

Suggested writing prompt (250 words)

One Acre Fund is addressing climate change in several different ways including a campaign to plant one billion trees. There have been many similar tree planting campaigns around the world, many of them unsuccessful. Youn says they're focusing on the economic benefits of planting trees, but some farmers are still hesitant to participate. What other methods could One Acre Fund use to convince farmers to help them reach their goal?