2009 YALE FOOTBALL SEASON OUTLOOK

A new era in Yale football began in early January with the introduction of its 33rd head coach, Tom Williams. However, the transition into 2009 does not necessarily mean rebuilding. Despite the fact that more (15) starters have graduated than return (14), a balance of experience (36 lettermen) on both sides of the line returns to New Haven in the dawn of the Williams era. The current Bulldogs include seven starters on offense, six on defense and the punter/placekicker, while many of the key special teams players from last fall's 6-4 (4-3 Ivy) squad are also back. Three 2008 All-Ivy League picks are among those current Eli senior starters: captain and LB Paul Rice, SS Larry Abare and K/P Tom Mante. Here is a breakdown by position of the returning players, with last year's statistics in parentheses.

BULLDOG OFFENSE

Quarterback (1 starter back, 1 lost)

Brook Hart, a 6-foot-5 lefty, saw significant snaps in three of the first five games as a sophomore (sharing with Ryan Fodor '09) before starting the last five. His progression was noticeable enough over the last five for experts to consider him as the Ivy's top returning QB. He finished the year 87-for-140 (62.1) with 919 yards, seven TDs (most by any Ivy returnee) and just two interceptions. Sophomore Bryan Farris, who saw JV action last fall, finished the spring as a real candidate to start in 2009. Senior Rich Scudellari has served as the holder for the Bulldogs on special teams the past two seasons, but competed for the starting QB job last fall. The addition of 6-foot-4, 220-pound Nebraska transfer Patrick Witt, who is a sophomore this fall, makes the position solid.

Receiver (3 starters back, o lost)

An experienced receiving corps returns as five of the top six pass-catchers from last year line up this fall. Senior H-back John Sheffield (43-359, 2 TD) led the Blue in receptions, but explosive junior WR Jordan Forney (26-374, 5) had more yards and scores. Senior WR Reid Lathan (21-238, 1) may be the fastest of the Yale receivers, while junior Peter Balsam (12-299, 1) had the team's longest play of 2008, a 78-yard catch and run against Brown. Each of the four led the Bulldogs in receiving at least two games apiece.

Junior kick-returner Gio Christodoulou (2-16) made the move to offense halfway through last season and should figure into the passing game more effectively this year with his quickness. Sophomore speedster Chris Morris looks to find varsity reps in the new offense as well, while classmate Lars Knudsen could also be a factor.

Tight Ends (2 starters back, o lost)

In the most experienced position on the field for the Bulldogs, every player who saw time at the tight end spot returns for the new season. Alongside the versatile H-back John Sheffield, A.J. Haase and Chris Blohm provide key pieces to Yale's offense. Haase, a senior, started the first eight games last season and was a threat in the passing game catching 10 balls for 96 yards. Blohm (1-15), a junior, started the final two contests of the season and provides a physical blocking presence. Junior Caleb Smith, who played mainly on special teams, should add depth and competition to this stacked position.

Offensive Line (1 starter back, 5 lost)

The success of the passing game could depend on Yale's biggest offensive concern, the offensive line. Five of the six players who had starts in 2008 have graduated, and there was not much success opening holes for Bulldog runners last fall. Senior Cory Palmer, who started at right tackle in six games last season, can play either guard or tackle anchoring the new line. Senior guard Jon Charest saw significant action last season and is the second most experienced of the lineman. Junior tackles John Pedersen and Alex Golubiewski ran with the second unit last season and both have tremendous size to potentially bookend the line. Junior center Jake Koury showed promise last season prior to a season ending knee surgery, while sophomore center Evan Ellis lined up with the third team. Every position is up for grabs, however, as senior Ben Meyer, juniors Nate Blair and Nathan Burow, and sophomores Colin Kruger, Mike McInerney, Jeff Fell and David Bollweg contend for varsity reps. The Blue also has sophomore 6-foot, 277-pound UCLA transfer Gabriel Fernandez in the mix.

Brook Hart, QB

A.J. Haase, TE

John Sheffield, HB

Running Back/Fullback (o starters back, 2 lost)

The new era in Yale football is not only the first year of a new coaching staff, it's the beginning of play-calling without school rushing king and four-time All-Ivy RB Mike McLeod. However, the Bulldogs return a large stable of ball carriers of varying styles in what looks to be a wide open contest for carries this fall. Senior Ricky Galvez has compiled 337 rushing yards and 47 receiving yards in the past two seasons as McLeod's first backup and has great quickness and agility to thrive in the open field. Senior Jordan Farrell missed last season due to injury, but rumbled for 239 yards in 2007 as a powerful between the tackles runner with tremendous speed. However, senior Rodney Reynolds, who excelled in JV action last fall, ended the spring as the starter.

Senior Brandon Scott (7-17) is another scatback with great ability to hit the corner. Sophomore Alex Thomas (1-1), who had a great spring, blends both power and speed into a compact frame and should see increased action after a year of development.

This season also marks the third consecutive season in which the Bulldogs will line up a new lead-blocker after the graduation of hard hitting Shebby Swett. Junior Shane Bannon, who is now more of a TE/H-B, appeared in eight games last season and caught a five-yard touchdown pass against Georgetown. Sophomore Josh Kozel ended the spring as the starting FB.

BULLDOG DEFENSE

Defensive Tackle (2 starters back, 3 lost)

The defensive line will be without the reigning Ivy sack leader Kyle Hawari and four-year letterman Joe Hathaway, but the cupboard is far from bare. Senior DT Tom McCarthy (20-9-29, 8 TFL) returns after starting every game last season and posting an interception. Senior Matt Kelleher (4-2-6, FR), former Connecticut prep player of the year as quarterback, and juniors Joe Young (4-4-8) and Pat Moran (10-4-14) all saw significant time in the rotation and look to compete for the other starting spots. Touted sophomore DT Jake Stoller (1-1-2) was limited in his New Haven debut with an injury, but could have a big impact in 2009. Junior Matt Phelan and sophomores Carter Deutsch, Reed Spiller and Michael Anderson provide depth and competition to the position.

Outside Linebacker (1 starter back, 1 lost)

The outside linebacker position loses the versatile All-Ivy performer in Brady Hart, but senior Justin Oplinger (11-5-16, 4 TFL) lined up as the right OLB with the first unit in all 10 contests last fall. Athletic and hard-hitting senior Travis Henry (26-16-42, 5 PBU), who managed to lead all OLBs in tackles despite just three starts, looks for more regular time. Senior Max Newton and junior Sean Williams appeared in every game last season in a reserve role and should provide competition and great depth to the position. Senior Jack Wallace, juniors Pat Ruwe, Matt Messer and Eric Gresham, and sophomore Matt Battaglia all look to compete for playing time under the new coaching staff.

Inside Linebacker (o starters back, 2 lost)

Not only has Yale lost both of its starters from 2008, it is without its MVP, all-American and three-time All-Ivy pick in captain Bobby Abare. However, senior captain Paul Rice (23-15-38) moves up from CB and could be a force in this area. Rice, who tied for the team lead in interceptions (4) last fall, moved around the secondary throughout the season and provides a physical presence. Senior LB Tim Handlon (10-7-17, INT, FR) saw increased action throughout last season and looks poised to take over leadership of the linebackers. Sophomore Jordan Haynes (2-0-2) was a regular special teams player last season and should compete for the other starting spot. Also in contention are juniors Andrew Pappas and Dan Walsh as well as sophomores Cliff Foreman, Wes Moyer and Nick Schneider, while Austin Pulsipher returns from a two-year Mormon Mission.

Tom McCarthy, DT

Travis Henry, OLB

Defensive Backs (2 starters back, 2 lost)

The stalwart Bulldog secondary, posting consecutive seasons in the top-five nationally in pass efficiency defense, loses a pair of three-year starters in CB Casey Gerald and FS Steven Santoro, both 2008 All-Ivy picks. All-Ivy performer SS Larry Abare (45-28-73), who has an extra year after receiving a medical hardship waiver, plays a key role as the most experienced back. Abare, twin brother of former captain Bobby Abare, provides a hard hitting presence in the backfield. Junior cornerback Adam Money (26-4-30), who started a game in place of the injured Rice, had a pair of picks including a 60-yard touchdown in the season opener and looks to compete for the vacated cornerback spot. Also eyeing the spot is sophomore corner Drew Baldwin (2-1-3), who won the Charles Loftus Award as Yale's most valuable freshman and finished the spring as a starter. The new staff will field a wide open race as juniors Chris Stanley and John Pagliaro and sophomore Geoff Dunham all saw varsity action in the defensive backfield last season, while classmate Jesse Reising (4-1-5) moves over from LB. Junior Marcus Wallace ended spring practice as a starter after playing JV in 2008. Sophomores Bedford Booth, Josh Grizzard, Dawson Halliday and Sudiptho Paul also return to provide depth in the secondary. bulldog special teams

Place Kicker/Punter (1 starter back, o lost)

Senior Tom Mante was very successful in his first season of handling both the punting and placekicking duties. He connected on eight of 12 field goals and 23 of 25 PATs in his first year of placekicking for Yale, but Mante's best work came after the long snaps. His 41.0 average and 25 punts inside the 20-yard line helped the Blue win the field position battle. Junior Alex Barnes will compete for both jobs. QB Bryan Farris is also a capable punter and kickoff man. Senior long snapper DT Matt Kelleher and holder QB Rich Scudellari return as well.

Kickoff/Punt Return (3 starters back, 1 lost)

When he has his hands on the ball, junior Gio Christodoulou is one of the league's most exciting players. He averaged 9.9 yards on 29 punt returns including a 71-yard score at Cornell. Christodoulou returned 13 kickoffs for a 20.7 average. CB Adam Money had a 20.8 mark on five kick returns.

YALE'S JOEL E. SMILOW '54 HEAD COACH OF FOOTBALL

Tom Williams, a defensive assistant for the NFL's Jacksonville Jaguars who also has 11 seasons of college coaching experience, was named the Joel E. Smilow '54 Head Coach of Football at Yale last January. Williams became the 33rd coach in the illustrious history of Yale Football.

"I am thrilled for this tremendous opportunity to be the head football coach at such a historic and fabled institution. I would like to thank President Levin, Tom Beckett and all of the people involved in this process for their time and efforts. I am dedicated to bringing an exciting brand of football that the Yale players and fan base will both embrace and enjoy," said Williams, who is only the third Yale head coach in the last 44 years.

Williams, 39, takes over a Yale program that was the first in all of the sport to win 800 games. The Bulldogs currently have 853 victories, which ranks second among Division I schools. He replaces Jack Siedlecki, who retired in late November after 12 seasons and a 70-49 record as head coach

Williams recently completed his first season as defensive assistant and second season with the Jaguars. He joined the team in 2007 as assistant special teams coach after spending the previous 11 seasons as an assistant coach on the collegiate level.

Williams served as co-defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at San Jose State for the 2005 and 2006 seasons. He engineered a Spartans defense that decreased its points allowed by 21.8 from 2004 to 2006. Three of his linebackers finished among the WAC's top-10 tacklers in 2005, while SJSU won nine games in 2006, including a victory in the New Mexico Bowl

Williams spent three seasons as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Stanford (2002–04). He coached linebackers, served as the co-defensive coordinator in 2002 and 2003 and was the associate head coach in 2004. He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Stanford in 1993 under Pro Football Hall of Famer Bill Walsh while earning a master's in university administration (1995).

"This is the start of an exciting era for the Yale Football Program," said Tom Beckett, Yale's Director of Athletics, who was an associate AD at Stanford when Williams was a student. "Tom impressed me as a student-athlete at Stanford and has made a lasting impression on many collegiate and pro players since then. He is a great fit for this job."

In addition, Williams spent three seasons (1996–98) at Hawaii, including one as defensive coordinator. He also served as linebackers coach at the University of Washington from 1999 to 2001 and helped the Huskies to three consecutive bowl games, including a 2001 Rose Bowl win. That capped an 11-1 season and earned the team a No. 3 national ranking.

"Tom has extensive experience as a coordinator on the college level, and that along with the knowledge he gained in the NFL will serve him well as a head coach. He has shown strong leadership qualities and is a very good communicator. I'm happy for Tom; this is a great opportunity for him.

I wish Tom and the Yale team great success," said Jack Del Rio, the head coach of the Jaguars.

Williams, who has been involved in six different Bowl Games, graduated from Stanford in 1992 with honors as a history major and as a Rhodes Scholar candidate. As a junior and senior, Williams started 15 games at linebacker for the Cardinal. In his final season (1992), he was a team captain on a Stanford club that went 10-3, won a share of the Pac-10 championship, beat Penn State in the Blockbuster Bowl and finished No. 9 in the national polls. He was a District 8 Academic All-American and first team Academic All-Pac 10 after his junior and senior seasons and was an honorable mention All Pac-10 selection as a senior.

Williams, who was on the San Francisco 49ers practice squad in 1993 before getting into coaching, attended Trinity Valley College Prep in Fort Worth, Texas, where he earned all-state honors in football, basketball and baseball.

He is the first African American Yale head football coach and the second ever in the Ivy League.

Williams and his wife, Tonya, have four children, Grace, Tre, Ana and Lauren.

Rick Flanders Associate Head Coach (Defensive Backs)

Rick Flanders, coaching his 13th season at Yale in 2009, was the defensive coordinator the entire time under former head coach Jack Siedlecki. He was promoted to associate head coach in March 2007. Flanders spent the first seven years focusing on defensive backs and the last five working with linebackers. Under his watch, the Yale defense was ranked No. 1 in the FCS in scoring defense the last two seasons. He came to Yale from the University of Pennsylvania, where he was secondary coach for five seasons. He is a 1979 University of Maine graduate who helped coach Penn to Ivy titles in 1993 and 1994. Flanders' defensive backs helped the Penn defense rank nationally in both seasons, including No. 1 in pass efficiency defense for 1994. Before heading to Philadelphia, Flanders was head coach of the undefeated 1991 Dean (Mass.) Junior College team and was the linebacker and special teams coach at Lafayette from 1987 to 1990. In 1986 he was the defensive coordinator at American International College, after three seasons as linebacker and defensive back coach at SUNY-Albany, where he served as head lacrosse coach for two years. The Concord, N.H., native earned a degree in physical education from Maine and a master's in education from the University at Albany. Flanders and his wife, Wendy, live in Madison and have three children: Ashley, Lindsey and Alexander.

