clemson, and the winner would go to New York and the NIT semifinals.



Tony Windis and Coach Everett Shelton

A record-setting crowd of 15,028 jammed the Double A to see their Cowboys take on the ACC opponent. Dembo was at his best, as was his sophomore teammate Eric Leckner. The Cowboys overcame an early Tiger lead, and went on to win 62-57. With the band playing "New York, New York", and Dembo sitting on the rim at the west end of the floor, it was final, the Cowboys were going to the Big Apple.

OVER A CENTURY OF UW BASKETBALL

Charles "Tub" Bradley

They would beat Florida (67-58) to play in the finals, only to lose to Ohio State (73-63). But what a magical season it was, and it set the stage for even bigger doings the next season.

The Pokes fashioned another tremendous season in 1986-87, but like the UTEP loss in the tournament the previous year, experienced the low before enjoying the high.

They lost their final three games of the '86-87 regular season, Brigham Young at home and New Mexico and UTEP on the road, to limp into the conference tournament at Albuquerque. But there, they found new life and new ways to win in the WAC tourney, beating Utah by two, UTEP by three, and New Mexico by two in the championship. They had earned the automatic NCAA berth. Making it even more special was the fact the Cowboys were sent to Salt Lake City for the tournament insuring a huge throng of loyal followers.

With Cowboy fans filling nearly half of the Special Events Center, Wyoming upended Virginia (64-60) in the first round of the tournament, and drew UCLA and Reggie Miller in the second round. In one of the best games of his career, Dembo out-dueled Miller to lead the Cowboys to the stunning victory. The Wyoming legend finished with 41 points and nine rebounds, including 16-of-16 free throws, and the Pokes were going to the "Sweet 16" in Seattle. They would lose there to UNLV, which went on to play in the NCAA championship game, but it did nothing to tarnish one of the most sensational seasons in Cowboy history.

Sadly, and surprisingly, Brandenburg left after that season for San Diego State with a cupboard full of outstanding players. He was replaced by Benny Dees, a personable Cowboy basketball letterman who would coach for six seasons. He had the pleasure — despite the immense pressure — of coaching Dembo and Leckner during their senior seasons. That 1987-88 outfit finished with a 26-6 record, winning the WAC Tournament at Provo. The Cowboys defeated San Diego State, Colorado State — on a buzzer shot by Leckner — and UTEP to earn the NCAA's automatic bid. This time things did not go as well. They lost in the first round to a high-scoring Loyola Marymount team in a shootout, 119-115.

Dees would finish with a 104-77 record over six seasons, including a pair of 20-win campaigns, that NCAA Tournament appearance, and one NIT appearance (1990-91). Dembo would finish his career as the most nationally-recognized Cowboy of all time, and clearly the school's best. He holds the career record for points scored, is second in steals, third in rebounds, fifth in assists and seventh in blocked shots.

Joby Wright (1994-97) and Larry Shyatt (1998) would direct the Cowboy fortunes for the next five seasons before Steve McClain would take over, and return Wyoming basketball to national prominence.

In his first six seasons, McClain directed Wyoming through one of its most successful periods in history. In four of those six years the Cowboys appeared in postseason play. He posted the fifth-best winning percentage in school history while his teams averaged 20 wins per season through his first five years. His teams captured two of the first four MWC titles, sharing the 2000-01 season, and winning the 2001-02 outright. The back-to-back regular-season conference titles were the first since the 1980-81 and 1981-82 seasons.

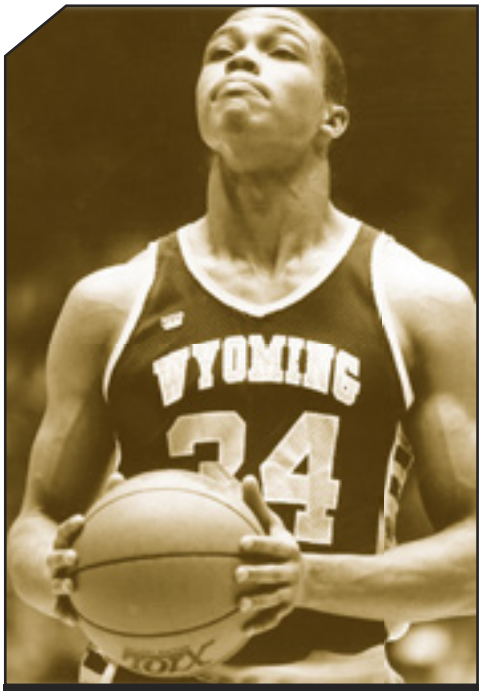
McClain coached two All-Americans in his first six seasons, Josh Davis and Marcus Bailey. Bailey was on his way to one of the great careers in hoop history when it was tragically and prematurely ended during the ninth game of his senior year. In a win over South Carolina, he tore the anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee. He would never play for the Cowboys again.

The high point of the Cowboys' return to national prominence was their appearance in the 2002 NCAA Tournament. It marked their first appearance since 1988.

In one of the most thrilling games ever in the Double A, the Cowboys edged Utah (57-56) before the biggest crowd in school history (16,089) to win the MWC title outright.

