

Suggested writing prompt (~250 words)

Discuss what this story reveals about inequality and social change in modern India. How do poverty, gender, and caste shape the lives of domestic workers? What challenges do reformers face in trying to protect this largely unseen labor force? Finally, consider whether real change can come from within society—through changing attitudes and opportunities—or if it depends on new laws and government enforcement.