Doug Semones Assistant Head Coach (Outside Linebackers)

Doug Semones, who has been coaching football for 24 years, joined the Yale staff as assistant head coach and the outside linebackers coach. Semones, a former Arena Football League and Indoor Professional Football League assistant, came to the Bulldogs after spending two years as the defensive coordinator at Sandpoint High School in Idaho. His college coaching experience came from three years (1996-98) at the University of Hawaii, where he handled the defensive line, special teams and tight ends. Semones also worked the 1994 and 1995 Hula Bowls (collegiate all-star games). He left the Rainbows to be the defensive coordinator for the IPFL Hawaii

Hammerheads for a season before serving in the same role with the AFL 2 Hawaii Islanders. Semones was also the head football coach at Kahuku High School in Hawaii, where he also coached baseball, wrestling and track. He was an all-league defensive back at California Lutheran University, where he received his B.A. in 1983. He and his wife, Linda, have two children, Jake and Catherine.

Ikaika Malloe Joel E. Smilow '54 Defensive Coordinator (Linebackers)

Ikaika Malloe (pronounced E-KAI-ka ma-loy), Yale's new defensive coordinator, has been a defensive assistant coach at four schools, including his last stint at Hawaii. He was special teams coordinator and handled the Warriors' defensive tackles for the 2008 season. Malloe, who interned with the Jacksonville Jaguars in the summer of 2009, was the defensive line coach at Texas El Paso (UTEP) from 2004 to 2007, special teams coordinator and defensive line coach at Western Illinois from 2001 to 2003 and student assistant, graduate assistant and program coordinator at his alma mater, Washington, from 1997 to 2002. He graduated in 1996 and earned numerous awards as a Husky defensive back. Malloe was named the 1992 Stapp Memorial Award recipient (most inspirational on team), earned the team's hardest hitter honor for three straight years, won the 1993 Jarvis Award, was named most improved defensive back in 1994 and was named player of the week by USA Today in 1995. He and his wife, Tara, have three children: daughter, Taylor and sons Jordan and Isaiah.

Brian Stark Joel E. Smilow '54 Offensive Coordinator (Quarterbacks)

Brian Stark, who spent the last nine years at San Diego State, coordinates the Bulldog offense and coaches the quarterbacks. Stark was the Aztecs' quarterbacks coach for four seasons, director of football operations for four and had one-year stints as passing game coordinator (2005) and tight ends coach (2008). As the QB coach from 2002 to 2005, he helped SDSU signal-callers average nearly 3,100 yards (259 yards per game) and 18 touchdowns per season. Four SDSU players under his guidance became NFL draft picks, while his quarterback protégés hold 18 SDSU and Mountain West Conference records. Before he joined the Aztecs, Stark spent a year as offensive program coordinator at Washington, where he also assisted with the Huskies' recruiting efforts. Prior to that he served as student assistant coach and assistant recruiting coordinator at his alma mater, Colorado, from 1994 to 1999. Stark, who has worked with five bowl (Holiday twice, Fiesta, Cotton, Aloha) teams, was involved in coaching the running backs with both the Buffaloes and Huskies. After graduating from Colorado in 1997, he began his coaching career by serving as offensive coordinator at Brighton (Colo.) High School. He helped coach 12 firstteam all-league and three first-team all-Colorado selections while with the Bulldogs. Stark, a Fort Morgan, Colo., native, and his wife, Sarah, have a son, Jackson.

Duane Brooks Assistant Coach (Defensive Line)

Duane Brooks, who coaches his 13th season at Yale in 2009, handles the defensive line. His coaching has consistently produced all-league players who help anchor the defense. Over the past three years, Brooks's linemen have garnered six All-Ivy honors, including all three starters on the 2007 squad. Brooks has also mentored four captains since coming to Yale. He came to Yale after serving as the coordinator of football operations at the University of Pennsylvania in 1996. He was the defensive end coach for Allegheny College in 1995 and had the combined role of defensive line coach and recruiting and special teams coordinator for Johnson C.

Smith University in 1994. A 1987 graduate of the University of Maine, Brooks played four seasons for the Black Bears. He began his coaching career at Colby College as the defensive line mentor (1992) before going back to his alma mater in 1993 to coach the defense and serve as video coordinator. He is single and lives in New Haven.

Roderick Plummer Assistant Coach (Special Teams, Running Backs)

Roderick Plummer, the special teams coordinator and defensive backs coach for Florida A&M University in 2008, takes over special teams and the running backs for the 2009 Bulldogs. He led a Rattler special teams unit that finished No. 1 in kickoff returns (26.7), was seventh in punt return average (15.06) and ranked fourth in kickoff return coverage, while his top return man established numerous FCS records. Plummer has also been an assistant coach at Idaho (2007), Kutztown (2002, 1994-95), Wayne State (2001), Michigan State (1999-2001), Hampton (1996–98), James Madison (1996) and Cornell (2003–06). He also has NFL experience as a minority coaching fellow with Jacksonville (2008), San Francisco (2003) and Cleveland (1992). Plummer, who graduated from Washington State in 1993, spoke about special teams at the 2008 AFCA Coaches Convention and participated in the 2005 AFCA coaching excellence clinic. The Oakland, Calif., native was inducted into the St. Mary's College High School Athletic Hall of Fame in 2002. Plummer has a son, Alexis.

Mike Preston, Yale's new offensive line mentor, comes to New Haven after a oneyear stint as tight end coach at Wingate (N.C.) University. Preston was the defensive line coach at Lewis & Clark (Ore.) College in 2008, which followed two years as offensive coordinator at the University of La Verne (Calif.). He worked with the La Verne offensive line, tight ends, running backs and defensive line over that span. Preston has experience at every level of NCAA and NAIA football. His other coaching stops include Western Illinois University (2003–04, assistant defensive line coach), Ottawa (Kan.) University (2002–03, offensive line coach) and the University of Washington (1997–2000, offensive assistant and assistant offensive line coach). While at the University of Washington, where he graduated in 2005 with a B.A. degree in Sociology, Preston helped the Huskies win the 2001 Rose Bowl. He is married to the former Carrie Hawes.

Mike Sanford Assistant Coach (Tight Ends, Recruiting Coordinator)

Mike Sanford, who spent the last two years as an offensive assistant for the Stanford football program, is the Bulldogs' tight ends coach and recruiting coordinator. Sanford worked alongside Cardinal head coach Jim Harbaugh in tutoring the Stanford signal-callers. He was instrumental in the development of Tavita Pritchard, who made his first career start against USC in 2007, a 24-23 upset for the Cardinal. Sanford is a former Boise State quarterback who played on four bowl teams during his five-year career. With Sanford, the Broncos compiled a 54-9 record, including an 11-1 mark during his senior campaign in 2004. After his playing career, Sanford was a student assistant for the Broncos the following spring, assisting his former position coach and current head coach, Chris Petersen, with the quarterbacks. Before coaching in the Pac-10, Sanford served as an offensive graduate assistant at the University of Nevada Las Vegas (UNLV) for two seasons (2005–06). While in Las Vegas, Sanford worked with his father, Mike, the Rebels' head coach and a longtime veteran of the collegiate and professional coaching ranks. The younger Sanford worked primarily with the Rebel quarterbacks and served as the specialists coach. Sanford received his bachelor's degree in political science from Boise State in 2005. He married the former Anne-Marie Mitchell in May of 2005.

Kefense Hynson Assistant Coach (Wide Receivers)

Kefense Hynson (pronounced ka-FIN-say hen-SON), who spent the last three years as an assistant coach at Western Washington and was an intern with the Oakland Raiders in the summer of 2009, mentors the Yale receivers. He was the Western Washington offensive coordinator the last two seasons; his 2008 Vikings offense averaged 404 yards of total offense and nearly 30 points a game, while his quarterbacks threw 29 touchdown passes. Hynson, who has experience working with collegiate quarterbacks, receivers, running backs and defensive backs, was an assistant at Minnesota State in 2005 and director of football operations at Boise State in 2004, the year the Broncos went 11-1, won the WAC title and were ranked in both major polls. He also had assistant jobs at Quincy (2004) and Willamette (2003) and did an NFL minority coaching fellowship with Seattle in 2008. Hynson, an honorable mention All-American defensive back at Willamette, was a three-time Northwest Conference All-Star, NWC Freshman of the Year and team captain before graduating in 2003. He is a native of Oakland, Calif.

THE GAME

Pride is not the only thing at stake when Yale and Harvard meet. A look at the (big) games:

The football teams of Yale and Harvard have produced one of the greatest and most famous rivalries in the history of collegiate athletics over the last 125 meetings. From the first game in 1875 – a rugby-style battle in New Haven – to the 1968 battle of unbeatens at Boston that finished in the most famous of college football ties, this intense competition renders all statistics obsolete. Pride is not the only thing at stake when the Bulldogs and Crimson meet.

Since the Ivy League was officially formed in 1956, these archrivals have had a bearing on 25 Ancient Eight titles on the last weekend of the season.

Blue Takes Opener

Eight Bulldogs were involved in their first collegiate scores and the Yale offense reeled off 498 yards in a 47-7 win over Georgetown on Sept. 20. The Eli defense, which picked off three passes, held Georgetown to 46 net rushing yards. WR Jordan Forney caught TD passes from both Ryan Fodor and Brook Hart on the way to earning Walter Camp Yale Player of the Game honors.

Red Ends Skid vs Yale

Cornell jumped out to a 14-0 halftime lead with a pair of short TD runs and held on for a 17-14 win over Yale before a homecoming day crowd of 13,142 at Schoellkopf Field in the Sept. 27 Ivy League opener for both schools. The Elis scored on a 71-yard punt return by Gio Christodoulou and a seven-yard pass from Ryan Fodor to WR Jarrett Drake, which cut the deficit to three with 1:16 to play. Cornell, which beat Yale for the first time in four years, recovered Yale's onside kick and ran out the clock.

Yale Boots Holy Cross in OT

A 34-yard field goal in the second overtime by Tom Mante, followed by a defensive stand that forced Holy Cross into a missed 37-yard field goal, gave Yale a 31-28 win over the Crusaders on Oct. 4 at the Yale Bowl, Class of 1954 Field. The Bulldogs had to regroup after letting a 14-point lead slip away in the fourth quarter. The Yale defense limited Holy Cross to 55 rushing yards and picked off three passes, including one returned 32 yards for a touchdown by LB Bobby Abare.

Elis Pass Big Green

TB Mike McLeod rushed for 135 yards and a score but the Bulldogs broke free by throwing three TD passes on a 220-yard passing day in a 34-7 Yale win at Dartmouth on Oct. 11. Ryan Fodor completed 14 of 26 passes while the Bulldog defense picked off three passes and returned one (Paul Rice) for a score. Yale also got a TD pass from Brook Hart. The visitors outgained the home team 358 to 230 in total offense while holding the Dartmouth rushing attack to 38 yards.

Rams Edge Elis

The Yale defense stole the show with four turnovers and a TD but the Bulldog offense couldn't cash in on its chances in a 12-10 loss on Oct. 18 at Fordham. Adam Danko's 20-yard FG with 14 seconds left was the gamewinner on a day the Elis were outgained 435 to 182 and had the ball 17 minutes less than the Rams. Yale had leads of 3-0 and 10-7 but couldn't hold on to them. An 86-yard fumble return for a score by captain LB Bobby Abare gave the Blue its second lead before Yale TB Mike McLeod was tackled in his own end zone for a safety that cut the margin to one.

Quaker Kicker Beats Yale

Andrew Samson missed his first attempt from 24 yards in the second quarter but hit all three (22, 27, 31) tries in the second half as Penn erased a 7-0 deficit to take a 9-7 win at the Bowl on Oct. 25. On a day of defense, the Quakers (186) and Bulldogs (92) combined for just 278 yards of total offense and 18 first downs while no scoring drive was longer than 41 yards. Yale CB Paul Rice returned an interception 25 yards on Penn's first possession to set up Yale's only TD. HB John Sheffield caught a lateral pass in the flat and scored on what was listed as a seven-yard run.

Bulldogs Bite Lions

TB Mike McLeod scored on runs of one, two and eight yards and his defensive teammates recovered two fumbles and picked off a pass as Yale beat Columbia 27-12 before 11,870 at the Bowl on Nov. 1. The Lions had the edge in total offense (316-269) and first downs (15-14) and cashed in on all three trips to the red zone, but the Bulldogs made a few big defensive stands and held onto the ball for all but 2:45 of the fourth quarter to take their seventh straight against the New York squad. DT Kyle Hawari had two sacks and two forced fumbles, LB Bobby Abare had a sack and CB Paul Rice intercepted Columbia on its first offensive play.

Bulldogs Shut Down Brown

The defense ruled in its most impressive performance of 2008, a 13-3 Yale win at Brown Nov. 8. Tom Mante booted two field goals and QB Brook Hart connected with WR Peter Balsam on a 78-yard scoring play that put the game away with 3:49 left. The Bears, held to their fewest points at home since a 30-0 loss to Yale in 1996, had a chance to go 5-0 in Ivy play but could not solve an Eli defense that had two interceptions and stopped Brown on 12 of 18 third downs. Yale kept Brown off the scoreboard for the first 21:08 without the services two of its All-Ivy players, LB Bobby Abare and CB Paul Rice. Abare missed most of the first half with an injury while Rice sat out all but a few plays.

Bulldogs Blank Tigers

Yale, which has not allowed a Princeton TD the last two meetings, earned its first shutout of the Tigers since 1937 with a 14-0 victory on Nov. 15 in the rain at the Bowl. The Bulldogs turned a fumble recovery by senior SS Larry Abare and a interception by his twin brother, LB Bobby Abare into both scores. WR Jordan Forney caught both of QB Brook Hart's TD passes, from five and 12 yards, in the first half and then left the rest to the Yale defense which limited Princeton to 153 total yards and just 23 minutes of possession time. It was the Elis' first shutout since a 13-0 win over Dartmouth in 2005.

Defense Shines in Loss

With an Ivy League title at stake for both teams in bitterly cold conditions and swirling wind, Harvard beat Yale 10-0 at Harvard Stadium on Nov. 22. The Yale defense came up with big plays all day but the offense managed just 90 yards. LB Bobby Abare (6-12-18) and DT Kyle Hawari (7-8-15) led the Blue in tackles while SS Larry Abare and CB Adam Money both recovered fumbles.

