On April 22, 2011, the Washington Legal Foundation published an article by Dr. Joshua D. Lenchus, A Federal UnSales Force?: "Academic Detailing" on Medical Treatments and the Oversight Imperative. The article incorrectly stated that Dr. Jerry Avorn owns and operates a for-profit academic detailing company. He does not, and receives no compensation of any kind for his work on academic detailing from the non-profit with which he is affiliated. WLF and Dr. Lenchus did not intend to suggest that Dr. Avorn has a conflict of interest or is motivated in his work by personal financial considerations, and regret any misunderstanding they may have caused.