After some anxious moments during Selection Sunday, the Cowboys drew number-six-ranked Gonzaga in the first round of the NCAA West Regional in Albuquerque, N.M. The Zags came into the game with a 29-4 record, and were heavily favored. The Cowboys played maybe their finest game of the season in throwing a balanced attack at the Bulldogs. Davis finished with 11 points, 14 rebounds and five blocked shots. Uche Nsonwu-Amadi added 14 points and Bailey 13. It was another one of those wins that ignited the state, and certainly thrust the Cowboys into the national limelight. They would play Arizona in the second round, and lose to the Wildcats, 68-60, finishing the season with a 22-9 record.

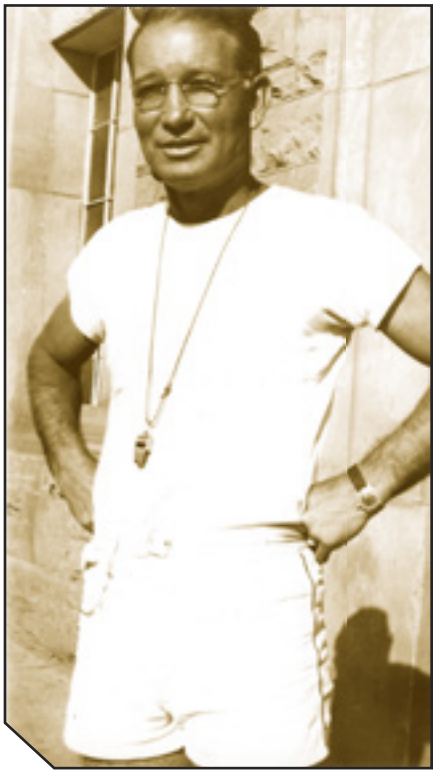
Now, a new century of Cowboy basketball is upon us and head coach Larry Shyatt and his Cowboys have begun returning the program to national prominence. It's exciting to think what kind of history will be made during Wyoming's second century.



Fennis Dembo is Wyoming's all-time scoring leader with 2,311 career points.

EVERETT SHELTON

– FATHER OF COWBOY BASKETBALL



The tradition and history of University of Wyoming Cowboy Basketball has its roots in its greatest coach — Everett Shelton.

Shelton coached the Wyoming Cowboys for 19 seasons from the 1939-40 season through the 1958-59 campaign. He led the Cowboys through their most successful period, highlighted by Wyoming's 1943 NCAA Championship. Coach Shelton ended his UW coaching career having won more games, 328, than any other Poke basketball coach. His all-time coaching record at UW stands at 328-201 (.620).

During his tenure at Wyoming, Shelton captured eight conference championships in: 1941, '43, '46, '47, '49, '52, '53 and '58. He also led the Cowboys to eight NCAA appearances in 1941, '43, '47, '48, '49, '52, '53 and '58.

He arrived in the Rockies in 1936 when William N. Haraway lured Shelton to Denver to coach the Denver Safeway AAU team. Haraway had attempted to hire another college-coaching legend, Henry Iba of Oklahoma A&M (now Oklahoma State). When Iba turned down the offer, he suggested Haraway hire Shelton.

"You couldn't obtain a better coach, including myself," said Iba. At the time, Shelton was coaching his alma mater, Phillips University in Enid, Okla.

In only his second season, Shelton led the Denver Safeway team to its first AAU National Championship in the 1937-38 season. He coached the Colorado Springs Antlers Hotel AAU team in 1938-39 prior to taking the head job at Wyoming.

A great teacher of the game, Shelton is credited with developing the five-man weave offense in 1932. Three of his former players followed him as head coach of the Cowboy Basketball program — Bill Strannigan (1959-60 to 1972-73), who succeeded his mentor; Moe Radovich (1973-74 to 1975-76); and Benny Dees (1987-88 to 1992-93).

Dees was a member of Shelton's final conference championship team at Wyoming and the final Shelton-coached team at Wyoming to make the NCAA Tournament in 1958. Dees has fond memories of Coach Shelton.

"He was one of the greatest disciplinarians I've ever been around, and his self-discipline was extremely strong," said Dees. "He was an immaculate dresser. He did everything by the numbers. He was a very, very strong personality, and was a tremendous influence on helping me decide what I wanted to do in my life. I thought the world of him.

"His teams were very structured, in the Hank Iba mold. He ran what he called a box-weave offense, and you better have the right foot in the right place at the right time if you wanted to play for him. He was way ahead of his time as a basketball coach.

"When I came here, I was one of those unstructured junior-college players who aggravate me now. I can remember the first practice I played in here. One of my teammates got the rebound and kicked the ball out to me. I took off down the court, and I could hear Coach Shelton hollering, 'Somebody stop him, gear him down.' My two years playing under him were up and down. But as time went by and after I left, I found out how special I was to him and how much he meant to me. When I graduated, I could have stayed here at Wyoming as freshmen coach. Probably the biggest mistake I ever made was not staying with him as freshmen coach. He also offered me a job later, after he left Wyoming and was at Sacramento State.

"When I came, he was winding down his career here. We were very aware, as players, of the respect he had from the Wyoming fans. And when you would travel with him and would see the great respect he had from other coaches, you knew you were playing for someone special. He was such a good man."

Shelton's involvement in college athletics also included serving as President of the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) and as Commissioner of the Far Western Conference. He was also instrumental as a fundraiser for the construction of Wyoming's War Memorial Fieldhouse and Stadium. In addition to coaching basketball, Shelton served as UW's baseball coach for several seasons.