^{*}League Game

NCAA Division I Athletics at Its Best

The Ivy League is truly one of a kind.

While the 2008-09 academic year marked the 53rd season of official Ivy League athletic competition, the rivalries and traditions in the League go so much deeper. The first official athletic competition between League schools was more than 150 years ago (1852, Harvard-Yale rowing) and the first football game was more than 130 years ago (1872, Columbia-Yale).

In the early days, the Ivy schools dominated college athletics. All-America status, Olympic medals and national championships were routinely earned by students from the Ancient Eight.

Today, Ivy Leaguers continue to claim national titles and Olympic medals - as well as All-America and Academic All-America status. Hundreds continue athletic careers as professionals and hundreds more as coaches and athletic administrators. The student-athletes also are among the nation's leading public servants, doctors, journalists, lawyers, scientists, scholars, business leaders, entertainers, educators and so much more.

The success of the League comes without athletic scholarships while maintaining self-imposed high academic standards. The Ivy League has demonstrated a rare willingness and ability, given the pressures on intercollegiate success throughout the nation, to abide by these rules and still compete successfully in Division I athletics.

Sponsoring conference championships in 33 men's and women's sports, and averaging more than 35 varsity teams at each school, the Ivy League provides intercollegiate athletic opportunities for more men and women than any other conference in the country. All eight Ivy schools are among the "top 20" of NCAA Division I schools in number of sports offered for both men and women.

The term "Ivy colleges" was first used in October, 1933 by Stanley Woodward of the New York Herald Tribune to describe the eight current Ivy schools (plus Army). On Feb. 8, 1935, Associated Press sports editor Alan Gould first used the exact term "Ivy League."

The first "Ivy Group Agreement," signed in 1945, applied only to football. It affirmed the observance of common practices in academic standards and eligibility requirements and the administration of need-based financial aid, with no athletic scholarships. The agreement created the Presidents Policy Committee, including the eight Presidents; the Coordination and Eligibility Committee, made up of one senior non-athletic administrator from each school; and the committee on Administration, comprised of the eight directors of athletics.

The Ivy Presidents extended the Ivy Group Agreement to all intercollegiate sports in February 1954. Their statement also focused on presidential governance of the League, the importance of intra-League competition, and a desire that recruited athletes be academically 'representative' of each institution's overall student body. Although that is the official founding date, the first competition year was 1956-57.

The League office is housed in Princeton, N.J., under the leadership of Executive Director Robin Harris, who joined the group in the summer of 2009.

Yale celebrates a regatta victory in 2007. The 1852 boat race between Yale and Harvard was America's first intercollegiate athletic competition.

ALL-AMERICANS

Four times in this decade, a Yale player has been named a first-team Football Championship Subdivision (Division I-AA) All-American by the American Football Coaches Association. Running back Mike McLeod was selected in 2007, following offensive tackles Ed McCarthy (2006) and Rory Hennessey (2004) and tight end Nate Lawrie (2003). Beginning in 1889, Yale men have earned exactly 100 places on the consensus All-America team (now limited to the Bowl Subdivision) recognized by the NCAA. That is the nation's highest total. Notre Dame is runner-up with 94. Several other Yale players were named by one or more NCAA-recognized selectors but were not consensus choices.

ALL-IVY

Running back Mike McLeod, Yale's career rushing leader, led a four-man Bulldog contingent on the 2008 All-Ivy first team. Also honored were offensive tackle Darius Dale, defensive end Kyle Hawari and linebacker Bobby Abare. Yale also won four spots on the second team. Starting with 1956, the league's first year of round-robin competition, Yale has had 185 first-team selections.

BEECHER, HARRY

Henry Ward "Harry" Beecher, class of 1888, a grandson of the famous preacher and abolitionist of the same name, was captain of Yale's undefeated 1887 team. He was the most prolific touchdown-maker in Yale's first 135 seasons of football, scoring 66 in his career (1885-87), 33 in one season (1886) and 11 in one game (vs. Wesleyan, Oct. 30, 1886).

"BOOLA, BOOLA"

The origins of this song have been shrouded in myth. For years "boola" was thought to be a Hawaiian expression of joy—but there is no "b" sound in the Hawaiian language. Upon further review, it appears three Yale students, Allan M. Hirsh, F.M. Van Wincklen and A.H. Marckwald, wrote the words of "Boola, Boola" to fit the tune of "La Hoola Boola"—a song by Bob Cole and Billy Johnson, African-American entertainers who performed in New Haven in the 1890s. What is certain is that the Yale version made its public debut at the Harvard game at old Yale Field on Nov. 24, 1900, and has remained a staple at Yale games and songfests for more than a century.

BOOTH, ALBIE 1932

He stood only 5 feet 7 and weighed just 144 pounds, but among athletes of his era (1929-32) Albie Booth was a giant. Captain of Yale's football and basketball teams (he turned down the baseball captaincy), he brought out huge crowds even in the Depression years. Booth gained instant fame as a sophomore when he scored all three touchdowns and kicked the conversions in a 21-13 upset of Army before nearly 75,000. In three seasons he rushed for 1,428 yards, amassed 1,138 yards on kick returns and intercepted eight passes. Yale's record during those years was 15-5-5. He scored 17 touchdowns, kicked 24 extra points and made four field goals, including one that beat Harvard 3-0 in 1931. Booth subsequently became one of college football's top referees, officiating big games such as Army-Navy and the Sugar Bowl. He died in 1959.

BOWL GAMES

Under the Ivy League Presidents' Agreement of 1954, Yale cannot take part in postseason football games. That doesn't mean Yale can't compete against bowl-caliber teams. Yale's 1981 team, which went 9-1, numbered Navy's Liberty Bowl squad among its victims, 23-19. Yale's most recent encounter with a bowl team was in 1996 when the Bulldogs met Army, bound for the Independence Bowl. Yale led 7-6 with 48 seconds left in the first half before Army took control to win 39-13. Yale was represented in a bowl game, however, as recently as this past January. The field judge for the 2009 Fiesta Bowl was Bob Sokolowski '69 of Meriden, Conn., a lawyer who was a backup halfback on the 1968 team. He also has worked the Rose and Sugar bowls in recent years.

"BRIGHT COLLEGE YEARS"

This song serves as Yale's alma mater, though the words "alma mater" don't appear in its three verses. . Traditionally just the first and last verses are sung, the latter ending with the famous line, "For God, for country and for Yale," accompanied by a ceremonial waving of handkerchiefs. The tune is that of "Die Wacht am Rhein" ("The Watch on the Rhine"), a 19th-century German anthem composed by Carl Wilhelm.

CAMP, WALTER 1880

Revered as the "father of American football," Walter Camp also was the guiding spirit of Yale football through most of its first half-century. As a member of the football rules committee, Camp altered British rugby by introducing the neutral zone, the concept of downs and yards to gain, yardage penalties, and scoring in points instead of goals. As a player at Yale, he was on teams with a combined record of 30-1-6; as Yale's coach, he had a 67-2 record and employed the earliest form of the T formation. As an author, he made millions of Americans fitness-conscious through his "Daily Dozen" exercises. Though he had business interests that took him away from active coaching—he became treasurer and later president of the New Haven Clock Co.—he remained on the Yale scene for decades as an adviser to coaches and overseer of Yale's athletic finances. His service on the football rules committee extended from 1879 to the day of his death, which occurred between sessions of the committee's meetings in 1925.

CHAMPIONSHIPS, IVY

Since the Ivy League began round-robin play in 1956, Yale has won 14 championships—six outright (1956, 1960, 1967, 1977, 1979, 1980) and eight shared (1968, 1969, 1974, 1976, 1981, 1989, 1999, 2006). Only Dartmouth (16) has won more lvy titles than Yale.

CHAMPIONSHIPS, NATIONAL

Yale has won recognition as national champion or co-champion in 26 seasons from one or more of the selection systems listed by the NCAA Record Book. For nine seasons, Yale was the unanimous choice of those selecting—1876, 1882, 1883, 1888, 1891, 1892, 1900, 1907 and 1909. Yale was consensus champion for 1884 and 1894. Yale also was deemed champion or co-champion by at least one selector for 1872, 1874, 1877, 1879, 1880, 1881, 1886, 1893, 1895, 1897, 1901, 1902, 1905, 1906 and 1927. The 1927 squad lost only a 14-10 game to Georgia, also tabbed by some selectors as national champion for that year.

CO-CAPTAINS

They're one thing you'll never see on a Yale football team. Yale tradition calls for a single leader. He's elected by the lettermen prior to the annual team banquet.

COY, TED

Exactly a century ago, Yale went undefeated, untied and unscored-on, thanks in no small measure to its All-America fullback, Ted Coy. A 190-pound power runner, he also could pass, drop-kick field goals and pin opponents back with his punting. He was the 1909 team's scoring leader despite missing four games because of an appendectomy. He also was on the baseball and track teams and sang in a glee club. Walter Camp, in selecting his "all-time" All-America eleven, chose Coy as his fullback. Coy died in 1935.

COZZA, CARM

A legend in football circles, Carmen L. Cozza was Yale's head coach for 32 seasons (1965-96) and was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in December 2002. His record was 179-119-5, with 10 whole or partial lyy League championships. At the time he retired, he stood 12th in victories among active Division I coaches. He now serves as the analyst on WELI's radio broadcasts of Yale football.

"CRADLE OF COACHES"

Though now used by Carm Cozza's alma mater, Miami of Ohio, this sobriquet could as easily have applied to Yale through much of its football history. From the game's beginnings to the World War II era, many of the great coaches were Yale products. Among the most renowned were Walter Camp, with a combined record of 79-5-3 at Yale and Stanford; George W. Woodruff, who pioneered the use of pulling offensive linemen and had an .846 winning average at Penn, Illinois and Carlisle; Dr. Harry Williams, who did almost that well (.786) in 23 years at Army and Minnesota and developed the "Minnesota shift" offense; Amos Alonzo Stagg, another innovator who won 314 games as a head coach over 57 seasons; and Howard Jones, who coached undefeated teams at Yale and Iowa and won five Rose Bowls at Southern California. The first coaches at Penn. Dartmouth, Indiana, Duke, Lehigh, Stanford, California and Washington all came from Yale. Yale currently is represented in the head coaching ranks by Dick Jauron, a former NFL star who now coaches the Buffalo Bills. Jauron formerly coached the Chicago Bears and was named Associated Press Coach of the Year when the Bears won their division in 2001.

DIANA, RICH '82

Few football players have embodied the lvy League ideal of the student athlete more than Dr. Rich Diana '82. An All-America running back, as well as center fielder and leadoff man for a baseball team that reached the NCAA Regionals, he graduated cum laude from Yale with a major in molecular biochemistry and biophysics. His medical school education was financed in part by an NCAA postgraduate scholarship and a Super Bowl check earned with the Miami Dolphins. Today he's a partner in Connecticut Orthopaedic Specialists, the group that treats Yale football players. He also has served a number of other teams, including the Boston Red Sox.

DOWLING, BRIAN '69

The only Yale football player immortalized by a comic strip, Brian Dowling '69 led Yale to Ivy championships in 1967 and 1968 and led Division I in passing efficiency in 1968 with a rating of 165.8. Though injuries limited his Yale career to 18 games (one a cameo appearance as a wideout), Dowling remained among Yale's top 10 in career total offense until 2007. Throughout high school (St. Ignatius in Cleveland) and college, his teams never lost a game he was able to finish. Also a varsity baseball and basketball player at Yale, Dowling was the basis for the character B.D. when cartoonist Garry Trudeau '70 launched his "Bull Tales" strip in the Yale Daily News. Trudeau kept B.D. when "Bull Tales" morphed into today's widely syndicated "Doonesbury."

"DOWN THE FIELD"

In the fall of 1990 Bill Studwell, a librarian at Northern Illinois University and self-styled expert on fight songs, spent more than a month listening to recorded songs and ranking the most inspiring. Yale's "Down the Field" placed fourth, trailing only the Notre Dame Victory March, Michigan's "Hail to the Victors" and "On, Wisconsin." First sung at Princeton's University Field in 1904, "Down the Field" was composed by Stanleigh Friedman '05 and written by C.W. O'Connor.

DRAFT CHOICES

Forty-two Yale players have been drafted by National Football League teams, starting with Bob Train, an end tapped by Detroit in the draft's first year, 1936. Two Yale alumni have been first-round choices: guard Fritz Barzilauskas, picked by the Boston Yanks as the third player overall in December 1946, and running back Calvin Hill, taken by the Dallas Cowboys in 1969. Linebacker Jeff Rohrer (Dallas, 1982) was a second-round selection.

EIGHT HUNDRED

By defeating Dayton 42-6 on Sept. 16, 2000, Yale became America's first football program—high school, college or pro—to reach 800 victories. Yale beat Michigan (now the leader in victories, thanks to 12-game seasons) to the 800 milestone by two weeks.

The game ball from the 800th win sits in the College Football Hall of Fame

ELIS

Once a common nickname for Yale teams, "Elis" has been replaced in large part by Bulldogs since the rise of women's sports at Yale. Eli, of course, is a male name, in this case short for Elihu. It was Elihu Yale, a merchant with the British East India Co. in Madras, who gave the Collegiate School of Connecticut three bales of goods, including books and textiles, in 1718. Sale of the textiles raised 562 English pounds and enabled the school to erect its first building in New Haven. In gratitude, the trustees changed the school's name to Yale College.

FATHERS AND SONS

Numerous sets of fathers and sons have played football for Yale, and the tradition continues this year with two sons of former Bulldog starters on the squad. They are John Pagliaro, whose dad, also John, was the 1976 and 1977 Ivy League Most Valuable Player; Patrick Ruwe, son of Pat, the 1982 captain. Other notable pairs have included Ed McCarthy, All-America offensive tackle in 2006, and his late father, Rick, an All-Ivy offensive guard in 1967; George Moseley, All-America end in 1916, and his son Spencer, All-America center and captain in 1942; Walter Camp, who played from 1876 to 1882, and Walter Jr. (1911-12), both halfbacks; Abbott and Glover Lawrence, All-Ivy tackles in 1963 and 1989, respectively, and Chuck and Tom Mercein, fullbacks respectively in 1962-64 and 1984-86.

FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP SUBDIVISION

Yale is a member of the NCAA's Football Championship Subdivision, formerly known as Division I-AA. As a member of the Ivy League, Yale was moved to Division I-AA when the NCAA reclassified the league in 1982. Yale has continued to meet teams from the Football Bowl Subdivision (formerly Division I-A) periodically.

FRESHMEN

Under Ivy League rules, freshmen became eligible for varsity football in 1993. Prior to that fall, freshmen had been barred from varsity competition since 1906 with the exception of the World War II era (1942-46). Yale maintained a separate football program for freshmen through the 1992 season

HANDSOME DAN

Traditionally Yale's bulldog mascot is known as Handsome Dan, the name given to the first Yale bulldog in 1889. Thanks to Chris Getman '64, caretaker of Yale's bulldogs for more than 22 years, Yale acquired a new dog in 2007—Sherman, who reigns as Dan XVII. Handsome Dan appears at football games and other Yale events, including graduation. The original Yale bulldog was purchased by a student, Andrew B. Graves, class of 1892S, from a New Haven blacksmith for $65. Graves thought the dog looked like "a cross between an alligator and a horned toad" but gave him a good scrubbing and named him Handsome Dan. He followed his master to classes and to games and—tradition says—barked whenever Yale scored. He also won awards at some 30 dog shows before his death in 1898. His body was preserved by a taxidermist and today occupies a special case in the trophy room of Payne Whitney Gymnasium.

Handsome Dan IX graced the cover of Sports Illusrated in Nov. 1956

HEFFELFINGER, PUDGE '91

Any all-star team for football's first 100 years includes William Walter "Pudge" Heffelfinger, class of 1891, who made All-America three times and failed to make it as a freshman only because the

All-America hadn't been invented yet. Despite his nickname, Heffelfinger wasn't pudgy—he was 6 feet 3, about 210 pounds and fast. He revolutionized offensive guard play as the first lineman to pull out and block on end sweeps. He also would drop into the backfield and carry the ball and is known to have scored 27 touchdowns. In the defensive line he stood like a modern linebacker, turning blockers aside with his hands. Heffelfinger's football career began early—as a high school student in Minneapolis, he played for the Minnesota varsity, permissible then-and continued long after his Yale years. In 1892 the Allegheny Athletic Association paid him $500 to play a game in Pittsburgh, making him football's first pro. He coached at Lehigh, California and Minnesota. In 1916, at the age of 48, he scrimmaged against the Yale varsity and gave Mac Baldrige, a starting tackle, two broken ribs. At 53, Heffelfinger played 56 minutes alongside collegians in an all-star game in Columbus, Ohio. He died in 1954 at 86. Of him the late sports writer Grantland Rice remarked, "His kind will never pass this way again."

HEISMAN TROPHY

Larry Kelley '37 and Clint Frank '38 were the first players from the same college to win back-toback Heisman Trophies. Kelley, an offensive and defensive end and Yale's captain, caught 17 passes for 372 yards in 1936 as the Bulldogs went 7-1. For his career he had 49 receptions for 889 yards and scored 13 touchdowns. Later a prep school teacher and fund-raiser, he died at 85 in the summer of 2000. Frank, a tailback, defensive halfback and Kelley's successor as captain, rushed for 630 yards and scored 11 touchdowns in 1937, when Yale was 6-1-1. For his career he rushed 321 times for 1,244 yards and completed 59 passes for 937 yards and 9 touchdowns. He became a Chicago advertising executive and died in 1992. Frank had been fifth in the 1936 Heisman voting. Among more recent Yale players, Brian Dowling was ninth in the 1968 Heisman balloting and Rich Diana was 10th in 1981.

HILL, CALVIN '69

Known to many sports fans today as the father of former NBA star Grant Hill, Calvin Hill '69 is remembered around Yale as one of the Blue's most versatile and successful athletes. He was an All-Ivy running back for Yale's league champions of 1967 and '68, as well as a track performer who set a Heptagonal outdoor record in the long jump. Besides scoring 24 touchdowns in his Yale career, he threw six touchdown passes and once, in an intrasquad game, kicked a 52-yard field goal. Chosen by Dallas in the first round of the 1969 NFL draft, he became the Cowboys' first 1,000-yard rusher, made All-Pro twice and was chosen for four Pro Bowls. He has served as vice president of the Baltimore Orioles and now is active as a consultant in areas from sports marketing to alcohol and drug rehabilitation.

IVY LEAGUE

Yale plays football in the Ivy League, America's most stable major conference. More than half a century after its launching, the league has the same eight members as at its start: Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton and Yale. Long recognized as an informal group of distinguished schools, the Ivies came together formally through the Presidents' Agreement of 1954, which set forth standards on academic progress, awarding of scholarships, scheduling, eligibility, and postseason and all-star participation. The agreement was implemented with the start of round-robin scheduling in 1956-57. Since then, Yale has won 14 football championships (six outright, eight shared).

JACKSON, LEVI '50

The first African-American to play football at Yale, Levi A. Jackson '50 distinguished himself on campus and in later life, when he became a top executive with Ford Motor Co. A four-sport star at New Haven's Hillhouse High School, he entered Yale after Army service and ranked fifth nationally in rushing as a freshman in 1946. Injuries his sophomore year slowed him, but he graduated owning 13 modern Yale records in rushing, total offense, kickoff returns, scoring and punting. He was Yale's 1949 football captain and was a reserve on the basketball team that narrowly lost to Illinois in the 1949 NCAA tournament. Joining Ford after graduation, he rose from a job in personnel to become head of the company's urban affairs program, a nationwide effort to provide job training and opportunities for the disadvantaged. He also served on a presidential commission on amnesty for draft evaders. He died in December 2000.

JOHNSON, CHARLES '54

Though listed as a 183-pound third-string guard on the 1953 team's depth chart, Johnson has been huge when it comes to support of Yale athletics. Chairman and chief executive of Franklin Resources, a major mutual fund company, he is the lead donor for the continuing $21 million renovation project at the Yale Bowl. He also has given the university Johnson Field, a synthetic-turf complex used for field hockey. The Ivy League Football Association honored him in January 2005 with one of its eight alumni awards.

JOHNSON, ERIC '01

Johnson caught 4 passes in his 1st playoff game

A record-setting wide receiver at Yale, Johnson has spent seven seasons in the National Football League as a tight end with the San Francisco 49ers and New Orleans Saints. He had 48 catches in 14 games for the Saints in 2007. He spent his first six pro seasons with the 49ers and in 2004 ranked third among NFL tight ends in receptions (82) and fourth in receiving yardage (825). At Yale from 1997 through 2000, Johnson set 11 receiving records and one in punting. He had at least one catch in 24 successive games, but his biggest was the sliding grab with 29 seconds left that beat Harvard 24-21 in 1999. He had 21 catches for 244 yards in that game, which earned Yale a share of the lvy title. For his career he had 181 catches for 2,144 yards and 23 touchdowns, all Yale records.

JONES, T.A.D. '08

Thomas Albert Dwight Jones, class of 1908, was an All-America quarterback at Yale and the Blue's head coach for 10 seasons (1916-17, 1920-27). He put the Yale-Harvard rivalry in perspective with this pregame oration: "Gentlemen, you are now going out to play football against Harvard. Never again in your whole life will you do anything so important."

T.A.D. Jones

McCLUNG, BUM '92

His nickname was Bum, but Thomas Lee McClung, class of 1892, was no stranger to money. He served as treasurer of the United States in the Taft administration (1909-12) after stints as treasurer of Yale and an executive of the Southern Railway. An All-America halfback in 1890 and captain of an unscored-on (13-0) Yale team in 1891, McClung would have run up huge numbers on the gridiron if statistics had been kept as they are today. He scored 63 touchdowns (4 points each) and 93 goals after touchdown (2 points each) that are documented by newspaper accounts, giving him at least 438 points. Because stories on lopsided games often omitted details, his actual point total is believed to have been at least 510 and maybe close to 560. It didn't seem to matter to McClung, who as captain skipped some of his own team's games so he could scout Princeton and Harvard

MCLEOD, MIKE '09

Over the last four seasons, running back Mike McLeod waged a massive assault on the Yale record book. He graduated in May as holder of modern Yale rushing yardage records for a game (276 vs. Lehigh, 2007), season (1,619 in 2007) and career

(4,514) as well as career records for all-purpose yards (5,320) and touchdowns (55, including one by receiving). His five touchdowns vs. Holy Cross in 2007 were the most in a game by a Yale player since 1931 (before the modern era of statistics) and his scoring total was the highest at Yale since the 1890s. Though handicapped through half of the 2007 season by a broken toe, he was chosen lvy League Player of the Year. He was the league's Rookie of the Year in 2005 and a first-team All-lvy choice the next three seasons.

MERRIWELL, FRANK

Frank Merriwell was a fictional figure whose feats of athletic derring-do for Yale were the stuff of dime novels from 1896 to 1913. He was the creation of Gilbert Patten—pen name Burt L. Standish—whose Merriwell series was published by Tip Top Library. Merriwell's name still is invoked when a Yale player pulls out a last-minute victory—or when writers are seeking a comparison for a real-life Yale hero such as Ted Coy or Brian Dowling.

NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Twenty-six Yale men have played in the NFL, from Fido Kempton (Canton, 1921) to Eric Johnson with San Francisco and New Orleans in this decade. Bobby Abare, 2008 Yale captain, headed to the Kansas City Chiefs' camp this summer after signing as a free agent. Yale was represented on NFL rosters for 29 consecutive years from 1961 to 1989. Two Yale alumni, Dick Jauron '73 and Charley Ewart '38, have been NFL head coaches. Jauron enters his fourth year as head coach of the Buffalo Bills, having previously coached the Chicago Bears. Several Yale alumni have held NFL executive positions.

NATIONAL LEADERS

Two Yale men have been national statistical leaders since the NCAA began compiling statistics in 1937. Quarterback Brian Dowling led Division I in passing efficiency in 1968 with a 165.8 rating. Herb Hallas led Division I in punt return average (23.4 yards) in 1958. In addition, Yale men hold several lines in the NCAA's All-Time Record Book for performances such as Harry Beecher's 11 rushing touchdowns against Wesleyan on Oct. 30, 1886. In the modern era, Yale owns several team records. Yale led Division I-A in defense against rushing (75.0 yards per game) and total defense (175.4) in 1979. The undefeated 1960 team led the nation in kickoff return average (26.7 yards), and the 1938 team was the least penalized

(8 penalties for 50 yards). Yale had Division I-AA's fewest turnovers—11 in 10 games—in 2003, tied for the fewest (12) in 2002, and led Division I-AA in turnover margin (1.7 per game) in 1998.

NEVER ON SUNDAY?

In its first 128 years of football, Yale never played a varsity football game on a Sunday. That changed on Oct. 7, 2001, when the Dartmouth game was moved to Sunday because the Bowl that weekend was host to Yale's 300th anniversary ceremonies. In the 19th century, when the schedule sometimes called for 16 games in 10 weeks, Yale often played on Wednesdays. Yale also played Thursday games in that era, meeting Princeton or Harvard on Thanksgiving in New York. Two games (with Virginia Tech, 1916, and Valparaiso, 1997) have been played on Fridays, the latter a night game at Chicago's Soldier Field.

NOTRE DAME

Yale and Notre Dame have met just once on the gridiron. That was in 1914, when the Irish came to New Haven carrying a 27-game unbeaten streak. Yale won 28-o. Knute Rockne, an assistant coach with Notre Dame that season, never lost his respect for Yale. Years later, asked where he got the idea for the Notre Dame shift, Rockne is said to have replied: "Where everything else in football came from—Yale!"

OVERTIME

With its 31-28 double-overtime victory over Holy Cross last fall, Yale raised its record in overtime games to 5-3 since the NCAA adopted its current overtime rules in 1996. Yale's longest overtime victory has been the 26-20 triumph as Pennsylvania in 2007, which ran three extra periods. Yale also won two overtime games in 2006 (by 26-20 over Lehigh, 17-14 over Penn) and beat Princeton 27-24 in double overtime in 2003. Losses were to Harvard (30-24 in triple overtime) and Lehigh (28-21) in 2005 and to Penn (34-31) in 2003. Yale actually played extra time long before the NCAA rules committee thought of it. Two extra periods were tacked onto the 1881 game with Princeton in New York, but darkness stopped play with the score o-o.

PHILLIPS, STONE '77

Before becoming a media star as anchor of NBC's "Dateline," Stone Phillips '77 was quarterback of Yale's 1975 (7-2) and 1976 (8-1) teams. He gained All-Ivy League honorable mention both years. Prior to joining "Dateline" he was a correspondent for ABC News.

PORTER, COLE '13

Cole Porter, class of 1913, never played a second of football for Yale, but he's part of every Yale game nonetheless. His "Bulldog, bulldog, bowwow-wow" is played whenever Yale's team takes the field and after every Yale score. Porter started his composing career while an undergraduate, penning the peppy Yale song "Bingo" in 1910.

RADIO

The first known broadcast reports of a Yale football game were by an amateur radio operator, Franklin M. Doolittle of New Haven, in 1921. He relayed information telephoned to him from the Bowl by Daniel Mulvey, then sports editor of the New Haven Register. The first known on-site broadcast of Yale football on a commercial station was of the Army game in 1923, carried by WEAF, New York. The Bulldogs have been on their current outlet, Hamden-based WELI (AM 960), for most of the last 50 years. Ron Vaccaro '04 is the play-by-play announcer, with former head coach Carm Cozza as analyst.

RETIRED NUMBERS

In part because many of Yale's football immortals played in the era before jerseys were numbered, Yale never has retired a number. Yale did hold out of use at various times the numbers worn by three players who died while undergraduates: Norman S. Hall '30 (No. 45), Edward P. McCarthy '65 (No. 17) and Brenton M. Kirk '76 (No. 69).

RHODES SCHOLARS

Six Yale football players have been selected as Rhodes Scholars—Larry McQuade '50, Tom Neville '71, Kurt Schmoke '71, Bill Crowley '79, Roosevelt Thompson '84 and Chris Brown '90. Defensive back Casey Gerald was a Rhodes finalist last year.

