

General questions

1. What problems can you identify in this story? Are solutions presented?
2. In what way might this story be relevant in your community?

Further exploration

1. PFS shares knowledge with its partners about food supply systems. What other areas could benefit from this style of information sharing?
2. Why do so many food producing nations rely on imports for processed food?
3. Many of the technical problems are universal but are applied in a different cultural context. What are some other universal issues and systems that exist?