

Suggested writing prompt (~250 words)

Discuss how the story of Black farmers in Oklahoma illustrates the broader struggle for racial and economic justice in America. Consider how history, policy, and personal experience intersect in the lives of farmers like Leroy Brinkley and communities like Clearview. What does their persistence say about the challenges and possibilities of rebuilding trust and opportunity?