Every year several more countries are seized and taken over as a bridgehead for the coming world war, and the whole world stands and does nothing. Even the oceans are being taken over—and need one tell you British what that means and what the seas will be used for?

In Russia alone, as the great statistician, Professor Kurganov, has shown, 110 million lives were heartlessly sacrificed between 1917 and 1959 to Communist ideology and the brutal and blood-stained bureaucratic despotism by which it has been enforced on a helpless people. A...

"the more vocal part of the younger generation, both in Europe and America, has been, and is being, taught ~~by those who should know better~~ to denigrate and revile the virtues—truthfulness, honesty, courage, tolerance, industry—which have built the house in which civilized man lives and has his being. Above all, they have been taught, and are being taught, often in the name of high-sounding abstractions like pacifism, equality and anti-racism, to hate, and, the inevitable fruit of hatred, to destroy."

What is the consequence? Sometimes a single concrete example is more telling than a wealth of abstract generalization. Recently—a gang of terrorists, armed with Russian automatic weapons and bent on carrying murder into Rhodesia in the name of that theoretic racial equality which socialists all the world over proclaim as the supreme political goal of mankind, and the justification for every act of cruelty or destruction which can be thought to further it, burst in on a native Rhodesian village. In an attempt to inflict terror on its inhabitants, they seized a native Christian. When he refused to aid them, he was beaten and had his ears, lips and nose cut off. Then they forced his wife, with a gun at her head, to roast them at an open fire and eat them. His mother was flung to the ground, her thighs forced open and a burning log thrust between them.

This is what can happen to human beings, and what human beings are capable of doing, when Christ's creed of mercy and love is discarded and the Devil's hideous dogma and ideology of hatred, envy and destruction are enthroned in its place ●