Shelton, who died on April 16, 1974, was posthumously honored with the highest honor in basketball in 1980 when he was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass. A former player of his, the legendary Curt Gowdy, was inducted as a broadcaster and has an annual Media Award named after him. University of Wyoming graduate and former Los Angeles Lakers owner Jerry Buss is also in the Naismith Hall of Fame.

At the beginning of the 2008-09 season, Kenny Sailors became the first player in Wyoming basketball history to have his jersey displayed in the Arena-Auditorium Here, Sailors watches as his No. 4 jersey is hung from the rafters in the Double A.

KENNY SAILORS

CREATOR OF THE JUMP SHOT & TWO-TIME NATIONAL PLAYER OF THE YEAR

The oldest living Most Outstanding Player of the NCAA Tournament, Kenny Sailors was inducted into the National Collegiate Basketball Hall of Fame in the summer of 2012.

One of the most distinctive aspects of the modern game of basketball is the graceful athletic abilities basketball players display while in the air. But the game of basketball was not always played that way. It was played with both feet on the ground — that is until a college player from Wyoming changed the game forever with an innovative new technique — the jump shot.

Kenny Sailors grew up in Hillsdale and Laramie, Wyo. When Sailors was in junior high school, he and his older brother of three years, Bud, were playing a pickup game. In a Nov. 20, 1988, feature story in the Anchorage Alaska Daily News, the two brothers described the first jump shot.

"It was just a weapon that came naturally," said Kenny. "Bud was big, and he was fast enough to stop my drive. I just did it (the jump shot) out of necessity."

"We played quite a bit before he figured out he could dribble and get that one-handed shot on me," said Bud. "That was the first time I'd run into it. I was almost six feet five already. I don't care how tall you are, you're either going to foul him or he's going to make it. He was real accurate with it."

The shot that Sailors is credited with inventing, the jump shot, is commonplace in today's game, but was unheard of in the 1930's and 40's when Sailors perfected it at the high school and college level.

"If your feet left the floor," said Sailors, "you were a freak. You were on the bench. It's hard for people to believe."

By the time Sailors entered his junior year at the University of Wyoming, he had become so proficient at his jump shot that he earned All-America honors while leading Wyoming to the 1943 NCAA Championship.

Sportswriters in New York were dazzled by Sailors' shooting style as he led Wyoming to a 46-34 victory over Georgetown in the championship game in Madison Square Garden. Fittingly, he led both teams in scoring with 16 points. He was later presented the Chuck Taylor award, symbolic of being selected the outstanding college player in the nation.

In describing the championship game, the New York Times story read as follows, "Sailors was the key man. His ability to dribble through and around any type of defense was uncanny, just as was his electrifying one-handed shot."

Joe Cummisky, Sports Editor of the New York newspaper PM, wrote, "This Sailors can do everything with a basketball but tie a seaman's knot. And, given time, and a chance to dribble two steps, he'd probably be able to do that. Sailors was the hand who held the S.S. Wyoming together when everybody was figuring Georgetown was in. It's enough to say that Sailors — also voted the most valuable player in the NCAA final as sort of an anti-climactic gesture — is quite a ballplayer. In closing, I wonder if Georgetown has ever heard of that old sea chanty entitled 'Sailors Beware' ?"

Following Wyoming's national championship, Sailors enlisted in World War II where he served in the Marine Corps. Following the war, Sailors returned to Wyoming to finish his eligibility in 1946. Once again, he earned All-America honors, and was named the Helms Foundation College Player of the Year.

Sailors went on to play in the National Basketball Association (NBA), which was founded in 1946 — the year Sailors graduated from UW. He went on to play five seasons for the Cleveland Rebels, Providence Steamrollers, the original Denver Nuggets, the Boston Celtics and the Baltimore Bullets. His salary was a far cry from today's multimillion dollar contracts — Sailors made about $7,000 per season.

Kenny Sailors, who now lives in Laramie and can be seen in the stands at most Wyoming games and practices, will forever be remembered by Cowboy fans as one of the greatest Cowboy players, and he will be remembered in the history of the game as one of the pioneers who made basketball the exciting game it is today.

1943 NCAA CHAMPIONS

It was the greatest basketball season in University of Wyoming history. A team led by three All-Americans and the most successful coach in Cowboy history brought Wyoming great pride by winning the 1943 NCAA Championship.

The 1942-43 basketball season is one that Cowboy fans will never forget. It was also a season that almost never happened. On Nov. 10, 1942, the presidents of several Colorado colleges voted to cancel their universities' 1942-43 basketball and spring sport seasons due to World War II.

In response, UW President J.L. Morrill and the UW faculty athletic committee issued a statement saying, "The announcement by the Colorado college presidents probably anticipates what is inevitable for colleges and universities in this war emergency. Travel restrictions and the forthcoming lower draft age doubtless will make it impossible to conduct any normal program of intercollegiate athletics. Wyoming believes it right and proper for the Colorado institutions to meet the situation as they see fit, and the Colorado decision is accepted without criticism or complaint by our University.