ROAD TRIPS

Yale's longest football trip was in 1987, when the Bulldogs crossed six time zones to meet Hawaii at Honolulu. Yale lost 62-10 in a game that ended at 4:30 Sunday morning New Haven time. Yale traveled to California in 1999 and 2005 to play the University of San Diego. Yale made forays south as long ago as 1929, when the Bulldogs played in the dedication game of Georgia's Sanford Stadium. More recently (1993) Yale played Central Florida in Orlando.

Yale's longest road trip was a 1987 excursion to Hawaii

SERIES

Yale's longest-running football series is its rivalry with Princeton. The schools have met 131 times, Yale leading 72-49-10. The only collegiate rivalry comprising more games is between Lafayette and Lehigh, which used to meet twice or more per season. Yale has met Harvard 125 times and leads that series 65-52-8. Yale and Brown have met 113 times; Yale leads 77-31-5. The series that has gone longest without interruption is with Dartmouth (83 years); overall they've met 92 times and Yale leads 50-36-6.

Yale vs. Princeton, 1890

SMILOW, JOEL E. '54

Calvin Hill (L) and Joel Smilow

A great friend of Yale athletics, Joel E. Smilow '54 has endowed numerous coaching positions, including those of the head football coach and offensive and defensive coordinators. Another of his gifts, 15 years ago, enabled Yale to renovate and expand the 1932-vintage Lapham Field House, now known as the Joel E. Smilow Field Center. It provides locker rooms, training rooms, offices and conference rooms, a lounge, weight rooms and equipment storage for men's and women's sports. Most recently, he made a major gift in support of the $467 million Smilow Cancer Hospital now under construction at Yale-New Haven Hospital. Its 14-story building, which will provide 112 inpatient beds, is to open in October. Besides football, Smilow's gifts support coaching positions in men's and women's basketball and women's lacrosse.

TAILGATING

Whether tailgate parties were invented at Yale or merely refined there is a question. What is known is that before major Yale games—especially against Harvard—the fields around the Bowl are aswarm with countless parties, whether at station wagon tailgates, in campers with dining rooms or at candelabrum-decked tables rigged up on a soccer practice field. Whether the fare is hot dogs or caviar, tailgating makes a football Saturday at Yale a lot more than just the game.

"THE GAME"

The annual battle between Yale and Harvard has been the last game on each school's schedule since 1936, except for two seasons during World War II. Its schedule position, together with its frequent bearing on the lvy League championship, has helped this contest become known since the late 1950s simply as "The Game." Begun in 1875, the series comprises 125 games, making it the third longest in NCAA annals. Yale holds the lead, 65-52-8.

THE TIE

Arguably the most discussed game in the history of the Ivy League is the 29-29 tie between Yale and Harvard on Nov. 23, 1968. Both teams came in undefeated and untied (8-0), the first time that had happened in the series since 1909. With Brian Dowling passing for two touchdowns and running for two more against Harvard's "Boston Stranglers" defense, Yale took leads of 22-0 and 29-13, and many in the sellout crowd of 40,280 headed home. Two Yale turnovers, however—the Bulldogs' sixth and seventh of the day—enabled Harvard to score two touchdowns in the final 42 seconds. Frank Champi, backup quarterback, passed to Pete Varney for the tying conversion after time had expired.

TWINS

The Abare twins who played last year in Yale's defensive secondary—Bobby at linebacker, Larry at safety—were the fifth set of twins known to have played football at Yale. One pair played elbow to elbow—Rob and Chris Michalik, starting left guard and center, respectively, in 1990. Other twins to wear the Blue were Dick and Bob Jacunski in 1960, Jim and John Quinn in the mid-1980s, and Andy and Chris Kagan in 1999.

UNIFORMS

Yale's basic home uniform—white helmet with a double blue stripe and block "Y," white pants with double stripe, and blue jersey without stripes—has gone virtually unchanged since 1965, when sleeve stripes were eliminated. The bulldog logo now on the sleeve dates from 1996, and the "Y" on the helmet was given an outline in 1997. Yale adopted white jerseys for all road games in 1956, though the team had worn white on several occasions since the mid-1930s. The shade of the home jersey was fixed in the 1970s at PMS 289 on the Pantone color system.

UPSETS

Of all Yale victories against the odds, four stand out:

- the 21-13 victory over Army in 1929, in which Albie Booth brought Yale back from a 13-0 deficit:
- the 7-0 win at Princeton in 1934, the Tigers' only loss in a span of 30 games;
- the 14-12 defeat of nationally ranked Army in 1955;
- the 23-19 comeback victory over Navy's Liberty Bowl team of 1981.

Possibly the most lasting fame attaches to the '34 Princeton game, in which Yale's 11 "iron men" played the full 60 minutes without a substitution.

In football's early days, nearly any Yale loss, except to its ancient foes Princeton and Harvard, was considered an upset. In the modern era, Yale's two most notable reversals were the 29-29 tie in 1968 with Harvard, which scored twice in the last 42 seconds, and the 35-31 loss in 1981 to Princeton, which overcame a 21-0 Yale lead. That defeat ended an unprecedented 14-year Yale winning streak against the Tigers.

WALLAND, JOE '00

Holder of 25 Yale records when he graduated in 2000, Joe Walland made his mark in the NCAA Record Book in his final game against Harvard. Dehydrated by flu and running a temperature of 103, he left a hospital bed and completed 42 of 67 passes for 437 yards in leading Yale to a 24-21 comeback victory. His 20-for-33 third quarter and his 33-for-51 second half set Division I-AA records for attempts and completions. Walland also finished his career with the lowest interception rate—1.65 percent in 787 attempts—in Division I-AA history. Biggest thing for Yale fans, though, was that the last pass of his career—to Eric Johnson with 29 seconds left—won The Game and brought Yale its first Ivy championship in 10 years.

WINNING STREAKS

Yale has posted two of the four longest winning streaks in college football history. The Bulldogs won 37 in a row from 1887 to 1889 and another 37 from 1890 to 1893. Both streaks were ended by Princeton. The 1887-89 streak was part of a 48-game (47-0-1) undefeated run that began in 1885. The 1890-93 streak included 35 consecutive shutouts.

8-z-1N

This was the pass pattern run by one-play specialist Larry Reno at Princeton in 1953 for a 43-yard gain. A sprinter borrowed from the track team, Reno set up the last-minute touchdown that ended six years of Tiger dominance over Yale. Fifty-six years later, his catch remains among the most discussed plays in Yale football history.

Oct. 31, 1872

David Schley Schaff, Elliot S. Miller, Samuel Elder and other members of the class of 1873 call a meeting of the Yale student body. From it emerges the Yale Football Association, the first formal entity to govern the game at Yale. Schaff is elected president and team captain.

Nov. 16, 1872

With faculty approval, Yale meets Columbia, the nearest football-playing college, at Hamilton Park in New Haven. The game is essentially soccer with 20-man sides, played on a field 400 by 250 feet. Yale wins 3-0, Tommy Sherman scoring the first goal and Lew Irwin the other two.

Nov. 15, 1873

Yale and Princeton inaugurate what will become Yale's longest rivalry. Princeton wins 3 goals to o.

Nov. 13, 1875

Yale and Harvard meet for the first time at Hamilton Park. The game is played under the so-called "concessionary rules"—15 players on a side and running with the ball permitted as in rugby, a round ball and only goals counting as in soccer. A crowd of 2,000 pays 50 cents a head—twice the normal price for a Yale game—to watch Harvard win 4-0.

1880

Walter Camp, in his third year as Yale's delegate at the Intercollegiate Football Association rules convention, persuades the meeting to accept 11-man, rather than 15-man, sides. He also replaces rugby's scrum with the scrimmage, which "takes place when the holder of the ball...puts it down on the ground in front of him and puts it in play by snapping it back with his foot"

Nov. 24, 1881

Princeton, using stalling tactics, holds Yale to a 0-0 tie after two overtimes. Camp's response is to create the downs system in the rules for 1882. A team must gain 5 yards in three downs, retreat 10 yards or give up the ball.

1883

Camp completes the basic structure of American football by instituting numerical scoring values: touchdown, 2 points; goal after touchdown, 4; field goal, 5; safety, 1. In stages over the next 29 years, the will gain value at the expense of goal-kicking. By 1912 a TD is 6 points, a conversion 1, field goal 3 and safety 2. The 2-point conversion, discussed in Camp's lifetime, will be added in 1958.

Oct. 1, 1884

Yale plays for the first time at the original Yale Field on Derby Avenue (across the street from Yale Bowl). The Blue beats Wesleyan 31-0.

Nov. 5, 1884

Wyllys Terry sets a record that still stands by running the length of the field—110 yards—to score in a 46-0 defeat of Wesleyan.

Oct. 30, 1886

Wesleyan is the victim of another record as Yale's Henry Beecher scores 11 touchdowns in a game. Yale wins by its highest score ever, 136-0.

1888

Yale completes a 13-game schedule unbeaten, untied and unscored upon, piling up 698 points.

1889

Yale places three men—Pudge Heffelfinger, Charley Gill and Amos Alonzo Stagg—among the 11 on the first All-America team. Sportswriter Caspar Whitney publishes the selections in his magazine The Week's Sport, apparently with input from Walter Camp. The same year, Handsome Dan, the Yale bulldog, appears at his first football game, becoming the first collegiate mascot.

1890

Amos Alonzo Stagg, Yale degree in hand, takes the football coaching job at Springfield YMCA College. It's the start of a head coaching career that won't end until December 1946.

Nov. 27, 1890

A crowd of 30,000 at Eastern Park in Brooklyn sees T. Lee "Bum" McClung score four touchdowns in a 32-0 rout of Princeton. Yale's share of the gate, $11,185, brings football revenues for the year to $18,392, enough to pay for the entire athletic program.

Sept. 20, 1892

Walter Camp receives a letter: "Will you kindly furnish me with some points on the best way to develop a good football team. I am...connected with this University and have been asked to coach the team." It's signed by James Kivlan, University of Notre Dame.

November 1892

After coaching Yale to a 67-2 record in five seasons, Walter Camp heads west and becomes part-time coach of Stanford. He'll leave active coaching in 1895 with a career record of 79-5-3.

Nov. 24, 1894

Yale, led by four-time All-American Frank Hinkey at end, defeats Harvard 12-4 in a match of unbeaten teams in Springfield, Mass. The game is so violent that the schools suspend relations until 1897.

Nov. 24, 1900

Yale's "Team of the Century," with four-time All-American Gordon Brown at guard, crushes previously unbeaten Harvard 28-0 at Yale Field to complete a 12-0 season. Some in the crowd of 22,000 try out a new Yale song: "Boola, Boola."

Nov. 12, 1904

Another Yale song, "Down the Field," makes its debut at Princeton's University Field, where Yale shuts out the Tigers 12-0.

Jan. 27, 1906

In response to deaths and injuries in 1905 games, the football rules committee agrees to sweeping changes, making the forward pass legal for the first time. The committee's 14 members include three Yale men: Walter Camp; A.A. Stagg, coach at the University of Chicago; and Dr. Harry Williams, coach

1909

Yale grad Howard Jones, destined to become a coaching legend at Southern California, hits the jackpot in his one season coaching his alma mater. Yale goes undefeated, untied and unscored-on in 10 games, blanking previously unbeaten Harvard 8-0 in the finale.

Oct. 17, 1914

Notre Dame comes to Yale Field with a 27-game unbeaten streak and leaves a 28-0 loser. Knute Rockne, in 1914 an assistant coach at Notre Dame, later will call the defeat "the most valuable lesson Notre Dame ever had in football. It taught us never to be cocksure."

Nov. 21, 1914

Yale Bowl, largest stadium yet built in America, opens with a capacity crowd of 70,000. Only those on the visitors' side are happy as Harvard triumphs, 36-0.

Sept. 30, 1916

Yale players wear jersey numbers for the first time in a 25-0 victory over Carnegie Tech. Captain Cupe Black, a guard, is issued No. 1.

1918

With World War I raging, Yale suspends football for a year. Among the war's victims is 1915 captain Alex Wilson, killed as an infantry captain in France.

Nov. 3, 1923

The largest crowd ever to watch a Yale game—estimated at 80,000—sees coach T.A.D. Jones' team surge back from a 10-7 halftime deficit to rout Army 31-10. Yale will go on to a perfect (8-0) season.

March 13-14, 1925

Walter Camp, 65, dies in his sleep between sessions of a football rules committee meeting in New York.

Nov. 19, 1927

T.A.D. Jones, doing well in his offseason businesses, ends his coaching career with a 14-0 victory at Harvard. Yale winds up 7-1, losing only to national championship claimant Georgia.

Oct. 26, 1929

With Yale down 13-0 in the second quarter against Army, coach Mal Stevens sends in a 5-foot-7 sophomore tailback, Albie Booth. Booth rushes for 144 yards, runs back a punt 70 yards, scores three touchdowns and kicks the extra points for a 21-13 Yale victory.

Oct. 31, 1931

The Bowl is a madhouse. Albie Booth scores three touchdowns—on a 94-yard kickoff return, a 22-yard pass and a 53-yard run. Dartmouth's Wild Bill McCall matches him with scoring plays of 76, 92 and 60 yards. A 23-point Yale lead goes down the tubes and the teams tie, 33-33.

Nov. 17, 1934

In one of its greatest upsets, Yale, and its "Iron Men," makes a first-quarter touchdown stand up for a 7-0 victory over Princeton, the Tigers' only loss in a span of 30 games. Sophomore Larry Kelley, destined to win the Heisman Trophy in 1936, makes one of his first big plays, scoring on a 49-yard pass from Jerry Roscoe.

Oct. 17, 1936

Larry Kelley sets off a furor in the Navy game at Baltimore when he kicks a ball fumbled by Navy's Sneed Schmidt. Yale recovers on the Middies' 2-yard line and Clint Frank goes over for a 12-7 victory. Yale coach Ducky Pond calls the kick accidental and Schmidt agrees. Even so, there's clamor for a rule change—but only a footnote results.

Nov. 13, 1937

On a soggy field, Clint Frank rushes 19 times for 190 yards and four touchdowns in a 26-0 romp against Princeton. Numbers like that pay off at season's end as Frank becomes Yale's second Heisman Trophy winner.

