

DO CRIMINAL PROSECUTIONS MAKE FOOD SAFER? THE PROBLEM WITH REGULATING FOOD SAFETY THROUGH CRIMINALIZATION

Live Webcast

Wednesday, October 12, 2016

1:00 p.m. — 2:00 p.m. EDT

The use of criminal-enforcement tools in the wake of recent food-safety incidents reflects government's persistent focus on prosecution to regulate business conduct. The direct and collateral consequences of criminal investigations engender unique risks for corporations, their executive leadership, and their brands' reputation. Our speakers will discuss how the threat of criminal enforcement actions against companies and individuals impacts every level of the nation's food supply, and how we can apply lessons learned in this context to develop preemptive and responsive strategies to minimize and mitigate risk across industries and business settings.

WLF

Featuring

Alex J. Brackett

Partner and Co-Chair,
Strategic Risk and Compliance,
McGuireWoods LLP

James F. Neale

Partner and Co-Chair,
Food and Beverage Industry Group,
McGuireWoods LLP

David Debold

Partner,
Gibson Dunn & Crutcher LLP

For free registration,
visit www.wlf.org

Questions?

Email them to interactive@wlf.org for answers during the webcast!

All WLF programs archived at www.wlf.org

Washington Legal Foundation
Advocate for freedom and justice®