"If it is necessary to discontinue intercollegiate athletics the University of Wyoming will gladly comply. Meantime, it is our hope and intention to undertake the eastern basketball trip which has been scheduled late in December, and to decide jointly with other members of the Mountain States Intercollegiate Athletic Conference at their regular December meeting, the future status of our athletic activities in this region."

It was a time in the country's history that filled everyone with doubts about the future of the country and the world. But, in the midst of much doubt and uncertainty, the Cowboy basketball team, under the direction of coach Ev Shelton and All-American Kenny Sailors, provided Wyoming fans an escape and a reason to cheer.

Wyoming began the season with three wins against a team of all-stars from Fort Warren. The Cowboys then took off on an eastern road swing. The Cowboys road trip east started on a disappointing note losing to Duquesne by the score of 33-43, but that loss would prove to be a very rare occurrence for "The Punchers", as some writers referred to them at the time. After the Duquesne loss, Wyoming ran off a string of 23 consecutive victories on way to a 31-2 record and a 10-0 record in the conference.

Through that 23-game winning streak, Wyoming posted four-game sweeps of rivals Colorado State and Utah, and a three-game sweep of Brigham Young. The Pokes outscored their opponents by an average of 25.6 points per game. It wasn't until the semifinals of the National AAU Tournament in Denver that Wyoming lost its only other game of the season — to the Denver Legion AAU team, 33-41.

Next up for the Cowboys loomed the NCAA Tournament where the Pokes were soon to take their place in college basketball history. In the NCAA Western Regional in Kansas City, Mo., Wyoming began with a 53-50 win over Oklahoma followed by another down-to-the-wire victory over Texas, 58-54. The West Regional Championship earned the Cowboys a trip to Madison Square Garden to face the NCAA Eastern Regional Champion, Georgetown.

The Georgetown game thrilled fans in Madison Square Garden, with seven ties and seven lead changes. Just prior to the half, Kenny Sailors' basket with five seconds remaining gave Wyoming an 18-16 halftime lead. With seven minutes remaining in the game, Georgetown built a 31-26 lead. Wyoming evened the score at 31 following baskets by Jimmy Collins and Sailors and a free throw from center Milo Komenich. The final four minutes belonged to Wyoming. Behind Collins sparkling play off the bench, Wyoming built the lead to a final 46-34 tally, outscoring the Hoyas 15-3 down the stretch.

In an unprecedented matchup two nights later, the Cowboys and St. John's University met in a contest that pitted the NCAA Champion and the National Invitation Tournament Champion. The game, also played in Madison Square Garden, was devised to benefit the Red Cross. Before 18,000 screaming New York fans, who turned out in support of the hometown St. John's Redmen, Wyoming again showed the poise of a veteran team.

Despite suffering the loss of center Komenich, who fouled out shortly before the game ended in a 46-46 tie at the end of regulation, the Pokes pulled together to earn the undisputed title of National Champion. Floyd Volker was the hero for the Cowboys in overtime, scoring five of Wyoming's six overtime points, while the Wyoming defense held St. John's to only one point in the extra period for a 52-47 win.

As the season ended, Sailors, Komenich and Jim Weir earned All-America honors. Sailors was also awarded the Chuck Taylor award as the outstanding college player in the nation.

The Cowboys and their fans had much to be proud of in regard to their championship season, but perhaps nothing brought more pride than the fact that seven members of the championship team went on to serve in the military during World War II.

At a postseason banquet honoring the team in Cheyenne, Wyoming's president J.L. Morrill said, "These fine young men will soon be in the armed services. Who doubts the victory there."

The 1943 National Championship Trophy is displayed in the Arena-Auditorium concourse for all Cowboy fans to see.

WYOMING'S ALL-CENTURY TEAM

In one of the greatest, most meaningful weekends in Cowboy basketball history, the University of Wyoming celebrated 100 years of hoops with a reunion of lettermen, and an honoring of its All-Century team on January 15, 2005. Included in the weekend celebration was a ceremony unveiling a permanent display for the 1943 national championship trophy housed in the Arena-Auditorium.

At halftime of Wyoming's game with Utah, the All-Century team was introduced. Its 10 members were chosen in late November during balloting by UW fans. The team spans more than 60 years of Cowboy basketball, from Kenny Sailors to Marcus Bailey.

All 10 players chosen scored at least 1,000 points, and each is known for some aspect of his career. The all-time scorer (Fennis Dembo), rebounder (Reginald Slater) and shot blocker (Theo Ratliff) are included on the team.

Nine of the 10 members—Ratliff could not make the celebration because his Portland Trailblazers were in the midst of their NBA schedule—were honored at halftime.

The 10 Members of the Team:

Marcus Bailey (Cheyenne, Wyo., 2000-03): Bailey scored in double figures in 72 of 101 career games, and led the Cowboys to two consecutive Mountain West Conference titles, and to the second round of the 2002 NCAA Tournament.

Charles Bradley (Edgewood, Md, 1978-81): Bradley ranked as one of the greatest players in Western Athletic Conference history. He guided the Cowboys to the 1981 WAC title and into the NCAA Tournament. He finished his career as the second-leading scorer, and was a three-time first-team All-WAC selection.

Fennis Dembo (San Antonio, Texas, 1985-88): A three-time All-WAC pick, Dembo was the league's Player of the Year in 1987. He is Woming's all-time leading scorer. He led the Cowboys to the finals of the 1986 NIT, and the 1987 and 1988 NCAA Tournaments.