Oct. 4, 1941

Spike Nelson, Yale's first head coach who is not an alumnus, sees his team rally for an opening 21-19 upset of Virginia. It's the only highlight as Yale loses its next seven games and Nelson is replaced by Howie Odell.

1944

With most of the campus taken over by World War II armed service trainees, Howie Odell patches together an undefeated (7-0-1) team, Yale's first in 20 years. Missing from the schedule are Princeton and Harvard, which have suspended varsity football for the duration.

Sept. 28, 1946

Levi Jackson, Yale's first African-American football player, makes his debut, scoring twice as the Bulldogs beat the Merchant Marine Academy 33-0. By the time he's done in 1949, he'll own Yale records in rushing, punting, punt returns and kickoff returns.

December 1946

Fritz Barzilauskas, a Yale guard, is chosen in the first round of the NFL draft by the Boston Yanks, becoming the third player taken overall. He receives a record salary for a rookie lineman: $9,000.

Nov. 19-20, 1948

First-year head coach Herman Hickman recites "Spartacus to the Gladiators" at the final practice to fire up his troops for Harvard. It's wasted as Harvard wins 20-7.

Nov. 22, 1952

Yale pounds Harvard 41-14 and Jordan Olivar, who has succeeded Herman Hickman, lets the kids have fun. Charley Yeager, team manager, suits up at halftime and scores the 41st point on a pass from Ed Molloy.

1954

The Presidents' Agreement of 1954 brings the Ivy League colleges together under a pact that covers scheduling, eligibility, scholarships, spring practice and postseason play.

Nov. 24, 1956

Yale crushes Harvard 42-14 to clinch the first formal Ivy championship. Yale goes 7-0 in the league, 8-1 overall.

1959

Yale goes through its first five games unbeaten, untied and unscored-on, something no major team has done since 1943. The streak carries 10 minutes and 46 seconds into the third quarter of Game 6 against Dartmouth, but then everything unravels. The Bulldogs lose that game and two of the next three.

1960

No slip-ups this year as Yale (9-0) goes undefeated and untied for the first time since 1923. Stars include captain and tackle Mike Pyle, headed for the Chicago Bears, and All-America guard Ben Balme.

March 6, 1963

John Pont is named head coach after Jordan Olivar's resignation to pursue West Coast business interests.

Nov. 22, 1963

President John F. Kennedy's assassination on a Friday afternoon prompts Yale and Harvard to postpone The Game. Their action sets a precedent as almost 90 percent of the nation's colleges follow suit.

Jan. 29, 1965

Carm Cozza, an assistant on John Pont's staff, is named Yale's head coach after Pont's departure for Indiana. Cozza's tenure will last longer than any other at Yale—32 seasons.

Sept. 24, 1966

Brian Dowling throws the first of the 30 touchdown passes in his Yale career. Despite injuries that cost him the equivalent of a full season, he'll compile the best record by a Yale quarterback since the early 1900s—15 victories, no losses, one tie.

Nov. 23, 1968

For the first time since 1909, Yale and Harvard both arrive at the final game undefeated. The outcome matches the hoopla: Harvard rallies for 16 points in the last 42 seconds, earning a 29-29 tie that gives both sides final records of 8-0-1.

1969

Dallas selects running back Calvin Hill in the opening round of the NFL draft, making him the second Yalie to be a first-round pick. Hill justifies the Cowboys' confidence by winning the NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year award.

Nov. 25, 1972

Dick Jauron rushes for 183 yards, including a 74-yard touchdown run, as Yale comes back from a 17-0 deficit to beat Harvard 28-17. Jauron is the first Yale runner to top 1,000 yards in a season (1,055) and pushes his career rushing total to 2,947.

Nov. 23, 1974

Yale comes within 15 seconds of a perfect season. Harvard's Milt Holt drives his team 90 yards in the last 5 minutes and scores to spoil Yale's year, 21-16.

Nov. 20, 1976

Carm Cozza, after retiring as coach to become Yale's full-time athletic director, decides coaching is what really counts and quits the athletic director's job.

Nov. 12, 1977

John Pagliaro's 172 rushing yards in a 24-7 win over Harvard give him a record season total of 1,159.

Oct. 4, 1980

Yale holds off Air Force, 17-16, for Carm Cozza's 100th victory as head coach.

Oct. 11, 1980

Yale plays its first night game. Boston College prevails 27-9 despite the defensive efforts of Kevin Czinger, the only middle guard to be named the Ivy League's most valuable player.

Nov. 14, 1981

Princeton's Bob Holly scores with 4 seconds left to beat Yale 35-31, spoiling the Bulldogs' bid for a perfect season. The defeat ends a 14-year Yale winning streak against Princeton. Lost in the excitement is a Yale record by Rich Diana: 222 rushing yards on 46 carries.

Oct. 4. 1986

Junior quarterback Kelly Ryan, throwing from shotgun formation because of a bad knee, passes for 426 yards in a 41-24 loss to Army.

1987

Kelly Ryan and friends work their aerial magic for three last-minute victories: 30-27 over Connecticut, 0:18 left; 40-34 over William & Mary, 0:23 left; 28-22 over Penn, 0:06 left. They almost do it again in a sub-zero wind chill against Harvard, but a late fumble lets the Crimson edge Yale for the Ivy title, 14-10.

Nov. 11, 1989

A 14-7 victory at Princeton gives Yale its 150th victory under Carm Cozza and a share of the Ivy championship.

Nov. 23, 1996

A Yale rally falls short as the Blue bows to Harvard, 26-21, in Carm Cozza's final game as coach. He retires with a league-record 179 victories, a .599 winning percentage and 10 whole or partial lvy titles.

Sept. 20, 1997

Jack Siedlecki makes his debut as Yale coach, and it's not fun. Forced by injuries to start a freshman quarterback, Siedlecki sees his squad fall 52-14 to Brown. It's the start of a 1-9 season.

Nov. 20, 1999

Yale beats Harvard 24-21 to complete a 9-1 season, reversing the record of Siedlecki's first year. Joe Walland (42 for 67, 437 yards) throws the winning TD pass to Eric Johnson with 29 seconds left. Johnson's 21 catches and 244 receiving yards are Yale single-game records. Yale gains a share (with Brown) of the Ivy League title, its first since 1989.

Sept. 16, 2000

Yale defeats Dayton 42-6 to become the first gridiron program—scholastic, college or pro—to win 800 games.

Nov. 18, 2000

Rashad Bartholomew's 119 yards in a 34-24 victory at Harvard give him two Yale rushing records: 1,232 yards for the season, 3,015 for his career.

Sept. 28, 2002

Alvin Cowan, destined to become Yale's career passing leader (5,481 yards), breaks a leg in the opening series at Cornell. Running back Robert Carr takes up the slack with a school-record 235-yard rushing day at Yale wins 50-23. Carr will go on to set a Yale career rushing record of 3,393 yards.

Oct. 25, 2003

After a 28-point fourth-quarter rally, Yale falls to Penn in overtime, 34-31. It's Yale's first overtime game in 122 years.

April 2004

Nate Lawrie, Yale's tight end, is a sixth-round draft choice of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, becoming the 42nd Yale player drafted by an NFL club.

Nov. 19, 2005

Yale and Harvard set a precedent: For the first time in their rivalry they play overtime. They go to a third OT period before Clifton Dawson's touchdown wins it for Harvard, 30-24.

Nov. 18, 2006

Mike McLeod scores three touchdowns as Yale crushes Harvard 34-13 and gains a share of the Ivy title with Princeton. It's Yale's 14th Ivy championship and second under Jack Siedlecki.

Oct 13, 2007

Two weeks after breaking Yale's one-game rushing record with 256 yards in a five-touchdown showing against Holy Cross, McLeod breaks the record again with 276 yards against Lehigh.

Nov. 22, 2008

Though shut out by Harvard in his final game, McLeod concludes his career with a host of modern Yale records, including rushing yards (4,514), all-purpose yards (5,320) and touchdowns (55).

Jan. 7, 2009

Tom Williams is named Yale's head coach, replacing Jack Siedlecki.

Ted Blair '24 was the starting right tackle on Yale's unbeaten, untied team of 1923 as well as a Phi Beta Kappa student. He later served on the Yale Corporation, the university's board of trustees

Jordan Olivar coached the Elis from 1952 through 1962 and had a .646 winning percentage. He produced two lvy champions, including the unbeaten, untied team of 1960.

Woody Knapp '65 earned varsity letters as a defensive back in 1963 and 1964. A naval aviator, he was killed in Vietnam.

Robert Gardner Anderson '33, a member of the Yale swimming team from Chicago, assisted in Yale's football recruiting efforts before alumni became ineligible for those services.

Norman Hall '30, who also wrestled and ran track, played football at Yale for two years before his death in 1928. He died while trying to save a friend on a pond after the ice broke.

Greg Dubinetz '75 was a three-time varsity letterman who was first-team All-Ivy at OG in 1974. He played one season for the Washington Redskins.

Ted Blair Award

Given to the most valuable player on the varsity team in memory of Edwin Foster (Ted) Blair, '24.

The Bulldogs celebrate a victory at Harvard that capped the 9-0 season in 1960.

One of the true treasures in American sports, the historic Yale Bowl celebrated its 94th birthday last fall after a complete renovation. The playing field was named the Class of 1954 Field after the generous gifts to support the renovation. This magnificent facility, which opened on November 21, 1914 for the Yale—Harvard game, has been the site of 569 Bulldog football games, two seasons of NFL action and was the main venue for the 1995 Special Olympics World Games.

The Bowl is 930 feet long and 750 feet wide, covering 12 1/2 acres. More than 320,000 cubic feet of earth was moved to form the Bowl and the stadium now contains 22,000 cubic yards of concrete and 470 tons of steel. The capacity of the Bowl is 61,446 (it was 70,869 before alterations in 1994 and 2006) and every seat has an unobstructed view of the playing field. The original seating capacity was 60,617 with an undetermined amount of standing room.

The Bowl has held crowds of over 70,000 on 20 occasions, the most recent on November 19, 1983, for the 100th playing of the Yale—Harvard game. The largest crowd to attend a Yale game at the Bowl was 80,000 for the Army game on November 3, 1923. The crowd of 75,300 which attended the Yale—Harvard showdown in 1981 was the largest at a sporting event in New England in more than 50 years.

The NFL's New York Giants and Detroit Lions brought professional football to the Bowl for the first time in the summer of 1960. The Giants, who played the New York Jets in a number of memorable exhibition contests during the '70s, used the Bowl as their regular-season home field in 1973 and 1974 while Yankee Stadium was being renovated.

The design for the Yale Bowl was proposed by Charles A. Ferry, Class of 1871, as a replacement for Yale Field, the 33,000–seat home of the football team since 1884. Work began on the project in August, 1913, with 145 men working for the Sperry Engineering Company of New Haven. The portals were constructed first; then the excavation began. Once the 30–foot walls were formed to support the top rows of seats, the nearly 30 miles of wooden–backed seats were put in place. The cost of the final product: $750,000. The electrified scoreboard was added in 1958, while the current press box was erected in 1987.

The Special Olympics World Games, international soccer contests and other special events being hosted on a regular basis make the Bowl one of the most significant venues in the East.

RESTORING AND IMPROVING YALE BOWL

Phase I restoration of Yale Bowl and the Class of 1954 Field was completed in 2007. Work included the rebuilding of the interior and exterior walls, installing an iron picket fence with brick columns along Yale Avenue and Chapel Street, repairing and replacing 17 miles of wood seats and improving all drainage and utilities. The 30 tunnels, including the entrances and wing walls at the exits, were also refurbished, while the expansion of the Bowl's lower promenade has made a big impact on access and passage.

Phase II includes the Kenney Family Field Center (above) and the Jensen Family Plaza.

The Kenney Family Field Center, thanks to the generosity of Jerome (Jerry) P. Kenney '63, a former Yale football player, has three separate varsity team meeting rooms, an alumni room that provides views to the field, a rooftop terrace that provides a panoramic view of the Bowl area, and restrooms. No family has been better represented on Yale football rosters than the Kenneys; they are the only family to have five Bulldogs on the gridiron and the only four-brother football combination in Yale history. Jerry's brothers, Brian R. '60, Robert D. '67 and Richard L. '71, all wore the blue and white, while Robert's son, Jeffrey S. '93, also played football at Yale.

The Jensen Plaza, named after Irving '54, Colin '57, Erik '63 and Mark Jensen '67, is designed to be the grand entrance to the Bowl and will serve as the perfect place for fans to congregate prior to games. Two of the Jensen brothers are former Yale football players who earned Ivy League Championship rings. Colin, who had two letters, was part of the 1956 Bulldog squad that went 8-1, was undefeated in Ancient Eight play and cruised past Princeton and Harvard on the way to a title. Erik earned three football letters and was a member of Yale's last perfect (9-0) team in 1960. That Eli squad was challenged early before reeling off seven lopsided victories.

The Brooks-Dwyer Varsity Weight Room occupies 7,000 square feet on the 4th floor of Payne Whitney Gymnasium. It resides within the 21,000-square-foot Adrian C. Israel Fitness Center in a space originally occupied by racquetball/squash courts and a golf practice room. This facility was dedicated in May 1999 as part of a capital project undertaken to expand and modernize this 70-year-old cathedral of sports. The varsity weight room serves each of the University's intercollegiate sports programs and is equipped with rugged, versatile equipment such that groups of up to 70 student-athletes can train concurrently with optimal effectiveness and efficiency. The Brooks-Dwyer Varsity Weight Room was created in memory of Charles W. Brooks '35 and Martin Dwyer, Jr. '44 through the generosity of Michael C. Brooks '67 and Diana Dwyer Brooks '72.

The philosophy of Yale Bulldog Strength and Conditioning is comprised of three principles: first, and foremost, is the reduction of injury; second, is to focus on the specific tools needed for the sport; third is to create a positive training environment for each individual student-athlete.

Ground-based activities are the building blocks of every program regardless of the sport. Exercise selection and workload are cycled throughout the year. The training year for any sport is divided into four phases: preseason, in-season, post-season and off-season. At the end of each year programs are evaluated for strengths, weaknesses, or changes needed.

