

RISE
PARTNERSHIP
HUMANITARIAN HOPE IN ACTION

Overview

The Rapid Interventions through Shared Engagement (RISE) Consortium is a global humanitarian response effort. World Vision will lead a consortium of both international and local humanitarian partners along with Compassion International, to enable a rapid, principled, and community-led humanitarian action in both rapid-onset disasters and complex crises. With an initial budget of $238 million, RISE will accelerate response capacities in high-risk contexts and respond in ongoing emergencies with lifesaving programming.

By pairing U.S. Government resources, embedded field offices, long-standing faith networks, and trusted community institutions, RISE expands reach, reduces delays, and strengthens local leadership to enable partners to pivot immediately to emergency response. Beyond the numbers, the goal is to ensure children and families receive lifesaving assistance when and where they need it most.

RISE is projected to reach

7.5 MILLION PEOPLE

in the first year through:

- Clean water and hygiene
- Healthcare and nutrition
- Shelter and settlements
- Logistics and coordination
- Protection
- Agriculture
- Food assistance
- Disaster risk reduction

RISE operates across three mutually reinforcing pillars

1 Rapid response to natural disasters

Led by Compassion International, Pillar 1 partners will prepare for and respond to natural disasters by pre-positioning supply chains, training staff, and pre-positioning of emergency essentials like shelf-stable food, shelter kits, and WASH supplies. The rapid response mechanism will allow partners to respond to crises within 96 hours.

2 Complex Emergency Response

Led by World Vision, Pillar 2 supports multisector humanitarian assistance in complex crisis countries. Partners will focus on emergency response in fragile contexts and include a variety of interventions like immunizations, treatment for malnutrition, emergency water, hygiene kits, food, and child protection services.

3 Rapid Response within Complex Emergencies

Led by World Relief, Pillar 3 establishes a contingency fund in the event of a sudden humanitarian shock, such as a disease outbreak or natural disaster in already fragile or deteriorating contexts. World Relief will coordinate the rapid response in the midst of complicated operating environments.

Building response capacity

Community and local faith-based partners are often closest to families affected by crisis and are uniquely suited to respond. However, gaps in expertise, capacity, and funding often prevent them from realizing their potential impact. In addition to addressing humanitarian need, RISE is designed to expand the number of qualified humanitarian responders by deliberately investing in new and underutilized partners.

Throughout the project, larger and experienced implementing organizations will provide regular mentoring, coaching, and structured reflection training focused on adaptive support that allows partners to raise challenges, refine their approach, and deepen expertise in real time. These partners will be able to access small funding opportunities to put their training into practice. RISE includes a budget for this capacity strengthening initiative as part of its preparedness framework.
