Matte. 27: 40

I BELIEVE IN CHRIST

The mocking throng.. "Ha! Ha! Say God!"

But I believeⁱⁿ what he said he was, is what he claimed to be.

I. The Son of God.

What? you believe that story - God His Father, virgin His mother? Such credulity, such naive ignorance. What if a girl, unmarried, came to you with a baby, said.... would you believe that?

- Yes, if - his birth prophesied thousands of years before
- the angel stood in training silver chamber of creation, burst into song...
- a star brought via river from the East, stood over where the child lay
- spoke words, wrought miracles such as words never heard, seen
- stars, turned, rose again triumphant
- three wise men from the eastward, changed meas' thro', turned coming westward

(a) A saying to Napoleon: "I am starting a new religion. I am the prophet. But having difficulty getting people to believe me. What do I tell people to believe me?" Very simple answer Napoleon. "Be born of a virgin, be crucified on the third day and rise again."

Rudyard Kipling: "I want - I want God."

Jn. 4:13f. "Whosoever drinketh of the water, the same shall never thirst again .. but

(a) Byron: "price, gifts, idleness, rest, pleasure.."

my day are in the yellow leaf
the flowers are fruit, love are gone
the storm, the earth, and the gray