Emil Johnson Head Strength and Conditioning Coach

Emil Johnson joined Yale as Head Coach of Strength and Conditioning in the summer of 2005. Johnson oversees a program that includes 35 varsity sports and more than 1,000 athletes. Johnson joined the Bulldogs from the University of Hartford, where he had been the director of strength and conditioning from 2001 to 2005. Johnson served as an assistant strength and conditioning coach at the University of Maine for two years prior to that, and was the men's basketball strength and conditioning coach at DePaul in 1998-99. Johnson is a 1998 graduate of UMass-Boston with a B.S. in exercise physiology. He was a captain and three-year starting quarterback for the Beacons in football and also played one season of baseball. Following graduation he spent a semester as a strength and conditioning intern at Northeastern. Johnson is a member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association (C.S.C.S.), the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association and USA Weightlifting (Club Coach Level 1 Certified).

Yale University offers its students a liberal education, one which has as its focus the intellectual and moral development of the individual, and which gives students a foundation for learning and leading throughout their lives. Yale has long recognized that such an education is not fostered by its academic component alone. Part of it is constituted by those challenging and pleasurable experiences and extracurricular activities—like varsity and recreational athletics—that augment and enrich academic training.

In athletics, as everywhere else in the University, Yale is strongly committed to equal opportunity, and affirmatively seeks to attract exceptionally qualified students, coaches and staff of diverse backgrounds.

As a part of its great athletic tradition, the University sponsors 35 varsity teams, with broad opportunities for participation by men and women, in which athletes of proven ability have the opportunity to test their skill and valor in intercollegiate competition. Through its commitment to competitive athletics, Yale demonstrates its belief that the lessons such engagement teaches are many and enduring. Among these are learning how to strive to win, to compete with pride and honor, to make sacrifices, to persevere when all seems lost and to develop a sense of obligation and responsibility to others. These lessons make athletics a school for accomplishment and character, and for the athlete they represent an invaluable part of the non-academic aspects of a liberal education.

Because Yale views athletics as a component of liberal education, complementary to its central academic mission but not superior to it, the University requires that aspiration and achievement in competitive athletic endeavor play a proportioned role within any student's school life. The University also subscribes to the Ivy agreement, the principles of which delimit the role competitive athletic endeavor plays in the life of the University or of any individual student within it. These principles include the belief that student athletes should be generally representative of their class and admitted on the basis of academic promise and personal qualities as well as athletic abilities; that financial aid to student athletes be awarded in the same way it is awarded to other students, that is solely on the basis of financial need; that student athletes be held accountable to the same academic standards as other students; and that athletes make normal academic progress toward their degrees.

In addition to its sponsorship of competitive sports, Yale supports a wide range of extracurricular programs, including those that present significant opportunities for recreational and instructional participation. The University provides supervision for over 30 club sports, and has developed a large intramural program, which presents undergraduates, graduate students, and faculty fellows with the opportunity to participate in competitive sports throughout the calendar year. Yale considers the opportunities it offers in these areas to be an important contribution to the well-being of members of its community and is as dedicated to these extracurricular activities as to the continued strength of its competitive programs. In all aspects of sport and recreation, the University recognizes that shared experience can help create a strong bond among members of the University community, and between the University community and the wider world, and it is committed to fostering the spirit of pride and fellowship that athletic endeavor can inspire.

Richard C. Levin is the longest-serving Ivy League president and is recognized as one of the leaders of American higher education. Prior to assuming Yale's presidency in 1993, he was Dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. A distinguished economist, he has served as Chair of Yale's Economics Department and has been a member of Yale's faculty since 1974.

For the past 15 years, President Levin has made it a priority to improve things at home-through campus restoration and working in partnership with Yale's host city to bring about a significant revitalization of New Haven - while expanding Yale internationally. At the same time, he has dramatically increased access to Yale through generous financial aid for all students and the digitalization of Yale's intellectual treasures. Additionally, he has made it a top priority to catapult Yale in the sciences. His demonstrated leadership on the environment and national security issues affecting higher education, such as visa reform and export controls, has helped bring needed attention to and action on these issues in Washington and abroad.

The internationalization of Yale has been one of President Levin's priorities. During his tenure, he launched the Yale Center for the Study of Globalization headed by the former President of Mexico, Ernesto Zedillo; created the Yale World Fellows Program that is building and training a world-wide network of emerging leaders; and introduced a financial aid policy for international Yale College students that provides the same generous financial aid as that awarded to U.S. students. Yale announced in Spring 2005 that it would provide every undergraduate student the opportunity to go abroad for study, research or internships at least once during his or her four years of college. For students on financial aid, additional funding has been granted to make these overseas opportunities possible.

President Levin has focused considerable attention on China as the University's internationalization efforts have developed. He has traveled to China 12 times in the last eight years, including a trip in May 2007, where, at the invitation of China's President Hu Jintao, he led a group of 100 Yale students and faculty members on an historic visit. President Levin met in 2008 with several key members of the latest generation of senior Chinese leaders. In 2001, he chose to give his Tercentennial Address on "The Global University" on the campus of Peking University, and he met with China's then-President Jiang Zemin in Beijing. In subsequent conversations with senior governmental officials, Yale was selected to sponsor an Advanced University Leadership Program for the presidents and vice presidents of China's leading universities. That program has been held each summer since 2004. In addition, Yale was chosen to sponsor an executive education program for the most senior cohort of Chinese governmental officials to study outside the country; that program was devoted to exploring how the Rule of Law could be further extended in China and was held on Yale's campus in June 2005, 2006 and 2007.

President Levin's international agenda has also included visits to Australia, Denmark, France, Greece, India, Japan, Korea, Mexico, and the UK as part of Yale's expansion of research and educational ties around the world. Among other new partnerships, those visits have led to the creation of leadership programs for senior governmental officials from Japan and India.

Under President Levin's leadership, Yale completed in 1997 a $1.7 billion fundraising campaign, and has invested $4 billion in a campus renovation and building program. Yale is now engaged in another major fundraising campaign with a goal of $3 billion. To ensure Yale's preeminence in research and discovery, he has committed $1 billion to renovating and expanding Yale's medical and science facilities, including the construction of five new science and engineering buildings. Yale is home to one of the largest new medical research facilities opened in the United States in the last several years. In 2007, President Levin announced the University purchase of the Bayer HealthCare complex, a property that features over 500,000 square feet of state-of-the-art research space, as well as office buildings, warehouses and other facilities. As a result of the new laboratory facilities generated by the purchase, the University's ability to launch research programs that otherwise would not have been able to be undertaken for a decade or more will increase dramatically.

President Levin is recognized as an advocate and leader of the emerging role of higher education in responding to the challenge of sustainable development locally and globally. He established an Office of Sustainability in 2005, and during that year endorsed an aggressive greenhouse gas reduction target and strategy for the University. In 2007-08, President Levin convened the leadership of Yale's peer institutions nationally and internationally, challenging each of these universities to respond to the pressing issue of climate change.

He has developed an effective partnership with the City of New Haven to expand commercial activity near the campus and increase the number of new local companies based on Yale research. During President Levin's term, more than $2 billion has been invested in Yale spin-off companies, and Yale has directly contributed more than $150 million to improvements in the City of New Have since 1993. He initiated the Yale HomeBuyer Program in 1993, and to date nearly 900 Yale employees have purchased homes in selected areas of New Haven with financial support from the University. In addition, as part of President Levin's commitment to community development, Yale also supports numerous programs that provide New Haven with the expertise and services of faculty and students.

Prior to assuming the presidency, President Levin's chief research interest was industrial organization, including studies in the deregulation of railroads, the patent system, and antitrust. In the years before his appointment, he focused his research activity on the competitiveness of American manufacturing industries. He coordinated an international team of economists, engineers, and science-policy specialists evaluating proposed organizational reforms in the former Soviet Union that would affect science as well as industrial research and development.

In the spring of 2008, President Levin was elected to the Board of Directors of the National Committee on U.S.-China Relations. He also is a director of American Express, and he is a trustee of the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation, one of the largest philanthropic organizations in the United States. He served on Presidential Commissions reviewing the U.S. Postal Service and the effectiveness of U.S. intelligence operations. As a member of the board on Science, Technology and Economic Policy at the National Academy of Science, President Levin co-chaired a committee that examined the effects of intellectual property rights policies on economic and scientific progress and made recommendations for reform of the patent system that are currently under active consideration by the U.S. Congress. In addition, he served on the Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics.

A native of San Francisco, President Levin received his bachelor's degree in history from Stanford University in 1968 and studied politics and philosophy at Oxford University, where he earned a Bachelor of Letters degree in 1970. In 1974 he received his Ph.D. in economics from Yale and was named to the Yale faculty. He holds honorary degrees awarded by Harvard, Princeton, Oxford, Peking, and Tokyo Universities, and is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Richard Levin and his wife, Jane, have been New Haven residents for over thirty years. They have four children and four grandchildren.

Tom Beckett, who has the second longest (15) tenure of Yale Athletics Directors, has built top-notch facilities, bridged the relationship between Yale and New Haven, helped fill seats and has brought some of the best coaches and student-athletes to the campus.

The Builder

Beckett, Yale's 17th chief of athletics, has always felt that Yale's coaches and athletes deserve the best possible facilities. He has worked tirelessly to raise money for improvement projects, and his success is manifested all over the Yale campus. The renovation of the Payne Whitney Gymnasium (Lanman Center, Israel Fitness Center, Brooks-Dwyer Weight Room, Brady Squash Center) was the first big job under the YUAD leader. The restoration of Yale Bowl (Class of 1954 Field) and the building of the McNay Family Sailing Center, Gilder Boathouse, Johnson Field and the Dewitt Family Softball Complex were other large projects under Beckett. Renovations on the world famous Golf Course at Yale and the Cullman-Heyman Tennis Center has brought those two facilities to unprecedented levels. The installation of a banked track inside Coxe Cage named after Frank Shorter '69 was yet another successful endeavor. Beckett is currently overseeing the renovation of Reese Stadium and Ingalls Rink while the Kenney Family Field Center and the Jensen Family Plaza are being added to the Bowl complex.

The Renovator

Beckett has considerably raised Yale Athletics' profile in the New Haven Community. There have been many team milestones during his tenure, including the men's hockey team winning its first two ECAC Championships and the men's basketball team capturing its first Ivy title in 40 years. In addition, the volleyball squad became the first Ivy team to win an NCAA Tournament game, the lightweight crew and women's squash teams won three national titles, the women's varsity eight rowers took the 2007 and 2008 NCAA Championship and the 2008 women's tennis team earned its first NCAA tournament appearance.

The Community Pillar

Beckett has made community involvement a high priority. His leadership in community endeavors helped create the award-winning Thomas W. Ford '42 Community Outreach Program, one that brings area youth to the campus for things such as the National Youth Sports Program and Yale Youth Days.

The Marketer

Beckett has opened the doors of the department of athletics to those who live outside the campus. It's no coincidence that attendance has increased dramatically since he arrived in New Haven. The Bulldogs have been ranked among the top 10 FCS schools in attendance almost every year since Beckett has been at Yale and led the nation in 2003. He implemented a Yale Corporate Partners Program and strengthened the broad-based friends of Yale Athletics group, the Ray Tompkins Associates. The primary beneficiaries of these endeavors are Yale undergraduates, who get free admission to all home contests.

The Fan

The current YUAD chief has attended more games than anyone else in his position. He relishes the opportunity to show his support to Yale's student athletes and coaches.

The Trailblazer

Working closely with admissions, financial aid and head coaches, Beckett helped streamline the process required to recruit the best student-athletes while improving the relationship between athletics and those two departments.

The Seasoned Administrator

A 1968 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, Beckett earned three varsity letters in baseball and basketball, serving as the captain of the Panthers' 1968 baseball team. He earned a master's degree in education from his alma mater in 1972 and is a 1975 graduate of Harvard's Summer Institute of Life Science. Beckett played professional baseball in the San Francisco Giants' organization for five seasons before embarking on a career in college athletics. He coached at the University of Pittsburgh and Butler Community College (PA), and was an athletic administrator at San Jose State University before moving to Stanford, where he served from 1983 to 1994 as associate director of athletics. During his tenure at Stanford, Cardinal teams won 32 NCAA championships, and the program received seven NCAA "Champion of Champions" awards.

Personal

Beckett and his wife, Kim, reside in Guilford with their son, Alex.

HISTORY

Yale University, founded in 1701, is the third-oldest college in the United States and one of the foremost research universities in the world. First known as the Collegiate School, it changed its name in 1718 to honor benefactor Elihu Yale.

STUDENTS

Since its first class, which had only one pupil, Yale has expanded into a university with approximately 5,250 undergraduates and 12 graduate and professional schools with roughly 6,150 students. Students come from all 50 states and over 70 countries.

FACULTY

The Yale faculty includes more than 3,900 scholars, many of whom are internationally respected authorities in their fields. Fourteen Nobel Prize winners have been associated with Yale.

CLASSES

There are approximately 2,000 courses and 84 majors or programs of study, including 34 different languages.

ADMISSIONS

In selecting a class of 1,300 from approximately 26,000 applicants, the Admissions Committee looks for strong academic ability and achievement combined with personal characteristics such as motivation, curiosity, energy, and leadership ability. Academic strength is indicated by grades, rigor of curriculum, standardized test scores, and evaluations by two teachers and a college counselor. Yale requires results of the College Board Scholastic Assessment Test (SAT or SAT 1) and any two SAT II: Subject Tests or the American College Testing (ACT) Assessment. Yale uses the Common Application and a one-page Yale supplement with essay. In addition, students whose native language is not English may be required to submit results of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or the PELTS.

FINANCIAL AID

It is Yale's policy to admit all students on the basis of academic and personal promise without regard to their financial circumstances. In addition, the University is committed to meeting the full need of all admitted students by providing them with appropriate financial aid awards. This "need-blind" admissions policy applies to all applicants including international citizens. In January of 2008 the University announced an increase in financial aid that will reduce the average cost of sending a student to Yale College by over 50 percent for families with financial need. Currently, approximately 42 percent of all Yale students receive financial assistance through loans, scholarships and work—study employment. All financial aid is based on financial need. For more information, call the Yale Financial Aid Office at (203) 432-2700.