Bill Garnett (Denver, Colo., 1979-82): Garnett was a four-year starter who helped the Pokes to two NCAA Tournament appearances. He was a WAC Player of the Year, and earned All-American honors.

Eric Leckner (Manhattan Beach, Calif., 1985-88): As a four-year starter at center for the Cowboys, Leckner played a huge role in Wyoming's 1986 NIT runner-up team as well as the 1987 and 1988 NCAA Tournament teams. A two-time first-team selection, he ranks fourth on Wyoming's scoring list.

Theo Ratliff (Demopolis, Ala., 1992-95): UW's all-time leading shot blocker. He was an All-WAC first-team selection for two years in a row. Not only does he own all the shot-blocking records, but he finished in the top 15 in scoring and rebounding.

Flynn Robinson (Elgin, Ill., 1963-65): In three seasons as a Cowboy, Flynn Robinson broke every major UW record except rebounding. He became the 20th collegian nationally to break the 2,000-point barrier.

Kenneth Sailors (Hillsdale, Wyo., 1941-43, '46): The only basketball player in UW history to earn All-American honors three times. He was the unanimous selection for college basketball Player of the Year in 1943. He led the Cowboys to the 1943 NCAA Championship. He is credited with inventing the modern jump shot.

Reginald Slater (Houston, Texas, 1989-92): UW's all-time leading rebounder, Slater was the first player in WAC history to lead the league in rebounding for three straight seasons. He was the 1992 WAC Player of the Year.

Tony Windis (Long Island, N.Y., 1957-59): Windis was one of the finest pure shooters ever to play at Wyoming. He is second all-time in scoring average for a career, averaging 21.2 points per game. He averaged 24.4 points per game during the 1958-59 season, his senior year.

Little Red Gym

(1904-05 through 1923-24)

In January, 1903 the Wyoming State Legislature appropriated $15,000 to construct a gymnasium, "The Gym," capacity 1,000. Called the Little Red Gym because of the color of the building's bricks, this was the first tangible evidence that the governing authorities of the state assumed any responsibility for the recreational side of student life at UW.

The birthplace of Cowboy basketball, the first recorded men's game in the Little Red Gym was an exhibition on March 24, 1905, between two UW squads.

Wyoming was 52-40 in the early years of Cowboy Basketball in the Little Red Gym.

After the Half Acre Gym was built, the Little Red Gym was used primarily as a theatre and assembly hall. It sat where the modern day A&S building is on campus.

"I was a rabid Cowboy Basketball fan as a boy growing up in Cheyenne. I used to watch games in Half Acre from the balcony with my legs hanging over the edge. Les Witte and Ed McGinty were some of my favorite players to watch.

"Hell's Half Acre had one of the biggest playing courts in America at the time and we used to run teams to death there. Teams died at the altitude and we could play with anyone. Even the name, Hell's Half Acre, made it memorable.

"Wyoming had as good of fans as anywhere in America. They always packed the place.

"Wyoming Basketball means a lot to me."

Half Acre Gym

(1924-25 through 1950-51)

Construction of the Half Acre Gym began in 1923, at a cost of $150,000. Considered a massive facility, the gym was appoximately one-half acre in size, and the largest and most modern facility of the time between Syracuse University and California, according to a Branding Iron article from 1924. Half Acre had a capacity of over 4,000, nearly four times the size of the Little Red Gym.

The Half Acre Gym was officially dedicated on January 23, 1925, when Wyoming beat Utah 31-29 in an overtime game.

The gym was also used by fans during away games. Play-by-play action was posted on the "Grid Board", a grid-graph setup on the floor that flashed action by way of telegraph messages from a signal sent by the Western Union Telegraph Company. Crowds of 1,000 or more were reported to attend these events.

Dubbed "Hell's Half Acre" because of the difficulty for opponents to win there, Wyoming played eight perfect seasons in this gym. Coach Everett F. Shelton had three undefeated home seasons in a row in 1941, 1942 and 1943. Other spotless years were 1929, 1930, 1933, 1934 and 1947.

In 26 seasons from January of 1925 to March of 1951, the Pokes won 222 games, losing only 44 in the Half Acre Gym.

Halftime of a Wyoming/Utah game in Half Acre Gym, circa 1930.

"In those days Half Acre was the largest facility in the area. It was a good floor to play and dribble on, even compared to some of the largest arenas in the country. There was lots of room under the baskets so that I could finish my drives and not run into a wall like at some other gyms. Hell's Half Acre was a great place to play.

"We bussed in folks from all over the state for games in that gym. Sometimes there were so many fans that there was no place to put them. Fans were hanging from the rafters. Since they came from so far away UW officials squeezed in as many as they could and then put the rest in other buildings on campus so they could follow the games from there."

War Memorial Fieldhouse

(1951-52 through 1981-82)

Construction of the War Memorial Fieldhouse began in August of 1949. Cost to construct the Fieldhouse was estimated at $1,000,000. Exact cost was not known since the football stadium was built at the same time.

The cornerstone of War Memorial Fieldhouse is laid by UW President George Duke Humphrey, Board of Trustees President Milward L. Simpson and Board members, Sept. 23, 1950.

