my own interpretation]

THE PROMISED LAND

1. Our promised land for conquest, here, now.
2. " " in the world to come. Final victory next.

I. Our promised land now. for conquest.
It is baby land. children's land. young people land - adult land.

1. It is baby land. This illustrates the opposite of freedom.
Birthright. "Faith, like that had more room. Several more rooms."

2. It is not children's land.

{ Some of their leaders: More adjustments. Too many children now.
+ over what it used to exist. }

Rushing to have more than the child. Helen
(1) A TV show. An older mother has daughter about 2-3 years old child, baby girl about 4-5. The daughter is not well, has fevers, feels ill. Mother goes with a very older mother who says let against her turns out to be a very contaminated, corrupt. The older mother is a friend only the daughter as the friend. Government gives her no responsibility. She is dumb just says well I'm sorry, I'm sorry, I'm sorry. There is no one to adjust. "Mother begins to yell, but we run, this is bad. We have to adjust." "Mother begins to yell!" "Go" So the mother takes a look with her and finally, she says "Mother, it's over."

3. It is young people land.

(1) Once day of the young people from rural areas move to the city before they reach 20 years of age. of whom the 16-18 years, from out on the streets of Dallas, upside down.

(2) The criminal army of America looks to the young people for recruits. The liquor dealers, the pimps, the gamblers, the dope peddlars, and so on. America is not their recruits. So they recruit! 500,000 girls disappear into white slavery every year.
About 25% of the crime, by youngsters, mostly under 18
what up to, by 1960 Census, Bureau publishes 42% women in prostitution in the age between 18-17.

(3) What to do. Today I read on how to help delinquents. But of the splendid treat I read on how to help delinquents. But then, I thought: Help them before delinquency.
(or prevent.) In all my years of life I have seen many ways for 21 years long now we've been trying to find for many offices. For 20 years health I do not think a single one who has passed a regular examination at S.E. a check.

Some causes for reflecting under deer

- A young angelic brother says "This is the [top floor] we should stay in and will fit it."
- A young people's methode brother: "A 17 year old digit methode just recently. [Now with me] very not an 18 year old! Don't go college. Sure - but mostly growing in the city. Do not anxiously try to reach them."
- Sung by Dr. Deyt (mainly German) across the street: "We fight against such things, etc. We are willing, ready, but we do not know how to plan..." "Why not give them up?" "Careers our leaders can only care for so many - they can't have them." They are fine here. Ask for weapons (fountain) to fight with

4. It is adult land.

- (1) The world's 1/2 population in proportion to the total population with about a slow but tragic decline standard of living for quite a long time than 25 years ago. Many more on property owned by the people and less in towns.
- (2) Mass leisure not to climb.
We can now compete with secular entertainment, organizations or a weekly basis. Secondly? No.

In the blue, star-spangled ~~night~~^{light} fell into deep, earnest thought. Passing through the gate of dreams,
I saw an angel in the air, above this misery world, above the continents, and his wings shadowed the land and the sea. Gathered round about the angel were a multitude whose no man could number, of all nations in address or trials or tongues, as their voices were as the sound of many waters.
I listened until I caught the border of this speech:
they conversed of what was, and is, and is to come.
And I heard thunderings and saw lightnings;
but the glory of the angel was above the brightness of the lightnings, and the majesty of his words above the noise of the thunder.

II Our report. Our response. God is not able.
Who would stand to say: "We are not able?"
"We have done all we can."
"We have done our utmost - cannot do more."

No. All of us stand to say: "We have not done yet but, we can do more. We ought. We should. We must. We will."

(2) Basil Manley: The first man. A little company of Confederate soldiers were found standing on a hill in the mud. He said, after a battle had recently put them in a difficult position: "Who is your General?" "There he lies," replied one, pointing to a general on the ground. "Then who is your captain?" "There he is," taking his horse in another, & so on. "And what are you doing here?" asked the officer. With the last words, pointed toward the dead General, came the reply, "The soldiers. They are still in the mud waiting for the order to attack or die. We are still fighting - but he said."

It is now fight of an hour, the in which the church of Christ is engaged. Her banner is set for the ages, and we go up.

When we turn to Gunnar Myrdal, Swedish economist and executive of the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe, we begin to see what is behind the Suez crisis and the revolutionary stirring in the Middle East, to look no further. In his epochal book An International Economy (Harper, $6.50.) which was published earlier this year, Mr. Myrdal points out that for several generations the richer countries have been advancing while the poorer lands, with large populations, are stagnating or progressing much more slowly. "For mankind as a whole there has actually been no progress at all." He might have applied this particularly to Egypt, whose 20 million people are among the most poverty-stricken on the face of the earth.

Mr. Myrdal agrees with H. W. Singer that "world income per capita, and with it the standard of living of the average human being, is probably lower now than it was 25 years ago, and perhaps lower than in 1900, because the nations that have rapidly raised their economic standards have been a shrinking proportion of the total world population." He holds that Marxist theory, which was wrong in insisting that within capitalist societies the rich would grow richer and the poor poorer until eventually revolution would destroy social orders based on such injustice, could turn out to be right about the relations between nations. Our prosperity booms while in many lands the condition of the people sinks lower every year. This disparity creates increasing desperation and