RESIDENTIAL LIFE

Each incoming student is assigned to one of 12 residential colleges before arriving freshman year. All freshmen and sophomores are required to live on campus. Each residential college has its own dining hall, as well as library, computers, TV and game rooms, and often theaters, weight rooms, and music practice rooms. The residential colleges sponsor numerous academic and extracurricular programs, including musical performances, dramatic productions, intramural sports teams, visiting fellowships and academic seminars. A resident master and dean take care of the academic and administrative needs of each college, and faculty "fellows" participate in the community by acting as student advisors and eating in the college's dining hall.

ATHLETICS

With 35 varsity sports teams and a large club and intramural program, sports have a prominent place at Yale. The University offers more than 500 acres of playing fields and nine—story Payne Whitney Gym, one of the largest athletic structures in the world. No university takes greater pride in its athletic heritage. No fewer than 158 athletes have competed in the Olympics. Together they have brought home 103 medals — more than most nations—including 54 gold, 21 silver and 28 bronze.

THOMAS W. FORD '42 COMMUNITY OUTREACH PROGRAM

The Thomas W. Ford '42 Community Outreach Program, which was given the Award of Excellence for Community Relations by Athletic Management magazine, has been a key element in enhancing the relationship of the university with the city of New Haven. Yale student-athletes and coaches help the programs provide opportunities for New Haven youth to interact with inspirational role models.

Founded in February 1995, the Community Outreach Program grew out of Athletic Director Tom Beckett's desire to see the department become more actively involved in the New Haven community. Beckett, who came to Yale in 1994, wanted to increase and centralize the community outreach efforts by developing service programs that were athletics-based. And he wanted the student-athletes to take part on their own initiative, not because of a coach's mandate. national youth sports program 1996 marked the first year of the National Youth Sports Program (NYSP) at Yale University. This year marked the thirteenth year of the program. The National Youth Sports Program is a summer day-camp, designed to give children from families that live in disadvantaged areas the opportunity to participate in group sports instruction and competition with children of similar ages. The NYSP is a partnership between the communities of New Haven and Yale University. The Yale University Athletic Department works with the New Haven State of Affairs to secure funds to be able to run this program at no cost for participants. This combination of funds and college resources offers leaders in education and athletics an opportunity and a challenge to perform a needed service that they are uniquely qualified to provide.

Participating youth receive sports skills instruction, engage in sports competition and improve their physical fitness. Children also receive hands-on lessons in good health practices and aspects of citizenship, and are introduced to future career and educational opportunities

The goal of the NYSP at Yale is to create a program that is fun and educational and will benefit the children in our community for many years to come. In addition, the NYSP aims to expose participants to many resources on the Yale campus, including athletic facilities, dining halls, museums, art galleries, libraries, etc. More than 300 children were enrolled in each of the last three summers, while over 25 Yale student-athletes, coaches, and staff worked each year. Yale received the National NYSP Meritorious Award in 2000, 2002, and 2004. In 2001, the NYSP at Yale received the National NYSP Silvio O. Conte Award of Excellence and was recognized as the top program in the country.

Other Functions of the Outreach Program

Youth Days: Each team at Yale hosts a Youth Day where children can attend a game – admission free – and interact with the athletes and coaches at the end of the contest.

Olympic Youth Days: In the fall prior to a Yale football game, the outreach program runs a number of clinics that children can participate in before attending the game in Yale Bowl. Then in April, another day is scheduled for similar clinics and a chance to visit a number of spring game venues after a cookout.

New Haven School Program: The Outreach Committee works extensively with local schools in New Haven, where Yale athletes spend time with their young friends. More than 250 Yale athletes find time in their busy schedules to participate in outreach programs. Visits to area hospitals and soup kitchens and the forming of an indoor youth sports league are among the many student-athlete initiatives. The Yale Football Association Needs You!

YALE FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION

The Yale Football Association consists of former players, alumni, parents and friends. Membership is open to anyone interested in helping the Yale Football Program. The YFA's purpose is to provide alumni and friends information about the program. Members receive weekly emails from the coach and newsletters during the season, preseason and winter updates and more. The YFA also holds receptions and a summer golf outing

The YFA encourages donations to support the costs associated with operating the football program. The funds are used for recruiting, staff travel and other administrative expenses. All funds are considered gifts to Yale University and the football program and are governed by departmental policy for compliance with Yale, Ivy League and NCAA requirements.

YFA members also help with career programs for the current players, by recommending them for internships or entrance into positions after graduation.

Your support provides a financially secure program to give coaches the resources need to continue Yale Football's rich tradition. To join the Yale Football Association, contact us using the following:

RYAN BAMFORD

Associate Director of Athletics

Ryan Bamford, in his eighth year at Yale, became an Associate AD for varsity sport administration in 2007. Bamford oversees the operation of the football program, including the management of the Yale Bowl on game day and the Bulldogs' travel logistics on the road. In addition, Bamford supervises men's basketball, men's and women's fencing and the sports medicine and strength & conditioning units at Yale. Bamford, an Ithaca College graduate and former basketball student-athlete, earned his master's degree in athletic administration from Springfield College. He is the current Chair of the NCAA Division I Women's Lacrosse Championship Committee and has worked with two other NCAA sports committees during his tenure at Yale. Bamford and his wife, Lindsay '03, a former Yale soccer player, live in New Haven.

CARM COZZA

Yale Coaching Legend & Radio Color Commentator

Carm Cozza, the winningest (179, 10 Ivy Titles) coach in Ivy League history, has been the color commentator on WELI's broadcasts of Yale Football since 1998. Cozza, who had 19 winning seasons in 32 years as the head coach of the Bulldogs, coached over 2,000 players in New Haven and was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 2004.

Cozza, who was Yale's Director of Athletics in 1976–77 but turned down the position to remain head coach, currently serves as the special assistant to the director of athletics.

He and his wife, the former Jean Annable, reside in Orange and have three daughters and five grandchildren.

RON VACCARO

Voice of Yale Football

Ron Vaccaro '04 enters his fourth full season as the Voice of Yale Football. He is a two-time Emmy Award winner for his work with NBC Olympics, his primary employer since 2004. His on-air resume also includes the 2008 Beijing Olympics for NBC (modern pentathlon, race walking) and the 2009 World Swimming Championships for Universal Sports (water polo). This fall, Vaccaro will once again supervise the research room for NBC's Football Night in America in addition to his work as a full-time researcher for the network. This February's Vancouver Games will be his forth Olympics with NBC. This is Vaccaro's 10th season covering the Bulldogs—he started as a student and learned under the legendary Dick Galiette, taking the reigns after Galiette's sudden passing in the middle of the 2005 season.

YALE SPORTS MEDICINE

Dr. James Perlotto '78 Chief of Student Medicine and Athletic Medicine

James Perlotto, M.D., is in his third year as Chief of Student Medicine and Athletic Medicine at Yale University Health Services. Perlotto has been on the medical staff of YUHS for 21 years and has been the Chief of Student Medicine since 2000. He graduated magna cum laude from Yale in 1978 and received his medical degree from Boston University School of Medicine in 1982. Perlotto is the recipient of numerous awards and honors including the CT Academy of Family Physicians "Super Hero" of Family Medicine Award and the Humanism in Medicine Award presented by Yale School of Medicine. Perlotto was selected as one of Connecticut Magazine's Top Doctors in 2006 and is a long-standing member of the Admissions Committee for Yale School of Medicine. Perlotto is an Associate Clinical Professor of Medicine and a Fellow of Trumbull College.

Chris Pecora Director of Sports Medicine

Chris Pecora begins his 27th year at Yale and his 11th as the head of the athletic training staff. He has four years of NFL experience with the Buffalo Bills and now works extensively with the Yale football and men's lacrosse teams. Pecora and his wife, Jacky, have four sons: Peter, Quincy, Cole and Korbin.

Assistant Athletic Trainers

Billy Kaminsky

Billy Kaminsky began working with Yale athletes in 1969 and begins his 41st year with the Bulldogs. Kaminsky, who has 10 Ivy League football championship rings, has been a part of numerous league and national titles with various Yale sports. He has also worked in professional baseball and basketball, professional jai lai and high school sports. Kaminsky, a captain in the Army Reserves, works in his hometown with the Waterbury Police Department. He and his wife, Frances, have two daughters, Tracey and Terri, and a grandson, Shane.

Dave Dinapoli

Dave Dinapoli is in his 10th year at Yale and works primarily with the football and men's basketball teams. He came to Yale in 1999 after working for the American Hockey League's Beast of New Haven, Connecticut Orthopaedic Group (Star Physical Therapy) and North Branford High School. Dinapoli, a three-sport star

(all area pick in football and baseball) at North Branford High, received numerous football scholarship offers as a defensive back before deciding to play baseball at Kean State College, where he graduated in 1994. He and his wife, Kelly, have a daughter, Julia, and a son, Tyler.

Three members of Connecticut Orthopaedic Specialists happen to be former Yale football players who work with current Bulldogs. (I-r) Rich Diana '82, Pat Ruwe '83, Jack Kelley '81

YALE EQUIPMENT SERVICES

Ed Maturo

Director of Intercollegiate Equipment Services

Ed Maturo, in his 33rd year at Yale, has been the head of equipment services since he arrived in 1977. Maturo was away from New Haven when he traveled with two U.S. Olympic hockey teams (1994 men at Norway, 2006 women at Italy) and has numerous other U.S. national team experiences. Maturo, a 1969 American International College graduate and former hockey player, and his wife, Mary Jane, have two daughters and four grandchildren and reside in Hamden.

Jeff Torre, Assistant

Jeff Torre, a former hockey player and golfer at West Haven High School, is in his 22nd year at Yale and has worked directly with the Bulldog football team every year. Torre, who served as the director of equipment services for 2005–06 while Ed Maturo was on leave, has spent two seasons as the equipment manager for the men's hockey team and currently works with the women's team. He and his wife, Leann, reside in Ansonia with their daughter, Emma.

Lou Scigliano, Assistant

Lou Scigliano (a.k.a. Sweet Lou), like Ed Maturo, is in his 33rd year at Yale. He works with every team that operates out of the Smilow Field Center and has traveled with the gridiron Bulldogs the last 30 years. Scigliano and his wife, Judy, have two sons, Louis Jr. and Vincent, and reside in Hamden.

Dick Hildebrand, Assistant

Dick Hildebrand, in his 11th year at Yale, works with nearly all of the varsity teams. A 1969 University of New Haven graduate, Hildebrand was a four-year hockey letterman who was inducted into the school's hall of fame. He is also a member of the West Haven High and Brewster Academy athletic halls of fame. Hildebrand, who officiated high school and college hockey for 15 years, also officiated high school football for 32 years and worked four state title games. Hildebrand, whose brother Bill Hildebrand '63 captained the Bulldog hockey team, lives in West Haven with his wife, Carol. They have three daughters, Barbara, Cindy and Amy and two grandchildren, Tyler and Jordan.

Yale Football game highlights, features and interviews can be downloaded on your Apple iTunes audio device at itunes.yale.edu

Credentials

Credentials for home games are for working media only. Accredited media should make requests to Sports Publicity Director Steve Conn. PRESS PARKING is available in Lot F and Lot D Special both off of Central Ave.

Interviews

The best time to talk to Coach Tom Williams and Yale players is after practice. All Yale practices are open to the media.

Media Headquarters

The game-day media room is on the second floor of the Smilow Center, next door to the post-game press conference.

Galiette Media Conference

Yale holds a weekly press gathering with head coach Tom Williams and at least one player at 2 p.m. on Tuesdays at the Yale Bookstore, located at 77 Broadway.

Photographers

Passes are limited to daily newspaper, wire service and team photographers. Freelance photographers may be granted passes upon request to the Sports Publicity Office. NCAA rules limit shooting to outside the restraining line enclosing the playing field and outside the 25-yard line.

Post-Game Procedure

Both coaches will be available at the Kenney Family Field Center on the 2nd floor. The visiting coach will go first, approximately 15 minutes after the game, followed by Yale head coach Tom Williams. Principal Yale players and members of the visiting team also will be brought to the press conference. Yale is committed to the principle of equal access for media representatives but prefers that interviews be conducted in the Kenney Family Field Center. The Yale training room is off limits to the media at all times.

Yale Sports Hotline

All the latest scores are available 24 hours a day by calling (203) 432-YALE (9253).

YALE SPORTS PUBLICITY OFFICE

Steve Conn Associate AD and Sports Publicity Director

Conn, who grew up watching the Bulldogs, began at Yale as the assistant in 1987 before taking the director's position in 1992. He is a 1985 University of Miami (BA) graduate with a masters in Industrial/Organizational Psychology from the University of New Haven in 1993. Conn lives in Woodbridge with his wife, Emily Resnik, and sons, Jeremy (11) and Jordan (9).

Sam Rubin '95 Assistant Sports Publicity Director

Rubin, a 1995 Yale graduate and psychology major, runs the majority of the website operations while also working on the Yale Football News. He has worked at Yale since his graduation but was primarily employed by the AA New Haven Ravens minor league baseball team from 1993 to 2003. Rubin, who was raised in New York City and currently resides in New Haven, is also the author of the books Baseball in New Haven and Yale Football.

Tim Bennett
Assistant Sports Publicity Director

Bennett, in his 14th year at Yale, came to the SPO after a working as a sports writer in Darien, Conn., for two years. He is a 1989 University of Dayton graduate who served as the Princeton Athletic Communications intern in 1989-90. Bennett, who runs the statistical operations at Yale Bowl, lives in West Haven.

Bill Garfield Official Statistician

Bill Garfield, who has worked with the Yale football stats crew the last six seasons, takes over as the official statistician this fall. The 1995 SCSU graduate played college hockey before interning with the Hartford Whalers (1996–1997) and baseball's New Haven Ravens (1994–95, 1995–96) and then spending seven years as assistant sports information director at Dartmouth (1997–2003), where he worked with five different sports. Since returning to his home state in 2003, Garfield has become recreation supervisor for Milford (Conn.) Recreation while doing the stats for Yale football and both ice hockey teams. He served as official scorer for the 2009 NCAA East Regional Men's Hockey Championships as well as the 2009 NCAA Men's Frozen Four. Garfield and his wife, Suzy, have two daughters, Teagan (3) and Molly (1) and a dog, Puck.