The Fieldhouse dedication was Dec. 14-15, 1951, with games against St. Mary's (Calif.) and Indiana. UW defeated the Gaels, 78-69, but lost to the Hoosiers by two points, 57-55. Over that weekend, Colorado A&M also played those visiting two teams in War Memorial Fieldhouse.

At the time it was built, War Memorial Fieldhouse was the largest building in the state of Wyoming, 69,680 square feet in area. The Fieldhouse had a state-of-the-art $20,000 removable basketball floor which was raised 16 inches off the tanbark arena floor.

The building is a War Memorial to all Wyoming World War II veterans. An all-purpose facility, the Fieldhouse is still used for its artificial turf surface and 160-meter track.

Jim Brandenburg's 1980-81 Cowboy squad, featuring Charles Bradley and Bill Garnett, went undefeated at home in the Fieldhouse that season.

In 31 seasons of Cowboy Basketball in the Fieldhouse, 1,550,135 fans saw 381 games. The largest crowd, 10,580, coming for a Cowboy win over BYU, 63-59, on Feb. 27, 1953.

A unique multi-use facility, War Memorial Fieldhouse has been used for indoor rodeos, track meets, wrestling events, as well as basketball games and assorted other uses over the last 50-plus years.

"The first Cowboy Basketball game I saw was in the winter of '57. We would drive across the state from Kemmerer to Laramie whenever my family could.

"War Memorial Fieldhouse was a great facility for basketball. The crowd was so close to the floor and that place had its own unique atmosphere. More than once I saw players trip and almost fall when they were getting on the raised floor. The old trophy room on the south end had a lot of great memories.

"I'll always remember the Arizona booster who would bring a drum to the games here. He would later help several of us Wyoming fans get tickets to a sold-out Arizona and Kansas State game, while we were in Manhattan for a meeting.

"The most memorable game for me in that building was in 1981 when we beat BYU in double overtime. Wyoming had Charles Bradley and Bill Garnett and BYU had Danny Ainge. What a great game."

ARENA-AUDITORIUM

(1982-83 through present)

In February 22, 1979, the Joint Appropriations Committee of the state legislature approved $15,668,200 for the new Arena-Auditorium. Construction began in November of that year.

The first Cowboy game played in the Arena-Auditorium was February 20, 1982. Wyoming defeated Air Force 59-29 in the final home game of that season before a capacity crowd of 15,004.

With nearly 200,000 square feet, the Arena-Auditorium still embraces the largest indoor seating capacity within the State of Wyoming.

The Arena-Auditorium under construction, 1981.

Over the 31-year history of the Arena-Auditorium, Cowboy Basketball has attracted 73 crowds over 10,000. There have been 15 sellouts (crowds of 15,000 or more) in the history of the Double A. The largest crowd, 16,089, to date coming March 2, 2002, to watch UW defeat Utah 57-56, for the conference title.

Tagged "The Dome of Doom" by Wyoming fans, the Cowboys have won 73.8 percent of their home games in the Double A. Enetering the 2014-15 season, UW's record in the Double A stands at 356-126 (.738). In non-conference home games, Wyoming is an amazing 194-35(.847), while holding a 162-91 (.640) mark in conference play.

"I saw my first Cowboy game in '44 at the base in Cheyenne. The national championship team played and I got in free since I was a paperboy at the time. I did make it over to Laramie to see some games in Half Acre and that was an exciting place to watch a game. The crowds were always large since we had such a good team.

"One of the best players, if not the best, that I've watched in UW's facilities over the years was John Pilch. He was nothing but elbows and a great player, a tough, tough player.

"Most of the games I've watched were in the Fieldhouse and the Arena. The Fieldhouse always made me a little jumpy because that place would literally shake when the crowd would get going.

"Wyoming's basketball facilities have always been as good as anyone's in the nation, if not better. Laramie has always been a good place to watch a game."

THE MOUNTAIN WEST

2014 - 2015

THIS IS THE MOUNTAIN WEST

From its inception in 1999, the Mountain West has been committed to excellence in intercollegiate athletics, while promoting the academic missions of its member institutions. Progressive in its approach, the MW continues to cultivate opportunities for student-athletes to compete at the highest level, while fostering academic achievement and sportsmanship. Now in its 16th year, the MW has been assertive in its involvement with the NCAA governance structure and has taken a leadership role in the overall administration of intercollegiate athletics.

The Mountain West has marked several achievements over its first 15 years of existence, most notably becoming the first to establish a sports television network dedicated solely to an intercollegiate athletic conference (The Mtn.). The Mountain West also was the first to experiment with the coaches' challenge in the college football instant replay system, and was the first non-automatic-qualifying BCS conference to participate in four BCS bowl games, winning three. In 2011-12, the Mountain West was among the first conferences to implement a league-wide state-of-the-art basketball instant replay system. Additionally, the Mountain West was the first conference to have a member institution with No. 1 overall picks in both the NFL and NBA drafts in the same year (Utah's Alex Smith and Andrew Bogut, respectively in 2005). With UNLV's Anthony Bennett claiming the No. 1 pick in the 2013 NBA Draft, the Mountain West is one of three conferences to have multiple No. 1 NBA draft selections since 2000. Also, with San Diego State's Stephen Strasburg earning the No. 1 pick in the 2009 MLB Draft, the Mountain West is one of two conferences to have the No. 1 selection in each of the NFL, NBA and MLB drafts since the MW was founded in 1999.

