WLF Adds a Distinguished General Counsel and Three Noted Legal Practitioners to Its Legal Policy Advisory Board

“We are honored that Drew, Carter, Jay, and Carol have agreed to join our Advisory Board.” —WLF President and CEO Constance Larcher

WASHINGTON, DC—Washington Legal Foundation and the Honorable Dick Thornburgh, Chairman of WLF’s Legal Policy Advisory Board, are pleased to announce that Drew Clark, Vice President and General Counsel of McKee Foods Corporation; Carter G. Phillips, Head of Sidley Austin LLP’s Executive Committee; Jay P. Lefkowitz, Partner at Kirkland & Ellis LLP; and Carol Elder Bruce, Partner at K&L Gates LLP, have joined WLF’s Legal Policy Advisory Board.

Drew Clark joined McKee Foods, a privately-held, family-run business best known for its Little Debbie® line of snack cakes, in 2011. Prior to that, Mr. Clark was in private practice for 25 years with the Chattanooga, Tennessee law firm Chambliss Bahner & Stophel.

Carter Phillips is head of the Executive Committee at Sidley Austin LLP. As an Assistant to the Solicitor General and as a private practitioner, Mr. Phillips has argued 80 cases before the Supreme Court, the most of any lawyer currently in private practice. He formerly clerked for Chief Justice of the United States Warren Burger.

Jay Lefkowitz is a litigation partner at Kirkland & Ellis and a member of the firm’s Global Executive Management Committee. He previously served as Deputy Director of Domestic Policy to President George W. Bush and as General Counsel to the Office of Management and Budget.

Carol Bruce is a litigator whose practice focuses on white-collar criminal defense and complex civil litigation. She has served as Special or Independent Counsel in a number of matters involving federal government officials and is a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers.

WLF’s Legal Policy Advisory Board includes more than forty distinguished professionals from the government and from the legal, academic, and public policy communities. In announcing the new additions to WLF’s Advisory Board, WLF released the following statement from President and CEO Constance Larcher:

“We are honored that Drew, Carter, Jay, and Carol have agreed to join our Advisory Board. WLF has been fortunate to feature Carter and Jay’s expertise and rely on their advice over the past two decades on numerous occasions through our educational publications and programs, and we look forward to featuring Drew Clark and Carol Bruce and relying on their advice in the years ahead.”
