

World Vision

WEBINAR

Road to Resilience

A MULTI-SECTORAL FRAMEWORK FOR USE
ACROSS THE HUMANITARIAN, DEVELOPMENT,
AND PEACE NEXUS

Research Panel Moderator and Speakers

Nancy Mock, DrPH

Associate Professor · Tulane University School of Public Health and Tropical Medicine

Dr. Nancy Mock is an international development professional with nearly 40 years of professional experience in more than 30 countries. She has established several programs within and outside Tulane University in the areas of disaster resilience leadership studies, food security/nutrition, international health, and post-Katrina recovery. She led the Newcomb College Center for Research on Women from 2007-2010. More recently, Dr. Mock co-founded and served as inaugural co-director of the Disaster Resilience Leadership Academy initially established in Tulane University's School of Law. She is a member of the Interagency Technical Working Group on Resilience Measurement. She designed and/or mentored major innovative initiatives in early warning, monitoring and evaluation, including the Famine Early Warning System (now FEWSNET) and the Standardized Monitoring and Assessment of Relief and Transitions (SMART). She also developed numerous higher education partnership models and networks in service of development objectives. She serves as a senior consultant for the World Food Program, the Food and Agriculture Organization, the Centers for Disease Control, the U.S. Agency for International Development, the Asian Development Bank, and numerous non-governmental organizations. Dr. Mock is trained in nutritional epidemiology and international public health. She received a BS in Biology from Yale University and a doctorate in public health from Tulane University. Her current research interests are in the areas of disaster resilience, food security, and nutrition in humanitarian contexts, and linkages between relief and development interventions and information systems.

Timothy Frankenberger

President and Co-founder · TANGO International

Timothy Frankenberger is the President and co-founder of Technical Assistance to Non-Governmental Organizations (TANGO) and a global expert on food security, livelihood approaches, and resilience. Tim has over forty years of experience in international development, with specialized skills in project design, M&E, and policy analysis. He previously served as Senior Food Security Advisor and Livelihood Security Coordinator at CARE and a farming systems research specialist at the University of Arizona. Tim has published numerous articles on household food security and resilience. His current research interests include resilience measurement in food insecure and fragile contexts.

Daniel Gilligan

Director, Poverty, Gender, and Inclusion (PGI) · International Food Policy Research Institute \(IFPRI\) of CGIAR

Daniel Gilligan is the director of the Poverty, Gender, and Inclusion Unit at the International Food Policy Research Institute (IFPRI) and co-lead of the CGIAR Research Initiative on Gender Equality. He has published extensively on topics related to social protection, nutrition, agriculture, and gender dimensions of development programs. He is an expert in designing and conducting experimental and mixed methods impact evaluations, including for national safety net programs in Brazil, El Salvador, Egypt, Ethiopia, and Turkey and for programs delivering school meals, early childhood development centers, and biofortified crops in Uganda. His recent research has addressed the impact of a graduation model program on livelihoods, food security, women's empowerment, mental health, and resilience to drought shocks in Ethiopia. From 2013-2016, Dan was an Adjunct Professor of Public Policy at Georgetown University. His research has been published in the Journal of Human Resources, Nature Communications, and other outlets and has been featured in The New York Times, the Economist, The Atlantic online, and The New Humanitarian. He holds a Ph.D. in Agricultural and Resource Economics from the University of Maryland.

Amrita Saha

Research Fellow · Institute of Development Studies \(IDS\)

Amrita Saha is a research fellow at the Institute of Development Studies (IDS) where she leads the work on international trade and development. She is an economist with a focus on the political economy of trade policy, and its intersections with food policy, agriculture, and gender. Amrita has led and been involved with various projects and consortia funded by the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office- UK, Economic and Social Research Council, International Trade Centre, and other international organisations.

Amrita's most recent work is at the intersection of inclusive trade and climate justice, trade and environmental regulations, South-South trade cooperation, agricultural commercialisation, and trade and innovation. Amrita's work has been widely published, including journals such as World Development, European Journal of Political Economy, Journal of Development Studies, and Economics and Politics. Amrita also convenes various teaching programmes at IDS including professional training on inclusive trade and development.

World Vision is a Christian humanitarian organization dedicated to working with children, families, and their communities worldwide to reach their full potential by tackling the causes of poverty and injustice. Our vision for every child, life in all its fullness. Our prayer for every heart, the will to make it so. www.worldvision.org