The Mountain West is noted for its geographic diversity. Some of the most beautiful terrain and landscapes in the nation can be found within Mountain West boundaries, including the majestic Rocky Mountain range, which borders five MW institutions (Air Force, Boise State, Colorado State, New Mexico and Utah State). The high plains of Wyoming (elevation 7,220 feet – the highest Division I campus in the nation) contrast with the desert cities of Las Vegas and Reno, home to UNLV and Nevada, respectively, while Fresno State, San Diego State and San Jose State add a West coast influence with their locations in Central, Southern and Northern California. The inclusion of the Hawai'i football program extends the Mountain West footprint to the beautiful islands in the Pacific Ocean, while the addition of the women's soccer program at Colorado College gives the MW an additional presence in the Rocky Mountains.

2013-14 IN REVIEW

From the gridiron to the diamond, Mountain West teams enjoyed an outstanding year in 2013-14. In football, the inaugural MW Football Championship game took place on December 7, 2013, at Bulldog Stadium in Fresno, California. West Division champion Fresno State and Mountain Division champion Utah State squared off in this historic contest, with the Bulldogs coming out on top 24-17 for their second straight Mountain West crown. The MW sent a league-record six teams to bowl games, with Boise State, Colorado State, San Diego State and UNLV joining the Bulldogs and Aggies, marking the seventh consecutive year that at least five teams represented the league in postseason play.

Mountain West regular-season champion San Diego State advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA men's basketball tournament for the second time in four years after receiving an at-large berth. MW tournament champion New Mexico earned the league's automatic bid and joined the Aztecs in the NCAA tournament, marking the 14th time in 15 years the Conference has sent multiple teams to the Big Dance. Fresno State and Wyoming also took part in postseason action, playing in the College Basketball Invitational, with the Bulldogs advancing to the championship finals.

Commissioner Craig Thompson

Craig Thompson was the Mountain West Conference's first employee when he was named Commissioner on Oct. 15, 1998. Ever since, Thompson has navigated the Conference through the ever-changing landscape of intercollegiate athletics. As the league enters its 16th season of competition in 2014-15, Thompson continues to create and improve the opportunities for Mountain West institutions and student-athletes to be successful both academically and athletically.

Since the Mountain West opened its doors on January 4, 1999, Thompson has been committed to excellence in intercollegiate athletics, while promoting the academic missions of its member institutions. Progressive in its approach, the MW has flourished under the guidance of Commissioner Thompson and continues to cultivate opportunities for student-athletes to compete at the highest level, while fostering academic achievement and sportsmanship. He has been instrumental in negotiating nearly $300 million in television revenue and has been an innovator in the postseason bowl structure as MW teams have participated in five inaugural bowl games.

As conference realignment spread throughout the collegiate landscape over the past few years, Thompson positioned the Mountain West for the future with the additions of Fresno State and the University of Nevada on July 1, 2012, and San José State University and Utah State University on July 1, 2013. The University of Hawai'i also joined the league as a football-only member on July 1, 2012.

His leadership and vision have helped the conference enhance its television revenue and exposure through revolutionary agreements with CBS Sports Network, Comcast and ESPN, including becoming the first major collegiate athletic conference to launch a dedicated sports channel featuring exclusive programming around its athletic programs, as well as conference news. In the summer of 2006, the centerpiece of this historic relationship was realized with the launch of The Mtn. – MountainWest Sports Network – the first sports network dedicated to serving a single collegiate athletic conference.

Thompson has been instrumental in strengthening the position of the Mountain West in the current Bowl Championship Series (BCS) structure. In 2006, he spearheaded an effort that resulted in better access for the MW and more than doubled the annual BCS revenue on an annual basis for non-automatic-qualifying conferences. The MW has been steadfast in its efforts to find a way to make the collegiate postseason football system fair for all universities.

Through its first 15 years of competition, the Mountain West has participated in 62 bowl games, amassing a 35-27 (.565) all-time record in those contests. Over the last 10 seasons, the MW has captured the Bowl Challenge Cup four times and owns the second-best win percentage in bowl games among the 10 FBS conferences with a 28-19 mark (.595). The MW claimed the 2010, 2009 and 2007 Challenge Cups after finishing each of the three postseasons with 4-1 (.800) records. The league earned its first Cup after registering a 2-1 mark in bowl competition during the 2004 season. The Mountain West is the only conference to win the Bowl Challenge Cup four times since the award's inception in 2002.

Prior to his current role, Thompson served as the commissioner of the Sun Belt Conference for nearly eight years and as the only commissioner of the American South Conference prior to the merger of the two leagues in 1991.

During his eight years at the Sun Belt, he spent the majority of his time addressing national trends and challenges in intercollegiate athletics, television exposure, issues relating to conference membership and promoting corporate involvement. In 1997-98, the Sun Belt instituted a comprehensive sportsmanship policy, which earned Thompson designation as a 1998 Sports Ethics Fellow by the Institute for International Sport. Under Thompson's leadership, the Sun Belt was active in expansion as it continued to strengthen its posture nationally, adding Florida International University and the University of Denver.

