What Kind of Religion Were?
I. A Religio of the Book

When I read the Bible, I am always struck by the diversity of the Bible. It is written by 40 different authors, whose 15 different personalities and backgrounds reveal the Bible as a living, evolving document. It is no wonder then that the Bible's message is so rich and diverse.

1. The Message of the Scriptures

(a) Job 2:10, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." This verse emphasizes the importance of acknowledging God's authority and submitting to His will.

(b) Proverbs 1:7, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge," as quoted by Charles H. Spurgeon.

(c) Matthew 11:28, "Come to me, all you who are weary and loaden with burdens, and I will give you rest." This verse speaks to the idea of finding peace and comfort in the presence of God.

2. The Book of the Scriptures

(a) Isaiah 40:12, "Behold, one like a son of man is coming." This verse speaks to the theme of the book of Revelation, which foretells the Second Coming of Christ.

3. But a Book of Truth

(a) Matthew 5:37, "Let your "Yes" be yes, and your "No" be no." This verse emphasizes the importance of being honest and true in our words and actions.

(b) John 15:13, "Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down his life for his friends." This verse speaks to the love and sacrifice of Jesus, which is the central theme of the Bible.

Modern denial of the need for a gospel with a name.

What is Christianity actually about, really?
If you have the Gospel to make manifest, you don't need faith in Christ
but the message of peace.

I'm free.

But is the message the gospel or does the message need
Christ in it?

Jesus answered, "I am the truth, the life, the world."

The only religion I ever knew growing up and of which I was so proud was Christianity. I was born into a Baptist family, and my parents were devout members. From a young age, I was taught the importance of faith and the need to live a life guided by the teachings of Jesus. My parents always emphasized the importance of prayer and attending church regularly.

As I grew older, I began to question some of the teachings and practices of my faith. I started to wonder if the things I was taught were true. I started to read more about other religions and cultures, and I became curious about different ways of thinking and living.

I began to explore other beliefs and practices, and I found that there were many different paths to spiritual growth and understanding. I realized that faith is a personal journey, and it is important to find what works for you.

In the end, I realized that I didn't have to choose between my faith and my questions. I could still hold onto my religious beliefs while also seeking truth and understanding. I continue to explore and learn, always seeking to grow and expand my knowledge.

Discussion:

Understanding and validating different beliefs and practices is important. It is through this exploration that we can gain a deeper understanding of ourselves and the world around us.

A Welcome To The Old Time Church
FROM THE HOLINESS GOSPEL MISSION

If you really want to worship
In the good old-fashioned way,
Where the people in devotion,
Get down on their knees to pray.

Where the singing's in the spirit,
And the preaching of the truth,
Is a simple gospel message,
SUITED both for age and youth.

Where a good "Amen" is welcome,
And a "Hallelujah" too,
And to shout if you get happy
Is the very thing to do.

Our church has no lofty steeple
Ours is not a fancy choir.
We are just old-fashioned people,
For our hearts have caught the fire.

We want none to seem a stranger,
But that everyone may feel
Here's a welcome warm and tender,
And a fellowship that's real.

We will try to make you welcome,
We will help your burdens bear.
As you come and worship with us
In our Father's house of prayer.
THE OLD-TIME RELIGION

I

The people, scattered nations, "among them" in your sight, in your land, in your hand.

To live in peace, to walk in safety, to labor in prosperity, to have goods and lack of goods, to be free or to be bound,

To be led by the hand of God, to be guided by His will.

To be free from care, to be free from fear.

To be in your company, to be in your presence.

II

The church, the temple of God, the house of prayer.

To hear the Word of God, to be taught by the Spirit of God.

To be united in love, to be united in faith.

To be in the presence of God, to be in the presence of your Lord.

To be in the company of your brethren, to be in the company of your people.

To be in the presence of God, to be in the presence of your Lord.