Thompson is an integral part of the national landscape in intercollegiate athletics, holding many prestigious NCAA posts. He is currently on the NCAA Football Board of Directors and a member of the BCS administration. Thompson also is a member of the College Football Officiating Board of Managers, LLC, and a consultant for the Task Force on Commercial Activity in Intercollegiate Athletics. He also has served on the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Committee (1995-2000) and was appointed Chair of the committee in July 1999, completing his term September 1, 2000.

Over the tenure of his career, Thompson has been a member of the Executive Committee and the Director's Cup Committee of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA), as well as the governing NCAA Council and various Council subcommittees. He has also played a prominent role in hosting numerous men's and women's NCAA postseason basketball tournaments in St. Louis, Atlanta, New Orleans and Denver.

Thompson graduated from the University of Minnesota with an undergraduate degree in journalism. Following graduation, he spent two years as assistant sports information director at Kansas State University, earning numerous CoSIDA publication awards. He then spent three years as director of public relations and promotions for the NBA's Kansas City Kings.

Thompson and his wife, Carla, have a son (Ted) and a daughter (Emma).

Josh Davis (left) and Marcus Bailey (right) celebrate the Cowboys winning the 2002 Mountain West regular-season championship by cutting down the nets in the Arena-Auditorium.

WYOMING'S CHAMPIONSHIP HISTORY

The Cowboys have won two Mountain West Conference Championships in the 15 seasons UW has been a member. Wyoming won its 18th conference championship, capturing the 2001-02 Mountain West title outright. It was Wyoming's 16th regular-season championship in men's basketball. UW's other two conference championships came in the form of conference tournament titles in 1987 and '88. The Cowboys also tied for the MW regular-season title in the 2000-01 season with Brigham Young and Utah.

Welcome to the University of Wyoming, and Cowboy basketball. The information on these pages is presented to assist the working media in its coverage of the 2014-15 season. The Wyoming Media Relations Office will be available through the year to assist you.

Credential Requests

Requests for the media area and photo credentials should be directed to the University of Wyoming Media Relations Office. To ensure consideration, either e-mail, fax or mail a request on company letterhead at least one week prior to the game you wish to cover. No requests will be processed later than noon on the day prior to the game. Credentials will either be mailed, or will be held at the Will Call Window, located at the west side of the Arena-Auditorium at the athletics ticket office.

Arena-Auditorium

Wyoming's Arena-Auditorium is located on Willett Drive in Laramie, just north of War Memorial Stadium and the Fieldhouse complex. Media parking is located to the southwest of the Double A, in the "FA" lot. Will Call is located at the Willett West entrance to the Double A, and is open 90 minutes prior to game time.

Media Facilities

Media members are seated at concourse level on the south side of the Arena-Auditorium. Additional photographic services are provided through the UW Photo Service (307-766-3257). Contact Ted Brummond, Director, for more information. The Media Room is located at the top of the truck ramp and to the left up the hallway to the locker rooms. Phone lines are available on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Postgame Procedures

Members of the Media Relations staff will escort media representatives to the media/hospitality room at the top of the truck ramp. Head Coach Larry Shyatt and requested players will come to the room. Opponent coaches and players will be interviewed outside their locker room.

Practice

Media members are required to check with the Wyoming Media Relations Office prior to attending any Cowboy practice session.

Coach & Player Interviews

Please work through the Media Relations Office to schedule interviews with Wyoming head coach Larry Shyatt and student-athletes. Shyatt will be available on weekly teleconferences during the season. Media Relations will notify media of the dates. The number is 307-766-1007 and the access number is 2256#.

Video Services

For video highlights, please contact Dennis Trapani, Creative Video Director, at (307) 766-6982.

Real Time Data Rights Policy

The acceptance of media credentials is an acknowledgment of the University of Wyoming's rights to the game and play-by-play coverage and your agreement to abide by any restrictions the University of Wyoming may place on real-time play-by-play coverage and use of comprehensive game statistics. Failure to abide by these restrictions implemented by the University of Wyoming may result in revocation of press credentials. The University of Wyoming reserves the right to grant approval for distribution of real time play-by-play, game-related statistics and information through the Internet.

Media Relations Office

The Wyoming Media Relations Office is located at the north end of the Athletics Building in the Fieldhouse North Addition. The office is located on the second floor, room 206.

CREDITS

Credits: The 2014-15 University of Wyoming basketball media guide was produced by the University of Wyoming Athletics Media Relations Office. The guide was edited by Amil Anderson, Assistant Media Relations Director.

Many thanks to: Media Relations Office Manager Diane Dodson; Associate Athletics Director Tim Harkins; Assistant Media Relations Directors Amy Dambro, Andy Chapman and Nick Seeman; and graduate assistant Kate Striepe.

Production Credit: We are tremendously grateful to the wonderful people at Modern Printing Company of Laramie for the pride they take in producing University of Wyoming publications. Our thanks go out to everyone at Modern Printing.

Design Credit: To Hugh West of Modern Printing Company, we cannot thank you enough for the time and dedication you put into designing the 2014-15 Basketball Media Guide. Every year you make our guides a better publication.

Photography Credits: One group of people we cannot thank enough are our friends at UW Photo Service — to Ted Brummond, your service to us is invaluable. We appreciate all of your excellent work and the long hours you put in to serve our needs.
